In Focus

A&E Network's Biography kicks off its Hollywood Hotshots week on Monday, Aug. 3, with the profile Harrison Ford.

Since rising to stardom as a wisecracking space cowboy in Star Wars, the carpenter-turned-movie star has built a solid career, starring in some of the highest-grossing films of all time. The biography follows Ford's career over three decades, including his roles in the Star Wars trilogy, American Graffiti and Raiders of the Lost Ark.

Country music superstar Clint Black is on the roster of artists performing at CountryFest '98, airing Wednesday, Aug. 5, on CBS.

Broadcast from the Nashville Arena, CountryFest includes festival highlights and performances by the Kinleys, Chris LeDoux and Wynonna.

Red-headed country diva Reba McEntire, recipient of an unprecedented four successive awards as the Country Music Association female vocalist of the year, hosts.

State Officials Meet To Begin Planning Census

More than 100 planners, community development coordinators, and town administrators from every region of the state gathered at Anne Arundel Community College on July 14 to brainstorm with federal and state officials on how to organize for the next decennial census, which will be taken on April 1, 2000. Representing Garrett County at the meeting was Doug Green of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning.

"Our goal is to count each and every Marylander in the year 2000," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "The key to successfully reaching this goal lies in the creation of strong local Complete Count committees. The year 2000 and the next census seem distant, but it is not too early to begin planning for this very important task."

In the 1990 decennial census, an estimated 101,000 individuals in Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City were not counted. "These results do not reflect badly on the state, considering that nearly 4.8 million Marylanders were enumerated. But, with federal funds for much needed services hinging on the number of residents who are counted, that undercount potentially cost Maryland $91 million annually. The real losers, however, were Maryland citizens who did not receive the services dependent upon those funds," stated the governor.

The one-day workshop helped focus statewide attention on the importance of Census 2000 and ita potential impact on communities, the state, and the nation. The day-long activity was designed to stimulate the formation of effective Complete Count committees. The committees are composed of representatives from a wide range of community-based organizations and agencies. Participants also brainstormed strategies that the local committees can use to establish the importance and credibility of Census 2000 in their communities.

Local census counts impact funding formulas for distribution of federal and state dollars to local governments, as well as how congressional, legislative, and councilmanic districts are realigned. Planning for the future growth and development of the state also is often guided by the results of the decennial census.

In the fall of 1996, the U.S. Bureau of the Census asked the governor of each state to appoint a Census 2000 Liaison. In Maryland, Governor Glendening appointed Ronald M. Kreitner, director, Maryland Office of Planning, to serve in this capacity.

"Our role as the lead state agency is to assure a strong federal-state partnership to develop and implement both the technical and public outreach components necessary for a good census and a complete count in Maryland," said Kreitner.

Since that time, Glendening has developed an initiative to assure that each and every Marylander is counted in the year 2000. The plan has four key objectives: to get accurate addresses for each residence where people live; to assure delivery of census forms to each address by local ntail or in person; to increase the mail-back response rate; and to assist those who can't mail back the forms.

"People should view the census as a celebration of our diverse culture and representative government, not simply an obligation to comply with a law," said Michel Lettré, assistant director, Maryland Office of Planning. "It is an opportunity for all Marylanders to take part in one of the nation's largest peace-time efforts, and it only comes around once every 10 years."

The governor's plan is being implemented by the Maryland Office of Planning. To achieve a complete count, the office has already begun a public outreach campaign, of which the July 14 workshop was a part. In addition to undertaking an aggressive outreach effort, the Office of Planning will serve as the state liaison with the local Complete Count committees across the state, will lead a State Government Complete Count committee to make state employees aware of the census and encourage their promotion of the event, and will work with the Maryland Association of Community Action Agencies to make jobs created by the census an opportunity for job training.

The Maryland Office of Planning is offering technical assistance and data access and dissemination to the Census Bureau and all local jurisdictions in order to accomplish key objectives of the governor's plan. Each activity is designed to increase the count of Marylanders.

The July 14 workshop was sponsored by the Maryland Census 2000 Partnership. Key members of the partnership are the state of Maryland, represented by the Maryland Office of Planning and the Department of Human Resources, the Maryland Association of Community Action Agencies Inc., the Baltimore Urban League, and the Philadelphia regional office of the Census Bureau.

For further information about Maryland's Census 2000 efforts, persons ntay contact Sharon Reichlyn, Maryland Office of Planning, at 410-767-4512.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

HICKS HOUSE In Loch Lynn was a commercial and summer hotel with 25 rooms, located just across the railroad tracks in Loch Lynn. The property was owned by J.B. Hicks of Moundsville, W.Va., while W.B. Dunn, also of Moundsville, was the hotel manager. On the same site today is the Loch Lynn Restaurant. The photo, taken just after the turn of this century when the hotel was "recently remodeled to an as new condition," is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum and is published here courtesy of the society and The Republican.

GCC Implementing Mentoring Groups To Assist Students

In an effort to keep more students in college until they complete their academic programs, the Retention Committee of Garrett Community College has recommended a system of mentor groups designed to help new students form positive relationships and develop a sense of belonging.

Plans are to begin with new students enrolled in the General Studies and certificate programs which do not have a readily identified campus leader. "We know that students in our Agricultural Management, Adventure Sports, and Natural Resources Technology programs have frequent meetings with their peers and their directors," according to Joan Crawford, chairperson of the Retention Committee, "and we hope to develop this type of relationship for other students.

"Each group will consist of six to eight new students, a senior mentor, who could be a faculty member or another advisor, and a second year student peer mentor," she continued. "The groups will meet three to four times during the semester to get acquainted, socialize, and discuss problems or concerns. They may also plan activities with other groups." Crawford added that Steve Tomb, assistant professor of Adventure Sports, will conduct a leadership training session for all members before the semester gets under way.

DNR Designates Staab Certified Forest Steward

Heinz "Hank" Staab, who resides along Hutton Road, is the newest certified Forest Steward in Garrett County. He and a group of friends purchased the property over 30 years ago for hunting and recreation. Since then, Staab has bought out the other members of the club, and had a Forest Stewardship plan prepared for the woodland in the late 1980s.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forest Service's Stewardship Program is designed to provide assistance to private forest landowners and to recognize them for actively managing their forested properties and practicing good stewardship. For more information concerning programs offered by the DNR Forest Service in Garrett County, persons may call the Mt. Nebo office at 301-334-3296.

Hay Fever Medicine Approved for Children

Recently the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved a new medicine for young children who suffer from symptoms associated with hay fever. The new drug is the first and only prescription antihistamine indicated for use in children under age 6. The medicine is available as a flavored, alcohol-free syrup and as a tablet. FDA approval now allows use in children as young as age 2.

Approximately 35 million Americans suffer from hay fever, a term used medically that is misleading. The condition is not caused by hay, nor is it associated with a fever. The more correct term is seasonal allergic rhinitis. Like most allergic reactions, this condition is triggered by substances in the environment such as weed, grass, and tree pollen. Symptoms resulting from interaction with these substances may include watery eyes, runny nose, sneezing, and sinus headaches. Since these symptoms are similar to those of a common cold, parents often do not have their children checked to see if the problem could be allergic rhinitis. Once a positive diagnosis is made, avoiding certain substances along with proper treatment can make a difference in controlling nagging symptoms.

Local Guardsmen Helping Restore Wetlands Area In Federalsburg

by Master Sgt.
Bettina Puckett

Restoring wetlands to their original condition here is a project Maryland Guardsmen enthusiastically participated in this summer.

Two wetlands next to Marshyhope Creek were destroyed more than 30 years ago when Federalsburg flooded and town officials asked the U.S. Corps of Engineers to dredge the creek. The sediment was then dumped into the bordering wetlands.

Dredging the creek eased the flooding, but the silt-filled wetlands disturbed the balance of nature. Wetlands are vital to the health of the Chesapeake Bay's flora and fauna. Environmentalists say the wetlands serve as a natural filter, keeping some pollutants from entering the bay, and they also are a habitat for wildlife.

So when the soldiers of the 243rd Engineer Co. (Combat Support Equipment) were asked to help reclaim and restore the wetlands during their two weeks of annual training in July, the company's commander agreed it would be a worthwhile project.

But the project, often conducted in 90-degree heat, was not easy.

"We have exercised every piece of equipment we have on hand," said Capt. Stuart Mellon, who lives in Freeland.

The earth-moving unit features bulldozers, front-end loaders, all-terrain cranes, scraper pans, 20-ton dump trucks and other equipment operated by members of the 243rd, about half of whom work in construction-related civilian fields.

Because the soldiers are often tied up with other training on drill weekends, this annual training was a great opportunity to get in some "stick time"—meaning shifting gears on the big construction vehicles, said Spec. Sean Taylor, who is assigned to the company's headquarters at Camp Fretterd near Baltimore. Detachment 1 of the 243rd is located in Salisbury, while Detachment 2 is in Oakland.

"We get a project and we like to knock it out," said Taylor, a Germantown resident who as a civilian drives Metro buses in Washington, D.C.

"It's the type of project where everybody gets additional training, and it's an ideal situation to do it in," said Sgt. 1st Class James T. Evans, the company's acting first sergeant.

Despite the hot July weather, the soldiers worked full-speed, scooping silt out of one wetland and transporting the material to locations where fill dirt has been requested.

"They would work night and day if you told them to," said Evans, who is from Oakland.

Evans recalls years ago when Army bulldozers were usually used for digging a tank trench. When the training was over, soldiers would fill in the trench. "This is good training because (the wetlands) will be used after we're gone," he said.

The amount of work these men and women accomplished did not escape their commander. "They have been busting butt," Mellon said. Mellon estimated the unit would complete one of the two wetlands this summer, but eight days into the job, 95 percent of that wetland was completed and his troops were already starting on the second. "It totally blew us away that we could get that far," Mellon said.

A mechanic who helps keep the big earth-moving equipment running said this year's annual training "ranks right up at the top" of those he has experienced during his nine-year Guard career.

"But the heat is a factor," said Spec. Christian Bard of Frederick. The sweltering weather caused some of the big rigs to blow hoses and experience other maintenance problems.

However, Bard characterized the annual training as "exciting," saying that he doesn't often have the chance to gain so much hands-on experience. In civilian life, Bard is an outreach worker for the Frederick Transitional Shelter, a homeless shelter.

Although the Guardsmen have been working 10-plus-hour days, the soldiers don't seem to mind. "It's not like you're watching the clock," said Spec. Steve Duckers, a truck driver from Oakland.

"You can drive anything you want out here," said Duckers, who in civilian life works for RPM Construction in Oakland.

Another aspect of this year's training is that the soldiers are working cooperatively with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources and several other agencies. Members of the community are also pitching in.

"They are saving us a lot of money," said Nancy Stewart, a project manager with the DNR's Watershed Restoration Division. "These guys are doing a fantastic job."

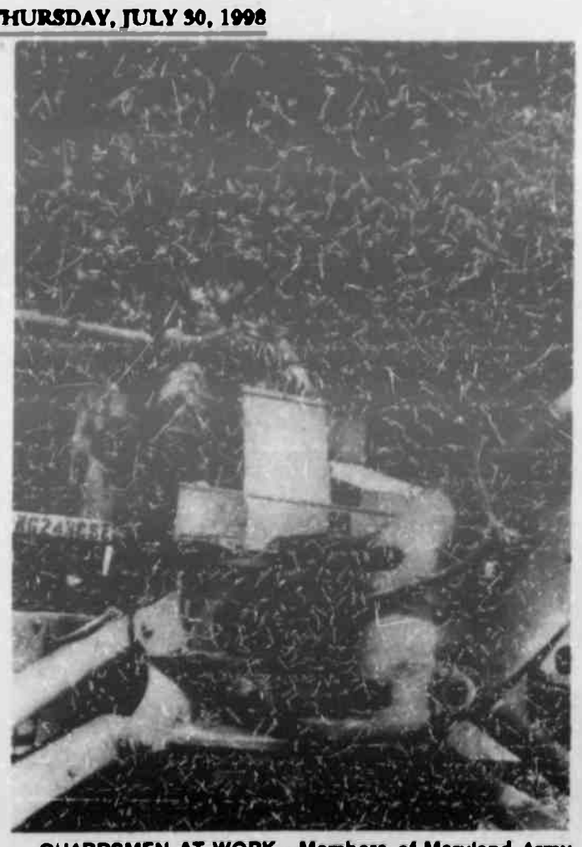
If the DNR had contracted out the work, it would have cost roughly $220,000. Therefore, Mellon estimated the Guard was saving the DNR about $150,000.

The 27-acre wetlands project is the first project of the 243rd, which is a new Maryland Army National Guard unit, activated on Sept. 1, 1997.

Spec. Bill Ramey, a Keyser, W.Va., resident who operates a backhoe and other unit machinery, said he looks forward to bringing his 8-year-old son Billy back to the site next year.

At the end of the two weeks, a 13-person contingent in the 243rd will remain behind to put the finishing touches on the project, including stabilizing the soil with grass seed. The DNR will fund that portion of the project, Mellon said.

Herman Twining, a project engineer with the Maryland Department of the Environment's Mining Program, designed the wetlands reclamation project, which includes the installation of three small walking bridges.



The project has a number of environmental benefits such as helping to restore rare state plants, including pumpkin ash, which was thought to be practically gone, and the seaside alder, a shrub which is only found on the Eastern Shore and in Oklahoma. "There's no telling how it got in Oklahoma," Stewart said.

The seeds for the rare plants were collected and local school children at Federalsburg Elementary School helped plant them in pots to prepare them to be transplanted in the marsh, she said.

When the project is finished, the wetlands will be a public access area and will include an "interpretative trail system" with signs posted to help educate the public, Stewart said.

"When it's all said and done, the nature trail will connect to (Federalsburg's) existing path," Mellon said.

The three-year restoration project is scheduled to be completed by the summer of 1999, Stewart said.

GUARDSMEN AT WORK - Members of Maryland Army National Guard from Oakland were among those who spent two weeks recently in the Federalsburg area participating in the Marshyhope Wetlands Project, an effort to restore two wetlands that were destroyed by flooding in the 1960s. Fort Will Host Indian Encampment

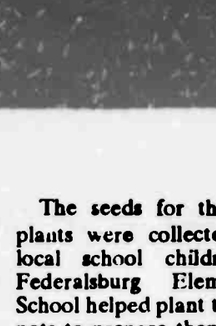
Fort Necessity National Battlefield will host an American Indian encampment this weekend, Aug. 1-2. The group "Three Fires of the Ohio" will talk about 18th century American Indian culture from the Northeast Woodland and the Southern Great Lakes area. Storytelling, singing, and historic interpretation will be the focus of the encampment mid-day Saturday through Sunday.

Fort Necessity will also offer regularly scheduled summer interpretive programs throughout the two-day period. Tours of the Mount Washington Tavern, a 19th century stagecoach stop, are conducted at 10 a.m. and at 2, 3, and 4 p.m. A guided walk will begin at the Visitor Center at 2:15, and programs about 18th century soldier life and musket firing demonstrations will occur at 11, 12:30, 3, and 4:30 in the fort area.

All park activities are subject to the general entrance fee of $2 for adults. Children 16 and under are admitted free. Fees are payable at the park's visitor center, which is open 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Additional information about this program and upcoming events may be obtained by calling 724-329-5512. Fort Necessity is located on U.S. Route 40, 11 miles east of Uniontown, Pa.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW



U.S. Marine Cpl. Michael W. Duling, son of William G. Duling, Sunnyside Road, Oakland, has departed on a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf with the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), embarked aboard the ships of the USS Saipan Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Duling is one of more than 1,200 marines and sailors who departed their home base of Camp Lejeune, N.C., as part of the ARG. In addition to the 22nd MEU, the ARG consists of the amphibious assault ship and flagship USS Saipan, the dock landing ship USS Tortuga, and the amphibious transport dock USS Austin.

Duling and fellow marines prepared for the deployment by participating in an Atlantic Joint Task Force Exercise. The exercise involved more than 10,000 U.S. forces and tested their ability to respond to situations they may encounter during their six-month deployment.

Duling's unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, an aircraft squadron, a support group, and a command element. With the combination of these teams, Duling's unit supplies and sustains itself for either quick mission accomplishment or clearing the way for follow-on forces.

The 1992 graduate of Southern Garrett High School joined the Marine Corps in October 1995.

Antiques

Home security is not just a recent concern. In the 18th century, long before electronic sensors and alarms, the "dummy board" was used.

A flat board was cut into an outline of a person, and then details were painted on the board. Men, women, children, servants in uniform and even dogs were depicted on the decoys.

A dummy board was placed near a wall so it cast a shadow in the candlelight. Sometimes just a dummy face was placed strategically behind the curtains in a window.

The figures were copied as decorative items in the mid-19th century and again about 1925. They are sometimes seen at auctions.

Any dummy board, even a 20th century one, sells for hundreds of dollars.

Q. I bought some yellow plates that look a lot like Fiesta ware. They are marked "Valencia." Are they new?

A. The Shawnee Pottery Co. made Valencia dinnerware for Sears about 1940.

Valencia ware comes in the same sort of bright colors as Fiesta ware. The Valencia advertisements even played on the resemblance. One 1941 ad said, "Valencia, Gay as a Carnival."

Tumblers now sell for $15 to $20. A salt-and-pepper set sells for $10. Plates sell for about $7 each. A cup-and-saucer set is worth from $10 to $15.

Q. My father gave me his Andy Gump roadster. It has the figure of Andy driving. The metal car is painted red, with the license plate number 348 in the front and back. The wheels are painted black and gold. Underneath, it's marked "Tootsietoy."

A. In the 1930s, Toosietoy made a boxed set of vehicles called "Tootsietoy Funnies." The set included a Moon Mullins police patrol car, Uncle Willie and Mamie in a boat, a Kayo ice truck, a Herbie & Smittie motorcycle with sidecar and your Andy Gump roadster.

The roadster sells for $175 to $350, depending on condition. If the Andy figure can move, it sells for more.

AUDREY HEPBURN: IMMORTAL GAMINE

Above all, Audrey Hepburn had class. The one-time sickly war refugee, so hungry she ate tulip bulbs to stay alive, grew up to symbolize beauty – both inside and out. Her screen presence was luminous, but she also shone as special ambassador for UNICEF, working tirelessly to save the lives of youngsters in countries beset by war, famine and other disasters. And she was a loving mother to her own two sons.

Hepburn's Cinderella story is featured in August's Biography magazine, from starving war victim to penniless ballerina to hat model, nightclub dancer, bit-part actress and finally big-time star. She was discovered on a Monaco beach by the French novelist Colette, whose novel, "Gigi" was about to be made into a Broadway play. Colette declared "Voila ma Gigi!" ("There's my Gigi!"). At 22, Hepburn became a star.

The public success and adulation couldn't protect her from personal disappointment. Her two marriages, to actor Mel Ferrer and to an Italian psychoanalyst, ended in divorce. She suffered five miscarriages attempting to have the children she desperately wanted. Finally, colon cancer took her life at 63.

Hard times began in Belgium when her father deserted the family. Her mother later moved to England to give Hepburn a British education. When war seemed imminent in England they went to Holland, which was also invaded. A member of the underground, Hepburn was nursed back to health after the war by a forerunner to UNICEF.

She eventually came to America to play Gigi. Then came "Roman Holiday," "Breakfast at Tiffany," "Sabrina," "My Fair Lady" and others. She bought a home in Switzerland "where there would never be a war." In 1987, she stopped making films to devote herself to UNICEF. As a former child refugee who had cheated death, she was determined to help other children do the same. Her debt was repaid.

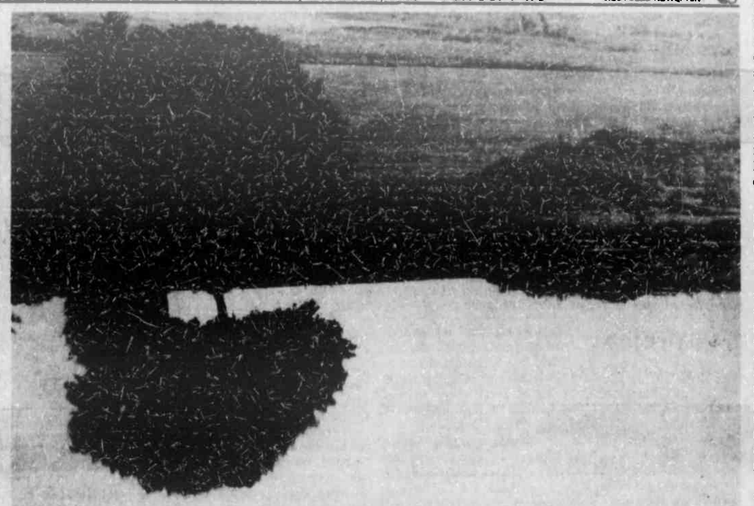
VOL NO. 120 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1998 PER COPY 47¢ Printed on RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

Unemployment Rates Up, But More Employed

Employment in Maryland expanded in June, posting the largest monthly increase this year. However, as schools closed for the summer recess, a heavy influx of temporary job seekers into the labor market caused unemployment to rise from 4.4 percent in May to 4.8 percent in June.

Garrett County's jobless rate increased from 9.5 percent in May to 9.9 percent in June. However, the June 1997 rate was 14.4 percent.

"The increase in the number of Marylanders holding jobs reflects the strong economic activity occurring in the state," said John P. O'Connor, acting secretary of the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR). "We experienced seasonal hiring in several industries, including gains in construction, a positive result of low interest rates and significant consumer spending."



Following seasonal adjustment, the statewide unemployment rate remained 4.4 percent in June.

Statewide, the unemployment rate dropped from June 1997 to June 1998 in 23 of the Maryland's 24 jurisdictions. Unemployment lows included 2.6 percent in Montgomery County, 2.8 percent in [illegible] County, 3.3 percent in Frederick County, and [illegible] percent in Carroll County.

Unemployment increases are fairly typical in June, the DLLR reported. While seasonal hiring picks up, the continuing flow of students and other job seekers into the labor market more often than not exceeds job availability. During June, employment rose by about 32,200 people, reaching 2,687,053. With an increase of nearly 46,300 in the number of job seekers entering the labor market, however, the unemployment count also rose to more). Even with this increase, the number of unemployed dropped considerably since last year when just over 158,300 people, or 5.6 percent of the labor force, were unemployed.

There were actually more people employed in Garrett County in June (13,359) than in May (13,133), but the unemployment percentage was higher in June because of an increase in SERENITY — A peaceful place for some peaceful thought was captured on film by John McEwen this week as he traveled about the county looking for photogenic sights. We thought about running this photo upside down, just for fun, since the mirror image is so intact. This scene should be appreciated now, since it is located near the former Winters Dairy, where the Oakland bypass may very well be built in the next several years.

State Adds Over $700,000 For Jennings System

A project to design and construct a sewer system to serve 84 homes in the Jennings community will receive state assistance in the form of a $749,739 grant, according to a press release from the State of Maryland Office of the Governor. The Board of Public Works approved the grant yesterday, according to the report.

"These improvements will eliminate the potential health problems associated with failing septic systems," said Governor Parris Glendening. "It will also eliminate the discharge of raw wastewater into the Casselman River."

The sewage collected from Jennings will be conveyed to the Grantsville Wastewater Treatmeut Plant for treatment and discharge.

In addition to the state grant, the project is already receiving $558,000 in federal grants. The Garrett County Sanitary District is also contributing $130,000. Construction is to begin this month and should be completed in a year.

"Garrett County is fortunate to receive such generous financial aid from the federal and state governments for the Jennings sewer project," said Lamont

Anti-Highway Group Slates GCC Meeting

G.C./CARE, the citizens' group formed in opposition to construction of a north/south interstate highway through Garrett County, will host a discussion meeting in the auditorium of Garrett Community College on Thursday, Aug. 13, from 9 to 9 p.m.

"Governor Parris Glendening and Maryland Secretary of Transportation David Winstead have been invited to this meeting to listen to the people of Garrett County regarding the Continental One Superhighway," said G.C./CARE president George Falter. "We will be discussing the incremental construction of the highway. The State Highway Administration is currently looking at the first two phases, which are the Oakland Bypass and Route 219 north of Interstate 68.

"Fred Crozier, SHA District 6 engineer, has repeatedly told us that the decision on the Oakland Bypass and Route 219 North is in the hands of the governor and the secretary of transportation," Falter said.

Citing an appearance by Glendening on a Maryland Public Television program concerning Smart Growth legislation, Falter then quoted Glendening's response to a question con-

IST Advisory Bd. Sets Goals For GCC Program

More local jobs for college graduates and more trained employees for local businesses are goals of the recently formed advisory board for Garrett Community College's new Information Systems Technologies (IST) program, according to the program's coordinator, Dr. Terry Norris.

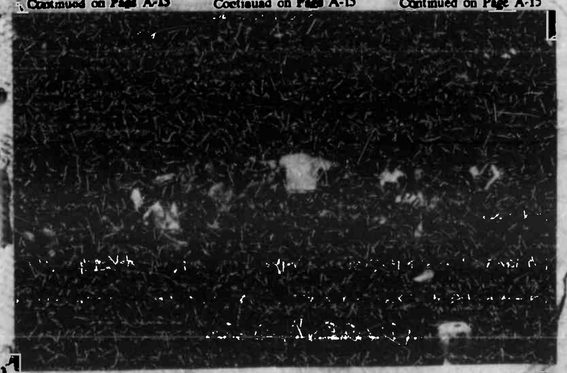
At the IST advisory board's first meeting, Norris spoke of the need for better communication between the education and business communities because of the rapidly changing technology. Also speaking was Jim Hinebaugh, Garrett County director of economic development, who affirmed the need for employers to have workers trained in the latest technology.

Norris explained how the new IST program, set to begin this fall, will provide trained workers in five areas of concentration. After taking six core courses, students will take electives in one of the following specialty areas: Internet specialist, network management, computer service technician, computer programming, and video conferencing. Students take a total of 26 credits, which can be completed in two semesters. Because of the need for workers to have communication skills, a business communication course will be required in the program.

At the advisory board meeting Norris also spoke of the possibility of the college's applying for a grant given by the American Association of Community Colleges and Microsoft to become a designated Working Connections College and receive funding for further development and support of the program.

In addition to Norris and Hinebaugh, advisory board members who attended the first meeting were [illegible] Derato, Rick Wilkes, Don Storck, Lillian Mitchell, Jo Ann Vent, Dennis League, David Moe, Jeff Ashby, and Dan Jonson.

Two open houses to explain the new IST program to the public have been scheduled for Monday, Aug. 17, at 10 a.m. and Wednesday, Aug. 19, at 5 p.m. in Room 307 of GCC's Continuing Education Building. Persons interested in further information may contact Norris at 301-387-3043.



Sentence Of 20 Years Handed To Convicted Burglar

A former Mountain Lake Park man has been sentenced by Judge James Sherbin to 20 years in jail. Scott E. Kahl, 25, was found guilty of first degree burglary by a jury in May, and Sherbin ordered the 20-year penalty in Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last w[illegible]. Kahl was also given [illegible] theft, and Sherbin ordered a sentence of 15 years, which is to run concurrently with the 20-year term.

The defendant is currently serving a four-year sentence for drug charges. The 20-year sentence will begin after the four years have passed, according to a report from the local state attorney's office.

Kahl was charged in January 1997 by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. He is alleged to have broken into a Deer Park home and stolen numerous coins and weapons. Several of the coins were later recovered from pawn shops in Hagerstown, as well as from Kahl's

THE POLISHED SOUNDS OF A PROFESSIONAL SYMPHONY will be heard again this year at the Garrett Community College auditorium, where the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's Symphony at Deep Creek will perform four concerts on August 14, 15, 21 and 22. The symphony will be under the direction of Erick Friedman, renowned violinist. The executive director for the group is Mountain Lake Park native Kathryn Stasell-Stowell, who has reported that the programs for this year will appeal to all audiences, including persons who have never heard a symphony before. "If you've never been at a performance like this, you really ought to try it, just once. I'm sure you'll be back," she said. Today's issue of The Republican contained a special flyer about the music series, and more information can also be obtained by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082. The series is sponsored by Lincoln Publishing Company Inc. and Oakhill Timber Deer Creek Realty, as well as Friends of the Symphony. All GLAF events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Negotiations Of Deep Creek Sale Move Forward

Negotiations for the sale of Deep Creek Lake by GPU Inc. to the state of Maryland are reportedly progressing. According to the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), signed last month by Governor Parris Glendening and Fred Hafer (chairman, president, and chief executive officer of GPU), the utility and the state were to execute a sales agreement specifying an appraisal process and other terms and conditions of the sale by July 31. The MOU further calls for the establishment of a sale price on or before September 30.

According to a report from the governor's office, both parties are continuing to work on reaching a final agreement.

"This administration has continued to work very hard during these negotiations to protect Maryland's interests and fulfill the MOU requirements," Glendening stated. "The state is committed to guaranteeing perpetual public stewardship of Deep Creek Lake's natural resources and recreational opportunities for generations to come."

Glendening recommended to GPU earlier this year to sell the lake to the state. The MOU, signed on June 2, states that GPU has agreed to separate the sale of Deep Creek from the divestiture of its hydroelectric generation assets, and to enter into exclusive negotiations for the sale of the lake to the state.

The appraisal process and all negotiations are apparently confidential. The lake purchase transaction, however, will be subject to approvals by the Maryland Board of Public Works, the Pennsylvania Utilities Commission, and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

SENATOR SARBANES THANKED FOR HIS EFFORTS — Senator Paul Sarbanes is vacationing in Garrett County this week and has visited several points of interest around the mountaintop. He was present for the official ground-breaking of the Overlook North project, for which he has been given credit for securing funds to complete. Duane Yoder, director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC), who is pictured (right) with Sarbanes, welcomed the senator to the construction site, which is located close to High Street near Southern High School. Yoder explained that the project, which is directed at replacing a substandard housing complex that was crime-ridden, was moving along well until January, when he received word that one of the key sources of financing, the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), was not going to fund nearly $600,000 that had been expected by GCCAC. The entire project was jeopardized, Yoder said, and he and other officials went immediately to Washington, D.C., to meet with Sarbanes and ask for help. In response, the senator and his staff were able to earmark funds for the project in the senate's HUD Appropriations Bill. Even more money was obtained through this effort, Yoder reported, and the project is again on track. After Yoder thanked Sarbanes and ARC, Al Feldstein of the Maryland Office of Planning, who was representing both Governor Parris Glendening and ARC, told the small crowd that Yoder is able to be pra[illegible]se "two days didn't go by without a call from Duane," and Sarbanes concurred, saying that Yoder is "always ahead of us on the curve." Overlook will consist of 60 units of affordable rental housing, 16 single-family homes, and a child care/family support center. Doug Devlin of Devlin Design Inc. is the architect, and Richard Devlin (who is shown with his back to the camera) is the general contractor.

THREE-TIME CHAMP - Chris Stambaugh, Martinsburg, W.Va., successfully defended, for the second time, his men's singles title in the Western Maryland Tennis Championships, held this past week at the Mtn. Lake Park Tennis Club clay courts. Stambaugh defeated former Southern High School standout Brandon Ferguson, 18, in the title match, 6-4, 6-1. Stambaugh then teamed up with former Northern High grad Gene Cutter to capture the men's doubles championship. See sports pages for more photos and complete results. Photo by Charlie Beck.

Pipe Bomb Found In State Forest, Disarmed By State Technicians

Bomb technicians from the Office of the State Fire Marshal successfully rendered a 12" pipe bomb safe Monday night after the device was found earlier in the afternoon in the Potomac River. Fifteen-year-old William Hebb of Oakland and other family members were spending the afternoon in Potomac State Forest when the youth discovered the pipe bomb while swimming.

While [illegible] to shore and park rangers Natural Resources were notified at 4:30 p.m. The park rangers closed off the area on Lost Run Road while the bomb technicians, some of whom arrived by Maryland State Police helicopter, worked to render the device harmless. The technicians were able to recover significant evidence from the bomb, which was 1½" in diameter.

The swimming area will remain closed to the public until divers can search the river bed to ensure no other pipe bombs remain. The investigation to determine who was responsible for constructing the explosive continues by the Office of the State Fire Marshal, with assistance from the Department of Natural Resources. Manufacturing a pipe bomb is a felony in Maryland which carries a penalty of 20 years imprisonment and a $10,000.00 fine.

Local Jail Project Adjustment Done; Protocol Breached

Apparent misunderstanding and a lapse in protocol [illegible] resulting delay in [illegible] County jail. At issue about this change [illegible] place Tuesday among the Garrett County commissioners; Gary Mullich, director of the county's general services; Sheriff Dick Sanders; Danny Rumer, warden of the jail; and Mike Stemple and Duane Weaver, contractors from Naylor's who are doing the jail work.

The renovation of the jail has been a project "on the books" since 1990, Mullich reported, but because of various delays and interruptions, it was not initiated until this year. The space at the local detention center has been inadequate for several years, and the renovation was designed to provide more room for both prisoners and staff. A.D. Naylor's Contracting's bid was accepted, and work was initiated earlier this year.

The sheriff position has been held by at least three men in the years that the renovation has been planned. The current sheriff, Dick Sanders, expressed frustration at the meeting Tuesday because he said he has never been included on any discussion about the project. Danny Rumer, the warden, has also been excluded from the planning. Mullich defended the process, saying that the renovation plans had been in the works since 1990[illegible] long before Sanders had been sheriff. However, Sanders said the needs of the jail had changed over the years and one section of the renovation was finished.

"What is built down there is this: We were going to have a cell that, when the prisoners are locked down, would provide absolutely no way for them to get to a bathroom facility," Sanders said Tuesday. "That just doesn't make sense. You can't lock people down without a bathroom."

Mullich said the design would require that the door be left unlocked to allow bathroom access.

"Then why have a door

Penn Alps Music Series To Host Cygnus Piano Quartet

Jose Cueto and Nancy Roldan

A program of the music of Ludwig van Beethoven and Wolfgang Mozart will be presented by the Cygnus Piano Quartet on Saturday, Aug. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall of Penn Alps in Grantsville as part of the Music at Penn Alps series.

The quartet of Juiius Wirth, viola, Fiona Thompson, cello, Jose Cueto, violin, and Nancy Roldan, piano, have chosen to perform Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Opus 12, Number 2 and Trio in G Minor, Opus 11 and Mozart's Duo in E flat, K.424 and Quartet Number 1 in G Minor, K.478. The program is sponsored by Allegany College of Maryland.

Wirth is presently principal violist of the Harrisburg, Baltimore Chamber, and St. Cecelia (N.Y.) symphony orchestras, as well as a member of the National Chamber and the Baltimore Opera Orchestra. He has toured Europe and the east coast and is co-founder of the Windmere Ensemble and the Wilde Quartet.

Thompson performs with the Baltimore Symphony, the Baltimore Chamber, Concert Artists, Baltimore Opera, and the National Gallery of Art orchestras. She has studied at the Royal Northern College of Music (U.K.) and at the University of Southern California.

Roldan and Cueto, making their third appearance at Penn Alps, have a long history of concertizing and recording. The duo, also husband and wife, toured the Americas last year and have performed frequently in the Baltimore area. Cueto presently serves as concertmaster of the Concert Artists of Baltimore and is a member of the Kennedy Center Chamber Players and Washington Chamber Society. He is also artist in residence at St. Mary's College.

Roldan's international concert career includes solo, recitals, and chamber music in Europe, the Caribbean, South America, and the U.S. She has been on the faculty of the Peabody Conservatory for a number of years and formerly headed the piano department at the University of Maryland Baltimore County.

On Friday, Aug. 7, Roldan will teach a seminar at Penn Alps, sponsored by Allegany College, titled: "Beyond Relaxation: Music, Health, and Self Care, Looking for Sound Health." For more information on this workshop, persons may contact Kerin Horton, Allegany College, at 301-784-5248 or phone 301-784-5108.

Tickets for the concert series are available at Main Street Books, Frostburg; the Book Mark'et, Oakland, the Book Center, Cumberland; Main Street Books, Keyser, W.Va.; and the Penn Alps Crafts Shop. Music Lover passes for multi-ticket discounts are available through Spruce Forest Artisan Village.

For more series information and ticket reservations, persons may call Spruce Forest at 301-895-3332.

Flooded Hudnall House Acquired By State, FEMA

A combination of funds from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the Maryland State Board of Public Works will be used to acquire the flooded-out Crellin home of Harold and Betty Jo Hudnall. A $9,281 grant has been approved by public works, and FEMA's contribution is $55,688.

The Hudnalls' house, located along Rt. 39 next to the Youghiogheny River, was irreparably damaged in a 1996 flood. The couple has since rebuilt on higher ground.

"We are committed to eliminating flood-ravaged structures like this one," said Governor Parris Glendening, who is also the chairman of the public works board. "They pose danger to the health and safety of the occupants as well as others downstream."

The county will demolish the structure and convert the property to open space. It is one of 308 properties designated for acquisition by the Governor's Flood Mitigation Task Force for Western Maryland.

"This partnership of local, state, and federal resources is significantly reducing the flooding hazard in Garrett County," said Brad Frantz, director of the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management. "We appreciate the state's strong support of this ongoing effort."

Alcohol Cited As Factor In Near-Collision On DCL

A water skier escaped serious injury this past Friday evening when she was nearly struck by a boat on Deep Creek Lake near the dam, according to Natural Resources Police (NRP).

The water skier was nearly struck at 8 p.m. by a vessel operated by David Ray Bumgarner, 30, McHenry, who was subsequently charged with reckless operation of a motorboat and operating a vessel under the influence of alcohol. Each charge carries a maximum penalty of $5[illegible].

Bumgarner's vessel was reportedly towing a person on an inner-tube when his boat allegedly jumped the wake of an oncoming vessel and nearly ran over the person in the water. The water skier victim saw Bumgarner's vessel approaching her and attempted to dive under the surface of the water to avoid being struck. When she resurfaced, between Bumgarner's vessel and its inner-tube, her back was struck by the tow line. She did not require medical attention.

NRP officers located Bumgarner's vessel in the main part of the lake and detected a strong odor of alcohol as they were speaking with him. Several field sobriety tests were administered, which revealed that he was allegedly operating a vessel while under the influence of alcohol.

MAJOR GRANT PRESENTED TO MICROWORKS BY ARC — Senator Paul Sarbanes was among those celebrating Tuesday at the offices of Garrett County Community Action, as a check for $50,000 was presented. The money, which is a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), will be used to fund the Garrett County Micro Business Partnership, which qualifies as part of ARC's Regional Initiative on Building Entrepreneurial Economies in Appalachia. The goal of this initiative is to help Appalachian communities start and expand local businesses. Microworks, which is the name of the local entrepreneurial program headed by Mikal McCartney, will benefit from the funds. Microworks, initiated in April, is designed to help individuals start or expand small businesses, which in turn expands the county's employment base. Training and assistance are available to local entrepreneurs, as are loan information and counseling. For information about the program, persons may step by the Oakland office at 104 East Center Street, or they may call the office at 301-334-9431, ext. 153. Pictured left to right at Tuesday's event are Robert Lyons, chairman of the Community Action Committee; McCartney; Al Feldstein of the Maryland Office of Planning who represented both Governor Parris Glendening and ARC; and Senator Sarbanes.

Jail Project

there at all?" Sanders asked. "That's a $2,000 door."

According to Chairman Wayne Wilt, the commissioners and these same officials met two weeks ago to discuss the problem. Wilt said in an interview Tuesday that it was his understanding that the commissioners at that time agreed that the sheriff's plan would make more sense, but that the fire marshal, Naylor's, and other officials should be contacted about the architectural change requested by Sanders and Rumer. Then the item was to be brought up during a regular Tuesday meeting, the chairman understood. However, before the group met again, the work was apparently approved, and the sheriff and Rumer approved the work of a prisoner who is a block-layer by trade to cut a doorway in the wall and construct a metal wall, approximately four feet long. This took place last week.

When Stemple and Weaver found that the work had been done, they were concerned about their role in the project and requested a gathering of the officials. Because they are working on contract, Weaver explained, it is important that they are kept informed of any alteration in the plans.

"We have a contract here that spells out, A B C, exactly what we are supposed to do," Weaver said Tuesday. "So when there is a change like this that is not in the plans, we have to be pay attention to it. If that wall fails or cracks somewhere down the line, it could be on our heads. We need to have the change approved and explained in writing before we can continue with our work." Weaver clarified that he has no problem with the change itself, but that it should be officially approved in the contract.

When the question was publicly and repeatedly raised at the Tuesday morning meeting as to who actually did approve the work, no one appeared to know. Mullich said he did not know, and Chairman Wilt said he did not know. Tom Ashby, who works directly under Mullich in the general services office, is the individual who told Rumer to go ahead with the job, but he would have apparently not acted on his own, according to several key persons interviewed. Attempts to contact him for comment this morning were unsuccessful.

In an interview, Mullich implied that a commissioner gave the go-ahead, and other sources concurred with that opinion, with Commissioner Wayne Johnson being singled out each time. In another discussion, Mullich was singled out as the one approving the work. As of press time, no one had taken responsibility of approving the job.

"It was my understanding when we met two weeks ago that we would bring the topic back to the table at our public meeting," Wilt said. "I do not know who approved the job."

The chairman went on to say, however, that he had held a meeting with Johnson and Commissioner Gary Fratz after the Tuesday morning gathering and had advised them both that they need to work together on such decisions.

"I reminded them that we are a three-person team and that we cannot personally move on such decisions without the consensus of the group," Wilt said. He said that while the structural change was logical and made sense, he was frustrated that protocol had not been followed.

Sheriff Sanders was able to secure the services of the fire marshal, Steve Wendling, just an hour after the Tuesday meeting, and Wendling inspected the alteration in the cell. He deemed it safe and his approval was put in writing. In an interview this morning with the sheriff, he said he was relieved to have the job finished and approved.

"I truly care about the people who work here, and, believe it or not, I care about the prisoners. I know some people say 'give them bread and water,' but I have a responsibility to them. They are people and they are due certain rights. When I see that they are not being treated properly, I'm going to fight to make it right," Sanders said. He said he has been continually frustrated in his association with Mullich, citing various instances when he felt Mullich was not responding to the needs of the correctional facility. Wilt, however, defended Mullich, stating that he has "done a good job" in several general services projects around the county.

The commissioners, Mullich, Lamont Pagenhardt (county administrator), and other officials are in Ocean City this week for the Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) annual conference, and were therefore unavailable for comment.

The aberation has caused a slight lag in the job, which was originally to be finished by April 30 of this year. Other factors, such as unavailability of materials and various change orders, have also led to the delay. Now the completion date is closer to sometime in October, officials said.

YOUNG PIANISTS TO BE PART OF MUSIC FESTIVAL — For the second year, a group of young pianists will present a youth recital as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Symphony at Deep Creek classical music series. The recital will take place on Aug. 18 in the Garrett Community College auditorium. The program will begin at 3 p.m. and is open to the public. There will be no admission charge. Local students performing in the recital are pictured above. In the front row, left to right, are Jennifer Sandora, Erin Mae Nail, Devon McClive, and Cambria Baylor. In the second row, same order, are Andrew Murray, Natalie Domanick, Melissa Flanagan, Shaena Murphy, and Michael Rohrbaugh. These students had to first perform for a judge to be selected for this recital. The adjudication process took place recently at the Mountain Lake Park home of Nancy Learay, with Eric Kitchen, Ellarale, serving as the adjudicator. These musicians are the students of the following piano teachers: Dr. Peter Armatutz, Marianne Flinn, Eleanor Benedict, Nell Kraba, Nelda McNeil, and Lela Paugh. At the Aug. 16 recital, the young people will each play and then will listen to pianist Nancy McDill, a principal player with the Symphony at Deep Creek. Ms. McDill, who is a New York City resident, will perform and then will answer questions about the career of a professional pianist. This recital is being organized by Nancy Learay, Susan Paterson, and Charity Janssen.

Accident Victim Trapped, Freed, Flown To Hospital

A driver, freed after entrapment resulting from an accident last Friday, was flown by Trooper 5 helicopter to Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

According to a report from Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, Tommy G. King, 40, Oakland, was traveling on Friendsville Road about 8:40 a.m., and swerved to avoid hitting a deer. His car struck an embankment and overturned, trapping King in the vehicle.

Friendsville VFD and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and freed the victim. MSP helicopter Trooper 5 was called and transported King to Cumberland Memorial Hospital for treatment. He has since been released.

Woman Run Over

Police said that on Saturday, around 1 p.m., they responded to an accident scene at a vacation residence on Marsh Hill Road. The report filed stated Lee Stanley Wyatt, 72, Republic, Pa., was backing up his pickup truck and was unaware that his wife, Margaret L. Wyatt, 72, was standing behind the vehicle.

The truck ran over Mrs. Wyatt, who was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital. She was admitted in serious condition and yesterday was reported to be in stable condition. No charges were filed in the incident.

Arrests For Drugs, Alcohol

Two local men were arrested on drug and alcohol charges Saturday at 7 p.m.

Police said that Jeremy P. Lewis, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, and James E. Moon, 21, Oakland, were in a vehicle on First Street in Friendsville at the time of the incident. They were found to have open containers of alcohol in the vehicle and to be in possession of suspected marijuana and paraphernalia.

Both were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession with intent to use marijuana. Moon was also charged with driving while intoxicated and consuming alcohol while driving.

The following arrests were made by police for driving while intoxicated: Kathleen A. Stuart, 51, Mtn. Lake Park, July 25; James VanSickle, 49, McHenry, July 25; Andrew R. Yoder, 22, Grantsville, July 27; Mason W. Callis, 56, Mtn. Lake Park, Aug. 1; and Arnold W. Lipscomb, 34, Oakland, Aug. 2.

An Attitude Problem...

The recent shooting deaths of two U.S. Capitol building guards shocked and saddened the entire nation, leaving many with the same unanswered questions: How could such a thing happen, why would anyone do such a thing, and what is our nation coming to that murder is being committed right in the center of the very building that is recognized around the globe as a symbol of freedom and democracy? With those questions, from many comes a natural response: a demand for swift justice for the killer.

The fact of the matter is, however, that the alleged murderer is a diagnosed schizophrenic, meaning that he suffers from a chronic and disabling brain disorder that impairs a person's ability to think clearly, manage emotions, and relate to others. An estimated two million of our citizens suffer from some degree of this neurosis, and far too many of them are not receiving proper, adequate treatment for their disease. Studies show that treated schizophrenics are no more prone to violence than the general public, but those who are untreated pose a real threat to themselves and others.

Many mental illnesses are simply the result of a chemical imbalance in the brain; in other words, there is a specific, concrete, easily understood reason for the illness, for which medication with the deficient chemical basically solves the problem. Yet our society continues to view any and all mental illness as a mysterious, frightening condition, primarily because of the bizarre behavior it sometimes precipitates.

If someone breaks a leg, gets the flu, or has a heart attack, we have no problem talking about it, understanding the treatment for it, and being supportive of the afflicted person. But if one is diagnosed with a mental illness, we don't talk about it except in whispers, we are generally not supportive, and we become afraid and judgmental of the afflicted one. The brain, like the heart, is just another organ, but we react so differently when each is diseased.

Our wonderful health care insurance companies are also a huge part of the problem of so many untreated mentally ill persons walking the streets. Receiving coverage for adequate treatment of that broken leg is relatively easy, but just try to get coverage from your HMO for adequate treatment of a mental disorder.

Finally, our various levels of government also play a major role in the continuance of this problem, as funding for mental health treatment facilities in our communities remains woefully inadequate.

Until we all adjust our attitudes about mental illness and then respond to these people appropriately, we can fully expect more incidents of violence by folks who really, truly don't know what they are doing.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial on the EMS personnel and their commitment to the volunteer job was very timely for us. We recently ran a test on the 911 system when we had an overnight power outage and a heavy snowfall, paired a heart attack and two traffic accidents on Routes I-68 and 40. Alt. alone takes a heavy summertime toll on northern crews, and especially their vehicles. Fire companies can't charge a penny, and heavily burdened Grantsville Co. 60, responsible for a disproportional huge territory, needs substantial new funding. Northern Rescue never has had too many daytime volunteers, and this critically jeopardizes lives of trauma victims.

If a "Super Highway" is constructed in Garrett County, we eventually could almost certainly be forced to turn to 24-hour stand-by firefighters and paramedics, not to mention increased law enforcement personnel, to cope with the guaranteed rise in accidents. One volunteer in the southern end of the county actually told me he wants the Super Highway simply so he could become a paid firefighter; yes, I was kind of surprised myself.

How would a county with a population of 30,000 pay for expanded (professional) rescue services? Or, if we can't pay, what effects would this road likely have on the quality of rescue services already barely viable and hampered by prolonged response times that sometimes result in death?

To the Editor:

Mountaintop Soccer Association recently hosted the fifth annual Major League Soccer Camp at Southern High School. Over 100 youth from age 4 through 17 participated in the camp. This camp would not have happened without the coordination of several persons. Thanks to Ron Petrella, MSA president, and his wife Patty for helping with the welcome dinner for the coaches and attending the camp each evening.

The coaches were extended hospitality by the following host families: Kevin and Martha Kidd, Jeff and Belinda Messenger, and Chuck and Sue Harkins. These families provided meals, entertainment, and transportation for the five coaches. Adam, the captain of the coaches, stated that he was envious of the way Americans are so generous and friendly. MSA and the coaches would like to express great thanks for the generosity of the host families.

MSA would also like to thank the following restaurants for their hospitality in providing meals to the coaches: Subway, Arby's, Silver Tree Inn, Red Run Inn, and Fox's Pizza Den of Oakland.

A very special thank you to all these folks who made the 1998 soccer camp a great success!

Yours truly,
Nancy Pagenhardt
MSA Camp Coordinator

LWV Will Host Candidate Forums At GCC Campus

Because of the large slate of qualified candidates running for office this year, two local candidates' forums are scheduled to be held prior to the primary election. Both forums will be conducted by the League of Woman Voters of Garrett County, one on Sunday, Aug. 30, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and the other on Sunday, Sept. 13, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., in the Garrett Community College auditorium, McHenry.

The first forum will cover the races for circuit court judge, sheriff, state senator, and state delegate. The second forum will be for the board of education and county commissioner candidates. Don Sincell, editor of The Republican newspaper, will be the moderator for both forums.

All candidates for all offices are invited to attend either or both forums and to distribute campaign literature. Tables will be set up in the lobby for displaying materials. Each forum will have a 10-minute break near the halfway point. The public is invited and urged by the league to attend and talk with the candidates at this time and at the end of each forum.

The league is currently working on questions for the forum and will accept submissions from the public to be considered for the forums until August 17. Questions may be submitted to LWVGC at P.O. Box 115, Oakland, MD 21550; to the league president, Virginia Grove, at 301 334-8269 or at ggrove-@gcnet.net; or to any other league board member.

The forums are being co-sponsored by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Club of Oakland, and the Garrett County chapter of the American Association of University Women, with additional support from the Garrett County Commission for Women and the Garrett County chapter of the Business and Professional Women.

The 1998 Voters Guide will be published by The Republican in its Sept. 10 issue. "The League of Women Voters of Garrett County urges citizens to read the guide, attend the forums, and make informed decisions at the polls," said a league spokesperson.

The Republican Notes Candidate Coverage Policy

The management of The Republican newspaper has announced its policy for political candidate news coverage and advertising.

Candidates for office in the county and state primary election in September are invited to submit one article (with photo) announcing their intent to run. Some candidates have already done so.

All other campaign material will be handled as paid advertisements. Candidates who do not have an account in good standing at The Republican must pay for their advertisements before they are published.

All political advertising must bear the name of the candidate's treasurer.

For more information, persons may call The Republican office at 301-334-3963 or 301-895-5827.

View From My Window

MOWING

By Jeffrey Wilson

It had been my intention to write a peaceful column about mowing, but not just the mowing in which every householder engages. I wanted to write about summer mowing on the farm, mowing as a form of meditation.

This desire had been further spurred by a recent conversation with another part-time farmer who waxes lyrical over the synergy between man and machine. He described his emotions which approached beatitude. He felt one with his tractor and mower as together they knocked down weeds or cut hay.

As I listened to him, I was reminded of a personal ad which appeared in a farm publication: "Bachelor farmer in search of single lady of any age with tractor. Send picture — of tractor." There is that primordial longing to farm which many men work out of their systems, albeit temporarily, by mowing.

No matter what we expect, life is always at least a little different. The problem, as I approached my major mowing, was a boundary dispute we have with a neighbor. I knew I had to talk to him, and I dreaded it. I had been extremely busy, too, and really did not have time to have the conversation with the patience and attention I knew it would require.

I had to have that conversation, and I did have it, though without resolution. So my mowing began with that topic in mind, and which I found hard to displace for happier musings.

Then there was something wrong about the mower. The bolts that hold the gearbox to the mower deck had come loose. I drove back to the farmstead and blocked up the mower. In order to get at the bolts, I had to take off the disk to which the mowing flails are attached. That would require time, something I was short of.

With a deadline or two hanging over my head, Deborah told me there was something wrong with the riding lawnmower. So I had two pieces of equipment down at the same time. One bit of luck was that the riding lawnmower started to go "kfluey" when almost all the yard was finished. So I could leave that mower until I figured out the other situation.

Another bit of luck was that my mother's tractor and mower were up and going, and she let me borrow it so that I could get my work done.

In the end, maybe this was a blessing in disguise, because Mom's tractor has more than twice the horsepower mine does, and her mower is a foot wider. It did not take long to figure out that I would now sail through the mowing.

A third bit of luck was that I had completed the most critical mowing first, namely between the rows of pine trees we planted last April. The survival rate on those trees is very high. Planting was followed by two solid weeks of rain, and then by two solid weeks of hot dry weather, which has been succeeded by a very tolerable mixture of heat and moisture ever since.

Not only did I get almost all of my farm mowing done, but I had time enough before supper to take the riding mower to the man who does my small engine work. He is one of those invaluable country gentlemen, whose numbers seem fewer and fewer all the time, who keeps equipment working which otherwise would have to be junked. Since I cannot afford a new riding lawnmower this gentleman is gold to me.

So the mowing got done. There had not been too much of that meditation which many men, including me, use mowing as an excuse to exercise. There was, however, very ample grounds for gratitude at the end of the day.

If you look at life just right, sometimes the minor calamities are blessings barely disguised. I managed to pull the mask off some of those blessings.

So I have my eyes open for what may still happen or what may already have happened which I have merely not yet perceived. It is a happy view of life to know that joyful surprises are often revealed only after we strain ourselves moving a rock.

While the Chautauqua event was happening at Garrett Community College this past July, I had the opportunity to attend a workshop with the scholar who portrayed Dorothy Parker. She had the participants pair off into interviewer and interviewee, and then we were supposed to write a humorous story from what we learned about the other person. I was teamed with a tourist originally from Churchville, Maryland, who was now teaching first grade in a predominantly black town in North Carolina. We were supposed to write our stories during the workshop, but we talked for so long that we ran out of time. Uh-oh, homework. As I sat at the computer composing the story and reading my notes, the story began to write itself. It was neither humorous nor totally factual (especially since it is written in the first person), but when the muse guides you, you should at least have the courtesy to see where she's going. I'd like to share the journey with you.

PURLOINED GOLD

by Melodee Hill

On the first day of the new semester as I stood at the front of the classroom, 15 pairs of dark deer-eyes pinned me to the blackboard. I fluttered inside my white skin like a newly caught butterfly waiting for the disposition of a capricious collector. Thirty shining, first-grade faces in hues and shades from smoothest brown to pebbly black followed my every move as I slowly walked through the aisles. A blonde-haired, white teacher in the small, predominantly black town of Sheldon, South Carolina, was about as rare as grits in Minnesota. The word minority had achieved a different dimension for me.

The first few days passed rather slowly with the children and me circling each other with wary curiosity. I began to feel as if I were in a gallery full of portraits whose eyes followed me about the room. The eyes stopped when I stopped and then slowly traversed the room one blink behind me like a faulty shadow. While leaning over a child's desk I would turn to find a thin arm partially outstretched toward me and then quickly drawn back from my gaze as if caught in the cookie jar. I began to wonder if these kids were "up" to something and each night I stuffed the weight of their regard into my satchel and dragged it home with spelling papers.

To relieve my growing tension and bolster my waning confidence I would sit in the evenings with my sole confidante, Gracie Elizabeth, and describe to her my anxiety about being so closely watched all through the day. She would listen attentively while I talked, but only as long as I stroked her smooth, white fur. Her grumbles and purrs were soothing comfort for a stranger in a strange land.

As the days went by, I began to tell the children stories about Gracie, who was rather eccentric and worthy of a tale or three. These ragged children were enthralled with my daily recitation of The Informal Misadventures of the Enthusiastically Neurotic Cat. The extreme poverty level of the townspeople made it impossible for most of the children to have pets and the notion of having an animal inside to pet and play with was fascinating to them. I even explained to them how much it helped me to tell Gracie my problems and troubles as I sat in the evenings petting and stroking her. They probably thought I was a bit eccentric to be talking to my cat all the time, but the stories opened the door onto a world few of them had experienced. They also began to share their stories with me.

One coiled-spring little girl, Tasheka, always sat in simmering silence during my stories and for the most part of the day, offered little more than angry glares to the class. Her story was sad but not unusual in this small town. Her parents abandoned her to a reluctant aunt who didn't want her but felt some sense of familial obligation to care for her. There was hardly enough for the aunt's family, and Tasheka was last in line for an already empty glass. Her sullen anger often erupted into sneaky kicks and pinches to the other children and she never smiled or laughed. Her growing anxiety seemed to be proportionate to my own diminishing nervousness, although I still sometimes felt like the only one in the room who hadn't heard the punchline to an often-told joke.

On a day crackling with electrical energy, I felt that every time I turned I was just missing some movement out of the corner of my eye. The quick shrinking away, the furtive arm withdrawn in the pause between G and H, made me wonder what sort of trick was going on. Were they trying to pin a "kick me" sign on my back, or were their intentions of a more hurtful nature? In most places, innocence in first-graders has gone the way of mimeographs and carbon copies. I was helping Al-Tariq turn his lower case "doys" into "boys" and kneeling beside his desk in front of Tasheka's and as I pivoted to get up, her snakelike hand shot back toward her chest in a reverse strike.

My nerves were already on edge and I hastily accused her of trying to pinch my upper arm as my eyes glared into hers. She looked rather sheepish as she dropped her gaze and in a very mild voice asked if it was okay if she "petted" my hair. Stunned, I glanced around the room and noticed what had failed to capture my attention earlier. Almost every child in the room had a small stockpile on his desk of long, bright hairs hoarded from weeks of surreptitious plucking of the shoulders, backs and arms of blouses and sweaters when they thought I could not see them. So much for the devious plots of graduated kindergartners! The tension hovering above the classroom for weeks snapped into smiles, and as I bent down so Tasheka could reach my hair I could see through the shining fall her wide, warm smile.

Edwards Seeking Re-Election To Delegate Post

District I-A Delegate George Edwards, Grantsville, has officially filed for re-election to the Maryland House of Delegates. District I-A includes all of Garrett County, as well as election districts in Shaft, Midland, Lonaconing, and Barton, all in Allegany County. Edwards's statement is as follows:

"I feel much has been accomplished in Garrett and Allegany counties, but there is still more to be done.

"We need to persist in cutting the state income tax. We need to bring sales tax on vehicle trades in line with what surrounding states do by only taxing the difference, not the full value. We need to keep working on our ash disposal program to help clean up old abandoned deep mines.

"We also need to make sure we have meaningful local input with the state on the management of Deep Creek Lake, should it be purchased by the state. We need to move to implement all the recommendations of the Black Bear Task Force, and we need to finish the upgrades of the Northern and Southern industrial parks, and find additional industrial land in Allegany County. We also need to fix and improve flood prevention and maintenance projects.

"I will, as before, have regular community meetings and, in order to respond to your needs quickly, will keep my administrative assistants in place (Mary Lou Stemple for Garrett County, Della Lynn Kirkwood for Allegany Co., and Midge Smith in Annapolis).

"I have worked with many of you closely on a variety of projects, important subject, and personal matters. We are moving in a positive direction and much has been accomplished. I have sponsored many pieces of legislation that have had a positive impact on the people of the state and particularly those in District I-A. With the leadership positions I have gained, I will be able to be more effective for District I-A in the coming years.

"I have made a commitment to do the best job possible and have tried to do so. I would like the opportunity to continue to work with you and for you, both in District I-A and in Annapolis, as we move into the 21st century. Your support and vote is much appreciated."

GETTING UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL - Lamar Llama is just that kind of animal. He is friendly and curious and may be trying to find out if someone has brought him one of his favorite snacks — a dog biscuit. This 6-year-old, 400 pound llama is one of the many animals in the petting zoo at Bietschehof Farm in Grantsville, which is the home of the Puzzley Run Folklife Center. There are some unusual breeds of farm animals to meet, touch, feed, and get to know. Some of Lamar's friends include Jacob's sheep, with their strange twisted horns, and Dexter cattle standing 42 inches high when fully grown. The petting zoo will be open Sunday afternoons beginning this week, from 1 to 6 p.m. Admission is $1. Children age 3 and under will be admitted free of charge. Bietschehof is located on Hatrick Rd., off Zehner Rd., which intersects with Route 40 west of Grantsville. For more information, persons may call 301-895-3742.

In another case, charges of burglary and theft against a Frostburg man were dismissed by order of the state's attorney. Joseph F. Goudy, 24, had been arrested by the Maryland State Police, who had linked him to a break-in at a Grantsville company. Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney, apparently dismissed the case because of a lack of corroborative evidence.

Goudy's co-defendant, Joseph Yutzy, was convicted in previous proceedings and is currently serving a five-year jail term.

Annual Country Fest And Auction Set For Aug. 22

The 4th Annual Country Fest & Auction will be held Saturday, Aug. 22, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with activities "for the whole family."

Activities will include horse and buggy rides, pony and hay rides, a petting zoo, "Barrels of Fun" ride, children's videos, and a children's tractor pull. Exhibits will include crafts, home-baked goods, a book stand, art, card and gift shoppe, and hand-quilted quilts. Demonstrations of hanumermill grain grinding, apple cider pressing, quilting, homemade ice cream freezing, milking, separating, and butter churning will also be featured. Gospel music will be performed throughout the day, and a variety of refreshments will be available. An auction will be held at 10:30 a.m. featuring crafts, collectibles, oriental rugs, solid oak and pine furniture, Beanie Babies, and "In Home Dinner" meal tickets for a meal with a Mennonite family. The hand-quilted quilts win be auctioned at 1 p.m.

Proceeds are designated for the expansion and building programs of the Dry Run Mennonite Church and School and for selected mission projects. The Country Fest is sponsored by the Dry Run Mennonite Church, Swanton. Admission and parking are free, and for more information persons may call 301-895-3268, 301-746-8429 or 301-245-4326.

A WISH WAS GRANTED this week for Gary Peterson Jr., a 6-year-old Anne Arundel County boy living with acute lymphotic leukemia and daily chemotherapy treatments for the past 18 months. The youngster and several members of his family, mother Melissa, brothers Shawn, 8, and Taylor, 2, and grandmother Helen Walton, are vacationing in Garrett County this week courtesy of the Grant-A-Wish Foundation and the numerous local businesses and organizations that support the program. Above, Gary is shown astride a pony being led by Rachael Lane at the Sunny Slopes Stables, which donated an afternoon of horse riding for the family. Other businesses interested in supporting the local Grant-A-Wish program, which brings families with ill children from across the state to Garrett County for week-long vacations year-round, may contact the program's Western Maryland Goodwill Ambassadors, Lori Malcolm at 301-387-7535, or Brenda Thomas at 301-387-6445, or via E-mail at Mooda@mail.gcnet.net. Grant-A-Wish will also have a booth at the upcoming County Fair to provide information to interested persons.

IT WAS ALL IT WAS "QUACKED" UP TO BE - The first and greatest Oakland rubber ducky race was held Saturday with great success. Part of the Oakland Outdoor Festival and Sidewalk Sale, the race was held to raise funds for the Save Oakland Station project and the Main Street Program. In the photo above left, Mayor Asa McCain, standing knee-deep in the Little Yough River, congratulates the winning quackers as they cross the finish line. Above right is a photo of a demonstration by one of the group of pioneer re-enactors. The rifle shot was a bit louder than anticipated, and Edith Schrock, Brooke Bowers, and Amanda Bowers cover their ears as Chase Ashby pulls the trigger. Smokey Bear was also on hand for the event, and he posed for the photo below right with Brooke Bowers and Edith Schrock. In the photo below left the first place winners of the big duck race are congratulated by McCain, center. The winning fowl was sponsored by The Wisp Resort. Lisa Retliff, sales manager, and Rol Palmer, general manager, represented the Wisp in making a large rubber duck donation to the mayor. In addition, the Wisp donated its prize money, $146, to the SOS fund. Other sponsors of winning ducks were: Gary Myers, second place, $25 gift certificate from Rudy's; Michele Retliff, third place, $20 gift certificate to Oakland Arts; and Sheriff Dick Sanders, fourth place, $20 gift certificate to Open Door Consignments. The sheriff also donated his prize back to the town.

Loch Lynn Man Arrested For Inhaling Gasoline

A Loch Lynn man was arrested Monday night after Garrett County sheriff's deputies observed him sniffing from a container of gasoline in an apparent attempt to intoxicate himself with the fumes.

Scott Allen Hebb, 20, was reportedly observed inhaling the gasoline at a Preston Lane location in Crellin at 9 p.m. The incident was witnessed by deputies checking the area for a complaint of individuals "huffing" gasoline. He was arrested, charged with a drug violation for inhaling the gasoline fumes, and is still incarcerated on a $5,000 bond.

In other sheriff's news, a Swanton man was arrested and charged with second-degree assault after threatening to strike a deputy Tuesday night.

Marvin Spicer Hale, 72, was arrested at his Swanton residence after he grew disorderly during a conversation with a deputy who was investigating a complaint of a possible intoxicated driver in the area. The deputy observed an unattended vehicle in a driveway with its parking lights on and two tires lying nearby, and when he located Hale and attempted to engage him in conversation Hale reportedly seemed confused and spoke in fragments. According to the report Hale continually threatened to strike the deputy, and eventually picked up a shoe and reportedly tried to hit the deputy with it.

Hale faces a charge of second-degree assault and remains incarcerated on a $500 bond.

In other sheriff's news, Ricky Wayne Lewis, 37, Swanton, was arrested and charged with trespassing, resisting arrest, and failure to obey a lawful order after he refused an order to leave an acquaintence's Pine Hill Road residence Sunday night. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the report of a theft of over $2,000 worth of dried ginseng, amounting to 3½ pounds, from a Mt. Zion Road residence. Leads are still being investigated in the July 25 theft.

A pair of United States flags and their portable flagpoles, one set of which was subsequently recovered, were stolen during the Kitzmiller Homecoming festivities this past weekend. The items are the property of the town of Kitzmiller, and the flag and flagpole set that remains missing is valued at $40.

Finally, a man fell from his motorcycle in the parking lot of Accident's Phenix Technologies on Friday and required transport to the hospital.

Benjamin James Vitez, 22, Friendsville, was turning his 1997 Kawasaki ZX-6 from Industrial Drive into the parking lot when he put his right foot down on the ground to help with his balance. The vehicle was still in motion in the turn as he did so, and the impact of his foot on the pavement broke his right leg, and the motorcycle toppled over on him, causing scratches and abrasions as well.

Vitez was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, where he was hospitalized and eventually discharged three days later.

Torrey Poholsky and Matt Younkin were recipients of All Star Awards at the Salisbury Tournament in Salisbury, Pa., on Saturday. Torrey also received the Golden Glove Award for the Outstanding Infield Defensive Player and received a gift certificate to a Cumberland sports shop.

YARD SALE

The Youth Group of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will conduct a yard sale in the parking lot at the church on Saturday, Aug. 15, in conjunction with the Bittinger picnic that day. Donations for the sale will be greatly appreciated. Anyone having items that they wish to donate could bring them to the educational building either before or after church on Sunday.

Also, if items to be donated need to be picked up, persons may contact Rob Vagnetti at 301-387-2527 or Sally Poholsky at 301-245-4645. If any additional information is needed, either Sally or Rob can be contacted. Proceeds from the sale will go to the building fund.

CHICKEN BARBECUE

The regular barbecue will be held on August 15 at the Bittinger fire hall. Those who come to get their usual chicken can also enjoy the Bittinger picnic.

TOWN NEWS

Ferne Beachy and Lenny, Torrey, and Sally Poholsky are visiting the Susan Schreffres family in Rockville for several days this week.

Emma Bass is spending the week with Colleen McLister in Frederick this week. They will be attending a YMCA day camp and will be also attending a Baltimore Orioles game. She returned with the McListers to their home in Frederick after spending Saturday and Sunday with the Wagners.

Recent visitors and dinner guests of Harriett and Ken Buckel were Larry Buckel, LPN, Baltimore, and some of his friends from Trinadad, West Indies. and Hema Rampersad and her friend, Nigel Sing, who is an agriculture technician. They have been touring the eastern part of the United States and visiting relatives before returning to their native country.

Recent visitors of Margaret and Jim Wagner were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wagner and son Jason, York, S.C., and Eugene and Joanne-Wagner Brenneman, Marietta, Ga., and their daughter, Joyce Glass and son of Augusta, Ga. They were in the area attending the Wagner reunion at the Bittinger fire hall.

Ferne Beachy, Cindy Stanton, and Sally and Torrey Poholsky recently visited Ruby Orendorf in LaVale. Ruby is recuperating at home.

Robbie, Darryl, Elliot, and Blakely spent the weekend with their Aunt Lynn in Timonium over the weekend. They returned home in the company of their Aunt Lynn, who spent Monday night with Rodney and Marci Glotfelty and family.

Sorry the news this week isn't too exciting. Your reporter, Joan, is vacationing with her family and in-laws at Ocean City. You can read of some more of her interesting tales next week. Mom is filling in for her this week.

Providers Of Child Care Noted In GCC Event

A Child Care Appreciation conference was held at Garrett Community College recently for child care center staff, Head Start staff, and family day care providers. The conference, the first of its kind in Garrett County, drew 43 participants and is hoped to become a biennial event.

The conference's workshops included topics such as sand and water play, storytelling, handling difficult behavior, and Child Care Administration updates. Plans were made to establish a local child care givers association. Awards, roses, and certificates were presented to child care providers as well.

Cathy Clocker, WKHJ Radio, spoke at the appreciation luncheon who was also on hand to provide a live remote broadcast from the conference. In her luncheon remarks she applauded the difference that child care providers had made in her life, and thanked all providers "for doing one of the most difficult jobs in the world."

The conference was made possible by a grant awarded to the Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families (OCYF) from the Child Care Administration. Staffers from OCYF, Resources for Children and Families, and Region VII Child Care Administration were among those who organized the event.

GCC To Offer Teaching Poetry To Children

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Teaching Poetry to Children course, taught by Debra Wolf, pictured above, at the McHenry campus beginning August 10 to August 21. This course will meet each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Wolf, who is experienced in teaching and writing poetry, says she "has designed this course primarily to assist teachers in stimulating a child's creativity; however, others may find these sessions of equal interest. The class will also study various biographical information on poets and the various types of poetry."

The tuition for this 12-hour course is $26, plus a $4 registration fee. Since enrollment is limited early registration is advised. For additional information and registration, interested persons may contact GCC's Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

"THIS PLACE IS GOING TO THE DOGS," the feline in the canter might say it asked. These three guests of the Garrett County Animal Shelter, located on Oakland Sang Run Road just north of the Oakland Golf Club, are among those available for adoption at the facility. The beige and orange cocker spaniel on the left is a 25-pound male; the gray and black striped tabby kitty in the center is 12 weeks old; and the gray and black poodle-terrier mix on the right is a 20-pound female who answers to the name of "Lady." The shelter, which may be reached at 301-334-3553, also has a number of other animals available, including several Lab and German shepherd puppies.

Fair Will Host Hospice Annual "Jail And Bail"

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will have its annual "Jail & Bail" at the Garrett County Fair, beginning Monday, Aug. 10. Twenty-four locally well-known "prisoners" will be "jailed" throughout the week from 6 to 9 p.m. They will be accepting donations for Hospice to Ensure their releases.

The prisoners are: John "Dog Face" Braskey, DNR Adventure Sports; George "Lucky" Edwards, MD. House of Delegates; Lynn "Sour Dough" Patton, Accident's Old Flour Shoppe Bakery; Stephen "Backhand" Herman, president GCC; Carol "Bittinger Babe" Bass, WIC coordinator; John "Pappy John" George, Court House maintenance; Marlin "King Lion", Yough Car Wash & Laundromat; Shirley "Ma Barker" Lee, American Legion Post #71; Ron "Maytag" Friend, Md. State Highway; Colleen "Dimples" Mouyard, Frank Arnold Contractors; Beatrice "Bebe Baby" Opel, former owner Long Stretch Market; Lois "Smiley" Swartzentruber, Hospice volunteer caregiver; Aaron "The Kid" Helms, Bridgette "Bad, Bad, Bridgette" Imhoff, Tammy "Killer Kenner" Kenner, and Sheila "Mean, Mean Sheila Colleen" O'Neil, all of Loch Lynn Restaurant; Tina "Criminal Cosner" Cosner, Chrissy "Evil Ervin" Ervin, Cathy "Outlaw" O'Neil O'Neil, and Jennifer "Penitentiary Paugh" Paugh, all of Perfection Plus; Dave "The Professor" Beard, SHS Civics teacher; Ann "Annie Oakley" Collins, TDEC; Mary "Lunch Lady" Frantz, NHS cafeteria manager; and Ron "Wildman" Skidmore, retired U.S. Army.

Freda "SSenippah" Quintero, the clown, will be at the Jail 'N' Bail prison Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. She will paint a child's face for a donation to Hospice.

Readers of The Republican can get a closer look at these prisoners by finding the ad in today's paper.

"Your donation for their releases will help Hospice expand services and continue to serve the terminally ill patients and their families in Garrett County," stated Brenda Butscher, executive director. Hospice provides care for the terminally ill patients, such as home health care, medications, medical equipment, medical supplies, hospital and nursing home care. "We greatly appreciate your donations of bail money to help provide our services and purchase clinical supplies," stated Butscher.

Deputies for the week will be Sheryl MacLane, Linda Patton, Carol Miller, Linda Arata, Denise Gerard, Betty Trickett, Rena McGee, Mary Gaxfelty, Lisa Skipper, Darlene Skidmore, and Elonda Wright.

HARPING FOR HARMONY - John Lozier of the Harping for Harmony Foundation in Morgantown, W.Va., builds and plays small harps. He will be in Garrett County to perform his music Saturday, Aug. 22, during Puzzley Run Folk Days at Bietschehof Farm, Grantsville. Lozier combines musical performance and storytelling with teaching the science of music and the craft of harp building. "Harp music speaks to all ages. For the musical novice, the harp is wonderfully easy to understand; it has no wrong notes," Lozier said. He has described harp music as "symbolic of peace and healing." Anyone joining Lozier to enjoy his music and stories will have a chance to play a harp. Puzzley Run Folk Days are scheduled for Aug. 21-23. Bietschehof Farm is located on Hetrick Rd., off Zehner Rd., west of Grantsville. The phone number is 301-895-3742.

What Are Dental Implants?

Dental Implants are artificial root replacements that are placed into the bone. Dental Implants are similar in material to those used in hips and knees. Once the dental implant is fused to the bone it can be used to help restore or stabilize teeth and dentures in a number of ways.

They can be used to stabilize and anchor loose fitting dentures, replace partial dentures with cemented bridges, and replace teeth as single crowns and bridges.

While dental implants may not be for everyone, they can improve the way you look, eat, and the way you live.

Come in and talk with us about your tooth replacement options.

Stambaugh And Tritt Repeat As Western Maryland Singles Champs

"Excellent mountaintop weather, players from many states, and the historic red clay courts of the Mtn. Lake Park Tenuis Club combined to make the 77th annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships a rousing success."

So stated Dave DeGrafft, tournament referee, who reported that a field of over 200 amateur players, with some from as far away as Hawaii, participated in the oldest red clay tournament sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association. The tourney began last Thursday and concluded Sunday, with competition in a number of singles and doubles, men's and women's divisions.

Successfully defending her Western Maryland title in the women's singles was Sarah Tritt, New Tripoli, Pa., a former resident of Mtn. Lake Park and now a member of West Virginia University's women's team. Tritt defeated Marina Getz of Frostburg in the title match, 7-5, 6-3.

Also defending his men's singles title, for the second straight year, was Chris Stambaugh, Martinsburg, W.Va., who stopped Oakland resident and former Southern High School standout Brandon Ferguson in the championship match, 6-4, 6-1.

The women's doubles championship was won by the team of Dot Hill and Virginia Stayman of Chambersburg, Pa., which defeated Alva Harsh and Kay Kendall, Hagerstown, 7-5, 6-1.

Sean O'Neil, Jefferson, won the men's senior 35 singles when David McNair, Bethesda, was unable to continue play after sustaining a leg injury.

In the men's senior 45 singles division, Ned Scherer, McLean, Va., topped Bill Moldoch, Annapolis, 6-0, 6-0.

Charles Atherton, Del Ray Beach, Fla., outlasted Raffaele Bisconti, Bethesda, 6-1, 6-4, to win the men's 55 singles title.

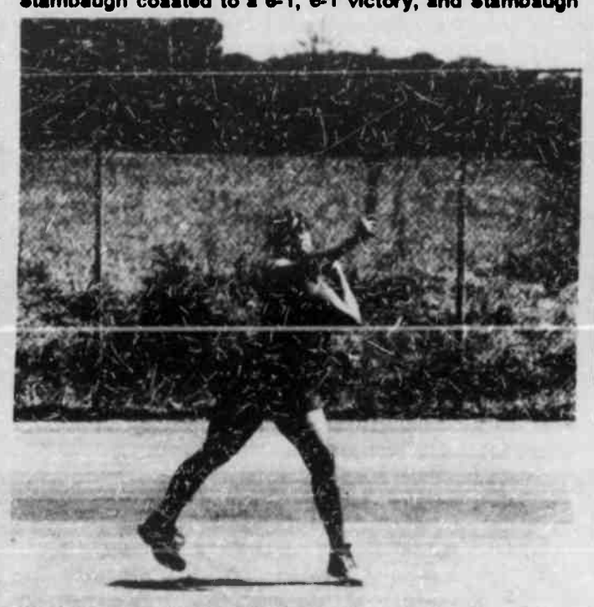
The men's doubles team of former Northern High School standout Gene Cutter, Frostburg, and Chris Stambaugh coasted to victory in the finals by stopping Bob and Chuck Barnes of Chevy Chase, 6-1, 6-1.

Jack Fraser, Clarksburg, W.Va., and Kent Parker, Morgantown, W.Va., outlasted the team of Dave DeGrafft, Mtn. Lake Park, and Bill Tritt, New Tripoli, Pa., 6-4, 6-7(9), 6-2, in the men's senior 45 doubles division.

In another hard-fought doubles match, Charles Atherton and DeGrafft defeated defending champions Jack Fraser and Kent Parker in the men's senior 60 doubles final, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

Rounding out the men's seniors doubles of 70 and over, Raffaele Bisconti and Russell Fink, Annapolis, topped Elton Suter, Baltimore, and Kile Williams, Cockeysville, 6-0, 7-5.

The mixed doubles title was easily captured by the team of Gene Cutter and Kim Ruppert, Frostburg, which rolled over Bill and Sarah Tritt, 6-1, 6-2, in the finals.



Members of the tournament committee, besides DeGrafft, included: Ned Holloway, tournament director; Kathie Smith, tournament secretary; and Kathy Johnson and Kathleen Gibbs, assistant tournament secretaries. The committee noted its appreciation to Grand Central Station, Oakland, for providing prizes; Stewart Funeral Home for providing tents; Kathy Johnson, Judith Ferguson, Mark Ferguson, and Brandon Ferguson for court preparation prior to the tournament; and to the Southern High School coach and tennis team members for court maintenance during the tournament.

"This historic tournament would not continue without the assistance of numerous volunteers, who contribute time and effort to the preparation and various social events," stated DeGrafft.

GREAT WEATHER is not something that often graces Mtn. Lake Park during the Western Maryland Tennis Championships, but the 77th annual event was held this past week at the Mtn. Lake Park Tennis Club courts almost rain-free. The two photos above were taken during the men's doubles finals between brothers Bob and Chuck Barnes, Chevy Chase, left, and former Northern High School standout Gene Cutter, right, of Frostburg and teammate Chris Stambaugh, Martinsburg, W.Va. (not pictured). Cutter and Stambaugh coasted to a 6-1, 6-1 victory, and Stambaugh also won the men's singles title for the third straight year. Pictured below, during the mixed doubles semi-final, are Sarah Tritt, left, of New Tripoli, Pa., against Virginia Stayman, Hagerstown. Tritt, who successfully defended her women's singles title, is a former resident of Mtn. Lake Park. She and her father, Bill Tritt, defeated Stayman and her husband Bob to advance to the mixed doubles finals. Gene Cutter and partner Kim Ruppert defeated the Tritts to claim the mixed doubles title. Oaks Down Morgantown; To Take On Fairmont In Pen-Mar Finals

The Oakland Oaks, regular-season champs, will square off against defending playoff king Fairmont for the 1998 Pen-Mar League postseason crown in a best of three championship series this coming weekend. Oakland defeated Morgantown twice (once by forfeit), and Fairmont downed Bridgeport in a three-game semifinal battle that went the distance to earn their berths in the finals.

The Oaks kicked off their semifinal series in Morgantown on Saturday by crushing the hosts 14-4 behind an 18-hit attack, paced by a 5-for-6 performance from catcher Alan Sebold.

Swinging away, the power-hitting Sebold belted a solo home run and four singles, while Seth Tressler cranked out a two-run homer, an RBI double, and an RBI single, and Aaron Taylor went 4-for-6, garnering a double and three singles. Jimmy Pamepinto added a double, single, and tallied a pair of RBI, and Matt Lupis drove home two runs on a pair of singles.

Kent Taylor's complete-game victory included a dozen strikeouts, displaying pinpoint accuracy as he walked only two batters and held Morgantown to eight hits in nine full innings of play.

Josh McMillian hit a two-run homer in the hosts losing effort, and David Maust and John Hayes added two singles each.

Redskins' Fan Appreciation Day Slated At FSU

The Washington Redskins have scheduled the annual Fan Appreciation Day for Tuesday, August 11, beginning at 3 p.m. at Frostburg State University's Bobcat Stadium. The festivities are free and open to all Redskins fans.

Serving once again as master of ceremonies is WJLA-TV Channel 7's sportscaster Rene Knott. Redskins head coach Norv Turner, the Redskinettes and several Redskins players will address the crowd before the Redskins regularly scheduled practice at 4 p. m.

Throughout the afternoon, Redskins autographed items will be raffled off, including pre-season game tickets. At the conclusion of practice, players will exit Bobcat Stadium and provide autographs on their way back to the locker rooms. Fans are asked to allow children access to the front of the autograph line.

The Fan Appreciation Day rain date is scheduled for August 18.

Parking for Fan Appreciation Day is free and the lots will be open at 1 p.m. with gates opening at 2 p.m. The Physical Education Center and stadium lots are reserved for fans this day only. No alcoholic beverages, glass bottles or coolers will be permitted in Bobcat Stadium.

For further information, interested persons may call the Redskins Summer Training camp hotline at 301-687-7428.

Golf Marathon Weekend Planned For Foundation

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation will sponsor a Golf Marathon Weekend on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, September 11, 12, and 13. Golf course sponsors for this event include Alpine Lake Resort in Terra Alta, Oakland Country Club in Oakland, and Wisp Ski & Golf Resort in McHenry. Golfers are invited to register and play at the course of their choice.

To enter the event, participating golfers will raise pledges from friends and supporters, either for each hole of golf they play during the marathon, or for a fixed donation. At least $100 must be pledged for each participant to register and play. Golfers will attempt to complete at least 72 holes during the weekend competition and can include credit for all holes they may play from noon Friday through sunset Sunday. Night golf is available.

Prizes will be awarded to the three golfers raising the most money in pledges and the three golfers playing the highest number of holes. Golfers hitting the ball closest to the hole on designated holes will also receive prizes. Corporate sponsors are being solicited. Hole sponsorship entitles patrons to have a sign displayed with the company or organization name posted at their sponsored hole/holes.

"The hospital foundation has sponsored a miniature golf tournament for the past two years," said Jon Thayer, committee chairman. "This year we wanted to try a full scale tournament to give local golfers an opportunity to support the hospital foundation. There are several traditional format golf tournaments in the area each season. Our Golf Marathon Weekend is something different. By conducting the event on three separate courses, we increase the possibilities for participation and golf awareness of the hospital foundation in the area. By conducting the event over an entire weekend, we hope to give the participants the time and flexibility to enjoy the event and allow their friends and relatives to participate by pledging their monetary support for each hole played."

Proceeds from this marathon will contribute to the Hospital Foundation's ongoing medical equipment and capital improvements funding. For further information on participation in and support of the Golf Marathon Weekend, persons may contact the Foundation office at 301-334-2155. Additional details and registration will be available at all three sponsoring golf courses.

READY, SET, GO! Local golfers of all ages are already lining up to participate in a Golf Marathon Weekend to benefit the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. The event is slated for the weekend of Sept. 11-13 and will include 72 holes of golf on the Alpine Lake Resort, the Oakland Golf Club, and Golf Club at Wisp courses. See story for details.

Oakland Youth Football League To Hold Tryout

The Oakland Youth Football League will hold a supplemental tryout for its full contact or NFL division, this Saturday, Aug. 8, at 1 p.m. at the Southern Middle School field. Interested athletes must be entering the 6th, 7th, or 8th grade this fall.

The rain date is Sunday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m., at Southern Middle School.

For further information, persons may call Fred Gregg at 301-334-8416 or Dave Bender at 301-334-4390.

Men's Christian Softball League Results Reported

Seven doubleheaders and a double forfeit were featured this past week in the Garrett County Men's Christian Softball League, with Maranatha Assembly of God, Crellin United Methodist, and Maple Glen Mennonite all sweeping their opponents.

Glade Mennonite and Oakland Church of the Nazarene split a twinbill, with Nazarene winning the first game, 19-10, behind pitcher Dan Jeffreys and Glade taking the second, 18-14, with Lynn Brenneman on the mound. Lawrence Dawson accounted for seven RBI for Nazarene, as he smacked four home runs. Dave Jones and Ralph Rodeheaver each hit one homer for Nazarene, while Terry Brenneman hit one for Glade.

Maranatha swept Oakland Nazarene, 25-17 and 15-12, with Tony Bittinger pitching both victories. Gary Hay hit two homers for the winners, including a grand slam, while Dennie Hetrick smacked a pair and Tony Bittinger, Jeff Beitzel, and Jason Rush each hit one. Lawrence Dawson again hit four home runs for Nazarene and Steve Shaffer rapped three.

Glade and Oak Park Church of the Brethren then split a doubleheader, with Glade winning the first game, 16-11, with Lynn Brenneman on the mound and Don Welch the winner for Oak Park in the second game, 19-7. Ron Gnegy hit two homers for Oak Park, and Kevin Artice and Don Welch each hit one.

Maple Glen picked up a double win with a forfeit by Crellin Assembly of God.

Pleasant View Baptist and Mt. View Mennonite split a twinbill, with Pleasant View winning the first game, 16-12, behind Jeff Murphy's pitching. Mt. View won the second contest in extra innings, 11-10, as Gerald Tice earned the win on the mound. Millard Schrock and Larry Yoder each hit a homer for Mt. View. Kevin Winters recorded two round-trippers and Mike Dever one for Pleasant View.

Crellin UM's victories were at the expense of Bethel United Methodist, 14-5 and 24-9, with Farren Hershman the winning pitcher in both. Bill Ashby and Roger Bowman each hit two homers and Mike Ashby, James Burns, and Billy Martin one each for the winners. Oren Yoder rapped three homers for Bethel UM.

Crellin UM split a doubleheader with Maranatha, with Maranatha winning the first game, 21-20, in extra innings and Crellin taking the second, 22-21. Tony Bittinger and Ferren Hershman were the respective winning pitchers. Getting two homers apiece for Crellin were Roger Bowman, Bill Ashby, Donnie Horner, and Jay Bolyard, while Billy Martin hit one. Gary Hay ripped six homers for Maranatha, Paul Edwards had two, and Dennie Hetrick and D.J. Durst each hit one.

Maple Glen then put nearly 60 runs on the board by sweeping Oak Park, 20-5 and 37-12, behind the pitching of Brad Yoder in both games. Dwaine Overhold finished with four home runs for the winners, Dave Kennel hit two, and Brad Yoder and Craig Yoder each added one. Bill Gaither, Kevin Artice, and Ron Guegy hit one each for Oak Park.

Current league standings are: Crellin UM, 20-4; Maranatha, 21-5; Pleasant View, 19-5; Mt. View, 16-10; Glade and Maple Glen, 13-9; Nazarene, 11-13; Bethel UM, Cherry Glade, and Cornerstone, 9-11; Crellin AG, 10-14; and Oak Park, 10-16.

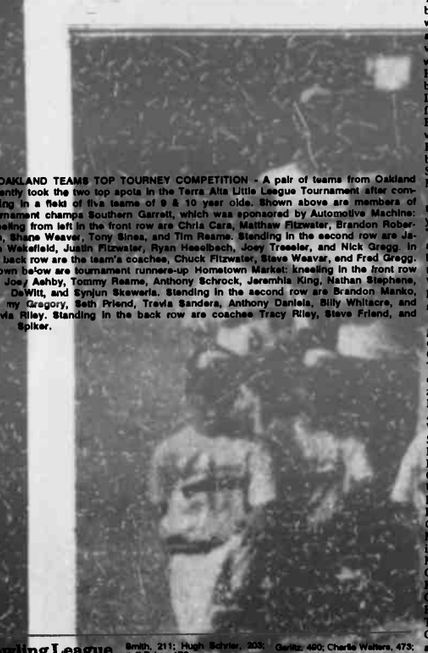
Women Golfers Host Invitational

The Women's Golf Association of the Oakland Golf Club hosted neighboring golf club members for the yearly Invitational July 23, with Carolyn Deverse, a member of the local team, winning first place low gross. Carolyn Sleightholm and Margaret Moran were on the two teams tied for low net, while Kaz Hamill played on the third place team.

Annis Colaw's team placed fourth, while June Gray's and Pt Filsinger's teams tied for fifth. Seventh place was claimed by Angie Bosley's team, while eighth place was won by Loretta Pernell and her team.

Angie Bosley had the longest drive on No. 4 fairway, Annis Colaw had the straightest drive on No. 11, and Pat Filsinger had closest to the pin, second shot, on No. 7.

Five teams of the Women's Golf Association met July 30 for a scramble, with the team of Angie Bosley, Cheryl Wotherspoon, Carolyn Deverse, and Karon Schnably winning first place, carding 74. Scoring 75 and claiming second place was the team of Marianna Naylor, Nellie Inskeep, Kaz Hamill, and Helen Nordeck, while Anne Jesnak, Loretta Pernell, Carolyn Sleighthohn, and Marion Boenmer placed third with 76.



TWINS NAB BIG FISH - Darryl, left, and Elliott Glotfelty, 9-year-old twin brothers who live just south of Ellttinger with their parents Rodney and Marel Glotfelty, hooked this whale of a fish while fishing a local pond by themselves recently. The 21-inch, 8-pound 6-ounce largemouth bass took Elliot's artifical worm lure, and brother Darryl jumped in to help him land the whopper. The huge fish garnered the boys recognition from the Department of Natural Resources and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Girls' Volleyball, Basketball Camp Deemed Success

Thirty-nine area girls, ranging from 10 to 18 years old, attended the Girls' Basketball and Volleyball Camp recently held at Garrett Community College. The camp was co-directed by Ann Wellham, GCC women's basketball coach, and Margaret Quinn, GCC volleyball coach. Assisting with the camp was Fort Hill High School girls' basketball and volleyball coach, Debra Wilson. Counselors for the camp included Frostburg State University volleyball player, Carrie Blank, and Garrett women's basketball players, April Sisler, Christy Martin, and Mindy Sypolt.

"I was very pleased with the turnout for the first year," stated Wellham. "There were mixed levels of abilities and I feel everyone benefited from the instruction and the competition. We are looking forward to hosting the camp again next summer."

Awards for the volleyball portion of the camp included: Camper of the Week, Olivia Harris; All-Star Team, Jessica DeWitt, Melanie Harvey, Bridget Frezee, Andrea Green, Olivia Harris, Heather Umbel, Amanda Nazelrod, Morgan White, Cassie Huggins, Stephanie Forman, Kim Fletcher, and Melissa McKeever; Forearm Pass Champion (12 and under), Katelyn O'Brien; Forearm Pass (13 and up), Kim Fleicher; Target Serving Champion (12 and under), Morgan Wann; Target Serving Champion (13 and up), Melanie Harvey; Serving Champion (12 and under), Kristie Hoffman; Serving Champion (13 and up), Heather Umbel; Three on Three Champs, Andrea Green, Katelyn O'Brien, and Hannah Logsdon; Four on Four Champs, Cassie Huggins, Laura Bech, Christie Flockhart, and Kim [illegible] and Six on Six [illegible] White, Kola Artice, Kelly Carr, Cassie Huggins, Nisole Sisler, Stephanie Forman, Allison Richter, and Katelyn O'Brien.

"The athletes were very receptive to instruction and worked hard to improve their skill level throughout the week," remarked Quinn. "It was nice to see several local athletes dedicated to the sport of volleyball to take time during the summer to improve their game. This should be very beneficial to the area volleyball programs next season."

Olivia Harris, a student-athlete from Preston High School, said "I loved it! It was great, you get to play a lot more and learn new techniques. I plan to tell my high school coach about it so we can have more players here next year."

The following basketball awards were presented: Camper of the Week, Morgan White; Hot Shot Contest Winner (13 and up), Gretchen Baker; Hot Shot Contest Winner (12 and under), Beth Stem; Free Throw Contest Winner (13 and up), Gretchen Baker; Free Throw Contest Winner (12 and under), Beth Stem; One on One Champion (13 and up), Gretchen Baker; One on One Champion (12 and under), Allison Richter; Three on Three Champions, Bridget Frazee, Nicole Sisler, and Jessica Conner; Five on Five Champions, Lauren O'Brien, Morgan White, Bridget Frazee, Beth Stem, Katelyn O'Brien, and Amanda Friend; Two on Two Champs, Morgan Wann and Beth Stem; and All-Star Team, Gretchen Baker, Morgan White, Bridget Frazee, Stacy Stein, Christie Flockhart, Molly Thayer, and Nicole Sisler.

"It was a good camp, and it has been a lot of fun," commented girls' basketball camper, Gretchen Baker. "I learned a great deal of offensive and defensive skills. I enjoyed the variety of games used to improve our skills."

The camp dates for next summer are tentatively for July 5-9, and it will remain a day-camp from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Catching bass and walleye during the heat of mid-summer requires modifying standard methods somewhat. Warm weather causes fish to change their behavior, location, and feeding habits. The key to successful fishing is to change to techniques that are suited to the season.

Here are some tips to help you catch more summer bass.

1. Fish at night. In summer, bass often move into the shallows at night to feed, so anglers who fish after dark often have great success. On Deep Creek Lake, fishermen in the know ply the docks and shorelines of the many points. Some of the more popular bass competitions are all night affairs, and the number and size of the fish caught can be astounding.

2. During the day, fish in deep water. If night fishing isn't your thing, then fish in deep water during the day. As the temperature rises, bass swim 15 to 30 feet below the surface to escape the sun and heat. Sunlight penetrates clear water more easily than murky water, so fish extra deep if the water is clear. Good lures for deep water include plastic worms and jigs with ration trailers. Boat traffic on Deep Creek Lake on weekends can be intimidating. An option is to fish early or to opt for some of the other lakes in Garrett County. Two of particular interest are Herrington Manor and the Savage River Reservoir.

3. Fish in rivers. When things get so hot that nothing seems to work at the lake, try fishing a river. Rivers have fewer deep areas to which fish can retreat. The water temperature in rivers may also be cooler, especially below dams. As with lake fishing, bass in rivers hold around structure such as ledges, drop-offs, and rocky points, so concentrate on these areas. Good lures for river fishing include a Carolina rig with a lizard or plastic worm and large, deep-running crankbaits.

4. Fish at pH breaklines. When the water temperature exceeds the mid-60s, bass tend to be active where the pH level changes dramatically. The pros will lower a pH meter into the water at one-foot intervals to find vertical breaks in the acid and alkaline levels.

Anglers with boats may want to try the deep water just off the Turkey Neck shoreline for potentially trophy-size walleye. The key is to troll at a 12- to 20-foot depth with the trolled lure bumping the bottom. One way to do this is to let out 100 feet of line or so and maneuver your boat toward the shoreline until the lure hits bottom. At that contact, point the hull toward deep water until the lure loses contact. Then repeat the process, maneuvering the boat shallower or deeper to keep the lure, not necessarily the boat, along the contour.

For this kind of trolling, a small gasoline motor is a better choice than an electric. Also, multiple lines can be dropped with different lures fished at different depths.

Deep Creek Lake bluegill fishing has been hot for those fishing with nightcrawlers around the numerous clocks. Also on Deep Creek, there have been a lot of trout taken near the dam. They have been suspended in 20 to 25 feet of water.

FLY FISHING REPORT

Recent weather has the Casselman River low and warm. Any residual trout will be wary, so fishing here expectedly will be difficult. If anyone is willing to try, the trout may be responsive to dry flies such as the Light Cahill in the 12 to 14 size range, Blue Wing Olive in 20 to 22, and Olive Caddis in 14 to 16.

The North Branch of the Potomac is fishing well. Hot patterns there are the Blue Wing Olive, Olive Caddis, and adult stone fly size 8 to 12. The Savage River has fished well for anglers using Light Cahills, Blue Wing Olives, Olive Caddis, and Red Quills. Anglers report success on the Yough with Light Cahill, Blue Wing Olive, Olive Caddis, and Cream Midges.

SOME COMING EVENTS IN THE FORESTS

There will be canoe trips held on the Savage River Reservoir on July 31, August 7, and August 21. These will be conducted trips focusing on the lore of the forest surrounding the reservoir. Groups will gather at 6 p.m. and the tours will be over by 8:30. There is a fee of $5 per participant. Interested parties should call 301-895-5759.

On August 16 there will be a four-wheeler tour of Garrett and Potomac state parks. Riders must provide their own helmets, snacks, drinks, and ATV. The group will gather at the "Wallman" Group Site off White Church Road at 1 p.m. for a two-hour ride. Permit stickers will be available. Anyone interested in more information should call 301-334-2038.

DOMINATING HIS CLASS at the Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa., Friday was Oakland cart racer Jaremy Murphy, who won both of his heat races and, in a close battle with another local driver, Jason Miller, captured his second straight feature race. (See story for details.) Murphy noted his appreciation to his sponsors and his engine builder.

Local Carters Fare Well In Weekend Events

It was a good weekend for local cart racers, as several top finishes were recorded at the Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa., and at the Masontown Speedway.

In the gas and oil class at Outlaw Speedway on Friday, Jeremy Murphy won both of his heat races, with Jason Miller finishing second and Steve Cowgill among the top 10. The main event saw Jason Miller take the lead on lap three from Murphy, but just after the halfway point, Murphy passed Miller to regain the lead. The two swapped the lead every lap until number 18 when Miller touched Murphy's left rear tire and spun out coming into turn three. Murphy went on to win his second race in a row and Miller came back to finish second. Cowgill placed eighth.

In the alcohol class, Cody Hardesty finished second in both of his heat races, while Jeremy Murphy finished first and second in his. In the main event, Murphy was forced high on the back stretch, moving him all the way to the rear, as Hardesty moved into second place. The caution flag came out twice, slowing the field, and the second caution was issued when local racer Mike Sloan hit the wall off turn four and flipped his cart. He was uninjured, but could not continue in the race.

When the race resumed, Murphy charged from the back, while Hardesty was in a heated battle up front. With four laps to go, Murphy moved into second as Hardesty had spun coming off turn four. With two laps remaining, Murphy hit a rock and broke a chain, ending his race, while Hardesty charged from the back to finish fourth.

At the Masontown Speedway on Saturday evening, Tom Hardesty won his first-ever main event in the 35 and older class. Jess Kipper, running in the junior class, ran away with both of his heat races and dominated the main event to win his first feature of the season.

Seven-year-old Bryson Sanders, running in the pee wee class, placed second in both heat races and then ran away from the field to win the feature.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park

The first ever Late Model feature event at Roaring Knob Raceway Park became a career first late model win for North Huntington, Pa.'s Jim Kutas. Other feature winners Sunday afternoon were Shawn Davis of Oakland in the E-Mods; Brian Duffy from Osterberg, Pa., Modified Stocks; and Al Atallah from Carnegie, Pa., Pure Stocks.

LJ. Dennis, local Late Model racing legend from the early 60s through the late 60s, was the honorary starter for the 20-lap Late Model feature. Jesse Guseman led the way for the first six circuits when he suddenly lost the handle in turn two, and Kutas found himself in the lead. Mel Minnick Jr. pursued Kutas for the remainder of the race, but Kutas was able to hold him off, and Minnick settled for second. Third though fifth were Edd Dunn, Chris Conner, and Jeff Thomas. The heat race was won by Minnick.

Louie Krushansky and Sonny Stutler exchanged the front spot several times during the 15-lap Modified feature, but Shawn Davis slipped by them both with two to go, and picked up the win. It capped off a perfect weekend for Davis as he had also won Friday at Interstate 79 and Saturday night at Elkins. Krushansky wound up second with Stutler third, Larry Kugel, fourth, and last week's winner, Quint Milburn, was fifth. Heat winners were Davis and Stutler.

Opening day winner Lonnie Hoffman appeared to be on his way to another Modified Stock feature, but smoke started trailing from his machine in the closing laps, and the #91 began losing power. Second running Kelth Friedline was also looking for a repeat win, but newcomer Brian Duffy had other ideas and swept by for the lead as he took the white flag. Duffy won by a narrow margin over Fiedline with Dwayne Shultz third, Don Nicholson fourth, and Hoffman limped home fifth. Dwayne Shultz was the heat race winner.

The Pure Stocks had trouble getting past the second lap, but once they sorted themselves out the race became a two car battle between Al Atallah and Jim Bendishaw. Atallah won the war with Bendishaw settling for second. Charlie Bittinger wound up third, Mike Jones was fourth, and Brian Taylor nailed down the fifth position. The two heats were won by Jack Rosenberger and Jim Shaffer.

This Sunday afternoon regular racing continues at Roaring Knob with the Late Models, Caney Valley Sport Shop, & Marlaa, E-Mods, Stone House Restaurant Modified Stocks, and the Pure Stocks. Gates open at 3 p.m. with racing at 5 p.m. General admission will be $9 for adults age 13 and over, $2 for those age 6 through 12, and children 5 and under get in free. Entrance to the pits will be $16.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

RUNNING A SAILBOAT RACE
By Dan Mass

The weather at Deep Creek this past weekend was just about ideal. Nighttime temperatures were in the mid-50s and daytime temperatures got up to the high 70s. And there was no humidity. There was so little water vapor in the air that, at sunset, one could not look at the sun as it set behind the hills, and as soon as the sun set the sky darkened to twilight as if someone had thrown a switch.

My wife and I had Race Committee duty this past weekend. The way things are set up by the Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association, we have one "permanent" member of the the Race Committee and racing sailors take turns filling out the weekend Race Committee staff. The permanent or regular member of our Race Committee is Matt Matthews, an experienced racing skipper who can no longer race, but enjoys still being close to the sport. Of the two temporary members of the Race Committee, one is designated as the race commander who has responsibility for the weekend's races, and another hand to help record results, blow horns, raise flags, and provide sparkling conversation.

The Race Committee gathers on the committee boat about two hours before the first race is scheduled. The committee boat is a pontoon boat rigged up with a superstructure to support the three colored signal shapes that are the official timing signals for the race, a loud horn that is sounded with the colored shape signals, a VHF radio to communicate with the two yachts clubs and the race patrol boat, and other assorted safety devices and signal flags. The first move is to go out onto the lake south of the Glendale Bridge, where our racing takes place and scout out the wind. The race commander then develops a rough plan in his or her mind for a course along with backup plans if the wind shifts by race time. Then the committee goes out and sets those marks.

The turning marks are bright orange-colored tetrahedral floats anchored with small mushroom anchors. The starting line is between a starting pin and the post on the committee boat on which the Race Committee flag is flown. The finish line is between that same post on the committee boat and a finishing flag.

A horn is sounded on the committee boat exactly 30 minutes before the start of the first race. At this point the Race Committee will radio both clubs to get a radio check and to inform them that the half-hour signal has sounded. The safety patrol boat, run by supporting yacht club members, is given its Race Committee flag, a VHF radio, signal flags and a sailboat towing bridle.

It's now the moment of truth for the Race Committee members; they must decide the course, set the mark numbers on the course board mounted on the starboard side of the committee boat, set the starting pin, and position the anchored committee boat so that the starting line is perpendicular to the wind with the first mark directly to windward. Once anchored, the committee boat flies a blue flag indicating that it is at its anchor station. Now the competitors begin arriving, registering their sail numbers. There are three fleets: Lasers, Flying Scots A, and Flying Scots B. The 'Scots A and B boats are distinguished by small colored pennants flown on the leach of their sails. The A fleet is for more experienced crews, the B fleet for beginning racers.

At exactly 10 seconds before 10 minutes before the first fleet start time (Lasers), a whistle is sounded. This is to warn the racers who are there to get ready to set their timing watches. At 10 minutes to the start, a yellow preparatory shape is raised and a horn is sounded. At 6 minutes this shape is dropped; at 5 minutes the warning blue shape is raised and a horn sounded. At 1 minute the blue shape is dropped; at the start the red shape is raised and a horn sounded. At this moment the race commander is sighting along the starting line, if all the boats were behind the line at the moment of starting he gives the "All Clear" announcement over a P.A. system and the race is on. If he sees one or more boats over early, a two-horn signal is given and an "Individual Recall" flag is flown; he will attempt to call out the numbers of those boats over early — they have not started. Boats not over early continue on; the early boats must somehow get back to restart, having absolutely no rights over the racing boats. If so many boats are over early that he cannot distinguish their numbers, he will order a general recall with a flag and a three-horn signal. That fleet will be restarted after the other fleets have gone.

When all three fleets have started, the committee boat will pick up the starting pin and then set up the finish line in the designated area and record the finishing boats. The first place boat in each fleet is given an honoring horn. What happens if a course is set and the wind either becomes intermittent or dies completely? Tune in next week for a discussion of that difficult situation.

Pen-Mar Play

This weekend's championship series between Oakland and Fairmont will get under way with a nine-inning game beginning at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 8, at East Fairmont High School. The best of three series will wrap up the next day at Garrett Community College, with play conunencing at 2 p.m. in a seven-inning ntatchup. If the teams are even at the conclusion of that contest, a third and final game will follow immediately on the GCC field.

The winner of the Pen Mar playoff championship will then travel to Hagerstown for the Maryland Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament, squaring off on Saturday, Aug. 15, against the Hagerstown Braves. The winner of that matchup will then enter a four-team field for the overall state semi-pro championship tourney, which will be held in Salisbury over the weekend of Aug. 22-23.

Oakland coach Terry Helbig credits a number of people with the team's success over the 1998 season and previous years, both his players and a number of individuals who make vital contributions outside the foul lines.

"Our program has really been helped by George Brady, our first base coach for the last 22 years," said Helbig, "who also coaches our pitching staff. He still pitches batting practice regularly as well; it's amazing to see a 68-year-old man out there teaching kids baseball and having fun himself."

Assistant coach John Helmick was also singled out for recognition by Helbig, who said "John, a former Oaks player, works closely with our pitching staff to get them prepared. He has a great deal of baseball smarts that our guys really benefit from.

"Another important person to our success is Ed Wildeaen, GCC's head coach, who works closely with us and encourages his players to get into the Pen-Mar League. He also has been instrumental in letting us use GCC's baseball field, the best in the tri-state region, for our home games and the league's make-up games as a whole. Ed played for us from 1976 to 1993 as well."

Helbig also had kudos for Phil Caruso of Frostburg State University and Lawrence Nesselrodt of Davis and Elkins College. "These coaches are both former Oaks players who work with us to get their college ballplayers into our program. It's very important to have the support of local coaches, not just for our team but also for the league overall."

Finally, Helbig saluted Dave Bender, a former Oaks player who is now head of the Appalachian Umpires Association. "Dave's organization umpires our games, and he's put together a first-class operation. Different teams use different organizations, and we feel that we have the best. Umpires can't let decisions be made from the stands or the benches, and Dave's umps don't," said Helbig.

Speedway

Dave Groves of Morgantown, W.Va., drove to his second feature event in two weeks at the Interstate 79 Speedway leading the 25-lap feature event wire to wire. The win was his third of the season. Groves was also the fast qualifier and won the fast dash. Frank Wilson finished second after his sixth place start. Mike Hawkins held on for third with Tim Harsh holding down the fourth place. Noland Dalton came from his 13th starting spot to finish fifth. Rounding out the top 10 were Robbie Scott, Chuck Harper, Scott Miles, Kevin Jones, and Mark Myers. Heat winners were Hawkins and Wilson Sr.

Jerry Haseleu picked up win number four in the Semi Late division. He took the lead on the start and was never challenged. Tim Senic passed Paul Wilmoth Jr. on lap 17 to take over the second spot. Wilmoth, subbing for Tim Johnson, held on for the third spot. Following at the flag were Duane Moreland, point leader Rick Strickler, Steve Wilmoth, Kevin Wolfe, Jon Messenger and Scott Cheaoweth. Heats were picked up by Haseleu and Wolfe.

The UMP feature was picked up by Shawn Davis. The win was Davis's fourth of the season. Davis started in the third starting spot and by the end of the first lap had taken the lead. Vic Vandergrift came across the line in second position. Third through fifth were Louie Krushansky, Cliff Cochran, and Gary Cooper. Heats were won by Vandergrift and Charles Cochran.

Jeff Kesling picked up his third win of the season in the Pure Stock class. Doug Thompson, Chuck Bloom, Mark Bell, and Pat Frazier rounded out the top five. Heats were won by David Tonkery, Kesling, and Ron Walker.

Picking up win number six was Dave Summers in the 4-Cylinder class. Jeff Pennington, Shawn Phillips, Mike Simpson, and Bernie Wilson finished in the second through fifth spots. Heat winners were Summers and Simpson.

This week's racing will be presented by Park Tours and the Dwarf cars will return.

Sines In Race For Registrar Of Wills Seat

John K. Sines has announced his candidacy for the position of Register Of Wills for Garrett County. "My primary focus," said Sines "is to implement new ideas, make positive changes that reach all of Garrett County's citizens, and remain involved in the community through the Register Of Wills position."

A life-long resident of Garrett County, Sines has been active in several community organizations. He is currently the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee Chairman, and an active member of the Oakland/Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, the Fraternal Order Of Police Lodge #99, the International Chiefs Of Police Association, the Maryland Chiefs Of Police Association, the Maryland Municipal League, the Garrett County Historical Society and Woodmen Of The World Lodge #11. He has also served on the Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Board and as State Director of the Oakland Jaycees.

Sines attended both Northern and Southern High Schools and graduated from Southern High School in 1976. He served in the United States Army for three years, as a military police officer. He has been with the Oakland City Police Department since 1983, and was appointed Oakland's Police Chief in July 1984. Sines states that "The privilege of being Police Chief has given me the opportunity to meet many Garrett County citizens and to assess their varying needs. "The supervisory experience that I have obtained, my active involvement in the community and my enthusiasm towards county improvement are qualities that will enhance the Register Of Wills position."

Sines resides in Oakland with his wife Crystal and their two daughters, Kandi (Ashby) and Elizabeth. Crystal is serving as Sines's campaign treasurer.

"I'm not dissatisfied, in any way, with the position [Police Chief] that I now hold, and it is an honor and a privilege to serve in this capacity," stated Sines. "My decision to seek the Register Of Wills Position is based solely on personal growth and career advancement. I would like the opportunity to serve the citizens of Garrett County in a broader capacity."

THE NEGOTIATOR

Rated R - Running time: 2:20

It's a shame to see two of my favorite actors (Samuel L. Jackson and Kevin Spacey), who have worked on such good films as Pulp Fiction (1994) and Glengarry Glen Ross (1992), reduced to taking part in such a formulaic action movie as The Negotiator. This is high-impact cop schlock at its worst, balancing unrealistic shootouts with painfully contrived dialogue, its only redeeming factor being the acting talent present in the two leads.

In the opening sequence, Chicago Police Lieutenant Danny Roman (Jackson) is the lead negoiator in a very touchy hostage situation: a man with a shotgun aimed at a little girl's head. Though the other officers want to burst in and sieze control, Danny knows that that solution would probably not be too healthy for the girl, so he miraculously finds a way to get in the man's apartment simply by talking to him. Soon the man is dead and the girl is safe. Hooray.

While Danny and his fellows are celebrating, his partner tells him he thinks there is a conspiracy in the department. Someone is stealing money from the precinct's disability fund, and though he doesn't know who it is, he has been told by an informant on the inside. Very soon, the partner is killed and Danny is framed for the murder. Stripped of his badge and his honor, he does what every sensible police officer would do: He takes hostages and threatens to kill them if he's not given the chance to prove his innocence.

After many interminable scenes of Danny's fellow cops almost shooting him and Danny almost shooting the hostages, he finally insists on talking to a negotiator from uptown: Chris Sabian (Spacey). Sabian is from another precinct, so Danny reasons he must not be in on the take. Therefore, he can trust him to help solve the crime. After more interminable scenes, Sabian decides Danny may be right and agrees to help.

This movie could have been (and probably was) written by high school boys. I am not aware of James DeMonaco & Kevin Fox's age or educational status, but I do know this is the only project either of them has ever produced, save for DeMonaco's Jack (1996). Likewise, this film is only director F. Gary Gray's third outing, and the general lack of experience shows. The film consistently fails to generate any real tension, though loads of scary music is provided by Graeme Revell. The characters are eminently unbelievable throughout the testosterone-soaked screenplay, and the only saving grace is the lead pair, constantly struggling to make some sense of the melodramatic, convoluted story. Nice try, guys. Better luck next time. ★★½

THE PARENT TRAP

Rated PG - Running time: 2:07

It had to happen. After a long string of abysmally bad rehashes, Disney has finally turned out one whose quality matches its predecessor. The Parent Trap, which was produced by the original "Mickey Mouse organisation" in 1961, is back with '90s sensibilities and a new little actress who seems born to carry off the role(s). Lindsay Lohan plays identical twins Hallie Parker and Annie James, who meet after being separated at birth and conspire to reunite their long-divorced parents. Lohan is cute and charming, as would be expected, but she also brings a street-savvy quality to both her roles, and distinguishes them well enough for us to tell the difference, even if no one in the movie can.

Neither Hallie from California nor Annie from London is wanting for the better things in life. But they both long for the one thing they lack: a two-parent household. Hallie's father Nick (Dennis Quaid) runs a Napa vineyard and employs a cook/housekeeper named Cheesy (Lisa Ann Walter). Annie's mother Elizabeth (Natasha Richardson) is a famous London clothing designer with a faithful butler named Martin (Simon Kunz).

Hallie and Annie meet at a summer camp in Maine, and after a period of vicious competition, become fast friends. Neither have an inkling they might be related until they compare stories and photographs. Each has only one picture of her single parent: half an 8x10, torn in two many years before. When they match halves and see their mom and dad together, they decide they must organize a reunion. They plan to switch places at the end of camp and masquerade as each other until they've gotten to know their long lost parents. Then they will own up to the plot, and their folks will be forced to reunite, if only to switch them back.

The plan seems to be working fine until Nick tells Annie (thinking she's Hallie) that he's decided to marry again. His intended is Meredith Blake (Elaine Hendrix), a beguiling fashion plate. But Meredith turns out to be a two-faced gold digger who only wants Nick for his money and who definitely doesn't care for children. Annie calls Hallie in London and tells her they've got to hasten their plan. So the girls confess and the parents get back together. But the story's not over. They've still got to get Meredith out of the picture, and convince Nick and Elizabeth that they still love each other.

This movie succeeds on the strength of its actors. Nancy Meyers and Charles Shyer's script isn't going to win any awards; it's just a warmed up version of the 1961 model by David Swift. But Lohan really carries the show, and the adult cast members are also likeable and sincere. Hendrix's character of Meredith is the only one who is a stereotype, and she is the least believable. But the two parents are both easy and attractive, and the servant characters are also very much like real people, especially Walter's Chessy.

The premise is a little thin, since we aren't really given a satisfactory reason why the two adults ever split up. Nick seems perfectly willing to reunite despite his nuptial plans, and Elizabeth, who says she never wanted to see Nick again, practically melts at the sight of him. They're both such good parents to their only daughter, it seems ridiculous they wouldn't want to ever know what's happening with the other one. But the story is full of adventurous mischief, and Lohan brings a lot of energy to her two roles, resulting in a fun 2 hours. And that's saying a lot, given Disney's recent non-cartoon track record. ★★★★

EVER AFTER: A CINDERELLA STORY

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 2:00

For a film that has obviously had a lot of money and time spent on it, 20th-Century Fox's Ever After: A Cinderella Story is surprisingly ineffective, with overdone humor that repeatedly falls flat and a cloying romantic story undermined by lackluster performances. Given Drew Barrymore's reputation (in real life and in her previous characters) as one who doesn't take anything from anybody, it's hard to believe her as a girl forced to work for her nasty adoptive family. But Barrymore's miscasting is only one flaw in this beautifully produced costume drama.

Perhaps the bigger problem is that there are virtually no characters we care about. Anjelica Huston as Ludmilla the stepmother is viciously nasty, as is proper, but the "Cinderella" character, Danielle, and Prince Henry of France (Dougray Scott) are a couple of spoiled brats with few redeeming qualities. Barrymore's Danielle is in conflict--she is put upon and tragic in her virtual slavery, but often speaks her mind bluntly and defies Ludmilla, as one would expect a character of Drew's to do. So there is the constant question: If she can stand up to Ludmilla, why doesn't she just tell her where to go? And if Ludmilla truly has the power to punish her, why does she put up with so much lip?

As the story begins, Danielle is a little girl with a loving father (Jeroen Krabbé), who has recently married the wealthy countess and adopted her two daughters. But soon after, he dies and leaves the four gals alone together. Ludmilla doesn't care much for the tomboy Danielle, and rears her as a sort of quasi-servant to the other three. When the girls come of age, Marguerite (Megan Dodds) and Jacqueline de Ghent (Melanie Lynskey) are fully accustomed to Danielle's servitude.

Soon the king (Timothy West) decides to have a masqued ball, and it is announced that the prince will then pick a bride. Ludmilla, with an eye on the crown, begins grooming Marguerite to be the chosen one. Since Jacqueline is not thought to be worthy of the honor, she remains somewhat neutral in the story, sympathetic with Danielle but ready to take full advantage should the prince unexpectedly choose her.

Danielle pretends to be a courtier in order to buy back a servant Ludmilla has spitefully sold away from his wife (another servant), and the prince sees her and is entranced. The two fall for each other and have several clandestine meetings, forcing many sudden costume changes for Danielle. But when the day of the masqued ball arrives, Danielle must go before all and proclaim the truth, or be caught in a web of lies.

This movie is an example of the technical department holding up its end of the bargain and the script writers (Susannah Grant with Andy Tennant & Rick Parks) and director (Tennant) failing to do so. The costumes and settings are gorgeous, and obviously well-funded. The scenes were shot at several real European castles, and Andrew Dunn's cinematography makes for a beautiful period piece. But the conflict between the silly comedic bits and the drippy love story has the effect that both elements fail, and the lack of sympathy generated by the "good guys" makes us wonder why we're supposed to care. The whole show seems to have a phony feel to it. There are a few nice moments when Barrymore's acting talent shines through, and the same can be said for Huston and Scott. But as a romantic comedy, this film is only slightly above average. ★★★½

Sifting Through The Rubble To Preserve Pieces Of The Past

by Peggy Santamaria

Wayne McKenzie traveled from his home in Ohio to a family reunion in Garrett County last week, and he was shocked at what he found. He was here to attend the reunion of the Clark family of Finzel, and this was McKenzie's first visit since the tornado struck there on June 2.

"I couldn't believe it. All this damage. Did you see how all the trees were ripped off the mountain?" he asked, shaking his head in dismay.

He stood beside a pile of rubble — floor boards, wall framing, insulation, heat registers, and the like. It was the detritus of demolition. "This was my grandparents' home. My father built it for them," McKenzie reflected, as he gestured toward the heap.

He told the story of the lumber that his father, Thomas McKenzie, had used to build the house. "It was after the war. My father came home and he went out on Big Savage Mountain to cut the logs for this house. Then he took them to Uncle Jim's saw mill, down there where the park is now," McKenzie related.

The house built for his grandparents, Alan and Ida McKenzie, has been remodeled over the years. Alan, Ida, and his father Thomas, were all deceased, and the house had become the property of his cousin, Paul Clark, McKenzie said. It was Paul's son Kevin who lived in the house at the time the tornado hit. The house stood right in the path of the twister that ripped through Finzel with winds over 200 mph.

Wayne McKenzie's mission on that sunny summer morning was to save some of the lumber that his father cut over 50 years ago. He is in the business of restoring antiques and wants the sturdy, old planks for their aesthetic and historic value, he explained. "Look at this. This is all wormy chestnut," he said, as he pointed to beams half buried in the debris.

His grandson Eric worked along side McKenzie as he dug through the broken pieces of the house. With crowbars and hammers they pulled nails from wide planks used for floor boards. They lifted clumps of dingy pink insultation, now saturated with rain; they sifted through smashed sheets of spongy drywall.

When Eric and his grandfather finish their reclamation work amid the ruins of this house, the remainder will be disposed of. A new home will be constructed on the site to replace the one that a son built for his parents more than 50 years ago and that a tornado destroyed on June 2, 1998. But bits and pieces of the original house will take on a new form and a new life through the work of Wayne McKenzie. By restoring antiques with this lumber cut by Thomas McKenzie, Wayne will be able to keep alive some of the family's history.

RECOVERY UNDERWAY - It's a slow process to recover from tornado damage, but in Finzel the rebuilding, replacing, and repairing are underway. Thanks to support and assistance from many church affiliated groups and volunteer organizations, homeowners have been assisted in sorting out the confusion in the aftermath of destruction. The photo of Tim Clark's home was taken the day after the tornado struck on June 2. The photo below is that same spot as it looks today. Before long, with the help of insurance money and a bank loan, Tim will have a new home standing in this clearing.

Friends Help Finzel Residents Face The Challenge Of Recovery

by Peggy Santamaria

Rebuilding and recovering from the tornado that struck June 2 has been a slow process for the people of Finzel. In the few seconds during which the 200 plus mph winds roped through the area, a dozen homes and businesses in the community were damaged or destroyed.

For some residents, insurance covered the lion's share of the cost of repair. For others, the insurance fell far short of the cost and effort of rebuilding. For those facing the short-fall of funds and lack of physical ability to rebuild, there are, fortunately, groups offering to reach out with assistance.

In some cases friends have referred friends to sources of help and support. One source of assistance to Finzel homeowners has come from a group called NAILS, which is affiliated with the First Preabyterian Church of Cumberland.

Sharon Kazary, a Grantsville resident, coordinates the NAILS project. The group was originally formed after the area floods in 1996, she explained. One of goals of the group was to help those affected by storm damage take steps to improve their situation. "We advised people on protective measures they could take to avoid such problems in the future," she said.

The group has continued providing help to homeowners since its inception. When tornadoes struck the area, NAILS was one of organizations there to help. "As a church we don't know boundaries," Kazary said. County and state lines are crossed when people are in need, she noted.

NAILS has helped storm victims deal with the complicated issues related to getting help and recovering from tornado-related losses. "A lot of my job is helping people to sort things out. Following a disaster there is so much confusion," Kazary stated.

There are so many agencies and groups that a person may be very confused about where to turn, and a point of coordination can reduce the chaos, she explained. "A lot of organizations worked through NAILS," Kazary said.

There are many other groups responding to the ongoing need of homeowners to rebuild houses and lives following the traumatic effects of the tornadoes. Lutheran Disaster Relief, Mennonite Disaster Relief, and the Frostburg Foundation are but a few of the groups helping Finzel residents to help themselves.

Finzel resident Tim Clark, whose home was destroyed by the tornado, said he was fortunate enough to be in the process of replacing that home. "I had insurance. Right now I'm just waiting for bank approval for the loan for the rest of the money," he explained.

Tim's brother Kevin also lost his home to the tornado. The house belonged to his dad, Paul Clark. (See related story.) With the help of NAILS, and the other groups providing assistance, the uninhabitable home has been demolished and a new one will be built.

Along Finzel Road, damaged homes are being repaired. Roofing, siding, porches, and walls are being repleced or patched. Neighbors are helping neighbors as the community slowly rebuilds.

Salem Children's Trust Celebrates 20th Anniversary

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust, near Grantsville, held its 20th year reunion recently. The event brought together staff and former residents of Salem.

Among those to gather for the celebration was former resident Tony Salmon. Now residing with his wife and children in Berkeley Springs, W.Va., Salmon was on hand to serve as featured speaker for the event, and to provide ministry through music and song.

Returning to Salem to share in the retrospective experience was former staff member Dale Carpenter and his wife Debbie, McHenry. Carpenter had served as a houseparent for residents at Salem.

The Salem program was first opened in Calvert County by executive director Louise Richards in 1978. The program moved to its current location in Garrett County in 1979.

"Our friends in Garrett and Allegany counties have always offered prayer and support on behalf of the children, and we are grateful to have seen the program grow and flourish here over the years," Richards said.

CELEBRATING 20TH - Salem Children's Trust celebrated its 20th anniversary recently. Among those participating in the festivities were former resident Tony Salmon, in the photo above, who ministered in song, and former houseparent Dale Carpenter and his wife Debbie, McHenry residents, who are pictured below. GOP Women Have A Picnic, Hear Candidates

The Northern and Southern Republican Women's clubs held a picnic in the Accident park July 23. All candidates running for office were invited, and there was a large turn-out. Each candidate spoke for a few minutes.

Joe DiSimone gave the blessing and Carolyn Ganoe, Northern club president, welcomed the guests. Mrs. JoAnne (Roger) Glotfelty won the fruit basket.

The next Northern club meeting will be August 25 at the usual time and place. Cleda Baker, Louise McKenzie, Stella Edwards, and Laura Turner will bring the fruit basket.

Quilting Club Being Formed

Persons interested in becoming part of a quilting club now have the opportunity to do so, as two local residents have decided to establish an area group. A September 2 meeting is slated.

"As the Summerfest Quilt Show came and went, it came to my attention that there were a number of local participants in the show," said Joan Chaney, McHenry. "That put my wheels turning — I wondered how many area quilters would be interested in forming a quilting club, with the possibility of becoming a quilting guild in the future."

Chaney, along with Thelma Emory, wish to find out how many local quilters (beginners, intermediates, or advanced) would like to get together and share their talents. The Sept. 2 meeting will be held at the Deep Creek fire hall in McHenry. For additional information, persons may call Chaney at 301-387-9365 or Emory at 301-245-4478.

Persons who are interested in becoming a member but are unable to attend the first meeting are encouraged to express their interest by contacting either of the two women.

MSP Reports No Fatal Collisions In County In '98

The Maryland State Police at McHenry reported that there have not been any fatal traffic collisions in Garrett County since December 1997.

The seven-month period has been, with one exception, the longest recorded without a fatality since 1975, when local records were first maintained. The other period with no fatalities was recorded from Sept. 13, 1986, to July 27, 1987.

"This trend is attributed to several factors, including the mild winter this year, continued emphasis on enforcement of speed limits, violations involving agressive drivers, and a concerted effort on DWI violations by members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police," stated a spokesman from Barrack W in McHenry.

The change in public attitudes about driving habits was noted by the spokesman as a major contributing factor to the improved highway record. He stated that increased public recognition of the perils of driving after consuming alcoholic beverages has been a very significant factor.

Of the many factors that may contribute to a reduction of automobile collisions, "nothing beats practicing the safe, sound principals of operating a motor vehicle," the spokesman said.

There were several recommendations made by the spokesman to help continue the trend on zero fatalities. These include: obey the speed limit; yield the right of way; do not follow another vehicle so closely that an abrupt stop would result in collison; do not drink alcoholic beverages and drive; and use safety belts and child safety seats, which can reduce injuries and save lives.

The Garrett County law enforcement agencies have solicited the help of the citizens to continue to highway safety trend.

Steve Eyler's Road To Recovery Brings Him To New Appreciations

by David Foster

Life is a succession of second chances, but few are as dramatic as the one given to Oakland's Steve Eyler over the last two years. Each day he wakes up is for him, as it should be for each one of us, a moment to savor, an opportunity to be grasped, a gift not to be squandered. Steve Eyler, known to friends and family as "Beefy," says he is literally lucky to be alive.

Accident

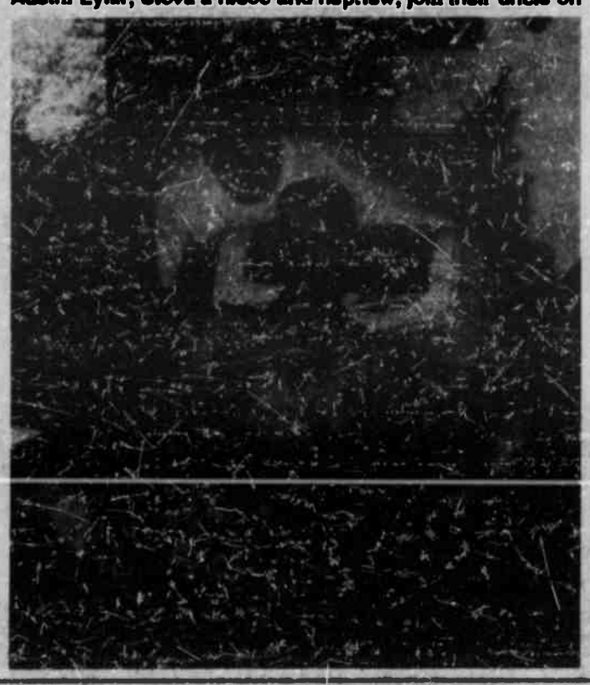
A freezing rain was falling in the April darkness at 9 p.m. on that Friday night two years ago as Steve pulled his Pontiac Sunbird out of his parents driveway. The 20-year-old drove over to a friend's house where a card game was going on, and shortly afterwards he and a buddy, Matthew Newcomb, hopped into the car to go get food for the group at a McHenry store.

At 10:10 p.m., on the way back from the store on the slick roads with Steve behind the wheel, "We hit a patch of ice on Sang Run Road just west of McHenry," he recalled, "and the rear end began to slide out. Halfway into the spin we were going sideways when the wheels hit dry road and the car flipped over. Matt was thrown completely free of the car, but I was caught halfway out of the car with my upper body hanging out and my legs trapped inside. No one knows for sure, but we've been told the car may have rolled over on me six times."

After rolling down an embankment the car came to rest against a tree. Newcomb, thrown free of the vehicle, was hospitalized for his injuries, and subsequently released less than a week later. Rescue personnel had to work to free Steve from the tangled wreckage in which he was trapped.

Back at the Eyler home on Lake Shore Drive a scanner crackled with radio traffic as emergency units from the Northern and Southern rescue squads, the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, and the Maryland State Police were dispatched to the accident scene. Dean Eyler, Steve's father, listened to the activity without knowing that these voices, some of which belonged to neighbors and friends, were rushing to the aid of his youngest son.

The phone call from the hospital came 30 minutes later. "Beefy's been in an accident," Steve's mother Pam recalled one of her son's best friends telling her "and he's got some cuts and scrapes." Pam and Dean immediately drove to Garrett Memorial, not sure what to expect. "When we got to the hospital, we could tell it was bad because of the number of emergency vehicles in the parking lot and the friends of Steve's who were in the emergency room crying, many of them who had their parents there too. A nurse immediately took us into a side room, and a doctor came in and said 'Your son's situation is bad, he's paralyzed and in a coma, and might not make it.' Then he took us to see Steve, and when I walked into the room and saw what had happened to my boy, I passed out.



OVER 6,300 AMERICAN TEENS DIED in car crashes last year alone, more than the toll exacted by drugs, AIDS, homicide, or suicide. These photos of the terrible accident and remarkable recovery of Oakland's Steve Eyler, while thankfully not portraying a death, graphically detail the need for care behind the wheel for all ages. Shown clockwise from the above left, his car was left a twisted heap of bent steel and broken glass after the night of the April 8, 1994, accident. In the next photo, Eyler lies in a semi-comatose state at Ruby Memorial Hospital three days after he awoke from an eight-week coma. As the next two photos show, although Eyler was eventually freed from his bed he remained confined to a wheelchair until he, his therapists, and parents were able to begin training his body to stand and walk again. Below center, Eyler and his proud mother Pam are shown during his first visit home from the hospital, five months after the accident. Finally, Kalynn and Austin Eyler, Steve's niece and nephew, join their uncle on a four-wheeler just a few weeks ago. "Taking pictures was part of his rehab," Pam Eyler said. "When he would get extremely depressed I'd show him the photos and talk to him about how far he had come, from tubes and a wheelchair to where he was. Then we'd talk together about if he had come this far, who knows how far he could still go?"

"Steve's friend did the best thing when he called," Pam reflected. "He later told us that although he knew it was bad, he didn't want to cause alarm and have us get into an accident rushing to the hospital, and that the news was for the doctor to tell us in person. He was right." In addition to the paralysis and coma, the doctor's description of Steve's critical condition included many lacerations and abrasions, two broken vertebrae — one in his middle back and one in his lower back — and, perhaps most ominous, a "closed-head injury," meaning probable brain damage.

"We followed the ambulance from Oakland to Morgantown," recalled Pam, "and I thought of a friend who had gone through the same situation with her son just a couple of years earlier. I knew that if Steve had a severe injury to his head that brain swelling would cause a lot of problems and that he needed surgery to relieve the pressure on his brain. We did a lot of praying on that drive."

Coma

The ambulance ride to Morgantown began a long hard journey for the Eylers, a ride into one of the worst scenarios a family could undergo, one that would bring out the best in this family that was already dealing with illness and adversity. Steve's mother Pam was undergoing treatment for cancer at the time, and Dean, his father, had just been laid off from his coal mine after over 20 years on the job. Steve, on the other hand, was personally "on top of the world," as he said of his life before the accident.

The former Southern High School homecoming king might not be exaggerating. "I had been the starting tailback at Southern for two years," he said, "as well as an outside linebacker; I was the varsity catcher for two years, and I loved snow skiing, water skiing, and hunting. I was working for Bosley Construction and Team One Chevrolet at the time of the wreck, and had already taken some courses at Garrett Community College. I was planning to get my degree in law enforcement and become a police officer."

Those plans derailed, Steve lay in a coma at Ruby Memorial for eight weeks, connected to full life support systems and a respirator for the first four weeks. He underwent a boat with pneumonia and a number of surgeries to place metal rods in his back and relieve the swelling on his brain, as well as a catheterization directly into an artery at his heart so that medications could be administered directly.

"I spent the first five weeks at the hospital," Pam said, "staying by Steve's side as much as possible and getting what sleep I could on the floor of the ICU's waiting room. I was afraid that he'd wake up and not know where he was. There are so many things people don't know about the human brain; on television shows people go into a coma, lie there, and eventually wake up and are OK and can understand what's going on — it's just not like that.

"During the eight weeks he was in a coma, the monitors would show that Steve's heart rate would go up when I walked into the room and talked to him, we think because he recognized my perfume and may even have been able to hear my voice. Dean and I would read him The Republican to give him the news back home and wave his cologne or my perfume under his nose; we even brought oranges in and peeled them under his nose, and held cinnamon up close to him because he always loved the smell of cinnamon; we did anything we could to try to stimulate his senses.

"Finally, during the seventh week, we got a sign when Dean said to Steve at the end of a visit, 'I'll see you later, I love you buddy,' and Steve's hand moved to touch him on the arm. He awoke from the coma into a semi-comatose state the next week, and in the eleventh week he started moving his lips, so we took the tracheotomy tube off temporarily to hear him making the sounds of 'I love you.'"

Rehabilitation

Coming out of the coma was a milestone that marked the beginning of a long road to recovery for the young man, who had gone from 187 pounds before the accident to 123 pounds at the time of the awakening. "The next 15 weeks were spent on the lock-down brain unit, where people with the most severe brain injuries are treated," Pam said. "The damage to Steve's frontal brain lobes were so severe that we had to teach him how to do everything all over again," said Pam, "even speaking and the simplest movements of his body.

"It's devastating raising a child, then having to turn around and do it all over again, not really knowing how far they'll come back. It's a real battle, you just don't know what it's like if you haven't gone through it; still, we're so thankful that we still have Steve, and my heart really goes out to parents who have lost their children.

"My goal then, as it is now, is for Steve to be able to take care of himself and live a productive life on his own, not having to depend on anyone. So we spent [illegible] him and the therapists on the brain unit, and then for the year of day rehab, using a tough love approach to push him and not let him give up. Sometimes even the doctors and therapists would say 'Let him rest, he's too tired to work,' but I knew him, and told them that he was playing them out and that we have to make him keep working.

The rehab staff told me that I was the only parent they've ever had to push a child the way I did, but Steve and I are both bullheaded people, and I had it in my mind I'd get him better in one way or another. One time he was fighting the treatment, and I said 'I can't do it for you, if you don't want to do it just give up,' and walked out; he called me back and said that he wanted to get better, and knew he had to work for it.

"It wasn't easy on me, often I would have to go into the bathroom in his room to cry after working with him, then I'd go back out to work with him some more. I never let myself break down and cry in front of him, not even during the coma, because I never knew what he was hearing; I knew he couldn't get down on himself or it would be all over.

"He still had a sense of humor, which helped a lot; he'd play tricks on the staff, and sometimes when I was working with him on a simple task he'd look at me and say, 'Mom, I may have had a brain injury, but I'm not stupid.' He also conned his way off the unit once and made it out to the parking lot in his wheelchair, and when he was found he told the orderlies that he was heading for home."

Steve came home shortly after leaving the brain unit, and his family began commuting with him to Morgantown on a daily basis for full days of rehab therapy. This is the first memory Steve has of the five months since the accident had occurred. "I don't recall being in Ruby Memorial at all," he said. "but I sure do remember the rehab work at Mountain View Rehab Center. It was twice as hard as football practice at Southern, physically tough and mentally confusing. Even learning how to walk again took all I had, having to concentrate on each little motion until my body would remember it. If I hadn't been in good physical shape before the accident I don't think I would have made it, but it was my parents and someone who was looking out for me that got me through."

Support

Other support came through the visits, calls, gifts, cards, and prayers of people throughout Garrett County. "Teachers from Southern and other schools sent a basket full of cards with money donated to help us with our expenses, and a diary that I used; elementary school children donated their ice cream money; special friends called to talk with him, cheering him up and urging him on."

The support has paid off as Steve's slow but steady recovery continues, with his strongest support has come from within his home and within himself. He has been attending the Renaissance School in Oakland for over a year, learning to read and write again, among other skills. He tested out at a 9th grade level in some fields, a remarkable achievement given the state he was in following his accident. "Steve takes his studies much more seriously now than he ever did," said Pam. "He knows what's at stake, and he comes home from school and hits the books immediately — he never did that before. He's also much more considerate and loving than he had been."

Steve drives again as well, sometimes attending Southern High sporting events. "It was tough seeing him pull out of the driveway again behind the wheel of a car," Pam said, "but it's good for him to get more and more independent. He also looks through old football photos and saves clippings of his playing days with the Rams, and watches videos of his games.

Road To Recovery

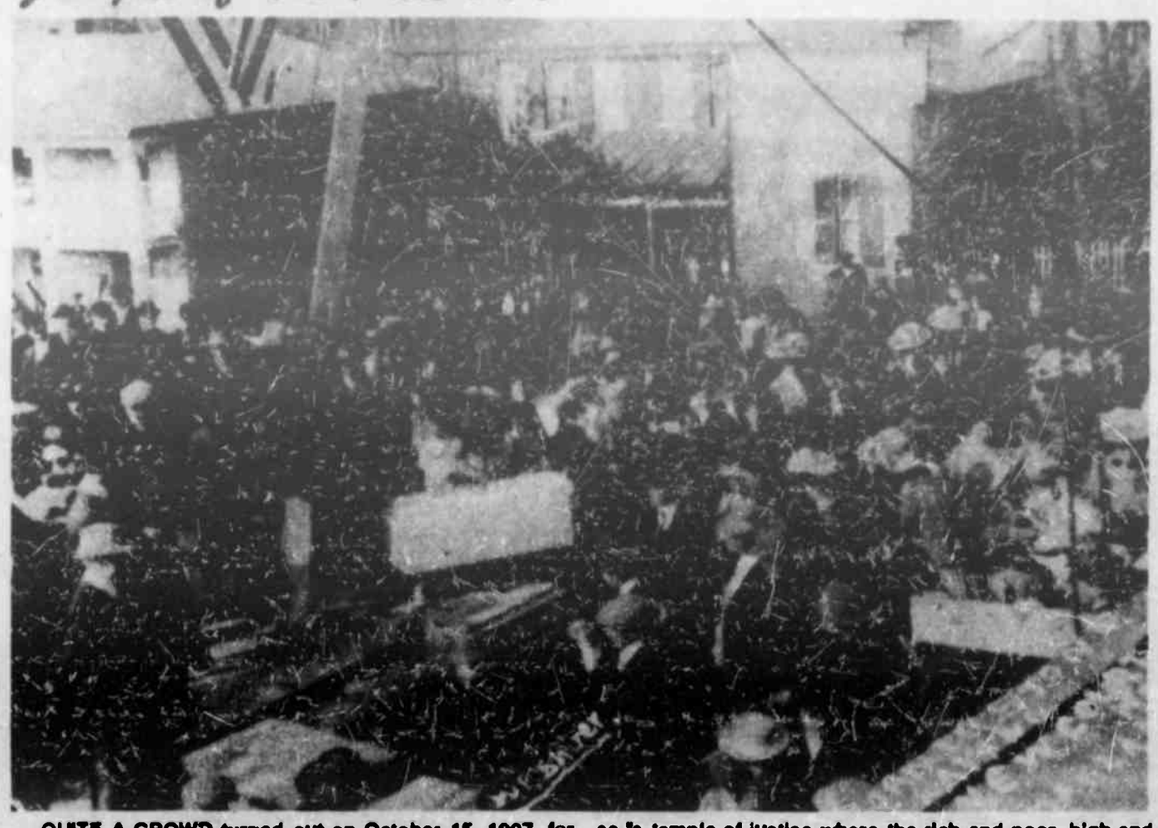
"We were worried about the videos at first," said Pam. "We thought it might get him too depressed. The doctors said it was actually good for him though, because he needed the opportunity to mourn who he was in his own way. He knows things are different now, but he also knows that he can accomplish a great deal with hard work. He's talking about finding a job, and he will."

Lessons

"Before my accident I had all my abilities," Steve said, "and now it can get frustrating when there are things I can't do as well or at all like I did before, and my short-term memory is not so good. Still, there are things I've learned from what has happened."



Steve and Pam have returned to Morgantown to talk to people in the lock-down brain unit and their families, people who have had injuries, strokes, and Alzhcimers, trying to give them some hope, letting them know what they've coped with.

They've talked to other audiences too, but no appearance was more difficult than a return to address the juniors and seniors at Southern High last year, one day before the Senior Prom. "That was really tough," Steve said. "I looked out there and saw people I had known from when I was a student, people I had hung out with." Steve and Pam took pictures, showing the full extent of the injuries, coma, and rehab work, and put them on a computer screen to share with the students. "You could hear a pin drop," Pam said. "We both talked about the accident, asking the kids to please be careful behind the wheel, and I cried."

Steve's message to his peers was simple and direct. "'Don't take things for granted,' I told them. 'Respect your vehicle, because it can hurt you more than help you. Don't just watch your own driving, but how other people drive, and also realize you are responsible for the life of anyone who is riding with you.'"

As this reporter was leaving the Eylers' home, Steve said, "I really hope people listen to what we're saying, so they won't have to go through the same thing I've gone through."

Glimpse of The Past . . .

QUITE A CROWD turned out on October 15, 1907, for the cornerstone laying of the new Garrett County Courthouse along Third Street in Oakland. The estimated cost for construction of the new domed building was $79,000. Judge A. Hunter Boyd, of the 4th Judicial Circuit of Maryland, spoke at the event, and described the new structure as "a temple of justice where the rich and poor, high and low, will stand on equality and can be assured their rights will be preserved and wrongs redressed as is possible to be done by human tribunals." The photo is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society museum and is published here courtesy of the society and The Republican.

EVENING MEAL

A visit to my great aunt a spinster
all alone
high atop a mountain; her neighbors —
bear and bobcat, skunk and possum — creatures of the wild seen rarely in the light of day.
Each evening duty calls:
I open the screen door;
a look to the right.
they wait in silence — dots of paired yellow lights spying;
fifty yards ahead
the woods and my task —
dump the scraps!

CCC Reunion Set At New Germany SP

A reunion of all former Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) personnel will be held at the recreation hall at New Germany State Park on Saturday, Aug. 15, beginning at 10 a.m.

A program of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, the CCC came into being in 1933 to help alleviate the economic and social effects of the Great Depression on young men around the country.

"Many of the CCC members who worked in Garrett County were sent from Baltimore," said Grantsville's Bill Martin, a local CCC historian. Martin's father was first superintendent of Savage River State Forest and the CCC camp supervisor in what became New Germany State Park, where he and his family lived throughout the CCC years. "The men who came into Garrett County from other parts of Maryland and from other states worked together with CCC members from this area to build many of the park facilities that Garrett County residents and visitors enjoy today."

All former CCC personnel and their families are invited to attend the reunion, and refreshments will be available. For further information interested persons may call Martin at 301-895-5303.

Bachtel Reunion Set for Sunday

The 16th annual Bachtel reunion will be held this Sunday, Aug. 9, at Farmers' Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. All descendants of Christian and Sarah, and Elijah and Marian Bachtel are welcome. A covered dish meal will begin at 1 p.m.

Honorees will be Paul Bachtel, age 94, the only surviving offspring of Elijah and Marian Bachtel, and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Carl (Lola) Bachtel and Mrs. Lester (Jessie) Bachtel.

Awards will be presented, there will be games for children, and family pictures and a group picture will be taken.

The committee in charge includes Carroll Bachtel, president, Barbara B. Flinn, vice president, and Brenda Cassidy, secretary/treasurer.

Two Seminars On Disabilities Act Scheduled

Two informational seminars on the Americans with Disabilities Act have been announced. Hagerstown Junior College will host the first session on September 16, and the second seminar will be held at Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, on September 28.

The forums, sponsored by the Potomac Highlands Center for Independent Living in Cumberland, target individuals with disabilities, agencies or advocates serving a disabled population, employers, and business leaders. The presenter will be Mark Derry, a nationally known ADA specialist who is experienced in leading such seminars.

The session scheduled at Hagerstown Junior College is titled "What Do The Employment Provisions Say?" In this seminar Derry will address issues that include identification of persons with disabilities; explanations of terms such as "qualified" and "reasonable accommodation"; determining the extent of "accommodation"; handling disability related inquiries; and enforcement of ADA provisions.

"Good Access Is Good Business" is the title of the second seminar, to be hosted at Allegany College of Maryland, in which the presenter will review the ADA requirements for small businesses. Derry will discuss the topics of barrier removal; serving disabled customers; physical access alternatives; effective communication with persons with disabilities; and tax credits and deductions.

Both seminars are scheduled from 9 to 11:30 a.m., with a continental breakfast and snacks provided. The fee for each seminar is $8 per person for registration prior to September 1. After that date the fee is $10 per person. Registration forms can be obtained by calling 1-800-371-1986.

WINS 50/50 DRAWING - The winner of a 50/50 drawing held to benefit the Maryland Defense Force (MDDF) was Carla Hyson, pictured above receiving a check for $178 from Captain Rick Lewis, company commander of Company A, 1st Bn, MDOF. The MDOF is a federally recognized volunteer unit made up of prior armed services personnel and also individuals who enjoy being active in a military-oriented organization. The MDDF has come to the aid of the community during snow storms, floods, and tornadoes. The purpose of the fund-raiser, according to Capt. Lewis, was to supplement the purchase of equipment and clothing for the unit.

Local Church Offers Parish Nurse Program

St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, Oakland, is offering a parish nurse program, which is an outreach effort for those in need of health monitoring. The program, which began in July, enlists the assistance of volunteer registered nurses from the parish. "It is hoped that these nurses will become a valuable health resource," a spokesman for the program said.

Creating a medical support system for individuals, the parish nurse will have an opportunity to participate in many facets of the well-being of parishioners, including spiritual, physical, intellection, emotional, and social. "These nurses, through their work and gifts, reclaim the healing ministry of the church," the spokesman stated.

Among the duties that the parish nurse will assume are explaining medical terms, medications, and screening procedures, as well as focusing on wholistic health issues. Upon requests from parishioners, the nurses can make referrals to community resources.

An ecumenical movement, the parish nurse program was founded by Dr. Granger Westberg, a Lutheran pastor who retired as professor of religion and health at the Univeristy of Chicago and the Univeristy of Illinois. In 1983 Westberg considered the benefit of having a Christian nurse serve on the staff of every Christian church. He stated that as a hospital chaplain he had learned that nurses are a valuable resource in patient treatment.

St. Peter's Church is adopting this parish nurse program to offer medically related services after Mass on Saturday evening, and between Sunday morning Masses, on the first weekend of each month. No appointments are necessary. Those interested in participating in the program may drop in to see the nurse in the basement of the church.

LIONESSES FEED HABITAT WORKERS - Members of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club recently hosted a chicken dinner at the American Legion hall in Oakland for 40 youth and adult Habitat for Humanity volunteer workers from three Rockville churches. It was the second year that the club has assisted in this manner. Pictured above are Barbara Briggs, executive director of Garrett County Habitat for Humanity and a member of the club, left, with M. Sue Shockey, president of the club. The next public event for the club will be its annual auction, slated for Saturday, Aug. 29, at the McHenry fire hall, beginning at 10 a.m. Donations of auction items are now being accepted by the members and persons may contact Shockey at 301-334-4267 for details.

Weatherization Funds Available

Maryland's Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP) is providing more than $1.8 million to help homeowners and renters around the state save money on their utility bills.

Working in conjunction with local governments and/or social service organizations, the U.S. Department of Energy and energy providers, the program helps pay for the purchase and installation of insulation, hot water system and furnace repair or replacement, lighting improvements, and health or safety items. WAP is part of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development Special Loans Program.

In one project, the state recently teamed with the Southern Maryland Electric Cooperative (SMECO) and the owners of New Towne Village in Leonardtown to complete about $14,000 in weatherization improvements at the 36-unit senior housing facility. Work included new insulation for water heaters, new shower heads and faucets, door sweeps and weather stripping, attic sealing, and three energy-saving compact fluorescent bulbs for each unit, plus energy education and design assistance from SMECO.

"The Weatherization Assistance Program helps low-income homeowners and renters make their homes safer, more energy efficient and more comfortable," said Gov. Parris N. Glendening. "This partnership with local social service providers and utilities is a cost-effective way to improve the quality of the state's housing."

The program is available to residents with incomes of up to 150 percent of the federal poverty level. Eligible residents must be able to prove ownership, or landlords must prove ownership and agree to invest in rental units. Priority will be given to the elderly, disabled, families with children, or those with high energy consumption.

Maryland residents may apply for the Weatherization Assistance Program through local agencies either directly or through the Maryland Department of Human Resources (DHR) Energy Assistance Program. The local agency handling the program is the Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. at 301-334-9431, ext. 149. For information, persons may contact either the local agency, DHR's Maryland Energy Assistance Program at 800-352-1446, or DHCD's Special Loan Programs at 410-514-7240 or 800-492-7127. Hearing impaired residents may reach DHCD by using the Maryland Relay for the Deaf, 800-735-2258.

Glendening To Chair NGA Group

Maryland Governor Parris N. Glendening was selected Tuesday to serve as chairman of the National Governors' Association (NGA) Committee on Natural Resources. The appointment of Glendening came during the final day of the NGA's 90th annual meeting in Milwaukee, Wis.

The appointment of the governor is reportedly effective immediately. He will head up a committee of 12, which includes West Virginia's governor, Cecil H. Underwood. The natural resources committee focuses on a range of environmental, energy, and natural resources issues. This week's topics for the committee were the future of agriculture in America and national energy policies.

The NGA is reportedly the only bipartisan forum of its kind, bringing the country's governors together to share good practices and to provide input in shaping legislation and policies that better serve the states and territories. NGA's committees examine and develop policy and set priorities that become the basis for NGA's lobbying efforts in congress.

"I am honored to have been selected by my fellow governors to chair the Natural Resources Committee," Glendening said. "I look forward to working with my fellow committee members and all the nation's governors to tackle tough and complex issues such as coastal zone management, compliance with the Clean Air Act, building state and federal partnerships for environmental protection, and electricity restructuring."

Glendening served this past year as one of two lead governors on technology and was also a member of the NGA's Committee on Human Resources and the Children's Task Force.

TRAILBLAZERS

by Emily Cosner

The meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held July 23 at the home of Erin, Nick, Jenna, and Carrie Rush. We had a picnic before the meeting. We started with demonstrations by Nick and Jenna Rush. Nick did his on calving season, and Jenna's was on getting your steer ready for a show.

The meeting was called to order by Susan Mayfield, president. We discussed what we will do for the parade at the fair and talked about the booth. Discussions were held about the fair and different opportunities for 4H'ers, such as demonstrations, radio spots, and hosting the 4-H building. The demonstration and record book workshop were discussed.

A report was given by Jenna on 4-H Camp and by Emily and Sarah Cosner on the District Livestock Show.

Our next meeting will be on Wednesday, Aug. 12, at 10 a.m. at the fairgrounds.

Furr Promoted By Railey Realty

Railey Realty has announced the promotion of Phyllis Furr to assistant office manager. Furr joined Railey Realty in 1995 as the receptionist and has taken on many additional responsibilities since that time.

"In her three years with Railey Realty, Phyllis has proven to be a tremendous asset to the success of our office," Railey manager Sue Case commented. "She is competent, knowledgeable, thorough, and professional. She loves to deal with the public, and it shows in the way she meets and greets our customers. In a business where first impressions are so important, you couldn't ask for a better person on the front line."

In addition to her position with Railey Realty, Furr is an honor student at Garrett Community College, majoring in business administration with a concentration in marketing. She resides in Oakland with her sons, Brent and Justin.

SIBLINGS AMONG WHO'S WHO - John and Catherine Donaldson, students at Southern High School, have both been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. Only 5% of the nation's high school students earn this designation. John, who will be a senior this fall, has been named to the list for the second time. Following high school, he plans to pursue a career in computer programming. Catherine, who will be a junior this fall, participated in the Model United Nations program at Frostburg State University and has also received a U.S. Achievement Academy award in science. Both are members of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry and performed in the recent production of Runaways. They are members of St. John's Episcopal Church, the Garrett County Pipes and Drums, and the Country Kids 4-H Club. They reside in Deer Park with their parents, Thomas and Jo Donaldson.

Grantsville Area Youth Program Provides Activities

Youngsters in the Grantsville area still have the opportunity to take advantage of a thrice-weekly summer activities program designed to be fun and educational at the same time.

"Kids 'n Corporated" is the title the 4th — 10th grade participants chose for the program, which began at the conclusion of the school year and continues through August 20. Operated by Garrett County Community Action Committee and funded by the Department of Juvenile Justice, the program currently has 51 students enrolled, with an average attendance of 35.

Kids 'n Corporated participants meet three times a week at the Grantsville Senior Center, from 2 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesdays. There is no charge to participate in any activity, and lunch is provided free of charge.

Arts and crafts activities are held each Tuesday at the senior center. Wednesdays are devoted to excursions in Garrett County and the surrounding area, which have included trips to the Cumberland YMCA, Laurel Caverns, and Swallow Falls. Future Wednesday outings will include trips to the Garrett County Fair and a day at Deep Creek State Park. Each Thursday the group goes to the Grantsville Town Park for a recreation day of outdoor sports, games, and activities.

"Kids 'n Corporated provides the youth with a wonderful opportunity to enjoy recreational and educational activities in a funfilled environment," said program director Karen Wood.

Because Grantsville was selected as a HotSpot community, meaning there was an identified need for youth activities, the Kids 'n Corporated program provides youth with a safe and structured environment. The ratio of 1 adult to every 10 students allows the adults to give individualized attention to each student on a regular basis.

"I believe the program not only serves to provide youth with fun activities during the summer, but also gives them a place where they can be assured someone is actively concerned for their well-being," stated Lori White, an AmeriCorps member working with the program. Kids 'n Corporated provides an opportunity for Garrett County students to earn their service-learning hours as well."

To register a child for the program, or for information on the possibility of service learning hours, interested persons may call Karen Wood at 301-387-9157 or Linda Green at 301-334-9431, ext. 120.

Environmental Pact Signed By State, EPA

State and federal officials announced this week that Maryland has joined 33 other states in developing an environmental performance partnership agreement with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The Maryland departments of the Environment (MDE) and Natural Resources (DNR) have entered into a partnership with EPA Region III officials to improve the effectiveness of Maryland's environmental programs and to better coordinate efforts to protect human health and the environment.

"An important aspect of the agreement is that it recognizes the importance of public participation in developing our public health and environmental protection activities," said MDE Secretary Jane T. Nishida. "This improves our accountability to the governor, legislators and the public."

This agreement, which fosters interagency cooperation and an improved federal-state working relationship, is a first step in a process of providing long-term benefits to the public by using results-based strategic planning. This planning will result in development of long-term workplans that allow these agencies to integrate their efforts. To measure and report progress, the partners have developed over 40 public health and ecosystem protection indicators or goals related to air and water quality, waste disposal and recycling efforts, lead poisoning prevention, the Chesapeake Bay and Coastal Bay protection and restoration activities, wildlife and their habitat, and landscape modification and Smart Growth, among many others.

"This agreement puts us on a path of superior environmental results with greater government efficiency," said EPA Regional Administrator W. Michael McCabe.

While the agreement will enable the partners to evaluate how well existing programs are improving the quality of Maryland's air, land and water resources, it also will evaluate how well the partners are working together to achieve improvements. Future agreements will reflect changing environmental conditions, identify joint priorities, and better target funding for programs that are more likely to achieve greater environmental successes.

"Going through the process of jointly developing environmental indicators, looking at each department's activities in relation to the environment, and establishing joint goals has increased communications and led to greater understanding and cooperation among the agencies, organizations and individuals working to improve our environment," said DNR Secretary John Griffin.

The state and federal partners received comments from a variety of stakeholder groups and the public during the development of the agreement. Formal public meetings were held at locations across the state to discuss Maryland's environmental goals and indicators, which focus on issues such as improving air and water quality, protecting Chesapeake Bay resources, ensuring adequate wildlife habitat, and promoting sound landscape modification and Smart Growth.

SCOUTS HAVE "WILD WEST" WEEK — Cub Scouts of Den 3, Pack 70, Oakland, recently completed a week of scouting activities at Camp Potomac, BSA (Boy Scouts of America). Day camp this year featured a "wild west" theme. Counselors performed skits for the boys each day, with the shows focusing on good will and positive attitudes. Activities included swimming, BB gun safety and shooting, archery, nature ventures, and scout song singing. The Barton Fire Department made a "refreshing" appearance, providing a demonstration of the truck's operation and then spraying the boys down to help them cool off. Kneeling, left to right, are scouts Michael McConnell and Chris McRoble. Standing in the same order are Keith Beckman, Logan Craig, Michael Duckworth, Matt White, Evan Savapolla, and Matt Paugh.

ELECT A LEADER!
Chester H. Sines

Republican Candidate For SHERIFF

Issue and Point.
1.) Marked and Unmarked Sheriff Cars.
I believe the taxpayers are being cheated when we see these personalized unmarked police cars. By being marked the sheriff's car in itself becomes a deterrent to crime and wrong doers. Unauthorized use also is most likely to take place. As your sheriff I will not have more than one unmarked sheriff's car in the fleet.

Local Students On Dean's List

The Western Maryland College dean's list has been announced for the 1998 spring semester. Inclusion on the list requires a minimum 3.4 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Highest honors are earned for a 3.8-4.0 average, high honors for a 3.6-3.79 average, and honors from 3.4-3.59 average.

Four students from Garrett County were among those achieving dean's list recognition. Jennifer A. McKenzie, Frostburg, earned highest honors. She is the daughter of Judy and Ollie McKenzie.

Two students from Oakland were also named. Melanie G. Cook, daughter of Donna and John Cook, earned honors status, and Sarah E. Fike, daughter of Patricia and Carl Fike, was awarded high honors. Swanton resident Krysta D. Stacy achieved honors. She is the daughter of Cynthia and E. Marshall Stacy.

Western Maryland College is located in Carroll County.

"Now dearest, it can't be that bad. Just don't you turn up your beak at me because we didn't go on one of those fancy cruises again this year. You're acting like a birdbrain! Smooth out your pretty feathers. You wouldn't wreck our vacation, would you? That is just "for the birds!"

Even a vacation can be stressful, yet we should enjoy this time we have earned, for it will be a year before we get another chance at freedom from our daily commitments. This year enjoy things you have missed in your daily routine. Even if you vacation at home, really look and listen to the sounds of God's world. Take time to feel the breeze and smell the rain, to hear the rustling of the leaves, and see sparkling stars on a clear night. Taste the nectar from a honeysuckle. Have an extra long chat with God.

This year, visit God's House wherever you are. Include the Creator in your vacation. It won't be one "for the birds".

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE REAL SLUGGARDS
August 9, 1998

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 6:6-8; 10:4-5; 13:4, 15:19, 18:9, 20:4; 24:30-34
Devotional Reading:
2 Thessalonians 3:16-23

My dictionary defines sluggard as a person who is "habitually inactive or lazy."

I must say that I cannot recall encountering anyone who fits this definition. Of course, I have known some people who are harder workers than others. I have known some who get lazy streaks from time to time, myself included. But I have never known anyone who is "habitually inactive or lazy."

That could be simply an accident of chance, geography or culture. I grew up among the Pennsylvania Germans, a culture founded on industriousness and hard work. But I suspect that these two attributes are found in most, if not all, of the cultures that comprise the people of the USA. If we have bought into any value from our Christian heritage, it is the work ethic.

That does not mean that all of us work hard or that there are no sluggards among us. Nor does it mean that the work ethic is as highly prized and practiced as it once was. It is difficult to make accurate comparisons with now and then. Then, people worked longer and harder because they had to.

WORK & SLOTH

If we catalogue the teachings of Proverbs concerning work and sloth there is almost nothing in them that 99 percent of us would likely deny or reject:

- The preparedness of the ant is an example to the lazy person.
- Those who plow, plant and harvest when the season is right are prudent.
- People who are slack in their work are destructive to society.
- The path of the lazy person is filled with thorns.
- Diligence is rewarded.
- Laziness results in poverty.

I saved that one until last, because I believe there is more to poverty than laziness. Some people are poor because they are lazy. Yet, some of the hardest workers I have known were people who were still poor despite their industry. For them, diligence was unrewarded. I also have known people who are quite affluent without being industrious. Some of them have never done a day's work. Others were good workers but unwise managers of money.

I have known people who know only how to work hard. They do not take the time from their work to spend quality time with their families, help neighbors or be good citizens. There are people who are dedicated only to work and fail to take care of themselves physically, mentally and spiritually. Some people take pride in working themselves into bad health or even death.

SLOTH & POVERTY

Many today believe that people are poor because they are lazy. But if we all really believed in the sacredness and necessity of work, why would we fail to provide enough jobs that earn a basic living for those who want to work? At the same time we are taking people off the welfare rolls, we are also cutting the number of jobs available. "Downsizing" gives the lie to what we say we believe. It is hypocritical to uphold the work ethic and then for the sake of a better profit take away that opportunity.

I see a lot of "HELP WANTED" signs around Dallas. But, when I have checked into these, I find few, if any, of them paying enough to feed, clothe and shelter the employee. The jobs available may be located too far away from the willing worker. In many cities there is inadequate public transportation or none at all. To operate a car to get to and from work—purchase, maintain, insure and run it—costs more than many employees can afford. Is it any wonder that people who face barriers such as these grow cynical and remain in poverty, often on welfare and/or into crime, living on the thinnest margin of life?

Maybe the real "sluggards" are those of us who believe in work but do not believe in it sufficiently to make our system work.

Roadrunners Community Group Hosts Activities

The Roadrunners, a community group in the Crellin area, have held several activities for the youth of that area over the past months. Most recently, an activity day was held at the Crellin ballfield and numerous residents and guests took part in the event.

The Roadrunners is a community planning group operated through the Garrett County Health Department. Grants are awarded yearly to the groups so that they may plan activities for children of all ages. The purpose is to help children avoid alcohol, tobacco, and all other illegal substances.

The Roadrunners have planned and hosted activities such as an Easter egg hunt, trips to Pittsburgh, and a mother-daughter evening.

The committee officers are Sheryl Hershman, president; Dianna Frantz, treasurer; and Michele Thompson, secretary. Volunteers are always needed, Mrs. Hershman said, and persons who wish to get involved in the group may call her at 301-334-8966.

Hershman also noted the group's thanks to David J. Martin for his donation of four Pittsburgh Pirates tickets for a raffle that day, and to Mettiki Coal for its donation to help fund the activity day. She also expressed gratitude to Ann Martin for food and ice donations.

SOFTBALL GAME WINNERS — A softball game was held as part of the Roadrunners Community Planning Group's Fun Day on July 11. The event took place at the Crellin ballfield and featured several local political candidates, who took up the bat and ball for a friendly neighborhood game. The first place winners in the softball game are pictured above. They are Kavin Gnegy, Farron Hershman, Neil Wintera, Billy Martin, Ray Hershman, Tammy Gnegy, William Ferry, Aaron Gnegy, Jordan Hershman, Bryant Gnegy, Mikella Hershman, and Tyler Hershman. The second place winners are shown below. From left to right in the back are Chester Sines, Debbie Gank, Sheryl Hershman, Reggan Hershman, David J. Martin, and Russell Sines. In the front are Stephanie Hershman, Kella Hostutler, Jeff Gank, and Wade Boldman. Farron Hershman also won the Home Run Derby with four home runs. Ray Hershman had three and Billy Martin had two. Jeff Baker's name was drawn in a raffle and he was presented with four Pittsburgh Pirates game tickets by donor David J. Martin.

Harbison-Walker Announces New Management Team

Global Industrial Technologies, Dallas, Texas, the parent company of Pittsburgh, Pa.'s, Harbison-Walker Refractories Company, has completed the acquisition of A.P. Green Industries. Harbison-Walker now operates 32 plants in eight countries, producing annual revenues of nearly $650 million. The New Savage Plant, a Harbison-Walker operation, makes refractories at its Bittinger Road location, just south of Grantsville.

Upon closing of the acquisition, Harbison-Walker announced a series of executive appointments: Juan M. Bravo, president, Harbison-Walker Refractories Company; William R. Micale, vice-president, finance and administration; Jess P. Hutchison, vice-president, Harbison-Walker International; John S. Miller, vice-president, North American operations; Melvin G. Wees, vice-president, technology; Dirk H. Hilkmann, vice president, planning, development, and minerals; John L. Kelsey, vice-president, marketing; Lawrence J. Gorski, vice president, human resources; and J. Spegele, president, A.P.G. Lime.

Bravo, who has been president of Harbison-Walker since 1996, said the move "will offer refractory customers an unprecedented level of customer support, technical services, product innovation and cost-effectiveness.

"When you bring together two successful organizations such as A.P. Green and Harbison-Walker, you naturally discover that each has particular strengths," Bravo continued. "We intend to synthesize those strengths and become the clear choice in refractory solutions for customers around the world."

Veteran Harbison-Walker executive Miller said, "Naturally, it will take a few months to work out the logistics of putting our two companies together; but once we do, I believe our customers will see a new level of service quality and satisfaction."

Refractory-making operations such as the New Savage Plant produce specialized heat- and chemical-resistant ceramics used to line industrial furnaces, ladles, kilns, incinerators, and other types of heat-processing or containment vessels. Refractory consumers include the iron, steel, aluminum, copper, cement, petrochemical, chemical, processing, glass, and waste incineration industries.

Area Sierra Club Schedules Organic Farm Tour, Picnic

The Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club will tour and picnic at Red Hill Farm near New Germany State Park on Friday, Aug. 7, beginning at 6 p.m.

Red Hill Farm owners Max and Katharine Dubansky, who have been growing and selling organic produce for local markets and restaurants for two years, will share their experiences as small-scale farmers "trying to live in harmony with nature," said club spokesperson Karen Krogh. "The Dubanskys will also show the variety of animals on the farm, which may be of special interest to children, and draft horses used in working the farm may be available to transport participants to the tree-lined meadow where the picnic will be held."

The events at Red Hill Farm are free, but participants are requested to bring food to share at the picnic, and their own plates and utensils. Lemonade will be provided.

For further information or to register, interested persons may call Karen Krogh at 301-689-5975.

Chili Champion Cook-Off Coming To Western Md.

The Maryland State chili champion will be selected from among those participating in the chili cook-off to be held at the Ali Ghan picnic grounds in Cumberland August 14-15. The winner of the state event will advance to the national championship chili challenge at the Reno Hilton in Nevada.

The International Chili Society has defined true chili as any kind of meat or combination of meats cooked with chili peppers, various other spices, and other ingredients, with the exception of beans and pasta, which are strictly forbidden, a spokesman for the event explained. Cooking will begin Saturday at noon, and though there is no electricity provided, there will be tables and chairs available.

Everyone is invited to attend the weekend event which will feature a variety of other activities. Dancing is scheduled on Friday and Saturday evenings. There will be craft booths, food booths, and a car show for visitors to the event.

The 1998 Miss Chili Pepper Beauty Contest will be held Friday, Aug. 14, at 7:30 p.m. The contest is open to single girls age 14-21.

The chili pepper 5k run and 2-mile walk will be held Saturday, Aug. 15, beginning at 8 a.m. on the Ali Ghan Shrine grounds. The events will be set on an out-and-back course with a slight upgrade toward the finish, and a 100 meter downgrade to the finish line.

Registration will be held from 6:30 to 7:45 a.m. for age classes ranging up to age 50 for women and age 60 for men. All entrants will receive T-shirts and breakfast. There will also be prizes awarded.

For more information persons may call 301-722-5970 regarding chili cooking; 301-777-9099 regarding the races; and 301-689-6899 regarding the beauty contest.

Education Focus Of Sauerbrey's McHenry Visit

Republican gubernatorial candidate Ellen Sauerbrey announced her plan for improving Maryland's schools last week at a McHenry breakfast with local supporters.

Speaking to the gathering at the Point View Inn, Sauerbrey said that education would be the number one priority of her administration. "Our children deserve the very best schools we can provide them," she said. "And right now, we are not giving them the best we can. Although Maryland ranks 10th nationally on per pupil spending, only 42 percent of our children scored at the satisfactory level on the state's own test. This failing grade cannot be tolerated any more.

"As governor, I will re-direct 90 percent of all new education money to the classroom and reduce administrative costs to 10 percent. I will hire 1,001 new teachers by 2002. I will undertake an early assessment program that will determine and enhance each child's educational needs. I will ensure that each child can read by the end of the first grade through a return to phonics as the primary tool for teaching reading. And I will end social promotion.

"Through these measures," Sauerbrey continued, "and the others in my plan, we can make our school system one that we can be proud of once again and give our children the education they deserve.

"When 43 percent of our eighth graders test below basic proficiency levels in math, when 45 percent of those same students test below basic proficiency in science, you have to take courageous and innovative steps to solve the problem," Sauerbrey stated.

"My plan offers a bold new approach to a school system that has stagnated over the years. I believe this plan will help Maryland schools become some of the best in the nation," she concluded.

Accompanying Sauerbrey on the swing through Western Maryland was Dick Bennett, her choice for Lieutenant Governor. Bennett is a former U.S. Attorney from Ruxton. Joining the two running mates for the campaign appearances was comptroller candidate Michael Steele. The Largo lawyer currently serves as chairman of the Prince George's County Republican Party.

"I've been wanting to work my way through western Maryland with this team and introduce Dick Bennett and Michael Steele to Garrett County's voters," Sauerbrey said: "This is the best Republican County in the entire state."

Mary Browning Senior Center Calendar Set

The activities at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, have been scheduled for August. Tole painting will be instructed by Louise Kitzmiller every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon. Exercises will be held every Wednesday and Friday, 11-11:30 a.m., and craft classes will meet every Wednesday and Friday, 9-11 a.m.

Friday, Aug. 7, 11:15-11:45 a.m., there will be a musical presentation by Cliff DeWitt, Joe DiSimone, Tim Miller, and Dave Martin.

Wednesday, Aug. 12, 11:30 a.m.-noon, the day care children will present the Pyramid of Nutrition.

Friday, Aug. 14, 11:30 a.m.-noon, Rae Ellen Finn of the Arthritis Foundation will show a video and answer questions.

Wednesday, Aug. 19, 11 a.m.-noon, Irmgard Kosielniak will present "A Penny Treasure" card and will finish the calcium update.

Friday, Aug. 21, 10:30-11:45 a.m., Gail Dever of the Garrett County Health Department will do blood pressure screenings and speak on nutrition.

Wednesday, Aug. 26, 11:30-noon, there will be a video on safe use of elevators, escalators, and moving walks.

Friday, Aug. 28, 11:30 a.m.-noon, Mary Watkins will hold a Chinese auction.

The winner of the second Country Nine Patch Quilt drawing was Norma Nixon, Fairmont, W.Va., the niece of Mabel Cassidy.

The recent picnic was well attended, and a spokesperson for the seniors said everyone enjoyed it and appreciated the musicians and the food prepared by Grace and the kitchen staff.

The senior center is operated by Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging. More information may be obtained by calling 301-334-9431, ext. 134.

A Senior Nutrition Lunch is served at noon on Wednesdays and Fridays for persons age 60 and over, and their spouses. Those attending are asked to contribute as much as they are able toward the $3.25 cost of the meal. Reservations are required and may be made by calling 301-334-9431, ext. 131, or toll free at 888-877-8403, by 9 a.m. on meal days.

Caring Connection Submits Report For FY 1998

The Caring Connection Program of Garrett Community College recently submitted its final report for fiscal year 1998, completing 9½ years of program operation at GCC. The Caring Connection Program provided special services to adolescent single parents and single pregnant teens, ages 12 to 19. Services included career counseling, skills identification, interest testing, personal development assistance, pre-employment skills training, vocational skills training in credit and non-credit courses, job awareness assistance, and service agency referrals.

Twenty-four eligible adolescents were served by The Caring Connection during FY98. Of the 24 adolescents, 15, or 62.5% of total program participants, were enrolled in middle or high school. A support system was provided by The Caring Connection intake/counselor specialist, who visited the participants within the school system on a weekly basis. Resources used with target population included: Three Generation Living: Planning Life Directions, Your Pregnancy and New Born Journey, and Your Baby's First Year.

Five adolescents enrolled in credit classes at Garrett Community College. These students received academic counseling from Caring Connection program staff and one received tuition assistance through the program.

Child care and transportation subsidies enabled 12 program participants, or 50% of total program participants, to receive assistance while enrolled in high school or college.

Adolescent pregnant and parenting teens interested in learning more about The Caring Connection Program and eligibility requirements are encouraged to call Virginia Jeffrey, intake specialist, at 301-387-3103 Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Caring Connection is funded by the Maryland State Department of Education with grant funds in the amount of $20,000 made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning.

New Horizons Submits 1998 Final Report

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College recently submitted its final report for fiscal year 1998, completing 18½ years of program operation at GCC. New Horizons is a program that provides special services to single parents, displaced homemakers, and single pregnant women.

The program provided services during FY98 to 116 individuals. Services included peer and career counseling, decision making, career testing, skills identification, pre-employment skills training, vocational skills training in both credit and non-credit courses, job awareness assistance, and service agency referrals.

A total of 58 unduplicated program participants were enrolled in educational classes, which is 50% of total participants served in FY98. Twenty-nine program participants, or 25% of total participants, enrolled in credit college studies at GCC or other higher education institutions. Thirty-seven program participants, or 31.9% of total participants, enrolled in non-credit training.

New Horizons helped participants meet training costs, with tuition/book assistance made available to qualifying participants. Thirty-four participants in non-credit vocational classes received financial assistance, which is 91.9% of those enrolled in non-credit. Two participants enrolled in vocational credit classes received financial assistance, which is 6.9% of those enrolled in credit. Twenty-two program participants, or 75.9% of those enrolled in credit courses, qualified for financial aid through PELL grants. Seven participants, or 18.9% of total enrolled in non-credit, received PELL assistance for specialized training.

Child care and transportation subsidies enabled 29 program participants, or 50% of total unduplicated program participants, to receive childcare/transportation assistance while enrolled in training.

Three program participants enrolled in credit courses graduated from GCC, one with an AA degree and two with certificates. Of those enrolled in non-credit programs, six completed Geriatric Aide certification, three completed Employment Skills Training in Small Business to receive certification, and 22 completed Career Planning and received certificates. Three are enrolled in the new Medical Language Specialist Course through Continuing Education and will complete the program during FY99.

New Horizons program staff referred 13 program participants to GCC's Job Placement office for assistance in job placement. Twenty-five program participants became employed either full time or part time during FY98.

Persons interested in learning more about the New Horizons Program and eligibility requirements are encouraged to call New Horizons at 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3102 Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 89.5% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,300, which is 10.5% of the total budget.

PAYING A VISIT to Garrett County last week as one stop on his statewide "Chuck Wagon" campaign was Chuck Ecker of Howard County, a Republican candidate for governor of Maryland. Ecker said that among his priorities in the event he is elected will be additional support for education and a concentration on business development, both big and small, throughout the state. He stressed that all counties, regardless of size, population, and financial base, should be treated equitably. Ecker served as deputy superintendent of schools in Howard County. Accompanying him this week was Barbara Windsor, his lieutenant governor candidate running mate. Above, Ecker is being greeted by Garrett County Commissioners Wayne Hamilton and Wayne Wilt.

FREE Checking.
No Strings Attached.

No minimum balance. No monthly fee. The "FREE" in your American Trust Bank checking account isn't tied to things like minimum balances or monthly fees. It's FREE.

And that's not the best part. American Trust Bank's FREE checking expands into special benefits like:

- KeyCheck, the VISA check card you can use as an ATM card or for purchases anywhere VISA is accepted.
- 24-hour ATMs throughout Western Maryland and Mineral County, West Virginia, many with MAC Check* — the ATM that cashes checks and dispenses cash and coins to the penny, lets you deposit a check and get cash back, and prints out a current statement of your account.
- And Telephone Banking — with access to information on your account 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Stop in to see a Relationship Banker about your FREE no strings American Trust Bank checking account — the best checking account available! And that's not hot air.

Call 1-888-282-2255 (Monday through Friday 7 am to 9 pm, Saturday and Sunday 8 am to 4 pm), or stop in to your local community office.

COVER STORY

ABC soaps bubble in prime-time love fest

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

Passion, steamy sex, intrigue and betrayal are key elements in developing a great love story for daytime television. But those things are not enough if the actors involved don't have a certain kind of chemistry.

Soaps' Most Unforgettable Love Stories, airing on ABC in prime time on Monday, Aug. 10, spotlights several of daytime's most popular pairings. Soap opera supercouples from the past and present of All My Children, General Hospital, One Life to Live and Port Charles discuss what makes their stories so special.

"I think there has to be chemistry in the beginning," says Vanessa Marcil, who plays Brenda on GH. "Ingo (Rademacher, who plays Jax) is very nurturing, and our relationship grew from the start."

For the past couple of years, Brenda has been involved in a love triangle with two of the soap's most popular leading men: Jax and Sonny (Maurice Benard). Since Benard left the show, Brenda has turned to Jax again.

"It also has to do with the relationship between the actors and how much they understand each other's characters," Rademacher adds. "Brenda and I are always on the same page, and we work well together."

Kelly Ripa and Mark Consuelos, who play Hayley and Mateo on AMC, had so much chemistry they became an off-screen couple and are now married – with a baby.

"The first day I worked with Mark, he was shirtless and gorgeous," Ripa says. "I think the writers saw the chemistry in the beginning, or they never would have written our story the way they did.

"Being a couple makes it a lot easier for us during those love scenes," Ripa adds. "My favorite scenes are the ones when we make love in the shower."

Many actors say it's hard to make a love scene look authentic. "We would clear the set of all nonessential people before doing a love scene," says James DePaiva (Max, OLTL) of his passionate interludes with former co-star Fiona Hutchison (Gabrielle). "I have to, at that moment, believe I am in love with the person I'm making love to, or it won't work. A love scene is what separates a soap opera couple from everyone else."

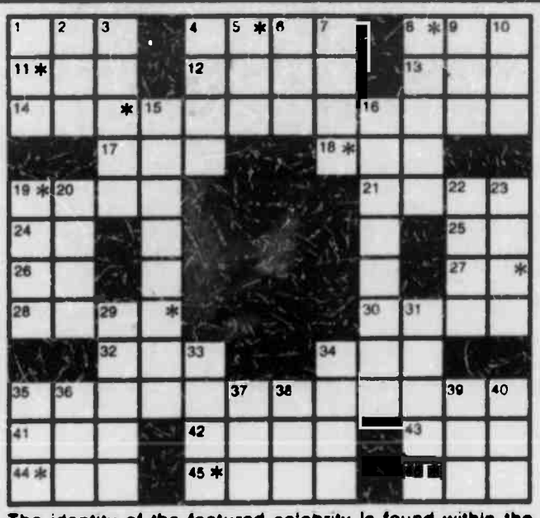
Anthony Geary

Other OLTL couples in the special include doomed lovers Jake and Megan (Joe Lando, Jessica Tuck) and fun lovers Bo and Nora (Robert S. Woods, Hillary Bailey Smith). The GH contingent includes second-chance lovers Luke and Laura (Anthony Geary, Genie Francis) and tragic lovers Robin and Jason (Kimberly McCullough, Steve Burton).

AMC ventures into the past with Cliff and Nina (Peter Bergman, Taylor Miller) and Tad and Dixie (Michael E. Knight, Cady McClain).

The opposites-attract segment is covered by Kevin and Lucy (Jon Lindstrom, Lynn Herring) of Port Charles. "Kevin is always right and Lucy never is, and it drives her crazy," Herring says.

ABC viewers' choice for favorite soap supercouple will be revealed at the end of the special. Twenty years ago, Luke and Laura would have taken home the prize. Viewers will have to tune in to see who walks away with the title this year.



TRIVIA

Before turning to television full time, Gene Roddenberry was a Los Angeles policeman. He put that experience to use writing for Dragnet.

TRIVIA

Camryn Manheim (The Practice) is a skilled sign language interpreter. To get around New York City, she likes to drive her Honda CB650 motorcycle.

TRIVIA

After Pope Pius X declared the tango a sin (1912), performance of the dance became a misdemeanor offense in Boston.

When All My Children debuted in 1970, it was broadcast in black and white. The soap made the switch to color a year later.

TV-PIPELINE

Q: Did David Boreanaz of Buffy the Vampire Slayer use to use the name Craig Sheffer? They look exactly alike. –Jeri via e-mail.

A: The resemblance is indeed eerie, but these are two different actors.

Q: I seem to remember Marty Ingels and John Astin in a TV show about carpenters called Dickens and Fenster, but I can't find it listed in any TV encyclopedia. Did it air before or after The Addams Family? –Monette Reinhard via e-mail.

Q: When did Carolyn Jones of The Addams Family die, and how old was she? –P.D. in Gardiner, Maine.

A: The actual title was I'm Dickens-He's Fenster, a 1962-63 ABC sitcom starring Ingels and Astin as carpenters Arch Fenster and Harry Dickens, respectively.

That was before Astin began what became his signature role of Gomez Addams on ABC's The Addams Family, which premiered in the fall of 1964. Carolyn Jones, who played Morticia Addams, died of cancer at age 54 on Aug. 3, 1983.

Q: My friend is convinced that Connie Sellecca played Charlie, the fifth sister on Sisters. I am sure she is wrong, isn't she? –Tikenya Foster via e-mail.

A: Actress Jo Anderson joined the cast in 1994, and was later replaced by Sheila Kelley, as half sister Dr. Charlotte "Charlie" Bennett.

Q: I remember watching as a kid a TV show about a drifter on a motorcycle. I think it was Then Came Bronson. Who was the actor, and whatever became of him? –Sonny and Sandra Hernandez via e-mail.

Stockard Channing

A: Michael Parks played reporter Jim Bronson, who put his career on hold to find himself as he journeyed across America by motorcycle in the 1969-70 NBC drama.

The actor, now 60, has had an erratic career but has kept working, often in direct-to-video movies. He had a recurring role in Twin Peaks, made a 1996 guest appearance on Walker, Texas Ranger, and has roughly 50 films and TV movies to his credit.

Q: I say Stockard Channing once did a movie written by Joan Rivers called The Girl Most Likely to ..., but many lists of her credits do not include this movie, and my friend says she never did it. Who is right? –Nicholas Marketto, Las Cruces, N.M.

A: Channing had one of her first big hits in this 1973 black comedy about an ugly duckling who was beautified by plastic surgery and sought revenge on the men who had broken her heart.

Annual Antique, Custom Auto Show Scheduled

The 19th Annual Antique and Custom Auto Show will be held on Sunday, Aug. 16, at the Route 40 Elementary School. The show is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with vehicle registration closing at 1 p.m.

The show, which is sponsored by the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department, will include 20 classes of vehicles with first, second, and third place prizes to be awarded in each class. There will even be a non-competitive class.

Event chair Jim Raley said that the average number of show entries is about 175 vehicles. "We have had as many as 212 entries in a show. They usually include an extensive number of trucks," Raley noted. Vehicles ou display will represent the state of the auto industry from the early 1900s to the present. Entries will be both local and from outside the region. "We have had an entry from as far away as Florida," Raley said.

The Eastern Garrett's Ladies Auxiliary will host food concessions for the event. There will be an admission charge of $2 for adults but there will be no charge for anyone 13 or younger. "This is a family experience. We try to keep the cost down so families can come, enjoy the show, and not spend a fortune," Raley said.

The fee to register a vehicle in the show is $6. For further information, persons may call 301-689-5431.

ANTIQUE CAR HAS "CRIMINAL" PAST - This 1970 Plymouth Roadrunner is a car with a past. Owned by Dennis Durr, Finzel, the Plymouth made its first appearance in Garrett County after being stolen in Illinois in 1970 and abandoned near Finzel. The car had 2,000 miles on it at the time, but no payments had been made. When the green Roadrunner went up for auction in 1971, Durr's brother bought it for $1,500. It has been owned by others since then but returned to the family when Dun bought it. The car, which is currently appraised for $20,000, has 42,500 actual miles on it and all original parts except tires. This classic Plymouth will be among those on display at the 19th Annual Antique and Custom Auto Show, sponsored by Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department, to be held August 16 at Route 40 Elementary. See story.

1996 Robbery Nets Pa. Woman Jail Sentence

A Berlin, Pa., woman received a jail term for her part in the November 1996 armed robbery of the Grantsville Burger King during a sentencing hearing in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Lisa Ellen Shonko, 35, who had been convicted of a felony theft charge, was handed a 10-year sentence, all but 18 months of which was suspended, and placed on three years of supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

Shonko's April arrest by the Maryland State Police came after she was implicated as an accessory to the robbery. She allegedly drove the two juveniles who carried out the robbery to the restaurant, and then waited nearby until the crime had been committed to help them flee the scene.

In other district court news, John Lee Knox Jr., 18, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, fined $130, placed on six months' supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Knox had been arrested in April by state troopers after a traffic stop in Grantsville on South Street at Bittinger Road. The arresting officer noted the odor of marijuana on Knox's person and found a smoking pipe and a quantity of marijuana on his person. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

Nancy Dean McMaster, 35, Oakland, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, fined $155, placed on six months of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. She had been arrested following a search by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, which uncovered several smoking pipes and rolling papers and a quantity of marijuana at her residence. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Jeffrey Thomas Collison, 34, Swanton, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless endangerment and was handed a PBJ, fined $155, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. State troopers had arrested Collison for allegedly breaking a man's eyeglasses when he struck him during an argument, then reportedly pointing a loaded shotgun at him. These events occurred in front of Collison's residence in May. Additional charges of second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted.

Charles Edward Friend, 59, Oakland, who had faced charges of disturbing the peace and endangering himself via the abuse of alcohol, was handed a stet ruling. He had been arrested by the Oakland City Police in June after being observed falling repeatedly in an Oakland alley, hindering the passage of vehicular traffic, while being publicly intoxicated.

David Wayne Troshak, 40, Oakland, was found in violation of probation of a sentence that stemmed from a second-degree assault conviction. His probation was revoked and a 30-day sentence was reimposed.

James Bryant Thomas, 27, Cumberland, was deemed not guilty of charges of second-degree assault and trespass stemming from his June arrest by sheriff's deputies after he reportedly refused to leave a party at a Vindex Road residence.

DWI HEARINGS

Bradley Douglas Spahr, 41, W.Va., pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated (DWI) and was fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Ray Ellsworth Cogley II, 39, Md., was granted a sentence revision to reflect a DUI conviction rather than a conviction for DWI.

Mark William Metz, 24, Md., was granted a DWI sentence revision to reflect a PBJ and termination of his probation.

State Offers Vacation Crime Prevention Tips

The State of Maryland Department of Public Safety and Correction Services has released information to help citizens protect themselves while vacationing from becoming targets for criminals.

Before leaving home for a vacation, there are several steps a person may take to reduce crime, which are recommended in the report from the state office. They include leaving the home with a "lived in" look rather than having the appearance of being empty; leaving a key and alarm instructions with a trusted neighbor, who knows departure and return dates; placing valuables, in a safety deposit box; locking windows and doors; and checking smoke and burglar alarms.

While on the road, it is suggested that one carry little cash and keep a careful tab on airline tickets by carrying them in inside pockets. If driving, the report recommended having a carefully mapped route; having the car serviced before departing; not telling strangers that they are tourists; and when stopping overnight removing all bags from cars. Carrying a flashlight, flares, a fire extinguisher, and a first aid kit are suggested.

While staying in a motel or hotel, vacationers are urged to use locks; know who is knocking before opening a door; leave valuables in the hotel safe; take cash, credit cards, and keys when leaving the room and leave a television on to make the room seem occupied.

Sightseers are reminded to learn about the surroundings and to ask police about problem areas to be avoided. If older children go off separately, it is recommended that they have watches and check in at pre-arranged times.

International travel tips included leaving at home essential non-travel papers, such as social security cards; photocopying passports, tickets, and credit cards before leaving home, and storing them a hotel safe; keeping a firm grip on a purse; and learning about common crimes against tourists in countries to be visited.

For additional information, persons may contact 1-800-303-8802.

GCSO Receives Donation Of Full Body Bite Suit

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office canine unit recently received a donation of a "full body bite suit." The gift from Oaklaad attorney Robert Watson was presented during a demonstratioo by the unit at the Grantsville Senior Center.

The suit is used in training of the canine patrol and it offers protection to the officer who is posing as decoy to elicit a dog's response. This type of protective outfit typically costs over $1,000 and was custom built by Harddog Requisites, located in Goodlettsville, Tenn.

The suit is the first of its kind owned by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Deputies Jeff Green and Mike Bittinger demonstrated the use of the suit in training exercises with the assistance of K-9 Hanno. Understanding commands only in Hungarian, Hanno executed a filed arrest on Deputy Bittinger.

Sheriff Dick Sanders was also on hand at the Grantsville Senior Center for the presentation and the donation. Sanders accepted the gift from Watson and expressed appreciation of the GCSO.

Good Will At Goodwill

By Miriam Loos and Clara Withnell of Goodwill Mennonite Village

The Fourth of July was well celebrated, with the picnic on the first which included the Villagers. On the third, instead of crafts, the residents went outside to eat popsicles and blow bubbles. In keeping with that theme, the program on the Fourth was a video about presidents titled "Hail to the Chief."

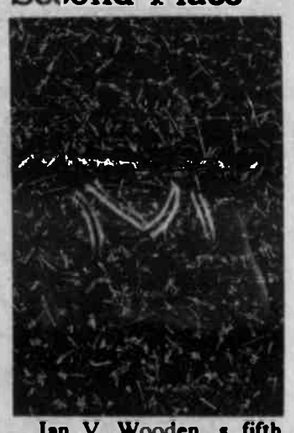
We're grateful to so many staff and volunteers who helped residents get to Summer Fest at Spruce Forest. Martha Bender and her staff provided early lunch trays; Kim Fetterly drove the bus; John Curtis, David Butler and Elvin and Vera Beitzel wheeled people around the grounds. Mary Alice Skidmore and Dimple. Cutter sold crafts, allowing the activity staff freedom to be with the residents. They were pleased that the placement of the Goodwill booth was close to the pavement so the residents were able to see it better.

Thanks to Bill and Jean Durst of Bietschehof in Grantsville! When the sponsors of the July Tea Party cancelled out, they came with short notice that afternoon bringing a baby rabbit and two baby goats, Carter and Clare. All the residents enjoyed watching them romp and Etta Oats especially liked feeding Clare with a baby bottle.

The birthday party was hosted by the Hostetler Church of the Brethren in Myersdale (resident members Abe Blake and Dorothy Thompson). Honorees were: Elizabeth Johnson, Jacquelyn McCartney, Dorothy Thompson, Edith Brenneman, Ardis Nutter, Margaret Alexander and Dorothy Shahan.

We had a real treat one day at Balloon Tennis. Ruth Whitacre's granddaughter, Martha Albright, brought her daughters and some friends, Emily Thomas, Megan Albright, Morgan Albright, and Jessica McKenzie. The girls will be appearing in a production of "Annie," so they sang one song from the musical. They are scheduled to present a program for Goodwill in August.

It's amazing how much the home depends on our volunteers. Since Shirley Teets of the Activity Staff has been out with a broken leg, many people are filling in with various activities. Mary Alice Skidmore has been working more days on crafts, and Miriam Loos has been trying to fill in for Shirley with the Fine Tuning exercises. Jack Smouse has been doing his bit by mending nightgowns and other clothing for residents.



We appreciate the many donations we receive. Mona Yoder gave us a series of Andy Griffith videos that the people are really enjoying. Elaine and Kerm Yoder gave some wonderful music tapes in memory of Elaine's parents, Raymond and Ruth Tice. Four Seasons Stitchery donated many yards of fabric for use in the crafts.

Chapels were provided by: Stanley Miller of Glendale Assembly of God in Swanton; Randall Marburger of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church in Myersdale; Don Matthews of Oak Grove Church of the Brethren in HcHenry; Doug Knapp of Evangelical Lutheran Church of Bittinger; and Roger Harrison of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland (Mary Love's church).

Individuals, organizations, and churches who provided entertainment throughout the month of July were as follows: Rodney Durst of Grace Brethren Church, Accident; a cappella choir from Maple Glen Mennonite Church; Little Meadows Baptist Church, music; Sarah Jane Lichty of Salisbury, piano; Meadow Mountain Church; Bittinger 4-H Club, singers; Sharon Custer and daughters sang and played piano; Vic and Jane Kope of Terra Alta, harmonica and piano; Sand Spring Church of God, music; Mark Durst, piano and organ; Jack Smouse, organ; Gortner Union Church, music; World Lighthouse Worship Center; Jim Miller; Starlighters of Berlin, music; Full Gospel Church; Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Yoder; Trinity Assembly of God; Accident Community Choir; Swanton Mennonite Church; Mary Ann Hare and daughters, music; Karen Durst and Jack Smouse; Dry Run Mennonite Church; Jane Wiley of Springs, omnichord; Tammy Swauger and daughter, music; and Rachel Mause and Wanda Lapp and children of Dry Run Mennonite Church, music.

Martha Bender of the Dietary Staff reported she has Pamela Byler as a new part-time employee. Kevin Yoder of Maintenance has Regis Mason, another new part-timer. The new social worker is Carrie Getson.

Wooden Wins Second Place

Ian V. Wooden, a fifth grade student at Accident Elementary School, was recently notified by the Maryland Department of Transportation, State Highway Administration, that he had placed second in Garrett County in the anti-litter slogan contest.

Students had been asked to design entries for the "Squash a Bug" contest and submit them for judging. Ian's design earned him a certificate of award that cites him as "representing a commitment to keep Maryland beautiful and for inspiring others to keep Maryland roadways and surrounding areas clean."

Ian is the son of Jack and Rox Wooden, Accident.

MVA Introduces "Rookie Driver" Vehicle Sign

To raise the public's awareness of new drivers on Maryland's roads, the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) has introduced the "Rookie Driver" bumper sign program. The month-long pilot program allows novice drivers the opportunity to display "Rookie Driver" magnetic signs on their vehicles' back bumpers to alert other motorists of their new driver status.

The pilot program is the result of a cooperative effort between the vehicle insurance industry, state legislators, and the MVA.

"The "Rookie Driver" program is long overdue. As a parent, I see this as a great way to alert other drivers that there is an inexperienced driver on the road and to be aware of their limited driving capabilities," said Delegate Shane Pendergrass (Democrat for District 13A), who led legislative support for the program.

The "Rookie Driver" program is also supported by Brethren Mutual Insurance Company of Hagerstown and by the Maryland Insurance Administration.

Upon receiving their learners' permits to drive, new Maryland drivers will be invited to participate in the program by displaying the magnetic signs on their vehicles. The bright yellow "Rookie Driver" signs imply that other motorists should give them a helping hand instead of a horn. "This is another example of the MVA taking an active role in promoting highway safety," said MVA Administrator Anne S. Ferro. "The Rookie Driver' is a natural complement to the new graduated licensing law that will go into effect next year. I see these two initiatives promoting safer, more responsible driving among Maryland's new motorists."

The Maryland State Highway Admmistration reports that in 1997 there were 12,467 accidents involving drivers aged 18 and under. Of those, 53 were fatal accidents where 59 people were killed. Almost 10,800 injuries were reported last year involving drivers 18 and younger.

According to MVA statistics, almost 500,000 new drivers have received learners' permits since 1995. Over 125,000 new drivers have applied for learner's permits over the past 12 months. "If only a fraction of our newly licensed drivers display their "Rookie Driver" signs, we feel it would make a difference," says Ferro. "Of course, we would like to see all learners' permit holders volunteer for the program."

The MVA will distribute 15,000 bumper signs at all MVA offices throughout the state. The "Rookie Driver" pilot program will be in effect through August 31, 1998. Program evaluations from new licenses and the adults supervising them will be reviewed to determine the effectiveness of this new initiative.

CLUB MEMBER HONORED - Nellie Swartzentruber, Oakland, a long-time member of the Civic Club of Oakland, was recently honored by the club for her many contributions to the club and to the community. Most recently she served as club chaplain. In addition to her club work, Mrs. Swartzentruber has been active in the Eastern Star, Pythian Guild, and St. Mark's Lutheran Church, but still finds time to spend with her 14 great-grandchildren. She is the widow of long-time Oakland mayor, Harvey Swartzentruber. Pictured above left, presenting an award to Mrs. Swartzentruber at a recent meeting, is Martha Jachowski, club president.

Artist/Teacher Institute Set At Frostburg State

Frostburg State University will host the Maryland Artist/Teacher Summer Institute "Making Connections" August 6 through 15.

This intensive residential staff development program, a joint project of the Maryland State Arts Council and the Maryland State Department of Education, offers lectures, seminars, and hands-on workshops to teams of elementary school teachers.

According to an FSU spokesperson, these events enhance educators' knowledge of the relationship among academic and arts disciplines and the ways in which the arts can integrate curriculum content areas, processes, and skills to stimulate children's motivation, comprehension, critical thinking, and problem solving skills.

At the session's end, each team will have developed plans for integrated arts curricula to be implemented at its school.

For more information, persons may contact Linda Vlasak at the Maryland State Arts Council, 410-767-6570, or Bryce Quarve, FSU Performing Arts Center, 301-687-7460.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Q. I have a pressed-glass bread or cake plate with a picture of a train, Engine No. 350, on it. It also shows a coal tender with the same number, a baggage car and two coaches. When was it made? What is Engine 350?

A. The Railroad Platter is believed to commemorate the opening of the Union Pacific Railroad in 1869. The platter was made shortly after that date. Engine 350 was the train that made the first trip.

Q. I have an old embroidered handkerchief I'd like to frame for display. Any hints?

A. Handkerchiefs and small pieces of fabric can be displayed by stitching them to a piece of unbleached muslin using unbleached, pure cotton thread.

Then mount the results on acid-free backing and frame it under glass.

To keep from fading, don't hang it in full sunlight.

TIP: A paper beer-bottle label reacts to moisture like hair does. If the label is curled, cover it with water to wet the fibers, then dry it flat.

Q. My 94-year-old cousin has two Steiff teddy bears, one brown and one yellow. Their eyes are embroidered. When did Steiff use embroidered eyes on bears?

A. Steiff never used embroidered eyes.

Steiff, the German toy company, was founded in 1877 and made its first teddy bears in 1903. Its early bears had black shoe-button eyes. By 1910, Steiff was beginning to use black or black-and-brown glass eyes.

Your cousin's bears might have been made by another company, or the original Steiff eyes might have been replaced with embroidered eyes.

Home Tips

GOT YOU COVERED – When covering a cake or pie with foil or plastic wrap, instead of using toothpicks or straws to keep the covering off the cake, I spray the foil or plastic wrap with nonstick cooking spray. The spray does not affect the taste of the cake or pie and there are no holes from toothpicks or straws. Jane D., Camarillo, Calif.

NEAT IDEA – At a recent party I attended, the hostess made all the dip holders out of different-colored bell peppers. They were so pretty and colorful and added a nice festive touch. I plan on using her idea at the next get-together I have. Jill C., Princeton, N.J.

FILE-FOLDER LABELS – I bought a package of file-folder labels (the stick-on kind) and have found many uses for them. They're great for labeling packages of leftovers for the freezer, jars of homemade jelly or pickles, discs for the computer, and the plastic canisters film comes in.

I carry a sheet of them in my camera case all the time. Once, on a long trip, it was great because I could number each roll of film and note the subject of each roll. We used corresponding numbers in our daily travelogue in a small spiral notebook that we carried with us if we were needed more detailed information. Wanda P., New Orleans, La.

PHOTO OPPORTUNITY – Here's a great suggestion for a going-away party gift. Days before the party, my hostess began taking individual snapshots of all the invited guests.

The snapshots were mounted in a small album and presented to me. All the guests enjoyed seeing the album and I have a treasure. Lee S., Middletown, N.Y.

CHAIRMAN MAO: PORTRAIT OF A DICTATOR

When Mao Zedong died in 1976 at 83, 900 million people – a fifth of the world's population – stood silently for three minutes in his memory. Mao unified a diverse land with hundreds of dialects into one. But he also ravaged the country he loved.

Mao grew up in a small village, the son of a peasant who clawed his way from poverty to modest affluence. They fought bitterly over whether Mao should work in the fields or read his beloved books. At 16, he left in search of better schooling.

In 1911, Sun Yat-sen overthrew the last emperor, declaring a republic. Yet, without an army, everything fell into disarray. In 1920, the Communist Party was formed. Mao joined, moving through the ranks. By 1927, General Chiang Kai-shek overcame the warlords, established a nationalist central government, and murdered tens of thousands of Communists, sparking civil war.

As recounted in August's Biography magazine, in the fall of 1934, Mao led the Red Army – more than 90,000 men and women – on the year-long Long March, whose hardships decimated the troops to 10,000 determined soldiers. It took another 14 years, but the Communists triumphed. Mao founded the People's Republic of China, resolved to create a modern industrialized dynamo from a backward state.

Over the next quarter century, Mao presided over land reform (encouraging peasants to kill landlords), thought reform (replacing family loyalty with state), the Korean War, the ideological split with the Soviet Union and rapprochement with the Nixon Administration.

The Great Leap Forward of 1958 moved people from small collectives to large "people's communes." Failure resulted in mass starvation. To regain lost leverage, Mao initiated the Great Proletariat Cultural Revolution, whose Red Guards terrorized and killed their countrymen. By 1967, after countless people died, Mao called off the witch hunt.

After Mao's death, Deng Xiaoping took over, beginning the dismantling of Mao's terrible legacy.

NHS Class Of '53 Reunites To Celebrate

Twenty-eight members of Northern High School's, "Class of 53" reunited at the Silver Tree Inn on the evening of July 3. Classmates traveled from as far as Florida and Indiana to renew friendships, and to enjoy an evening of good food and hospitality at the Inn. A moment of silence was held for deceased members as their names and memories were honored.

Joining the classmates as the personal guest of Janet Ault Campbell was Charles Strauss, former coach and teacher at Accident and Northern high schools. Coach Strauss spoke briefly about his 1951 soccer team, that included many of those present. He also made available a news clip of the story from The Republican, which he had authored.

Each member of the class received a hand-painted plaque, created by Grantsville's Jo Ann Engle, of the high school as it existed in 1953. Members also were provided with programs containing a current class roster and addresses, names of deceased members, a school history written by the Northern High School Viking newspaper staff, and a history comparing 1953 with 1998 in Accident, Friendsville, and Grantsville, contributed by Wilma Dewitt Rodeheaver and several other class members.

Class members attending the reunion included: Allen Ault, Bel Air; Floyd Baker, Grantsville; Robert Beachy, Oakland; Virgil Beachy, Grantsville; Reganold Bowser, Lobeco, S.C.; Betty Lucille Hinebaugh Bradshaw, Chesterfield, Va.; Ellis Brant, Orrville, Ohio; Robert Diehl, Grantsville; Dorothy Frantz, Friendsville; Mark Fruehan, Ford City, Pa.; Francis Georg, Arlington, Va.; John Georg, Annandale, Va.; Elwood Glass, LaVale; William Hamilton, Springville, Iowa; Homer Hoover, Cresaptown; Merle Hoover, Emmaus, Pa.; Thelma Shroyer Kelly, Friendsville; Jean Coddington Mettacher, Fort Myers, Fla.; Patricia Durst Pope, Springs, Pa.; Charles Ringer, St. Thomas, Pa.; Joanna Glotfelty Ringer, Accident; Wilma Jo DeWitt Rodeheaver, Accident; Robert Sines, Friendsville; Carroll Smith, Oakland; Ellen Rose Taylor, Friendsville; Betty Artice Uphold, Confluence, Pa.; Margaret Brenneman Wagner, Accident; and Gordon Wright, Friendsville.

The Class of '53 was the first to graduate from the Northern High School.

Ninety-four classmates were brought together from Accident, Friendsville and Grantsville to continue studies in the newly constructed school. Currently there are 85 remaining members of the class, with 34 living in Garrett County.

Deceased members of the class include: Jane Bowman, Grantsville; Robert Edgar, Wayne Fratz, and Betty Friend, Accident; John Lewis Friend, Friendsville; William Lowry and Freda Resh, Grantsville; Arthur Schroyer, Friendsville; and Joel Stanton, Grantsville.

The class agreed to meet again in 5 years. Members of the 50-year reunion organizing committee include Allen Ault, Patsy Durst, Dorothy Frantz, John Georg, Wilma Rodeheaver, Ellen Taylor, Margaret Wagner, and Gordon Wright.

Beanie Babies Being Raffled By Red Cross

Beanie Babies are hot items this summer, and the American Red Cross couldn't be happier. Thanks to an anonymous Garrett County benefactor, the Western Potomac Chapter is sponsoring a raffle of dozens of Beanie Babies to benefit its many programs in Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral counties.

According to Elizabeth Huxford, board member of the local chapter and coordinator for the event, an anonymous friend of the Red Cross donated a basket of 13 retired babies for the grand prize, and a basket of 33 hard-to-find and current babies for the second place prizes. Third, fourth, and fifth prizes will be a Peace bear, a Valentino bear, and a Curly bear, respectively.

"We were so thrilled to have these beanies donated to us at this most opportune time," said Ms. Huxford. Tickets for the five chances to win are being sold at various outlets in all three counties, and the winners will be drawn on Saturday, Aug. 15, at the Garrett County Fair.

Tickets for the raffle are being sold at all area blood mobiles, at the Chapter House, 400 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, and at the following area outlets: Accident Amoco; Bodyworks and the Reminisce Antique Mall in McHenry; the Book Mark'et and Flowers by Webers in Oakland; The Book Store, Cumberland; The Gift Buggy, McCoole; and Linda's Hallmark in Keyser.

The sale has been going in for several weeks, and Bill Crawford, executive director of the local chapter, said the tickets "are being sold as fast as we can print them. I've never seen anything like it."

Durben Receives Monthly Award From Hospital

Ida Durben was selected as the Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Employees' Choice Award recipient for the month of July.

A nursing assistant in the Family Centered Maternity Suite, Durben has been employed at GCMH for 28 years and is looking forward to retirement planned for this year.

"Ida has been a valuable asset to GCMH. Her first priority has always been the patient. She goes above and beyond her assigned duties," said Charlene Bennett, RN, nurse manager of the Family Centered Maternity Suite. "She will be truly missed as she ends her employment to enjoy retirement."

Ms. Durben's family includes her husband Charles, a retired carpenter; son Christopher; son Gene and his wife Debra; and three granddaughters. The Durbens enjoy traveling, visiting national parks, national monuments, and historic areas. Their interest in U.S. history often dictates their choice of routes and destinations. They also enjoy bird-watching, reading, walking for exercise and spending time with family.

"I have always enjoyed working at the hospital, especially the years in OB, now known as the Family Centered Maternity Suite. Caring for infants and teaching their parents to care for them is very rewarding," said Durben.

"IT'S A HARD KNOCK LIFE" - The well-known musical about the rags-to-riches life of an orphan, Annie, will be performed in dinner theater at Ali Ghan Shrine Club in Cumberland, starting this evening. Under the direction of Garrett County resident Jo-Ann Fletcher, who also plays a lead character Miss Hannigan, the acting company of Fat Cat Purrductions will feature children from the tri-state area, including Deep Creek resident Morgan Witmer, who plays the role of the Pepper, a disgruntled, trouble-making orphan. She is also understudy to Annie. Cast members in the photo above are, seated in front, Louisa, the dog who plays Sandy, and Heather Briner. Left to right in the front row are Shea-Mikal Oraan, Morgan Albright, Jessica McKenzie, and Kristen Briner. In the back row are Megan Albright, Morgan Witmer, and Emily Thomas. Performances are scheduled for Thursdays and Fridays, Aug. 6, 7, 13, 14, 20, and 21, with dinner at 6 p.m. and the show beginning at 7:30 p.m. On Sundays, Aug. 9 and 23, lunch will be served at 1 p.m. and the show will begin at 2:30 p.m. For reservations or information, persons may call 301-777-0293.

RE-ELECT WAYNE WILT
for Garrett County Commissioner
District One

Libraries

Many of our county residents are regular patrons of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, and branch offices in Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville and Kitzmiller.

During Wilt's tenure as County Commissioner, he has supported many improvements in the library system. He voted to construct an addition to the library in Accident in 1996, and supports the future construction of a new library in Grantsville.

VOTE FOR WAYNE WILT
He is the best choice in district one.

Murray Certified As Professional Home Inspector

Building Specs Inc., a nationally recognized home inspector training and certification facility based in Annapolis, announces the certification of Dennis D. Murray as a professional home inspector. Murray, a resident of Mtn. Lake Park, has completed the required classroom and field training, along with passing a required exam, so that he can provide home inspection services to area homeowners and buyers. He is a member of the National Association of Home Inspectors and the Maryland Association of Home Inspectors. Organizations such as these are demanding professionalism in the home inspection industry, as well as trying to protect consumers from fraud. Members have to meet training requirements and operate under a standard of practice and code of ethics in order to join, and Murray has met all of these qualifications.

EARNS CERTIFICATION - Dennis Murray, above left, recently earned certification as a professional home inspector and is now available to give free estimates for preventive maintenance services to area residents. He is pictured with homeowners Barbara and Ray Ponoroff. See story for details.

Steve Showalter, president and trainer of Building Specs Inc. and director of the National Association of Home Inspectors, said, "Denny's extensive knowledge in the home construction field and his quality workmanship have given him an edge in becoming a very competent and professional home inspector. He passed all the requirements with flying colors and will be a great asset to the realtors, homeowners and financial institutions in the communities he serves. I am pleased to have him as a member of my organization."

Showalter added, "Homeowners count on home inspectors to tell them what needs fixing before they plant a 'for sale' sign on their front lawn. This may give the seller an advantage over a home that has not been pre-inspected. Homebuyers rely on home inspectors to troubleshoot their potential dream home. This gives the buyer peace of mind for what may very well be their biggest investment. A home inspection includes an examination of the exterior surfaces, foundation, crawlspace/basement, plumbing, electrical, heating/cooling units, roof, termites, as well as environmental issues such as, radon, carbon monoxide, water, septic, etc."

"My goal is to be able to familiarize prospective buyers or sellers about their investment, so that they can make a more informed decision," Murray said. "I like to have the prospective buyer and realtor present while I conduct my home inspections. I will review some of the advantages of the home, troubleshoot any potential damages, plus discuss preventive maintenance going forward for their investment. A lot of people do not realize how important it is to perform maintenance on their own home. Not only does it need a fresh coat of paint or cosmetic repairs, but it also needs proper ventilation all year-round, checking for moisture in the attic or basement, diverting water away from the house, etc. Most homeowners can troubleshoot these potential damages themselves and get it fixed before it becomes an expensive repair."

Murray noted that most people perform preventive maintenance on their vehicles on a regular basis. "They check and change their oil, brakes, and tires, and the investment they have in their vehicle is much smaller than their investment in a home, he said." Persons who desire more information on preventive maintenance or would like a free estimate on home inspection services may call Murray at 301-334-3134.

Murray resides with his wife Robin and their two children, Jessica and Adam. He is a member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and is involved in various other organizations in the community.

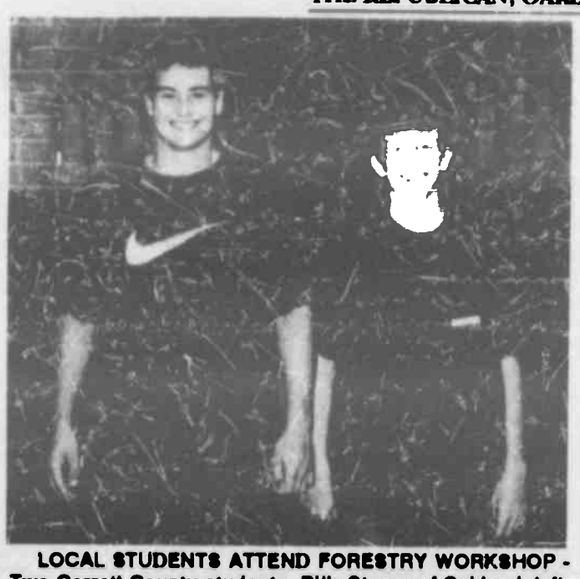
Special acknowledgment goes out to Eileen Enlow, Ken Harding Jr., Walt Fearer, Randy Humberson, and Wayne Anderson, who helped in the planning of the parade.

Ed Kelly, on behalf of the Friendsville Volunteer Fire and Rescue Dept., acknowledges all who participated in the parade and all of the spectators who were in attendance at Friendsville Days Celebration.

PERSONALS

A birthday party was held in honor of Patrick Sines's fourth birthday by his parents Kevin and Becky on Thursday, July 30, at their home. Approximately 30 family members and friends were in attendance to share in the celebration.



Weekend guests of Jessie Sines were daughter Sue Swauger, with her daughter and family, Tonja and John Lewis, and son Jonathan. Sunday dinner guests were Jim and Judy Lminger.

An outdoor picnic was held on Sunday, Aug. 2, at the home of Wayne and Mary Friend to celebrate Wayne's 72nd birthday. The August birthdays of Donald and Mary Friend, Karen Pascanik, Lori Kirby, and Cindy Wallace were also celebrated with a decorated cake.

Attending the celebration were Janet and Ross Fike, Shirley and John Humberson with son John, wife Kim, and daughter Amy, Elaine and Tom Kirby, with daughter Lori, and grandson Devon, Karen and Mike Pascanik with son Brad and friend Krista, and daughter Leigh, with friend Steve, all of Uniontown, Pa., and Donal and Linda Friend with daughters Cindy and Stacey of Walkersville.

Visitors of Ralph and Faye Humberson on Wednesday, July 29, and Thursday, July 30, were their daughter-in-law Suzanne Humberson, Austintown, Ohio, and their granddaughter Jennifer Cross, Kansas City, Mo. Joining them on Thursday, was Ralph and Faye's son, Roger Humberson also of Austintown.

Bud and Bernadine Friend with daughter Sherry, Friendsville, and son Terry, Cumberland, and Michael Herboldscheimer, also of Cumberland, were Wednesday evening picnic guests at the home of Dale and Joyce Schroyer.

LOCAL STUDENTS ATTEND FORESTRY WORKSHOP - Two Garrett County students, Billy Stoner of Oakland, left, and Jimmy Yoder of Grantsville, attended the recent 1998 Awareness Week for Forestry and Natural Resource Careers. The week-long workshop, which was held at the Garrett County Board of Education Hickory Environmental Education Center just north of Accident, drew students from across the state. The program was sponsored by the Forest Service of Maryland's Department of Natural Resources, the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards, the Chesapeake Bay Trust, the Society of American Foresters, and the Association of Forest Industries. Stoner and Yoder were sponsored by the Garrett County Forestry Board.

DiPaolo Seeks Judge Seat On Orphans Court

Ruth Glotfelty DiPaolo, Bittinger, has filed for election as judge of the Orphans' Court. She presently serves as a member of the Republican Central Committee.

DiPaolo has been a resident of Garrett County since 1951 when she married the late Robert O. Glotfelty. The Glotfeltys had five children and she now has 10 grandchildren. After Robert's death, she married Dino DiPaolo and moved to their residence on Savage River Road. Following Mr. DiPaolo's death five years later, she moved back to her farm off Rock Lodge Road, where she now resides.

DiPaolo was a director of the Garrett County Agriculture Fair for 20 years and has been an honorary director for an additional 18. She served as president of the Maryland State Agricultural Fair Association for four years. She is a lifetime member of Maryland PTA, and during several of the years her children were in school, she was president of the Garrett County Council of PTAs. She was also a member of the Maryland Congress of PTAs' executive board of directors.

DiPaolo has served on the board of directors of Garrett Memorial Hospital and currently serves on the Garrett County Social Services board. She recently served on the board of directors of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, and was also on the board of directors of the Garrett County Processing and Packaging Corporation, a company her husband helped to form in the early 1960s.

DiPaolo has been involved with the Business and Professional Women's Organization for a number of years. She was a member of the Garrett County club and was instrumental in founding the Grantsville club in 1984. For many years she has worked with Hospice of Garrett County, serving the organization in raising needed funds. She is a member of Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, and has served often on the church council. She currently serves as a lector, communion assistant, usher, and greeter.

DiPaolo has been recognized for her humanitarian and environmental efforts. She was a recent recipient of the Woodmen of the World Environmentalist of the Year award for her recycling efforts, which help fund annual humanitarian projects in memory of her late son, Dr. Scott Glotfelty. She was a recent runner-up for Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person Award.

Having strong feelings concerning women's involvement in government and political affairs, DiPaolo believes she is "an ideal candidate" to serve the citizens of Garrett County as a new judge of the Orphans' Court.

"I wish to thank everyone who has encouraged me to accept this challenge, and if elected will put forth my best efforts in serving as an informed and competent judge of the Orphans' Court," she said.

Margaret Hersberger-Wagner is serving as DiPaolo's campaign treasurer.

Boy Scouts Hold Surprise Party For Al Coviello

Boy Scout Troop 22, Oakland, sponsored by the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, recently held a surprise going-away party for Al Coviello, their troop advancement chairman. Coviello, a resident of Mtn. Lake Park and former assistant superintendent of Garrett County schools, assumed new employment in Connecticut.

A swim party was held at the home of Doug Stephens, senior patrol leader, to thank Coviello for all of the work he has done as advancement chairman and in other capacities with the scouting program. He has been a member of the troop committee since its founding in 1991. Since that time, the troop has grown to be one of the most active units in the Potomac Council BSA.

A special troop T-shirt was presented to Coviello by Doug Stephens. Life Scout Lee Brown said, "We will really miss Mr. Coviello on our troop committee. We wish him well in his new job."

Matt Vechionni, assistant senior patrol leader, thanked Coviello for "doing such a good job helping everyone with their advancements."

A spokesman for Troop 22 said that Coviello has been active in scouting for most of his life, as a youth and adult leader in the National Capitol Council and as a leader in the Potomac Council. "It is a tribute to Al's conviction that he has remained active as a leader even though his son, Christian, an Eagle Scout, left for college two years ago and is no longer active in the troop," the spokesman said.

Patrols At Fair Set To Enforce Alcohol Laws

Maryland State Police troopers and Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputies will patrol the fairground, including the stands and pit area, the evenings of the demolition derbies during the Garrett County Fair. They will enforce the laws concerning the use of alcoholic beverages, including underage drinking and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

In Maryland, persons may not drive a vehicle of any type while intoxicated. Demolition cars meet the criteria of a vehicle under the Transportation Article. This means that persons observed under the influence of alcohol, driving a derby car, will be arrested. They will suffer the same consequences as they would if they were driving on a public highway.

Abuse of alcoholic beverages is a contributing factor in many types of illegal and disorderly conduct. The purpose of the enforcement activity is to promote a safe, friendly environment for persons wishing to attend this annual Garrett County event.

Revival Slated At Dunkard Church

The Swallow Falls Dunkard Brethren Church at Swallow Falls is planning its annual revival meetings for Saturday, Aug. 15, at 7:30 and continuing through Aug. 23. Evangelist Ray Stuber of Felton, Pa., will be the speaker.

Saturday evening, Aug. 22, will be the annual communion service, and on Sunday, Aug. 23, will be the annual fellowship dinner on the church grounds.

SPECIAL THANKS!

The Friendsville Lions Club

would like to offer a very special Thank You to the following people who helped make our food booth such a success during Friendsville days. Without your help we could have never managed.

PERSONAL MENTION

Carl and Betty, Carla and Tina Fint, Aurora, traveled to Wakefield, Mich., for the July 25 marriage of Kevin Antilla, son of Betty Garrett Antilla and of Claytoa Antilla. The Fints then visited in Calumet with Mrs. Fint's cousin, Mrs. Antilla, and with her uncle and aunt, Floyd and Teresa Garrett. They toured around Lake Superior and returned to Aurora July 30.

Martha Reish and her children, Matthew and Marilyn, of Harrisonburg, Va., were weekend guests of her parents, Ellis and Marie Teets, Silver Lake, and returned Lindsey Teets to his home at Eglon. Lindsey had accompanied Matthew to a basketball camp in Virginia last week.

Judy Hauser of Gnegy Church was a patient last week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Jesse Harsh of Oakland was taken by ambulance to a Morgantown hospital last week, where he was an overnight patient and had a pacemaker inserted. He is recuperating at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Judy of Greenwood, Del., were weekend visitors at the Jones farm and here for the Fike reunion held Sunday.

Ruby (Pennington) and Henry Strabuck of Florida are visiting with her brother James and Freda Pennington at Swallow Falls.

Another former Eglon resident, Everett Beckman, Tallahassee, Fla., has been visiting his brother, Lee, and Dean Beckman, in Morgantown.

Tucker Summer Arts Festival Slate Concluding

The Top of Tucker Summer Arts Festival will conclude its last two performance weekends on August 7-9 and 14-16.

The Friday and Saturday, August 7 and 8, performances at 7:30 pm. feature Shakespirits, scenes from Shakespeare's Hamlet, MacBeth, Taming Of The Shrew, and A Midsummer Night's Dream, directed by Gina Campbell. This program is presented with financial assistance through an arts grant from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts.

The second half of the evening is Mystery Theatre directed by Thomas Reese. This improvisational theatre piece utilizes actors who interact with the audience in order to solve the mystery.

The Saturday, Aug. 8, at 1 p.m. Story Weavers will present Reid Gilbert, who has recently returned from a Fulbright storytelling assignment in Thailand. Gilbert has created an "ol' timer" character for this performance.

The last Story Weavers will feature Ilene Evans on August 15 as she shares her stories from various lands from around the world.

The Sunday brunches at One World Concept starting at 11:30 a.m. will feature Stone and Ivy on August 9 and Mellow Jazz on August 16.

A performance of an evening of poetry, stories, and songs by two of West Virginia's leading writers, Cleta Long and Kate Long, will be presented Aug. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Cleta, who will share her original poems has authored four books and in 1992 was chosen Poet Laureate of Tucker County.

Kate Long is a professional writing teacher and public radio commentator and has performed in many states and on Mountain Stage. Her writing, song writing, newspaper projects, and video production have won national awards. She is currently on staff at the Charleston Gazette.

The final performance of the Festival's full-length drama, Ghosts, by Henrik Ibsen, will be Saturday, Aug. 15.

A performance by the Theatre Arts Camp students who have studied with Gina Campbell, Thomas Reese, Jane Browning, and Lori Haldeman will be presented Sunday, Aug. 16. at 2 p.m.

All performances are at One World Concept on Front Street in Thomas. Persons may call 304-463-4522 for information and reservations.

Five Young Women Enter 1998 Farm Queen Contest

Five young Garrett County farm women were honored last Wednesday night at the Point View Inn, McHenry, by members of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee. These five young women will be contestants in the 1998 Garrett County Farm Queen Contest to be held Sunday, Aug. 9, at the Garrett County Fair beginning at 8 p.m.

The winner of the county contest will represent Garrett County Farm Bureau and agriculture throughout the year and will compete in the Maryland State Farm Queen Contest at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium on Sunday, Aug. 30.

This year's five contestants are: Diana Dawn Mayfield, Allison Hamilton, Amanda Louise Hinebangh, Susan Gail Mayfield, and Jennifer Lina Barnard.

Diana Dawn Mayfield is the 16-year-old daughter of Hugh (Butch) and Debra Mayfield and lives with her family on a nine-acre farm on Fingerboard Road near Oakland. Her family also owns and operates a 415-acre farm in Preston County, W.Va. Diana's family consists of her parents, an older brother and an older sister, who is also is the contest this year.

The smaller farm is where Diana and her sister raise their market steers and hogs. As an FFA project Diana has 190 chickens that are used for both egg production and meat. She is also growing 125 strawberry plants for an FFA project. On the larger farm, Diana owns and maintains a small herd of Hereford/Angus cattle. She also owns two quarter horses and two mules. She is presently raising the mules to train as a pulling team.

Diana has many responsibilities on the farm. She helps at haymaking time by raking, baling, loading and unloading hay. She helps feed and care for both the cattle and horses on the farm. She also helps tend the family garden as well as maintain a garden of her own.

Diana's home responsibilities include helping prepare meals, housecleaning, and caring for her dogs. She particularly enjoys making jam and has so far this season made several batches of strawberry and raspberry jam.

Diana will be a junior this coming school year at Southern High School where she is taking college prep courses. At Southern High she is actively involved in the Oakland FFA chapter, where she will be holding the office of president for the 1998-99 school year. In the FFA she helps organize and run many activities such as the annual petting zoo held during the Autumn Glory festival. She also helps with fund-raisers throughout the year and actively participates in judging contests such as the dairy cattle conformation and the dairy foods competition. As a member of the FFA she has helped her community by educating elementary students with the Food For America program.

Diana has several hobbies and interests that include hunting, four-wheeler riding, and swimming. Her future plans, after finishing high school, are to attend college to become a veterinarian. She hopes to become a farm animal veterinarian and return to the local community.

Allisen Hamilton, the daughter of Richard and Cathy Hamilton, lives on a 40-acre farm near Swanton. She and her mother are the major operators of the farm, where they raise three breeds of dairy goats and are experimenting with breeding pygmy goats to boer goats to get a short stocky meat goat. They also raise chickens, ducks, Suffolk/Hampshire cross sheep, pigs, and Allison's favorite, horses. They purchase untrained horses, then train them and resell them.

Allison said that since she and her mom manage the farm they share all the expenses and the work that needs to be done. With 12 milking does there is always milking to be done, and animals' hooves that need cared for to prevent lameness. This includes the cleaning and trimming the hooof the horses, sheep, and goats.

Without a tractor on the farm Allison helps her mother clean the barns using a pitch fork and wheelbarrow. Allison also makes the hay on the farm by using a long-handled mowing sickle to cut the hay down, then putting the dried hay in a pile and securing the end with string. This is a rather primitive way of making hay, she admits, but lowers the amount of hay they need to buy later in the fall and winter.

Allison shares household chores with her sister and brother. She plans and prepares meals, washes dishes, does laundry, and cleans horse when she's not out with the animals.

Having been involved in agriculture all her life, she has cut hay, planted, and harvested her family's garden. Each year she selects the proper buck, ram or stallion to breed to her does, ewes, and mares to achieve the weight, height, and build she wants in her stock. In the animal husbandry part of agriculture, she has delivered many lambs and goat kids, many of these not being easy births.

This year Allison will be a junior at Southern High School, where she is usually on the A and B Honor Roll. She is active in FFA, serving as an assistant reporter. In the community, she is president of the North Glade 4-H Club. She is also a member of a group known as S.T.E.A.M. (Student Tobacco Elimination Among Minors). Recently the S.T.E.A.M. group participated in the Relay for Life, during which the team walked for a total of 24 hours for those who have died of cancer or with cancer complications. Her group has given demonstrations to middle and elementary school students about the harmful effects of tobacco use.

Some of Allison's hobbies and interests include art, animals, and helping others learn. At a recent art show she taught a class of children how to make a small horse sculpture out of clay. Because of this demonstration and the many small and life-like sculptures of the horse that were present at the art show, she was called the "Horse Girl."

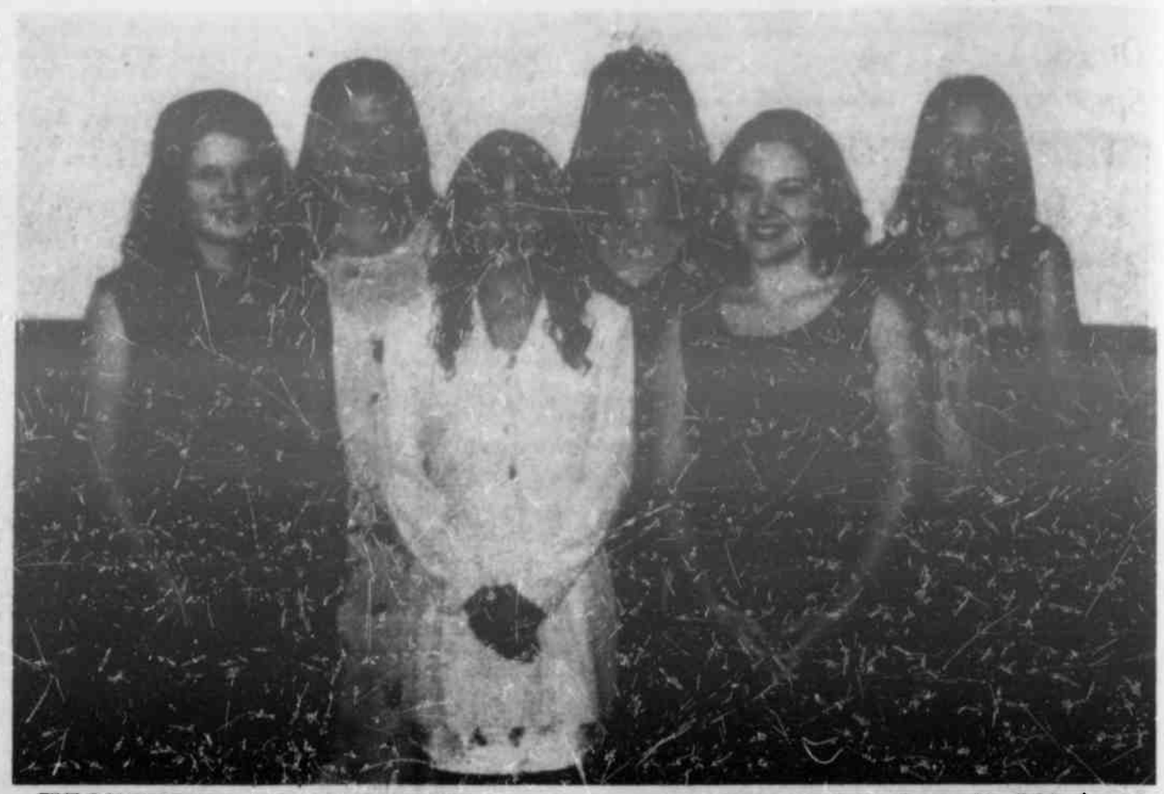
She also enjoys showing her lamb, steer, goats, and horse at the fair. She has been showing horses since she was in the fourth grade, but has been riding since she was about a year old. She does all of her horses' training and horseshoeing. She has trained two horses to ride and trains others' horses for them to show. She watches farriers and is learning the horseshoeing trade.

In the future, after graduating from high school, she wants to go to college, majoring in veterinary science and art. After college, she hopes to become a veterinarian to earn enough money to buy a farm on which she can raise horses and as a hobby do horse sculptures. These are her goals, but she said her true dream is to ride in the three-day horse trials at the Olympics. "If I can not have my greatest dream, I can still work toward my goals," she said.

Amanda Louise Hinebaugh, daughter of Nancy and Rodney Hinebaugh of Oakland, is 17 years old and resides on her family's 151-acre beef and sheep farm. Also on the farm are ducks, rabbits, cats, dogs, and a goat. Amanda is a five-year member of the Red House 4-H Club, for which she holds the office of secretary for the third consecutive year. She raises a market lamb, market swine, and a black Lab puppy.

Amanda has many outdoor responsibilities on the farm. She mows and rakes the yard when needed, works in the garden, pulls weeds, and picks vegetables as they become ready. Outside, she also cleans around her dog's box and feeds, waters, walks, and bathes him. She feeds and waters her lamb and pig twice a day, and tries to walk her lamb every day. She always finds time to tend her animals because they are very important to her.

In addition, she helps stack and unload hay off the wagon, and hauls hay from the hay field to the barn, which she enjoys because she gets to drive the tractor. She also cleans and beds the animal pens, which she feels is the worst part of having animals.



Amanda's home responsibilities consist of cleaning, laundry, cooking, canning, and feeding her fish. Canning is done only once a year, but it takes a lot of time and hard work. She mainly just makes sure her room is cleaned every day and cleans the rest of the house once or twice a week. She helps with the laundry every other day and also helps with the cooking when she is needed. Her fish are a big responsibility because they need to be fed and their tank needs cleaning very often.

Amanda is entering her senior year at Southern High School, and is studying accounting and business data processing. She has achieved honor roll and distinguished honor roll throughout her school career, and is a member of the Junior National Honor Society. She participated in the Stock Market Game in her accounting class this spring, which, she said, was a great learning experience.

Several community involvements take up Amanda's spare time. She has volunteered her time to cook spaghetti for a dinner sponsored by her 4-H club and helped in the food booth at the 4-H/FFA District Livestock Show. She was also an usher at the Southern High School graduation ceremony for the National Honor Society.

She has many special interests, and her biggest interest is playing softball for the Mt. Top Women's Softball League, where she plays second base. She enjoys babysitting, swimming, sewing, and 4-wheeling. Amanda is employed at Browning's Foodland in Oakland.

After she graduates next spring, she plans to go to college to become a certified public accountant. She plans to attend Garrett Community College and later transfer to Frostburg State University. She then hopes to take her CPA test and begin working in an accounting firm close to home and in the future open her own private business.

Sasan Gail Mayfield is the 17-year-old daughter of Hugh (Butch) and Debra Mayfield. She lives with her father, mother, older brother, and younger sister (who is also a Farm Queen contestant) on a small farm on the Fingerboard Road near Oakland. Her family also owns and operates a 415-acre farm located in Preston County, W.Va. On the nine-acre farm where she lives, her family owns several Jersey cows that fulfill their milk needs, a llama, and the steers and hogs she and her sister raise for the fair.

Susan's present agricultural goals include purchasing two or three female llamas to start her own herd. She is also growing 125 strawberry plants and raised a few rabbits as a 4-H project.

The larger farm that Susan's family owns and operates is a Hereford/Angus beef cattle operation. Within the family herd, Susan has a small herd of her own. In addition to the beef cattle, the Mayfields also raise Belgian draft horses. The crops grown on the farm are corn, oats, and hay.

Susan's outdoor responsibilities are many. She feeds, prepares for show, and cares for her fair steer and hog. She also helps with the milking and care of the cattle. It is her responsibility to keep her strawberry plants weed free, mow the lawn, and help in the family garden.

One of her main summertime jobs is helping with the haymaking, during which she usually stacks bales, helps load and unload the wagons, and puts on the bale bonnets. Some of her favorite jobs take place in the wintertime. They include helping feed the cattle and vaccinating and banding the newborn calves.

Her home responsibilities include helping with the housecleaning, cooking, dishwashing, laundry, and caring for the family's five dogs and cat.

This year Susan will be a senior at Southern High School, where she is taking honors and college prep classes. She is an active member of the Oakland FFA chapter, for which she currently holds the office of junior advisor. In FFA she helps with many fund-raisers. She helps set up the annual petting zoo and the Food For America program, which teaches elementary students about agriculture. She is actively involved in many judging contests including livestock, agricultural production bowl, dairy foods, knowledge, public speaking, parliamentary procedure, meats, and forestry.

This year Susan placed first individually in Maryland in the meat judging and forestry contests. Her team also placed first in the forestry judging contest, and they will represent Maryland in the National FFA Forestry Contest in Kansas City, Mo., in November. Through FFA Susan has received many awards including the beef proficiency award, public speaking proficiency award, and the state agricultural degree. She is currently the president of the Trailblazers 4-H Club, which she helped set up and organize.

In her few moments of leisure time Susan enjoys swimming and exploring the Internet. Her future plans include attending either West Virginia University or the University of Maryland to major in mechanical engineering. She then plans to attend law school and pursue a career as an attorney.

Jennifer Lina Barnard, the daughter of William and Debra Barnard, is 19 years old and lives on a 375-acre diversified family farm in Swanton. The farm is home to six families, her grandmother and five of her aunts' and uncles' families. Her family raises beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and hogs. They also make hay, raise corn, and sell green beans.

Her largest outdoor responsibility is caring for her 4-H project animals. Caring for her fair animals includes feeding, bathing, grooming, and vaccinating them. She also helps keep stalls cleaned and cleans the other areas of the barns.

One of her other major outdoor responsibilities is planting and caring for the family garden, which is shared with two families. Gardening is one of Jennifer's favorite hobbies, and this summer she planted around 100 tomato plants, green peppers, hot peppers, pumpkins, broccoli, cauliflower, zucchini, cucumbers and cabbage. Other outdoor responsibilities include mowing grass, caring for flower beds, and general yard work.

Jennifer's home responsibilities are cleaning, doing laundry, babysitting her cousins, canning, baking, and cooking. Her two favorite household chores happen to be her mother's least favorite, so she does a lot of cooking and baking. She often makes dinner and loves to bake pies and desserts.

A 1997 Southern High School graduate, Jennifer just completed her first year at the University of Maryland at College Park this past spring. This fall she will enter her second year as an animal science/pre-veterinarian major.

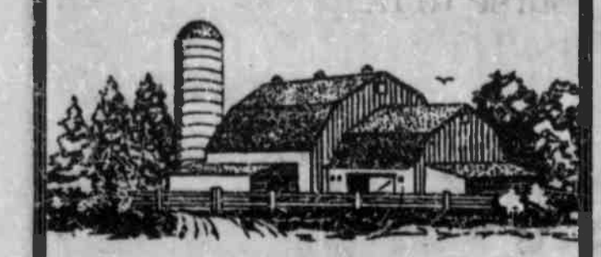
Jennifer's agricultural activities are a very important part of her life. She is a 12-year member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, where she has held many offices including secretary, reporter, junior leader, vice president, and president. For the past 11 years she has exhibited animals at the Garrett County Fair. She has shown market lambs, breeding sheep, market hogs, veal, and steers.

She is also a member and past president of the Oakland FFA Chapter. She has served as a youth member of the Garrett County Livestock Association, representing both 4-H and FFA youth. She is also a member of the University of Maryland's collegiate 4-H program, animal husbandry club, and pre-veterinarian club.

Her school activities during high school included FFA, marching band, and National Honor Society. She was drum major of the marching band for two years and secretary/treasurer of the National Honor Society.

Her school activities at the University of Maryland are all closely related to her major. The animal husbandry club has one major responsibility, organizing Spring Ag Day. This past hear she helped the club in planning and then working on Ag Day. As a member of the club she was able to show a steer and hog. All the exhibitors at Ag Day were given a month to work with their animals, most of which had never had human contact, and then show them on Ag Day.

The pre-veterinarian club is one that helps students prepare for veterinarian school. The club also helps at the Wye Angus Farm, vaccinating and cleaning calves for the farm's annual feeder calf sale.



Her collegiate 4-H activities are much like regular 4-H activities. The collegiate 4-H club is involved in mostly community service activities and planning Ag Day. The club attends 4-H meetings around the D.C. and Baltimore areas to assist those clubs with leadership programs and community service.

She also attends Deer Park United Methodist Church, where she serves as a substitute pianist.

Her hobbies include playing the piano, sewing, reading, and gardening. Her future plans include seven more years of college to become a doctor of veterinary medicine. She then hopes to return to Garrett County, or a very similar rural area, and open her own large animal practice.

Direct Marketing Association Sponsors Md.-W.Va. Farm Tour

A RECENT FARM TOUR, sponsored by the Direct Marketing Association, led approximately 30 participants to several local producers in Garrett and Preston counties. The tour began at the Preston County farm of Bill Slagle. Here, he explains how he grows one of his crops--shiitake mushrooms. Those in attendance were also led through Slagle's crop of ginseng before they traveled on to other sites on the tour. (See story)

ALTHOUGH IT'S STILL A FAIRLY NEW MARKETING CONCEPT and is not widely accepted, raising rabbits for meat is an enterprise undertaken by Bernie Dixon, owner of Country Pride Meats, near Friendsville. Here, participants of the farm tour learned how rabbit meat is becoming more accepted as a low fat, low cholesterol alternative.

by Ken Spence
Director of Information
W.Va. Farm Bureau

Seeing is believing. And sometimes just seeing can be one of the most valuable lessons. With that in mind, the Direct Marketing Association organized a visit on July 11 to several producers in northern West Virginia and Maryland. About 30 people participated.

The tour began at the Preston County farm of Bill Slagle. Slagle grows ginseng, shiitake mushrooms and several other crops. Diversity and challenging crops, combined with a lot of hard work, are Slagle's bread and butter. He kept the tour group hustling just to cover the various aspects of his enterprise.

Next stop on the tour--meat rabbits grown by Bernie Dixon. Dixon also owns Country Pride Meats near Friendsville, where he processes the rabbits. Marketing rabbit can be a difficult task, when many people still think of rabbit as the Easter Bunny.

A co-op has been formed to develop markets, and slowly people are coming around to see rabbit meat as a low fat, low cholesterol alternative. "We're five years ahead of the curve," another grower on the tour said.

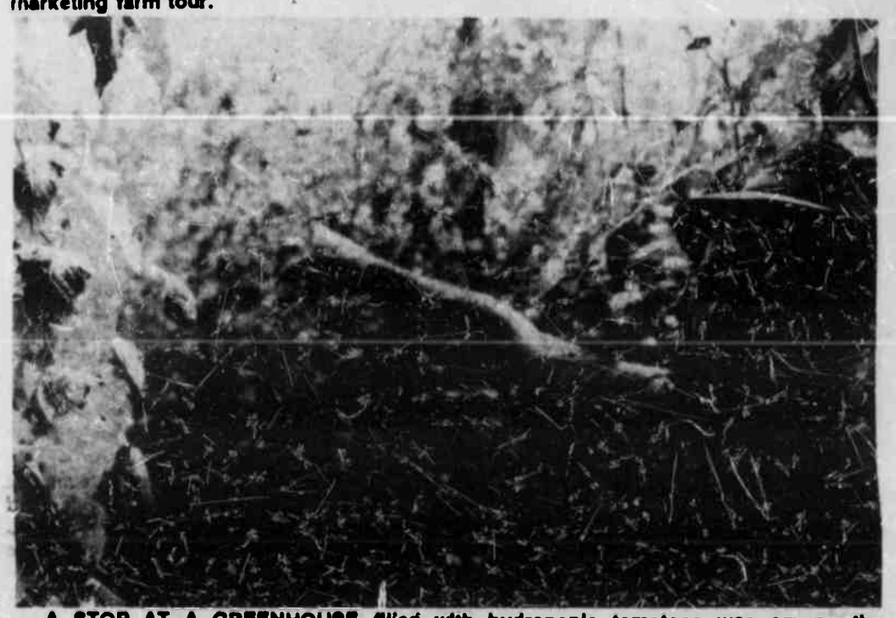
Soon it was back to the bus and on to another Preston County producer, the Groses' Montcroft Farms in Cranesville, West Virginia. Ed, Bill, and the other family members produce more traditional crops, potatoes primarily, and some beans and sweet corn. But it is the way they do this and their marketing efforts that connect them to this group.

The Groses have recently started raising certified seed potatoes. This enterprise began when they were having difficulty getting good quality seed for their own commercial production. The Groses continue to experiment with innovative methods of improving production efficiency tailored to their scale of production.

We were there at an optimum time to see the potatoes--row after row of healthy green plants, many topped by white or purple blossoms. Unfortunately, limited time gave us only a glimpse of another major enterprise on the Grose farm--the herd of black angus beef cattle.

Our first stop after lunch was in the Pleasant Valley area near Oakland. In addition to the small dairy, Dan Yoder and his family raise black raspberries and have started to grow hydroponic tomatoes. Both crops are marketed on the farm and at farmers' markets.

The final stop on the tour was the Farmers' Market in Oakland. This is one of three owned by Hilltop Markets of Grantsville. The markets sell a wide variety of local and other produce, as well as a large selection of candies.



Bill Aiken, who organized the tour, says he was pleasantly surprised by the response, and that the association is planning other tours. Anyone wishing more information on these or other activities of the Direct Marketing Association may contact Aiken at 1-800-398-4630, ext 14.

ED AND BILL GROSS of Montcroft Farms near Cranesville, W.Va., show farm tour participants a field of certified seed potatoes in full bloom. Along with the potatoes, of which many are sold directly to the consumer, the Groses also sell green beans and sweet corn and raise registered angus cattle.

ROW AFTER ROW OF POTATO PLANTS TOPPED WITH PURPLE AND WHITE BLOSSOMS were among the sites seen at the Grose farm during the recent direct marketing farm tour.

A STOP AT A GREENHOUSE filled with hydroponic tomatoes was among the highlights of the recent direct marketing tour. Dan Yoder, shown above, and his family have a dairy farm in the Pleasant Valley area, where they also grow tomatoes and raspberries and market them locally.

Taking Inventory of Your Business

We have all taken an inventory in one form or another. It might have been measuring the silo and hay mow to calculate the forage supply available, checking the kitchen cabinet or checkbook before shopping, or simply counting the number of cows that came through the parlor last night.

But, have you ever taken an inventory of your business? If you did, what did you measure? What did you compare the results against?

People will tell you that the only business inventory they need to take is of the "bottom line." As long as it looks like there is $ (supply your number) profit, then business is OK. Someone else might tell you that as long as all the bills are current, things are all right. Your neighbor might believe if the cows are averaging a certain amount of milk, things are going well.

Does the bottom line figure tell you that the price of your milking ration was the lowest in the last ten years? Are the major bills current because they are being paid directly by the cooperative before what is left of the milk check is mailed? Is your neighbor avereging more milk per cow than ever because 50% of the herd freshened in the last four months? Inventories are little more than numbers without a way to judge their results.

Business inventories are actually part of your control plans for different parts of the operation. The results of the inventories should be compared with the standards of performance you set for any part of your business.

Your business has certain written objectives and goals. It also has established tactics to reach those goals. An inventory at any time can point out which ones are being met. It can also help you identify problem areas so plans can be changed to help ensure goals are reached. Take inventories frequently and use their results to keep your business well stocked with the things needed to meet your goals and objectives.

Livestock Assn. Members Improve Co. Fairgrounds

by Dale Hutzel,
Garrett Co. Livestock Association President

After the donation of eight tons of blacktop from Mark Folk of Keystone Lime Company, 14 members of the Garrett County Livestock Association met at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Friday, July 24, at 4 p.m. to pave several surfaces. Those attending were Darvin, Louise, Arthur and Sarah Pysell; Bobby and Sandy Schmidt and Bobby Schmidt Jr.; Dani, B.J. and Barry Upole; Richard McCrobie; Lester Loughry; and Dale and Millie Hutzel. Hand tampers were made and donated by Darrell and Scott Bolyard. The ladies did some painting also. The Livestock Association expressed its appreciation to all for their generous donations of time and supplies.

An apology is extended to Scott and Charlie Harvey for being omitted from the helper list of those who participated at the July 11 work day. Scott helped to hang gates and repaired the rain spout at the beef barn. Charlie served as the "supervising crew engineer." Scott designed and made two display cases for the Livestock Association to use to display items of interest during fair week.

Rigidply Rafters Inc. donated lumber, Beachy Lumber Company donated plexiglass, and Ron McDonald of Naylor's Hardware donated the hardware for the display cases. Sharon Harvey helped her father mount the doors on the cases and install the lighting. They were painted by Sandy Harvey, Scott's wife. The Livestock Association appreciates the Harvey family for the beautifully completed project.

On Saturday, August 1, 44 members met at the fairgrounds to repair the sheep barn. Those helping included Darvin, Louise, Arthur and Sarah Pysell; Robert, Dani, B.J. and Barry Upole; Scott Bolyard; Rex Hoalcraft; Scott, Andrew and Charlie Harvey; Louella and Jody Friend; Bill and Billy Ramey; Cliff, Eleanor and Lori Woods; Jennfer Wolfe; Cathy, Christie and Allison Hamilton; Rhonda Savage; Tim, Daniel and Rachel Skipper; Brenda and Megan Bernard; Tyler Ashby; Mary Ann, Autumn and Ben Rizer; Glen and Adam Sanders; Kris DeWitt; Karen and Katie Stever; Lester Loughry; Dale and Millie Hutzel; Richard McCrobie (livestock coordinator); and Don Sealing, from the fair board.

The use of a nail gun and nails were donated by Tim Skipper. Lester Loughry and Dale Hutzel hauled the lumber. New boards were installed around the sheep barn and the majority of them were painted before running out of paint. The job will be finished this coming week with paint donated by Dale Glotfelty. Dale Hutzel, Arthur Pysell and Adam Sanders also did some welding at the swine barn with a welder donated for use by D & M Welding. The swine barn repairing and redesigning will be finished this week.

The 42nd annual Garrett County Fair begins August 9, and appreciation and gratitude go out to the membership of the Livestock Association, Fair Board, 4-H and FFA who have donated supplies, services and many hours of volunteered time for the projects this year, plus the generosity that has been shown by local businesses.

A "Fair Clean-up Day," orientation, and the monthly Livestock Association meeting will take place on Thursday, Aug. 6, beginning at 3 p.m. at the fairgrounds. All members are urged to participate.

WVU Extension News

Bill Shockey, Preston Co. Ag Agent

Remember all those unsightly webs in Preston County trees late last summer and fall? Well, they seem to be on their way again. Fall webworm has been seen aud identified in Preston County. With our earlier growing season, this year they are making their presence known a bit sooner. Don't confuse fall webworm with the tent caterpillars. Tent caterpillars are active in late spring and make their nests in the crotch of branches. Fall webworms make webs on tips of branches and are active in late summer and early fall.

According to entomologists at the Ohio State University, fall webworms, Hyphantria cunea (Drury), are known to feed on over 88 species of trees in the United States. This pest usually eats leaves late in the season, and the nests are generally concentrated to limited areas. Because the tree has already gathered most of its "growing energy," little real damage is done to most trees even though nests are very unsightly.

Large silk webs enclosing tips of branches are sure signs of fall webworms. Caterpillars remain inside the webbing, and if food runs out new foliage is encased. This pest overwinters in the pupal stage, but can be found in old nest remains under loose bark and leaf litter. Adults emerge in late May into July. Eggs are usually deposited on the undersurface of leaves. The eggs hatch in about a week and the small mass of caterpillars web over single leaves to feed. This pest tends to go through periodic population explosions. Outbreaks every four to seven years may last for two to three years before natural control agents greatly reduce the activity.

Usually the best thing to do with this pest is nothing. Their unsightly appearance does little or no damage to most trees they infest. If, because of ornamental concerns or if they are reducing the yield of fruit trees, control is necessary, there are some control methods that include mechanical removal biological and chemical control. Contact the Preston County Extension Office at 304-329-1391 for more details or for control methods.

End Of Week Rain Relieves Dry Crop Conditions

Although last week started out dry, farmers received much needed help from showers on Thursday and Friday. However, rainfall totals were not significant enough to improve crop conditions or soil moisture levels. Irrigation ponds are also being threatened by the dry weather.

Drought stress is beginning to show on corn, soybeans, and tobacco. Eighty % of corn has silked, 34% is in the dough stage, and 9% is in the dent stage. Sorghum headed gained 26 points this week in spite of the dry weather.

Harvesting of sweet corn, snap bean, and tomato crops all made considerable gains this week. Sweet corn, tomatoes, and snap beans made jumps of 23, 27, and 35 points, respectively.

Topsoil moisture was 19% very short, 49% short, and 32% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 14% very short, 46% short, and 40% adequate. There were 6.0 days suitable for field work last week.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended July 31, listing the item, and the percentage for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, follows:

Development: field corn, silked 80, 70, 54, 74, dough 34, 21, 9, 23, dent 9, 4, 1, 3; soybeans, bloomed 47, 35, 42, 43, setting pods 29, 30, 17, 11.

Harvesting progress: cantaloupe 63, 46, 49, 51; cucumbers 61, 45, 53, 62; lima beans 80, 80, 0, 8; tomatoes 48, 21, 17, 38; peaches 40, 39, 16, 32; potatoes 100, 60, 54, 64; snap beans 81, 46, 47, 54; sweet corn 72, 49, 47, 45; watermelon 44, 26, 32, 41.

Hay harvesting progress: other hay, 2nd cutting 81, 75, 66, 69, 3rd cutting 50, 45, 6, 13; alfalfa hay, 3rd cutting 38, 27, 59, 46, 4th cutting 10, --, 1, 1.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust from BYARD S. BEITZEL, also known as Byard Stanley Beitzel, and KATIE J. BEITZEL, also known as Katie Jane Beitzel, husband and wife, dated March 5, 1993, and recorded March 5, 1993, in Liber No. 600, folio 408, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said deed of trust, I hereby give notice that I will, on in the Rotunda of the Courthouse, in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

Monday, August 17, 1998
At the hour of 11:00 a.m.

ALL that tract, piece, parcel or subdivision of lands and premises, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12 of Garrett County, Maryland, and is more particularly described as follows:

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12, Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING at a stake lying South 67 degrees 45 minutes East from an ancient planted stone marked C & J; running thence South 37 degrees 15 minutes West 167.7 feet to a stake; thence South 47 degrees 08 minutes East 837 feet to a stake at the edge of the Bittinger-Rock Lodge Road Right-of-Way; thence with said Right-of-Way, North 47 degrees 53 minutes East 503 feet to a stake on Boundary Line, thence with said Boundary Line, North 67 degrees 45 minutes West 961 feet to the beginning, containing 6.6 acres, more or less.

BEING the same as conveyed by Byard Stanley Beitzel to Byard Stanley Beitzel and Katie Jane Beitzel, husband and wife, by deed dated October 27, 1972, and recorded in Liber No. 330, folio 473, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by a ranch style home with basement and two barns.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, liens, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cashier's or certified check of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($5,000.00) shall be paid at the time and place of sale, except no deposit shall be required of the note holder, its successors or assigns, balance in cash at settlement, except that if the note holder, its successors and assigns, is the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the deed of trust debt, which shall be twenty (20) days after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, Maryland, unless said period is extended by the Trustee, her successors or assigns, for good cause shown, time being of the essence. The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants and encumbrances of record. In the event that the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, the property shall be re-sold at purchaser's risk and expense. Taxes, water, rent, and all other municipal liens and charges, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis shall be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, agricultural transfer tax, if any, document preparation and title insurance and/or examination shall be borne by purchaser. If the Trustee is unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Trustee or the noteholder. The property will be sold in an "AS IS" condition without either express or implied warranty or representation, including, but not limited to, the description, fitness for a particular purpose, use, physical condition, access, habitability, zoning, subdivision, environmental condition, merchantability, compliance with building codes or other laws, ordinances or regulations, or other similar matters. The Trustee, her attorneys and/or the noteholder, shall not be liable individually or otherwise for any matters relating to this sale and/or the property.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Pursuant to a Court Order entered on July 20, 1998, in the case of Parks v. Moreland, Civil Action No. 96-C-3, the undersigned were appointed as Special Commissioners to sell at public sale a tract of real estate and improvements located just south of Mt. Storm, Union District, West Virginia, containing 105 acres, more or less.

The property fronts on West Virginia State Route 42 less than ¼ mile south of Mt. Storm, West Virginia. It consists of open fields and approximately 65 acres of timber and woodland. Whitetail deer, turkey and other small game are abundant. The property is 4 miles from Vepco Lake and 30 miles from Canaan Valley, West Virginia.

There is a three-bedroom home on the real estate with a half basement and semi-finished attic. The residence has an approximate living area of 1,124 square feet and is heated with electric. Also, there is an old chicken house that is no longer used but is believed to contain about 5,000 board feet of wormy chestnut lumber.

The sale will take place on Saturday, August 22, 1998 at 12:00 noon at the house on the property near Mt. Storm, West Virginia.

TERMS

The property will be sold "as is" and in gross, not by the acre, to the highest bidder subject to confirmation by the Grant County Circuit Court. The purchaser will deposit 10% of the sales price with the Special Commissioners on the date of sale and the balance within 30 days or whenever the sale is confirmed by the Court, whichever is later. The Seller will pay the costs of deed stamps and the costs to prepare the deed. The 1998 real estate taxes will be pro-rated on a fiscal year basis to the date of closing. By law, the Special Commissioners will deliver a special warranty deed to the purchaser. All announcements on the day of sale will take precedence over written material.

Persons interested in viewing the property can contact the undersigned or Icky Hyre at (304) 693-7800.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County
State Discharge Permit 96-DP-2176, NPDES Permit MD0060960:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 has applied for renewal of its permit to discharge an average of 40,000 gallons per day (gpd) of treated domestic wastewater from the Kitzmiller Wastewater Treatment Plant, located on East Main Street, Kitzmiller, Maryland 21538 to North Branch Potomac River.

A tentative determination has been made by the Department to reissue the permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD5, 30 mg/l monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean, fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time; and pH maintained between 0.5 and 8.5. Dechlorination is required to reduce the total residual chlorine to a non-detectable level. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting will be required.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by August 26, 1998. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Stephen Luckman and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by August 26, 1998 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before September 8, 1998. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mark Jacobs at 410-631-4492 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Jacobs at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.22 per page.

Allison-Pariseau Wedding Slated

Margaret Madigan, Deer Park, announces the engagement of her daughter, Debra Lee Allison, to Charles E. Pariseau of Oakland.

Ms. Allison is an early childhood education teacher with the Head Start Program at Dennett Road Elementary School.

Mr. Pariseau is employed by the District Court of Maryland for Garrett County as senior district court commissioner.

The couple will exchange vows on Saturday, Aug. 15, at 2 p.m. at Tolliver Falls in Swallow Falls State Park, Oakland, with the Rev. David Kisamore officiating. The reception will follow at the pavilion at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren on Oakland Sang Run Road.

No invitations will be sent, but all friends and relatives are invited to attend. In the event of inclement weather, the ceremony will be held at the fellowship hall at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren.

After the wedding the couple will reside in the Oakland area.

Backyard Gospel Sing Slated At Local Home

A Backyard Gospel Sing is slated for Sunday, Aug. 16, at the home of Frank and Helen West in Pleasant Valley. The sing will feature an "open mike" for all those interested. The sing is to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Guests are invited to bring covered dishes, as well as their own lawn chairs. The West home is located at 2805 Shady Dell Road.

For more information, the Wests may be contacted at 301-334-9455.

Miss Nine To Wed Mr. Bell

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nine, Terra Alta W.Va., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jacqueline Suzanne, to Richard Allen Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bell of Laurel Mountain.

Jackie is a 1987 graduate of East Preston High School and is employed at J&J Ford. Richard is a 1987 graduate of Rowlesburg High School and is employed at Preston High School.

The ceremony will be held at the Crellin United Brethren Church on Sept. 5, 1998, at 4 p.m. The reception will follow at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. All friends and relatives are invited.

Dixons Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The children of Bill and Joyce Dixon will host an open house for the couple's 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Roy Durst Fellowship Hall in Amboy, W.Va.

The Dixons were married Aug. 15, 1948, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland by the Rev. Denver C. Pickens. They are the parents of three sons, David, Mike, and Gary, and have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The couple request no gifts.

Miss Jonson To Wed Mr. Dinkins

Dan and Birgitta Jonson, Deep Creek Lake, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Maria, to Bradley Dean Dinkins, son of Barry and Lou Ann Dinkins, Yadkinville, N.C.

Miss Jonson is a 1997 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and is currently enrolled at Mount Olive College, Mount Olive, N.C. She is planing to major in speech therapy.

Mr. Dinkins is a 1994 graduate of Forbush High School, Yadkinville, N.C., and a 1998 graduate of University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in history.

The wedding is planned for July 24, 1999, at All Saints Episcopal Church, Frederick. Invitations will be sent.

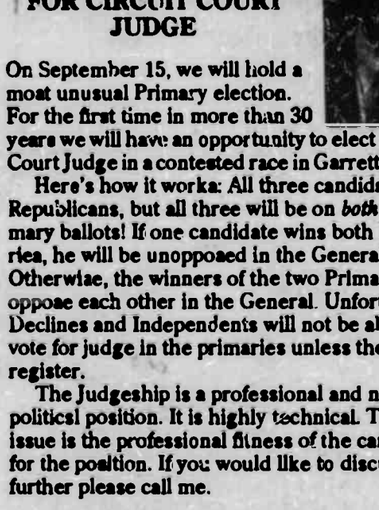
Circuiit Court Judge

UNDERSTANDING THE PRIMARY ELECTION FOR CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE

On September 15, we will hold a most unusual Primary election. For the first time in more than 30 years we will have an opportunity to elect a Circuit Court Judge in a contested race in Garrett County.



Here's how it works: All three candidates are Republicans, but all three will be on both Primary ballots! If one candidate wins both Primaries, he will be unopposed in the General. Otherwise, the winners of the two Primaries will oppose each other in the General. Unfortunately, Declines and Independents will not be able to vote for judge in the primaries unless they re-register.

The Judgeship is a professional and not a political position. It is highly technical. The only issue is the professional fitness of the candidates for the position. If you would like to discuss this further please call me.

Authority, Rita L. Watson, treasurer.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT I

A MESSAGE FROM THE CANDIDATE

GET OUT AND VOTE

SEPTEMBER 15, 1998 IN

MARYLAND'S PRIMARY ELECTIONS

If you wish to vote in Maryland's September 15 Primary Elections (and I urge that you do) but are not registered, you must register at the Courthouse in Oakland by 9 p.m., August 17, 1998. You must give your name, address, phone number, date and place of birth, and make a party affiliation selection or write-in party choice. A voter registration form must be signed under oath attesting that you are a US citizen and have not been convicted of certain crimes. You must be 18 years old by November 3, 1998, in order to register to vote in the primary or general elections.

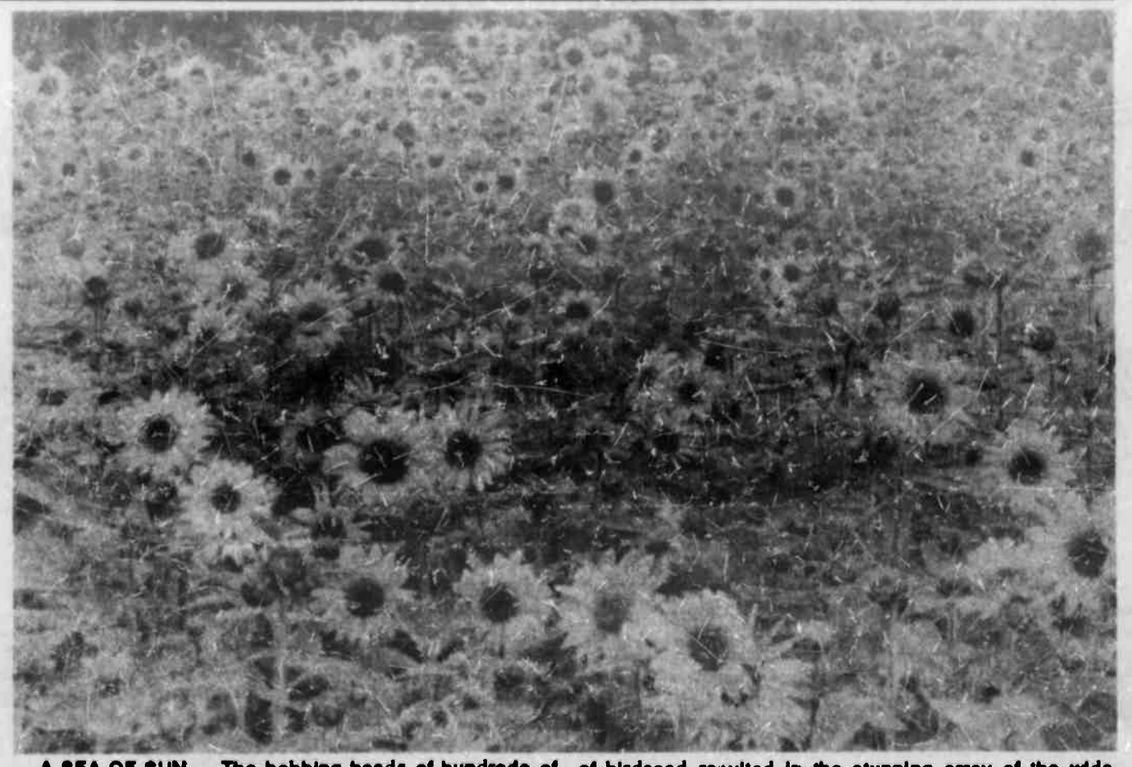
Jail Work Issue Still Unclear; New Policy Out

The answer to the question of who actually approved a small, out-of-contract renovation job to be done in the Garrett County jail remains unclear, although officials tentatively agree that it might have come about as a result of miscommunication. Commissioner Wayne Johnson, who was pointed out by some involved individuals as the one apparently approving the work before formally meeting with Chairman Wayne Wilt and Commissioner Gary Fratz, this week "categorically denied" giving the go-ahead.

"If someone thought I gave approval, then they were mistaken," Johnson said.

The jail work involved a minimum security area where there was no access for locked down prisoners to get to a bathroom facility. Sheriff Dick Sanders wanted access to be given and asked that the plans be changed to afford such access. Gary Mullich, director of general services, had said the change would have to be approved before it could be done. The commissioners and other personnel met in the jail to see where the problem spot was, and apparently all agreed that the sheriff's plan would be the most logical. All three commissioners stated that they thought, upon leaving this meeting, that they were to meet again to formally vote on the issue.



However, the work was done before the meeting by an inmate who happened to be a block layer. Jail personnel said that formal approval was definitely conveyed to them by Mullich's employee, Tom Ashby. But no one apparently knows who gave that formal approval, and all involved individuals agreed that Ashby would not have done so on his own.

Johnson said he might have made a statement that possibly led the jail personnel to believe that they could go ahead with the job.

"But if I did, I don't remember it. I do know I told the sheriff not to do anything until everyone met again," Johnson said.

In light of the confusion,

A SEA OF SUN — The bobbing heads of hundreds of sunflowers can be seen at the Swallow Falls area home of Nina and Gerald Reema, where no formal garden was planned. Mrs. Reema said just a carefree toss of a bunch of birdseed resulted in the stunning array of the wide-faced, yellow flowers that seem to compete with each other in striving skyward. Murderer Of Local Trucker To Spend 19 Years In Jail

A sentencing hearing was held in Charlotte, N.C., for a teenager who murdered a local man. Bennie Tate, 18, Charlotte, killed Robert Delano Wagner, 54, McHenry, in July 1996. Wagner, at that time an employee of D.M. Bowman Trucking Company, was found shot to death in the rig of his tractor trailer in Charlotte off Interstate 85 at the intersection of Statesville Road and Carmine Street, where he had pulled over to rest.

Tate, who was 16 at the time of the crime, pleaded guilty to second degree murder and robbery with a dangerous weapon. He was sentenced to 236 months in jail (19 years, nine months). He will not be eligible for parole before serving 189 months (15 years, nine months).

The defendant reportedly had several prior offenses recorded in juvenile court, but was tried as an adult in the murder case. His age prevented the court from ordering capital punishment.

The oldest son of the deceased represented the family in the courtroom during the sentencing,

STATE RECORD BLUEGILL - It would take an extra-large pan to hold this pan fish, a 13-inch, 3-pound, 7-ounce bluegill reeled in by 8-year-old Sarah Brannaman of Oakland recently. Brannaman landed the whopper on a worm in the Sky Valley area of Deep Creek Lake, shattering the previous bluegill state record that had stood since 1988, four years before Sarah was born to her parents, Lisa and Jim Brannaman. The fish was weighed in on certified scales at Johnny's Bait House, Deep Creek Lake, co-sponsor of this year's 36th annual fishing contest, along with the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and verified by DNR Fisheries biologist Ken Pavol.

Symphony At Deep Creek Opens Tomorrow; Four Programs Slated

The 1998 Symphony at Deep Creek will open tomorrow evening with its first concert of four, as the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's classical music series takes the Garrett Community College stage. The four different programs, all beginning at 8 p.m., will be presented Aug. 14, 15, 21, and 22.

Distinguished soloists from all over the globe have congregated in Garrett County this week, all staying with local families as in past years. Chamber works will be given both tomorrow night and Saturday, and orchestral pieces will be presented next weekend. The group of accomplished musicians will be conducted by the famed Erick Friedman, who will also perform solo violin works. Kathryn Sincell-Corwell, a native of Garrett County, is the symphony's executive director.

The featured musicians this year include the returning violist Jesse Levine, who will not only be the guest conductor, but will solo in Telemann's Concerto for Viola in G Major. Cellist Stephen Kates will join the symphony again to play the Concerto for Violin, Cello, and Piano in C Major, Op. 56, by Beethoven.

Pianist Michel Bourdoncle of Paris, France, will join Friedman and Kates in the Beethoven concerto. Soprano Kaori Sato, having most recently appeared in Malta in the role of Rigoletto's Gilda, will sing two Mozart arias with the orchestra.

Neal Corwell, euphonium, will perform as soloist in a piece he composed for the 1994 Symphony at Deep Creek titled Meditation and Finale.

Returning musicians will include violinists Dale Stuckenbruck, Gabriel Schaff, and Lu Sun; violists Veronica Salas and K.C. Still; cellist Stan Orlovsky; pianists Nancy McDill and Heawon Kim Stuckenbruck; and bass player Rick Otrovsky.

Tickets for each program of the symphony are $10 for youth 18 and younger and $15 for adults. They are available at the GLAF box office at GCC, which can be reached by telephone at 301-387-3082.

The program schedule is as follows:

Symphony at Deep Creek
1998 Play List
Concert One, Aug. 14

Sonata No. 7 in c minor, Beethoven (Erick Friedman, violin); Piano Quintet in f minor, Franck; Viola Quintet in F Major, Op. 88 "Spring" by Brahms.

Roger Glotfelty Remembered At MACo Convention

A resolution "expressing respect and sympathy upon the death of friend and colleague Roger P. Glotfelty Sr." was passed last weekend at the annual Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) convention, held in Ocean City. Glotfelty, having served as the chairman of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners for two years, died of leukemia last December. He was a member of the MACo board of directors.

The resolution states that MACo members wish to express sorrow at the passing of Glotfelty and express "deepest sympathy" to his family. It says that he will be remembered as a "dedicated and conscientious public servant," and that he was an active member of his community, having served on the Garrett County Fair Board and numerous other groups and civic organizations.

"Roger was a person of deep courage and conviction, who will always be a model to all who knew him," the document continues.

It states that Glotfelty is

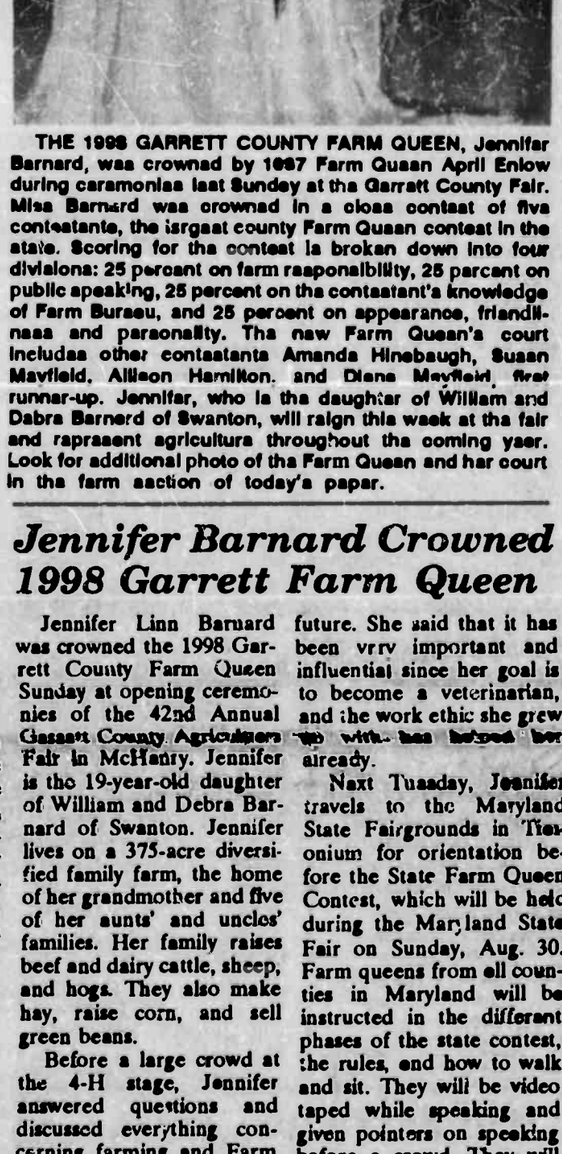
Zoning Appeals Board Members To Get Stipend

After first denying the Deep Creek Lake Zoning Appeals Board's request for a stipend per meeting, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners reversed its vote and agreed to fund a $20 allotment per member, per meeting. Chairman Wayne Wilt abstained from the second vote, stating that he had "already voted on the issue" and did not need to do so again.

The request came in the form of a letter, dated April 21, 1998, from Thomas Kierstead III, chairman of the six-member group. The letter was addressed to John Nelson, director of Garrett County Planning and Zoning, and requested that Nelson either amend his budget to include a stipend, or present the idea to the commissioners, which Nelson did.



The letter states that the board members meet once each month and visit sites where appeals have been made to the Planning Commission. Kierstead said that requires a half-day of missed work for most of the members. Nelson explained in a later interview that the appeals board members must visit every site location, and that some days, there are several, and other times, there are few or none. The time needed to visit the sites can be anywhere from 15 minutes to several hours, he said.

Kierstead also stated in the letter that the board members also hold hearings that can last two to four hours. Nelson said these are on the third Thursday of each month, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Finally, Kierstead and the other members felt that people would be more likely to work on the board if they were paid.

Kierstead asked that the stipend be based on the same arrangement as the Planning Commission. The members of the commission are paid $30 for the monthly meeting (only if they attend) and are paid mileage to any site to be visited, as well as for the trip from their homes to the courthouse. (Lamont Pagenhardt, county administrator, noted in an interview that the members generally do not turn in the home-to-meeting mileage.)

When Nelson presented the idea to the commissioners on May 5, the commissioners unanimously voted down the stipend request, but did agree to pay the county rate of $.27 per mile for any traveling the members had to do to visit sites. This is in accordance with county policy, Pagenhardt said. The commissioners did not agree, however, to pay

THE 1998 GARRETT COUNTY FARM QUEEN, Jennifer Barnard, was crowned by 1997 Farm Queen April Enlow during ceremonies last Sunday at the Garrett County Fair. Miss Barnard was crowned in a close contest of five contestants, the largest county Farm Queen contest in the state. Scoring for the contest is broken down into four divisions: 25 percent on farm responsibility, 25 percent on public speaking, 25 percent on the contestant's knowledge of Farm Bureau, and 25 percent on appearance, friendliness and personality. The new Farm Queen's court includes other contestants Amanda Hinebaugh, Susan Mayfield, Allison Hamilton, and Diana Mayfield, first runner-up. Jennifer, who is the daughter of William and Debra Barnard of Swanton, will reign this week at the fair and represent agriculture throughout the coming year. Look for additional photo of the Farm Queen and her court in the farm section of today's paper.

Jennifer Barnard Crowned 1998 Garrett Farm Queen

Jennifer Linn Barnard was crowned the 1998 Garrett County Farm Queen Sunday at opening ceremonies of the 42nd Annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair in McHenry. Jennifer is the 19-year-old daughter of William and Debra Barnard of Swanton. Jennifer lives on a 375-acre diversified family farm, the home of her grandmother and five of her aunts' and uncles' families. Her family raises beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and hogs. They also make hay, raise corn, and sell green beans.

Before a large crowd at the 4-H stage, Jennifer answered questions and discussed everything concerning farming and Farm Bureau. One of her prepared questions asked what she thought about second generation farmers leaving the farm. She answered that sometimes leaving the farm is necessary because of economic reasons; also, if the person is not happy on the farm he or she wouldn't be successful. She said that farming, however, is in the blood, and most second generation farmers would love to remain on the farm to make a living if possible. Jennifer's "fish-bowl" question asked how her agriculture background has influenced her plans for the future. She said that it has been very important and influential since her goal is to become a veterinarian, and the work ethic she grew up with has helped her already.

Next Tuesday, Jennifer travels to the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium for orientation before the State Farm Queen Contest, which will be held during the Maryland State Fair on Sunday, Aug. 30. Farm queens from all counties in Maryland will be instructed in the different phases of the state contest, the rules, and how to walk and sit. They will be video taped while speaking and given pointers on speaking before a crowd. They will be given additional background on Farm Bureau, and advised to "always wear a smile when representing farmers and agriculture."

Jennifer said she was very excited to be named Garrett County Farm Queen. For her it means she has accomplished a goal she set for herself to fulfill a promise she made to her grandfather, the late William F. DeWitt, that she would enter the Farm Queen Contest and do her best to win. She said that her week at the fair has been very busy with ao

Board Of Education Approves Health Text, Studies Program

The Garrett County Board of Education voted unanimously to approve the Health Program of Studies 6-8 and the text, as presented by Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent of curriculum.

The health program, which includes studies of human reproduction, had been developed based on input from teachers, parents, individuals, and groups in the community. Work on the guidelines for the course began more than one year ago. The recommended text is Totally Awesome Health.

Information on contraception had been one of the health program subjects that sparked public response. The curriculum as approved does include instruction about contraception. Sexual abstinence is also included in the course of study. Dr. McCartney pointed out that the program does not differ greatly from what had previously been taught, but that some of the health instruction will be conducted in gender-separate classes.

"Gender separation came as a recommendation from the subcommittee of the Health Advisory Committee. Teachers and others felt that the students would be more comfortable to discuss these issues in separate classes," she explained.

Both the program of studies and the text were recommended to the board for approval by Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent. He commended the committees that worked on the program and noted that all policies had been fol-

Dixieland Jazz To End Summer Concert Series

The Hot Six Dixieland Jazz ensemble will finish out the 1998 Music at Penn Alps season on Saturday, Aug. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall of Penn Alps, Grantsville.

Whether playing a slow blues ("Basin Street Blues"), a hymn ("Just a Closer Walk With Thee"), or a march ("When the Saints Go Marchin' In"), the Hot Six will provide a program that might be heard in the French Quarter of New Orleans.

Led by trumpet player Jon Bauman, the ensemble includes veteran Dixieland musicians who have performed with numerous bands. Bauman, professor of music at Frostburg State University and music director of the Potomac Highlands Symphony, is also a noted composer and has written music for the popular McNeil's Rangers historical musical set in Mineral County, W.Va. Equally active in popular music, and serving as director of FSU's Jazz Ensemble, he is a founder of the Hot Six.

Tuba player John Close is a graduate of FSU and West Virginia University. A science teacher by day, Close said he considers his tuba playing a "professional hobby." Clarinet player Curtis Johnson is a professor of saxophone and the head of jazz studies at WVU. He has "opened" for such jazz greats as Ray Charles and Wynton Marsalis.

Emerson Miller, drummer for the group, is retired after directing high school bands for 29 years. He learned to play drums from his father and studied percussion at the Shenandoah Conservatory, Geroge Washington University, the Univeristy of Virginia, and Frostburg State University.

The banjo player is Red Ogden, a Morgantown native who learned to play banjo from friends. He said he enjoys playing for community groups throughout the area.

Richard Powell on trombone is a retired professor of music at WVU. Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, he studied at Combs College of Music, Philadelphia, Pa., and at South Western Texas State University. For eight seasons he was "principal trombone" with the San Antonio Symphony.

Dixieland jazz, born in New Orleans, was developed in the first decade of this century when ragtime piano music became popular. By the 1920s, the Dixieland band had become a group that included three horns and played music based on hymns, marches, worksongs, folk songs, aud dance tunes.

This performance of a truly American musical art form is sponsored by Beachy's Pharmacy. It will be held in the Great Hall of Penn Alps, which is adjacent to the Spruce Forest Artisan Village on Old Route 40, Grantsville.

Tickets for the series are available at Main Street Books, Frostburg; the Book Market, Oakland; the Book Center, Cumberland; Main Street Books, Keyser, W.Va.; and the Penn Alps Crafts Shop. Music Lover passes for multi-ticket discounts are available through Spruce Forest Artisan Village.

For more series information and ticket reservations, call Spruce Forest at 301-895-3332.

Local Cancer Survivors To Be In March

Garrett County will be represented in next month's national Coming Together to Conquer Cancer March, which will be held in Washington, D.C., and is expected to attract thousands of persons from across the nation. Co-chairs of the local Action Team include Oakland residents Vicki Evans, Cindy Kutchman, and Judge Ralph M. Burnett, all three of whom are cancer survivors.

"We hope we can recruit not only a lot of people willing to make the trip to Washington to participate in the march, but also some local businesses, organizations, and/or individuals who would be willing to help sponsor bus transportation," stated Judge Burnett.

According to the march organizers, the mission of the event is: to call on all Americans to make the cure and prevention of cancer the nation's top research priority; to demand greater government investment in the public and private sectors for all cancer research, treatment, education, and prevention; and to ensure access to clinicsl trials and quality care for everyone.

The schedule for the March will begin Friday, Sept. 25, with a national candlelight vigil at the Lincoln Memorial to honor the memory of those lost to cancer and to celebrate the lives of the survivors. Education and cancer-awareness activities will get under way the next morning, Sept. 26, and be followed by a noon rally on the Mall near the U.S. Capitol. The weekend will conclude with a benefit concert at Constitution Hall.

The March is being supported by over 1,000 national, state, and local medical, advocacy, business, and civic organizations, and tens of thousands of individuals, according to organizers.

Local persons willing to travel to Washington to participate in the event, or wishing to help sponsor bus transportation, are asked to telephone Alice Ann Ridder at 301-334-3828.

An estimated 1.5 million Americans will be diagnosed with cancer this year, and the various forms of the disease kill approximately 1,500 Americans every day. There are also an estimated eight million survivors of cancer in the nation.

Trio Charged For County Jail Drug Incidents

A pair of inmates and a visitor to the Garrett County Jail face drug charges after correctional officers discovered that the visitor, an Oakland woman, was delivering marijuana to the inmates for their use while incarcerated.

Rebecca Ann Deem, 25, was arrested during the course of a month-long investigation by sheriff's deputies and charged with two counts of distribution of marijuana and two counts of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. The investigation revealed that on two separate occasions in early July Deem allegedly left an envelope containing marijuana in the garage of the sheriff's office.

Deem had reportedly worked out a prior arrangement with the two inmates in which one of them, David Allen Ridenour, 35, Oakland, would retrieve the envelope during the course of his passing through the garage as he carried out his jail trustee duties. Ridenour, who was released in mid-July upon completion of his earlier sentence and before the completion of this drug investigation, would then reportedly take the envelope inside the jail and share the contenta with the second inmate, Dwight Howard Clary, 20, Oakland.

When correctional officers first learned of the possibility of the presence of marijuana within the jail, they immediately conducted a search that reportedly uncovered a trace amount of marijuana hidden in Clary's shoe. A drug test was conducted that revealed a positive test for marijuana in his body, indicating that Clary had smoked marijuana recently. When the investigation led to Ridenour, who had been released and was already employed, questioning revealed his part in the drug distribution.

Ridenour has been arrested and charged with two counts of marijuana possession and two counts of distribution of marijuana. He is being held on a $10,000 bond. Clary faces one count each of possession of marijuana, distribution of marijuana, and conspiracy to distribute marijuana. He is incarcerated without bond. Deem, the female visitor, was released from jail after posting a $1,000 bond.

Free Training Classes Offered For Emergency Service Volunteers

"Knowing what to do in an emergency can make the difference between life and death for someone you love," said Rayma Weeks, president of the Region I Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council.

"We have been making an issue recently of the fact that we need more volunteers in EMS," Weeks said. People need to ask themselves if they can help fill the gaps while learning the skills which might save someone they love."

The Maryland Fire and Reacue Institute is currently taking registration for several different classes, ranging from First Responder to Emergency Medical Technician.

"Depending on the certification level, the free training volunteers receive would cost them hundreds if they had to pay for it themselves," said Dave Ramsey, Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems Region I EMS administrator. Certification levels and time requirements are governed by a national standard established by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

An Emergency Medical Technician-Basic class will begin August 24 at Garrett Community College. The EMT-B class teaches patient assessment; bleeding control and bandaging; shock management; AED use; infectious disease control; fracture management; CPR; oxygen admimstration; medical emergency management; patient-assisted medications, spinal immobilization; and patient movement and transport. Classes will be held Mondays and Wednesdays beginning at 6:30 p.m. The scheduled pre-registration date is past, but registration is being kept open because the minimum number has not yet been met.

A second EMT-B Class will begin August 30 at the Western Maryland Regional Training Center. Classes will be held on Sundays beginning at 8:30 a.m. The pre-registration deadline is also past, but spaces are still open for participants.

An EMT-B Bridge Class, which is needed by anyone who is currently certified as an EMT-A, will begin September 19 at Garrett Community College. The class is 24 hours and will be held Saturday and Sunday for two consecutive weeks, beginning at 8:30 a.m. The pre-registration deadline is August 31.

A second EMT-B Bridge Class will begin October 22 at Western Maryland Regional Training Center. The class will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays for four consecutive weeks, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The pre-registration deadline is October 2.

A First Responder Class will begin October 4 at Deer Park Fire Department. The class is 42 hours and will be held Sundays beginning at 8:30 a.m. The pre-registration deadline is September 15.

To register for classes in southern Garrett County, persons should call Phil Rook at 301-334-4623. To register for classes in northern Garrett County, persons should call Mike Simmons at 301-746-8955. For more information, persons may call MIEMSS at 301-895-5934 or 301-746-8636.

Man Accused Of Officer Assault Is Sentenced

A 20-year-old man from Manassas, Va., was sentenced last week to one year in jail for second degree assault on a Maryland State Police trooper. Ryan K. Sinkins was sent to jail by Garrett County Circuit Court Judge James Sherbin.

Sinkins pleaded guilty to the second degree assault, the state's attorney dismissed related charges of disorderly conduct, disturbing a neighborhood, and resisting arrest.

The incident took place on Feb. 22 of this year when Trooper Jesse Broadwater responded to a call at the Comfort Inn in McHenry to quite disorderly guests. While there, he also began investigating possible drug violations and was apparently assaulted by occupants of the room being searched. Sinkins is alleged to have approached the trooper with a raised flashlight while the officer was attempting to place another subject under arrest.

In another case, a previously suspended sentence was reimposed for a Brooklyn Park man. Christopher M. Diehm, 26, agreed that he had violated his probation, and Sherbin reimposed the one-year term. Diehm was put on probation as part of a sentence handed down by Judge Fred Thayer in February 1997 for a malicious destruction of property conviction.

Diehm apparently violated the conditions of his probation by failing to report to his supervising agent, failing to get permission before changing his address, failing to verify attendance at work or school, and failing to pay supervision fees and restitution as ordered.

Rash Of Accidents Reported By Maryland State Police

Six Injured

Six people were injured in an accident yesterday on Route 219.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack reported that at about 4:30 p.m. Rhea Angel, 24, Baltimore, attempted to turn left from Mayhew Inn Road onto Route 219. Angel drove into the path of a vehicle driven by Linda K. Steyer, Oakland, police said. The two vehicles collided, injuring both drivers and two passengers in each car.

Southern Rescue Squad transported the victims to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released. Deep Creek VFD also responded to the scene. Angel was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Car Strikes Tree

An accident at a Deep Creek Lake camp ground Saturday morning resulted in injury to three people. Police reported that around 11 a.m. Raymond A. Techman, 40, Pittsburgh, Pa., crashed his vehicle into a tree when he passed out while driving. Techman and two other passengers, Barbara A. Grounac, 58, Coraopolis, Pa., and Kimberly S. Techman, 30, Pittsburgh, were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Raymond Techman was admitted in guarded condition, and Grounac was admitted and reported to be in stable condition. Kimberly Techman was treated and released.

Car Flips, Driver Injured

A single-vehicle accident last Friday morning resulted in injury to the driver. Police reported that Christopher J. Elliott, Accident, was northbound on Garrett Highway in Accident about 8:50 a.m. when he apparently fell asleep.

His car crossed the southbound lane, hit a curb, became airborne, then came to rest in a ditch. Northern Rescue Squad and Accident VFD responded to the scene and Elliott was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated and released.

Five Injured

Five people were injured in an accident Monday on Chestnut Ridge Road in Grantsville. Police said that at 2:05 p.m. Linda M. Medeiros, 31, Derry, N.H., who was travelling eastbound on Route 1-68, attempted to turn left onto Chestnut Ridge Road from the exit ramp. Medeiros reportedly pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by David L. Sheffield, 47, Mishawaka, Ind., who was southbound on Chestnut Ridge Road.

Sheffield's vehicle struck the vehicle driven by Medeiros, resulting in injuries to both drivers and Sheffield's three passengers. Northern Rescue Squad and Grantsville VFD responded to the scene. Five patients were transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, where all were treated and released.

Medeiros was charged by police with failure to yield to oncoming traffic when making a left turn.

Vehicle Overturns

A vehicle carrying four passengers flipped over in an accident on I-68 Sunday evening. Police reported that Jeffrey S. Hayes, 38, Vienna, Va., was westbound on the interstate near Keyser's Ridge around 7:30 p.m. in a heavy rain.

Hayes's vehicle, which was transporting four passengers, allegedly slid on the wet pavement, travelled into the median, struck a ditch, and overturned several times before coming to rest on its wheels.

Northern Rescue Squad took Hayes and a passenger, Christine L. Hayes, 32, Vienna, to Sacred Heart Hospital. Jeffrey Hayes was admitted for treatment and is in stable condition. Christine Hayes was treated and released. Grantsville VFD also responded. Hayes was charged by police in the incident.

Failure To Yield

Two people were injured in an accident on Maryland Highway at about 2:14 p.m. on Monday. Police said Margarette S. Futch, 27, Swanton, was eastbound on Maryland Highway, west of Deer Park Hotel Road, when Conrad L. James, 74, Oakland, drove his vehicle from a private driveway into the path of her vehicle.

Both drivers were injured when their vehicles collided. Deer Park VFD and Southern Rescue Squad responded. James and Futch were taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital. James was treated and released and Futch was admitted for treatement. James was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Car Struck In Rear

The intersection of Garrett Highway and Gravelly Run Road was the scene of an accident Tuesday, when a vehicle driven by Kyung Sook Yun, 45, Silver Spring, struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Jason A. Stine, 20, Swanton. Police said that the 1:40 p.m. accident occurred when both vehicles were northbound on Garrett Highway. Stine stopped in the northbound lane, preparing to turn onto Deep Creek Drive, when Yun's vehicle struck the rear of Stine's vehicle.

Both drivers were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released. Deep Creek VFD also responded to the scene.

Police charged Yun in the incident.

W.Va. Man Charged After Fair Incident

A Corinth, W.Va., man was arrested at the Garrett County Fairgrounds Monday night after repeatedly harassing his ex-wife in full view of fairgoers, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Deputies were initially called to an area on the fairgrounds at approximately 10 p.m. for a reported domestic incident. Upon arrival, they learned that Troy Allen Ashby, 28, who had fled the scene, had been harassing his ex-wife there. Word was received 30 minutes later that Ashby had returned to the same location, and deputies arrived to find him standing in front of the woman, pointing a finger at her, and a crowd drawing round.

Ashby, who reportedly appeared to be intoxicated, was ordered to stand clear of the woman three times, but refused each time. He was taken into custody and charged with harassment, disorderly conduct, and failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer.

While being transported to the jail Ashby allegedly became unruly inside the cruiser, kicking the dashboard and the inside of the windshield and spitting on the deputy who was driving at 55 miles per hour when Ashby's outburst commenced. Ashby was subsequently charged with the additional offenses of assault and reckless endangerment.

He has since been released from jail on a $1,000 bond.

In other sheriff's news, an alleged assault by two tree crew members upon a co-worker netted the pair of suspects charges of second-degree assault.

Deputies called to a Maryland Highway location in Deer Park Wednesday morning were told by the complainant that his supervisor, Thomas Douglas Hott, 36, and a co-worker, Billy Joe Hott, 34, both of Augusta, W.Va., had punched and kicked him during an incident earlier that morning, details of which are not available. The two men were arrested after an investigation.

Thomas Hott is currently being held on a $6,000 bond, while Billy Joe Hott was released on his own recognizance. The alleged victim and the two suspects are all employed by Aarron Tree Service of Romney, W.Va.

DeWayne Emerson Ashby, 45, Oakland, was arrested Monday night after he allegedly broke into his wife's home while she was away. The woman, who is separated from Ashby, came home after the break-in to find several items destroyed inside her house, and then discovered Ashby sleeping in her yard covered with one of her blankets. Reportedly intoxicated at the time of the incident, Ashby was arrested and charged with fourth-degree burglary and misdemeanor theft, and was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

DWI ARRESTS

Several individuals were arrested by sheriff's deputies for driving while intoxicated (DWI) recently: Thomas Leroy Dettmer, 48, McHenry; Ronald Ray Guthrie, 48, and Daniel Blair Sweitzer, 21, both of Oakland; Dana Russell Stallard, 18, Mtn. Lake Park; and John Edward Kent, 29, Swanton.

In other DWI-related arrests, Thomas Raymond Miller, 22, Bayard, W.Va., was arrested late Sunday night after deputies were called to a King Wildesen Road residence for a trespassing complaint. Miller faces charges of DWI, driving an unregistered vehicle, and displaying tags registered to another vehicle. A pair of outstanding warrants were also served on Miller, who was subsequently released after posting a $1,000 bond.

Nathaniel Gene Grimm, 23, Terra Alta, W.Va., was charged with DWI following a one-vehicle accident Saturday evening. Grinun was operating a Chevrolet Corvette on Fingerboard Road near Sanders Lane at 7:30 p.m. when he lost control of the vehicle and crossed the roadway, striking an embankment. The car then reportedly went airborne for a distance of 30 feet, struck the embankment once again, and came to rest against a tree.

ACCIDENT

Sheriff's deputies are still investigating a one-vehicle accident that resulted in the transport of two subjects to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Saturday night. A Ford Escort operated by Jason Alexander, 18, Hutton, BZZZZZZ, BZZZZZ... Such could be heard along Second Street in Oakland one day last week when this large swarm of honey bees decided to make a pit atop on the side of the vacant house across from the Ruth Enlow Library. It was actually a welcome sight for anyone who knows anything about honey bees, as billions of them were killed over the past few years by a parasitic mite. The bees are the primary pollinators of all types of fruit trees, so without them, there will be no harvest. It's unknown if the queen of this particular swarm decided that she and her entourage would move on from, or move into, the house.

Man Charged With Assault On Officers

A Swanton man was arrested Saturday on multiple charges, including assaulting police officers.

According to a report filed by Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack, two officers responded to a report of an unknown disturbance at a residence in McHenry. Upon arriving at the scene, the officers contacted the suspect, Timothy D. Hare, 27.

Police said that Hare refused to leave the property and a fight ensued with Hare assualting the two officers. When a third officer arrived at the scene, the suspect also assaulted him by kicking him, the report noted.

Hare was arrested and charged with three counts of assault, trespassing, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and driving while intoxicated. He was taken before a commissioner and posted a $500 bond.

ATV Stolen

An all terrain vehicle (ATV) was stolen from a residence on Bear Creek Road early Monday morning.

Police said Jackie McQuiston was awakened by a dog barking at around 3 a.m., and arose to find a subject stealing his ATV. McQuiston reportedly chased the suspect unsuccessfully.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 20 years old. Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact the Maryland State Police in McHenry at 301-895-1101 or 301-334-1101.

Make It Fair...

A lack of consistent policy, and possibly some small-town politics, have caused a bit of a stir and the reversal of a decision in the Garrett County Board of Commissioners' office in recent weeks.

There was a request from the Deep Creek Lake Zoning Appeals Board back in April that its members be paid a $30 stipend for attendance at its meetings. The commissioners voted unanimously on May 5 to deny the request for a stipend, although they did agree to pay mileage for each of the members.

Then just three weeks later, after one of the commissioners received a telephone call from one of the zoning appeals board members, a new motion was made to approve a $20-per-meeting stipend. This time the measure passed by a 2-0 margin, as Commissioner Wayne Wilt refused to vote on an issue that, as far as he was concerned, had already been decided. Commissioner Gary Fratz apparently misunderstood the second proposal, mistakenly believing that the $20 per meeting stipend would be in lieu of the mileage. Commissioner Wayne Johnson, who was the recipient of the aforementioned telephone call, said that he had reconsidered his position after learning more about the amount of time and effort expended by the zoning appeals board members.

There are several issues and some unanswered questions here that concern us.

There is obviously no consistency in how, or if, citizens who are appointed to various boards by the commissioners are compensated. Members of the Liquor Control Board, for example, receive $2,000 salaries, mileage, and full medical insurance coverage (equivalent to thousands of dollars per year), while commissioner appointees to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board of Governors and the Ruth Enlow Library Board of Directors receive nothing, not even mileage compensation. This writer knows from experience that the time and pressure of serving on the hospital board are at least equivalent, and probably greater, than serving on the Liquor Control Board.

We know most of the members of the zoning appeals board, and frankly, the great majority of them would get along just fine without that extra $20. But they do have a case when one considers that those appointed to similar positions on other boards receive compensation (i.e., LCB already mentioned; Sanitary Commission board members receive a $1,000 salary plus workman's compensation, and Election Board members receive salaries of $2,500 and workman's comp.). What has happened to the concept of "community service?"

Were there legitimate grounds to re-visit this issue immediately after a unanimous decision had been made by the commissioners, or was the re-visitation precipitated by political threats contained in the telephone conversation with Commissioner Johnson?

There are many reasons for the widespread inconsistencies in compensation for commissioner appointees, several of which are understandable and evolved over many years. But it's high time to fix the problem so that it's fair to all involved.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On a recent shopping trip to a local grocery store I lost $40.00 Needless to say I had a few people upset with me — I was told that I had to pay the money back since I lost it. When I got home and told my mom what happened she called the store hoping that some honest person would find the money and do what we all know is the right thing to do. To our surprise someone was honest enough to turn it in. I would like to say a big THANK YOU to A.J. Haalin who was so kind to turn the money in to the store office. It is nice to now that there are still people out there like A.J. that would choose to turn in $40.00 in instead of keeping it.

Thank you,
Kayleigh Bittinger

To the Editor:

In other local media, my kind intelligent friend and commissioner candidate Mr. Ernie Gregg was recently quoted in reference to the NAFTA international trade corridor, "Continental One":

"With the world population increasing at a rate of 86 million people annually, new highway infrastructure is imperative. Any entity that does not accept these facts is not dealing with reality."

Now c'mon, Ernie. Speaking of reality, commissioners only govern Garrett County, not Earth. What is imperative is more land, but since it's out of production, don't you agree we should be conserving it?

We can't save the world. But Garrett County? Yes. "With God all things are possible." That is reality.

Respectfully,
R.C. Speicher

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Garrett County Sheriff's Dept. for the fine job they did with the Open House Friday evening and Saturday afternoon.

I especially would like to thank Deputy Dave McLaughlin and Deputy Jeff Green for the excellent job they did with the K-9 Unit. They explained everything they do and answered questions for anyone who asked.

Also I would like to thank Detective Jeff Murphy for the excellent job he did and thanks to all the others from the D.A.R.E. program, S.A.L.T. program, Domestic Violence, Finger Printing, and Reality Program.

And last but not least, thanks to Sheriff Richard Sanders for making this available to the public. It was an opportunity for everyone to see what the taxpayers pay for. Many chose not to come and that is a shame, for you missed a great evening and afternoon. Everything was real nice and it was a real learning experience.

Sincerely,
Mrs. W.O. Gnegy

To the Editor:

Your editorial, "An Attitude Problem," this week was outstanding in relation to the monumental lack of proper care for our mentally ill in our nation, with particular attention to the very serious schizophrenic mentally ill and the consequences of their not having proper care which they need and deserve.

Their neglect costs us millions of dollars endlessly, plus the horrible human loss which is incalculable!

The mentally ill are not accountable but the so-called normal society is supposed to be. I often wonder when the public continues to ignore the needs of our mentally ill,

View From My Window

A FARAWAY PLACE

The telephone rings and for a few instants we wonder who it could be. We may even think we know who it is, and why that person has called. Several weeks ago the phone rang. My wife answered it. I could tell by the way she was talking the person on the other end was someone she knew and liked, but someone who had phoned for me.

When Deborah gave me the phone I heard a voice which I do not hear often enough. This friend was calling from Ukraine, a newly independent country which had formerly been part of the Soviet Union. He had been there for the past year helping to revitalize a Catholic seminary and theological academy.

For a month this summer he would be running an English language program in the Carpathian Mountains for these Ukrainian seminarians and academy students. If I could get out there he would put me to work teaching English, and in return, would give me my room and board.

Deborah and the kids encouraged me to go. I had accumulated some study leave (and the funds to support it) at my church. The next day I was on the phone, this time making the phone calls to arrange the "getting out there."

I will by-pass the successful meeting with a pre-arranged taxi driver and how he changed my money, bought my train ticket, helped me buy food, put me on the train, and tipped the conductor for me. I won't pause to tell about the first-class, semi-private sleeping compartment, and the overnight train journey from Kiev to Lviv (for the great sum of $43), or that I was waiting for Julie Christie to walk through the door of my sleeping compartment at any moment.

Instead I will cut to the English Summer School in the Carpathian Mountains. We are staying at the Ukrainian Olympic winter sports training camp. The construction is shoddy. All the plumbing leaks except for that which does not work at all. There is approximately one light bulb for every four sockets. The old village women come each day with their brooms made of branches, and sweep their hearts out. There are no vacuum sweepers here. There are hardly any trash cans in Ukraine because next to nothing is thrown away.

I have come to see how selfish, spoiled, and downright hoggish we Americans are. The experience here helps me to feel in my bones how much of the world's resources we squander.

Ukrainian food is highly seasoned, and, while tasty, has not set with me very well. It is acidic and fatty. I spent yesterday with my box of baking soda which I very prudently brought with me. Dill is their herb of choice, appearing in almost everything.

A typical meal begins with a clear soup with some vegetables, sometimes only potatoes and nearly always dill. Tonight as an exception they served us blinis with honey, which were outstanding.

The main course consists of a small portion of meat—what we consider a portion in America would serve a family here—and potatoes, pasta, rice, or kasha (buckwheat). There is usually a delicious side salad, often with shredded cabbage. They love cucumbers, which suits me fine. There is often a sweet bread of some kind for dessert. Tonight we had sour cherries—in Ukrainian the name is completely different than for sweet cherries—for dessert.

There is a plate of excellent brown bread on the table at every meal. They also love dairy products, which is a particular Ukrainian characteristic. For historic reasons many of these dairy products are soured. Once a day we get a half-pint container of one of these sour dairy products. Tonight it was 20% sour cream.

The Ukrainians love flowers. A bouquet is their most usual gift, and they give this gift very often. The fields in these mountains are covered with gorgeous wildflowers. Daisies are abundant, and the array of other wildflowers is truly spectacular. The students bring in bouquets from the forests and fields and give them to each other. They also make vases out of the bottoms of soda bottles, and offer their bouquets at the altar in our makeshift chapel. There is a hunger for beauty here of which this delight in flowers is evidence.

Next week I hope to say more about this remarkable opportunity to visit Ukraine and actually to teach there. I have discovered at once and the same time hope for them and warnings for us. A new thing shall emerge from a country of which many Americans have hardly heard. The prayer and labor of many is that that new thing will be a light joining the many other lights of the world.

SLEEPING BAGS, MESS KITS, AND TENSE

by Mary Sincell McEwen

As I lay grumbling in my sleeping bag, ruing the day I decided we'd go camping for vacation, I did keep thinking to myself, "At least I'll get a column out of this." So here we are, having survived another summer's week of adventures with three young males of the species, and I'm ripe with things to tell. (Our tent and other camping materials are also ripe, although in a somewhat different fashion.)

Vacation defined: "Freedom from any activity, rest, respite, intermission; a period of rest and freedom from work . . ." An archaic definition of the word is "the act of making vacant." I think that second one best describes the result of our vacation — the following things have been left vacant: our bank account, our sanity, and our yen to camp ever again.

Actually, it was not all that bad. The boys loved it, I think, and will probably remember it for a long time. John and I will, too, lemme tell ya. Camping is a good alternative for vacationing, though, since staying in a hotel for several nights is not really feasible for a growing family of yard apes. If we really want to "get away" for a while, we have to aim at what we can achieve, at least monetarily. Campsites are pretty cheap, especially if you go rustic (and by that I just mean no electricity — we did have bathrooms a short walk away). We set up camp at grounds in Hershey, Pa., where the air truly smells like chocolate. The campground was great, complete with a pool not far from our site and a general store that had absolutely everything you could possibly need. I'm sure hard-core campers would roll their eyes in disdain at the whole deal, but I bet most of them wouldn't be toting along three imps, either.

So the two-room tent went up just fine, and the boys were tickled to romp around in their new "house," almost to the point of tearing it back down. They fought over who was going to get to use the mess kit, argued about who was going to get to spray bug reppellant into whose eyes, and got into fistfights over the flashlights (that sounds like a country song). The boys had no real mattress, just a bunch of blankets piled up. John and I, however, had thought far enough ahead to purchase an air mattress for ourselves. We didn't, however, remember to get an air pump, so a great deal of time was passed as we took turns filling the double-bed size air mattress with our own carbon dioxide. Not a fun task, especially on a hot afternoon, and especially when three little boys are running around like wild animals asking question after question and whacking each other for no apparent reason. After a long sweaty two hours of setting up, we were actually able to retire to the pool, which provided an extremely pleasant respite.

Then came bedtime — that transition from circus to sanitarium. They always tell you in child birth classes that in labor, transition is the worst, time of all. You are in pain, you can't think straight, and you think you'll never get through it. Hate to break it to ya, new mommies, but that transition thing continues throughout childhood. Bedtime can be really tough, as we force these young humans to change gears from Full Speed Ahead to Full Stop. It's sort of like trying to make a cat settle down at the vet's, or brushing down a cowlick. And when the kids' beds are in a tent, for pete's sake — well, let's just say the whole transition period definitely ranks in the high stress range long after child birth, and especially while camping.

A family of what seemed to be about 83 children was camped next to us, and those weary parents kindly told us that the first night is always the toughest. "After that, they're so tired they can't see straight," the father assured us. I'll be forever thankful for those words, because I probably would have left at about 11 p.m. that first night if I thought the next night were going to be the same. The kids argued over who was going to sleep where, they fought over their pillows, and then they began a series of giggling-to-crying-to-giggling episodes, during which Michael, the "baby" (he's almost 3), caused most of the crying because, boy, he really likes to kick. He and Rob (6) did finally go down, but Alex (almost 4) lay awake for quite a while, telling John and me through the mesh that he just wasn't tired. John and I had planned to play a game together by the campfire while our angels slept. Funny thought, that.

At last the sandman bagged Alex, and John and I retired to our squishy bed. I would have fallen asleep immediately, but a family camped near ours was apparently holding a Yahtzee tournament. That game, as most people know, involves a cup with lots of cubes in it. You shake the cup and then dump the cubes out, twice per turn. I lay there listening, shake shake rattle; shake shake rattle, until I thought I'd lose all sense. By about 1 a.m., I was desperate to rush out of that tent and scream, "If you don't stop playing that game, I'm going to set fire to your picnic table!" I don't know when they quit, but I spotted that game on their table the next day and I told John I was going to go get it and pitch it in the river. He told me to go ahead. (I didn't.)

The rest of the time was really a bit better. The boys did get supremely tired and fell asleep more readily. And the trip to Chocolate World was fun (and free, so we did it three times), and the day at HersheyPark was, well, a day. The kids loved it, although Alex was in turmoil about greeting the many walking advertisements (human sized, living versions of every Hershey's treat you can think of). He wanted to say "hi" and hug them freely, like Robert did with ease, but he was torn and afraid once he got right up to them. John was happy to report to me that when I was off with Michael somewhere, Alex had actually beaten his fear and had hugged the chocolate syrup. There was much rejoicing.

On our final night, we had decided to retire to a hotel. Three nights in a tent was really enough. "I think camping must be an acquired taste," John said gently. While we drove to another point of interest in Pa., we searched for an inn. I was desperate for anything, pointing and shouting, "There's one!" Once John snorted. "Mary," he said, "There was a guy at that place with no shirt on, drinking a beer and hosing the corner of the building to scratch his back. No thanks." Okay, so I had seen him, too, but I just wanted a bath and a bed. I could ignore the guy.

We did finally make it to a satisfactory hotel and our rest was good. There's more to tell, but the laundry is waiting and our tent smells like a sock. I'll be back.

lowed in developing and adopting the program.

Other Programs, Texts

The board also heard recommendations on other texts and programs of studies. The Reading/Language Arts Program of Studies K-5 and 6-8 was unanimously approved for use. The board also approved the elementary mathematics series recommended by Dr. McCartney, and were informed on the status of the mathematics program of studies K-5.

The Music Program of Studies 6-8 and a recommended text were presented to the board for review by Dr. McCartney. They will be put on public display for comment.

Evening High School

The board members heard information and recommendations resulting from a study of the evening high school program. A cost analysis introduced the report offered by administrators Wilda Massi and Henrietta Lease.

In summary, the cost per student of the evening program is about $620. With the introduction of a registration fee and book deposit, a percentage of that amount can be recouped, Massi explained.

The reported offered four recommendations to the board. The board should maintain evening high school because participation in the program warrants its continuation. Fees should be levied of $50 for registration and a refundable book deposit of $20 per class. Total fees would not exceed $100 per student. The program should be reviewed again before the end of the 1998-99 school year. A sentence should be added to Administrative Procedure 344.522 stating that a fee will be charged and must be paid within three weeks of the beginning of the course in order for a student to earn credit.

The board approved all recommendations.

Accreditatioa

The board voted to pursue a change in the current method of school accreditation. The members approved a shift from the 10-year assessment method to a program called Accreditation for Growth, which is a new optional process that the Commission on Secondary Schools is offering.

The new method of accreditation offers continuous review with onsite assessments every five years, and considers output of results as the primary factor of assessment.

Administrative Concerns

Updates on major projects in process this summer were presented by Michael Sines, supervisor of maintenance/operations. Sines reported that the Southern High School corridor was "essentially complete," with handrails and one door being the only incomplete items.

Fair Incident

was southbound on Crellin-Underwood Road when it left the road, struck an embankment, and rolled over several times before coming to rest in a yard.

Alexander and a passenger, Rhonda Lynn Crosco, age and hometown not available, both sustained injuries and were transported to the hospital by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad. Alexander was treated at the hospital and released. Crosco was hospitalized in stable condition and has since been released. A 16-month-old juvenile also riding in the vehicle and properly secured in a child safety seat was not injured. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded.

VANDALISMS

Two incidents of destruction of public property are being investigated.

The Crellin Elementary School, located on Kendall Drive, was vandalized sometime between Aug. 5 and Aug. 11. The glass in the rear doors of the school was etched with written profanities, rock band names, and reportedly satanic-type symbols. Two rows of shingles were torn off the roof of a school shed as well. The total damage is estimated at $1,000.

A stop sign at the T-intersection of Chestnut Ridge and New Germany roads was defaced Monday night when the perpetrator(s) covered the sign and the blinking red light that is mounted above it with white paint. The word "GO" was also painted on the stop sign's vandalized face. Damage is estimated at $250.

Get Stipend

mileage for the trip from the members' homes to the meeting place.

Three weeks later, the issue was brought to the commissioners' table again by Commissioner Wayne Johnson. A second vote was held, and Johnson and Commissioner Gary Fratz then voted to give the members a $20 per attended meeting. Chairman Wilt abstained.

"I already voted on this issue, and my stance was clear," Wilt said. "I don't think it's a good idea to start paying every commission and board that asks for it, because soon we'll be out of money. I know the appeals board works hard, but I think there should be something said for volunteering to do community service."

Johnson said the precedent had actually already been set because the appeals board members were at one time paid a stipend. Several years ago, the members voted to stop taking the stipend. The current members were asking, Johnson clarified, that the practice be reinstated.

Johnson also said that a member of the group had called him after the first vote and had asked him to reconsider.

"They do a lot of work," Johnson said.

When questioned about his change of mind on the issue, Fratz said he had understood the second vote to state that the commissioners agreed to give the stipend in place of mileage compensation.

"That was truly my understanding at the time," Fratz said.

The county's many commissions and groups receive varying levels of compensation, or none at all. The three members of the liquor control board each receive an annual salary of $2,000 and their health insurance is funded, at a combined cost of over $13,000. The commissioners did vote some time ago to stop paying the health insurance for any new member to this board, but one current member was just reappointed for six years, so at least $4,000 in health insurance costs will be paid each year for the remainder of that member's term.

Members of the Garrett Memorial Hospital board and the library board receive no compensation at all. However, members of the sanitary commission, election board, planning commission, and the two previously noted are given salaries in varying amounts.

The inconsistences are apparently the result of events throughout the county's history that led to various votes and decisions.

Jail Issue

a new policy was announced by the commissioners Tuesday that states that all issues of building maintenance, renovation, construction, telecommunications, property management, county agreement records, and capital project planning must first go through Mullich before any action is taken. Mullich will then be responsible for managing each project and will serve as the official commissioner liaison in this process.

"I feel we must be firm about making sure everything goes through Gary and then to us," Wilt said. "It's the only way to keep track of things like this, and to make sure we stay alert to all the building projects and issues."

Medical Advice From Medical Students

Editor's Note: A series of articles written by a pair of fourth-year University of Maryland medical students was submitted to The Republican recently. Matthew G. Duran, a Bethesda native, and Christine Browning, a Southern High School and Hood College graduate, and daughter of Jamie and Charlene Browning of Oakland, are performing their rural medicine rotation at the Garrett Medical Group this summer and wished to address "common health issues found in most communities, particularly rural ones."

The Good Life

by Matthew Duran, M.S.IV

It seems that everywhere you look today you see more and more about exercise. Let's face it: Exercise is downright trendy. But just because it's trendy doesn't mean that you should miss jumping on that bandwagon.

The benefits of exercise are many, including weight loss and improved self-image, increased energy, faster metabolism, improved cholesterol profile (namely, increased HDL or "good" cholesterol), stronger bones and joints, and better cardiovascular function (a happier heart!). Exercise should be a part of just about everyone's life, from the young and healthy wanting to feel even better to the older folks with heart disease who want to cut down on their health risks.

Many people have tried to start exercise programs, but don't seem to reach their goals or aren't able to continue on their good first steps. The ideal program involves exercising three or more days per week, doing any activity that gets your heart rate up to 60-85 percent of your "maximum target heart rate" (maximum target heart rate = 220-your age) and keeps your heart going there for approximately 20-30 minutes. For example, a 50-year-old person has a maximum target rate of 170, so he should shoot to get his pulse up to 100-140, and keep it there for about 25 minutes. These are just the basic facts, but it's up to you to put them into action.

Here are a few tips for those needing a little advice on starting a new exercise program, or those just reworking an existing one.

- Make exercise fun! If it's something you fear each morning, then you might not stick with your goals. Pick an activity you enjoy, such as walking, swimming, bicycling, or whatever.
- Share your program with someone else. Pick someone you'd enjoy spending that time with, for if it's a joint project, you'll both have more fun in making the "work" social, plus you'll both be more likely to keep to your goals by motivating each other on those down days that we all get.
- Set realistic goals. Rome wasn't built in a day, and neither is a healthy body. Expect to see changes slowly, and let yourself advance at a comfortable rate. Of course, once you set your goals, really try to stick with them; then, be proud of yourself for reaching them. Don't get down on yourself if you're slow to get there; just make sure your goals are realistic for you.
- Mix things up. Try changing your routines a little every now and again. You might find something new you enjoy, or maybe you'll spark some improvements toward those goals.
- Individualize your program. Just because your neighbors all run doesn't mean that you should be doing that, too. Find a time and any activity that suits your particular schedule and personality. If you're trying to burn fat, the optimal time to exercise is first thing in the morning on an empty stomach; your body has no calories floating around from a recent meal, so it will burn fat stores as fuel. Still, exercising at any time convenient for you will help. Finally, have an alternative way to exercise during Garrett County's "less friendly" weather.
- STICK WITH IT! Expect some snags along the way, and realize that it's better to cut yourself a little slack than to try too hard, burn out, and give up. Still, improving your health takes work, and you need to have motivation and a fun attitude to succeed. If you're apprehensive about starting, or are having trouble sticking with an exercise program, give yourself credit for at least realizing that you can and should try to improve your health. Find what works for you, and get to it! If you have any concerns about the safety of exercise in your particular state of health, get in touch with your doctor.

Good luck and welcome to "The Good Life."

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT I

A MESSAGE FROM THE CANDIDATE

There are times when we, the electorate, feel abandoned by our political leadership; especially when our concerns or principles are seemingly disregarded.

We have the right to expect honesty, consistency, and fiscal integrity from our leaders. We expect our elected officials to promote and encourage free enterprise, self reliance, individual initiative, and responsibility.

As your commissioner, it will be my duty to fulfill these expectations. Your concerns will be my concerns.

by authority Beverly J. Beard, treasurer

Mettle: Character, Courage, Valor

Mettle Workers Group Offers Men Alternatives To Violence

Editor's note: The following two related articles are the first in a series of four that will deal with violence and abuse within the household or family unit. The articles will highlight some of the efforts being made in Garrett County to reduce or prevent family violence.

Mettle Workers, Garrett County's therapeutic treatment group for males who batter, address the issue of abuse by focusing on the individual's need to take responsibility for violent behaviors and to replace them with non-violent actions.

Meeting once a week for 32 weeks, the members discuss the roles of alcohol, drugs, power and control, anger, and attitude in the cycle of violence. "The group approach is helpful in addressing the problems of battering by creating an environment where honest discussion can occur and newly learned responses can be tested," said Elizabeth Biser, who facilitates the group along with Craig Abrahamson.

Denial of the problem and the responsibility are stumbling blocks for batterers. "The main obstacles to overcome in treatment are denial that violence is a problem, and that the responsibility for battering lies with the perpetrator," Biser said.

The behavior of the batterer will not change until the individual recognizes that his behaviors are abusive and accepts responsibility for his own actions. Within the group of other men with violent behaviors, a batterer may find it difficult to avoid talking about the problem of violence. "Once talking begins, change is possible," Biser said.

The two facilitators work with the men in the group to teach techniques to stop and to replace violent responses. "Simply put, ending abuse is a matter of accepting responsibility, unlearning abusive behaviors, and learning more appropriate behaviors, Biser stated.

Noting select District Court domestic violence statistics, Biser pointed out that of 25 second-degree assault convictions, four referrals for treatment were made by Parole and Probation while Judge Burnett referred none.

Biser noted statistics on Mettle Workers. Since its inception in March, 12 men have been interviewed for treatment, which resulted from the following referrals: Parole and Probation, six, Social Services, two, and Judge Burnett, one (December 1997). In addition, two were voluntary attendees, and one was ordered to an Allegany County program by Judge Burnett.

Of the 12 men originally interviewed, one went to Allegany County, one was arrested and incarcerated prior to the start of treatment, and 10 entered the Mettle Workers program.

The starting group of 10 lost one member to arrest and incarceration prior to week three of the program; one was terminated at week six for attendance violations; five graduated in June; two graduated in July; and one has almost completed the program.

Within five weeks of graduation of the first class, one man was arrested for second degree assault.

Mettle Workers observed a summer recess, which was partially inspired by warm weather and partially by a lack of referrals, Biser commented.

Meeting The Challenge To Change; Finding A Place To Talk, To Trust

by Peggy Santamaria

If it weren't for the respect and concern at its source, it could be seen as an "in your face" challenge to men who have resorted to battering and abuse when embroiled in conflict with women. The source of the challenge is the Mettle Workers; the heart of the challenge is to flex the muscles of mental strength and character to confront one's own violent behavior.

John was court ordered, following arrest for violence against his wife, to participate in the Mettle Workers group. He recently spoke of this experience.

For some time John had struggled with his feelings and his anger as his situation at home often led to aggravation, which could escalate and erupt in violence. He searched for help. "I didn't know who to talk to. I'd lost a lot of trust through my experiences and felt that I didn't have anyone to turn to. I wasn't financially able to get help from a psychiatrist," he explained, describing his mounting sense of frustration and despair.

Finally there was a violent incident that resulted in John appearing before a judge. Fortunately, about this same time, the Mettle Workers group was being organized in Garrett County by Elizabeth Biser. The therapeutic program offered an opportunity for batterers to change behavior patterns in order to stay out of jail.

How did John feel about being directed to attend such a forum? "I had really looked for a group like that," he stated emphatically. He explained that Mettle Workers offered him a place to talk and to trust. During the first couple of sessions, the men remained rather quiet, he said. "Most men don't like to talk about things," he said. But within a short time attitudes changed. "Within the group I think there was a lot of opening up among the guys. I think if a lot of guys had had someone to talk to before, they might have done things differently," he reflected.

When the talking started in the group, the learning and the changing could begin. "I think talking with the others, knowing you are not the only one with this problem, helps you deal with it," he noted. The talking was helping John and the others to better understand their actions and reactions. "I knew myself there were reflexes, ways I'd react. I had worked on my own for a long time, learning how to step back. The class gave me a lot of ideas on handling situations. I learned a lot in this class," he said.

John referred often in the conversation to lack of support and assistance currently available to men. "The ladies have places they can go for help. But it doesn't seem that men have the same opportunities," he said. "I think it would have helped in my situation if I had had a place like this to go," he added.

What John was talking about was prevention of violence, not treatment or punishment of batterers. He strongly affirmed the effectiveness of such intervention and applauded the efforts of co-facilitators Elizabeth Biser and Craig Abrahamson. "They are two good people. Liz is a great teacher. I had a good time in her classes and learned a lot from her. If I knew there was someone out there who was in trouble like I was and needed help, I'd give him the phone number for the class," he stated without hesitation.

Though recognizing and accepting responsibility for his own violent actions, John suggested that women in abusive relationships might benefit from similar classes on understanding what causes escalation of violence and how to avoid such situations.

John said he advocates public, free classes for men in dealing with domestic interactions and avoiding the use of violence. "I think these classes should be open to all men. I think if they were, there would be fewer problems," he said.

Admittedly, financing such programs could be difficult, but John said he believed that somehow the funding could be found. "I think in the years to come there will be more things like this for men. I hope there will be, anyway," he concluded.

just how normal the so-called public is.

You, Mr. Editor, covered the entire mentally ill problem perfectly! I truly hope Garrett Co. residents absorb your thorough covering of the mentally ill care dilemma, without prejudice and discrimination, which has existed so very long here. It has to change.

This is my opinion.

Thanking you,

To the Editor:

I am a full-time resident and I have also spent my whole life here in the mountains of Garrett County. I'd say I'm an average guy. I like to hunt and enjoy the outdoors. I'd like to express my opinion about the so called "Superhighway" that is supposed to slice its way through Garrett County, leaving a path of destruction.

I would like for all the people who are against this road to see the real path of destruction. The people who lost their jobs at the B&L plant! Most of these people now face a big struggle, also all the young men and women who are graduating from our schools. I believe if this road would go through you would see a big difference in our economy. Just look down at Hagerstown where I-70 meets I-81 and see the growth and development.

I have the opportunity to work with a good group of people on I-68, and I'm proud to say that this road is very well maintained, with very few accidents involving trucks. I have no doubt that the proposed highway will be the same way. Then maybe our fellow friends and relations will not have to leave the area to find a good job.

On ending this note, to the gentleman who wrote in this column a few weeks ago who only lives here for six months out of the year, I have one question. To get here from Florida without taking all week, do you use a superhighway lettered I-95?

To the Editor:

I believe that I have finally formed a reasonable hypothesis to some ideas surrounding the Continental One controversy. The hypothesis is this: the Garrett County water table has carried an extremely localized and insidious poison that slowly clouds the vision. The effects have caused a literal blind eye turned away from our existing over-development.

For example, no one could argue that Corridor One would destroy our rural, scenic beauty after taking a good look at Deep Creek Lake. It is here that over-development rears its ugly head. Competing condominiums are crowded together with the golden arches, gift shoppes and bigger and better lake houses. There are enough watering holes to give the county police a DUI issuing field day. The lake itself glistens, but not from reflecting sunlight dancing on its surface. It is a reflecting oil slick, from motor oils puked out from the myriad of boats, jet skis and countless other "rural" recreationists.

With all this a reality, we continue to wince at the idea of a superhighway. Where were all the pseudo-naturalists while the lake — once touted "Maryland's best kept secret" — was being raped and ravaged? We choose to clear our conscience by opposing the corridor. Our opposition is riddled with rhetoric about "preserving rural beauty" and threats to "our children's legacy." The reality is that we have already sold out, and what has that done for us? If minimum wage jobs and little to no benefits was the goal, than we have succeeded. I believe the corridor could only help our economy. It would not take much to surpass the lake's economic opportunities for its citizens. We have nothing to lose in that which is already lost. So let us not wax poetic about idyllic pastoral settings. Don't listen to the rhetoric, look at the facts, but don't drink the water.

To the Editor:

Allow me to explain my recent vote concerning the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) which was noted in The Republican's July 30 editorial.

I intended to vote against restoring federal funding for the NEA and was confident that I had voted no. When I discovered to my dismay that the voting machine indicated a yes vote, it was too late to change my vote under the rules of the House.

For more than 30 years, the NEA has wasted taxpayer dollars on the promotion of what many describe as offensive, indecent, and pornographic art. Consistently, the NEA championed the worst excesses of multiculturalism and political correctness by suosidizing art that demeaned the values of ordinary Americans.

In addition to the offensive nature of these art projects, the subsidy of art is clearly not an appropriate role of the federal government. In fact, the framers of our Constitution were so skeptical of the entanglement of art and state that when a delegate at the Constitutional Convention urged Congress to "establish seminaries for the promotion of art, literature, and science" it was immediately voted down. Accordingly, nowhere in the Constitution is there a hint of a federal subsidization of art.

Private industry and the American public can create a demand for art worthy of production. After all, American audiences supported the arts long before the creation of the NEA. The private sector alone spends $10 bilhon annually on the arts and humanities. Thus, American art will not wither and die in the absence of the NEA. As columnist Jeff Jacoby writes, "Arts need the NEA like a fish needs a bicycle."

I agree with The Republican's view that there is an aesthetic and educational value to art. However, this enrichment does not flow from Washington bureaucrats. It flows from the tens of thousands of individuals who voluntarily donate money to arts and cultural organizations, the millions of Americans who spend money to attend museums, theater, dance, and concert performances, those who volunteer their time at theaters, festivals, and symphonies, and local government officials, such as the Garrett County Commissioners, who choose to fund arts organizations in their communities. It is these individuals and not the NEA that are the mainstay of American art.

Sincerely,
Roscoe G. Bartlett
Member of Congress

What could have been a fatal accident occurred in the early morning hours of Friday, August 7th. A young man was driving home from work when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car. This particular man was very fortunate in that he sustained injuries that, with time, will heal. I am grateful to the spirits that were looking after this young man last Friday morning.

Oakland Police Arrest Man On Assault Charges

Second degree assault was among the charges filed by Oakland Police in an arrest July 26.

The responding officers said that the initial report described a domestic assault in progress. When the officers arrived at the scene at 8:02 p.m. they found that the suspect, Joseph R. Welch, 23, Oakland, had fled. The female victim reportedly had visible injury and the front door to her apartment had been damaged.

Further investigation revealed that the suspect had disabled the victim's vehicle before leaving the vicinity, police said. The suspect returned to the residence during the investigation. Police detained him outside the apartment and arrested him on two counts of second degree assault and destruction of property.

While transporting the suspect to jail, an officer said that it became apparent that Welch was intoxicated. Because he had been observed driving his car into the apartment parking lot, he was also charged with driving while intoxicated, the report said.

Town Hall

DEER PARK

The town meeting was held on Monday, Aug. 10.

- Wendell Beitzel of the Garrett Sanitary District attended the meeting to discuss the town's new water system. It is currently in the design stages and future meetings will be scheduled to review plans, he said.
- The town will, in the near future, put out bids for road paving.
- The council members discussed problems the town is experiencing with people putting out trash days in advance of the scheduled pick-up. Notices will be sent out to residents stating guidelines to be followed for trash removal.
- The Deer Park Civic Group was given approval to begin setting up the "old-fashioned town" in preparation for the Fall Frolic.
- Sealed bids on an unused town vehicle were received by the council and opened at the meeting. The truck was sold to the highest bidder.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 14.

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

- The mayor swore in newly elected council member Harold Murphy in accordance with state law that requires such action be taken within 60 days of election. He will have no voting power until the charter is amended to permit a town employee to serve on the council.
- The charter amendment was read. which would remove the phrase stating that no town employee shall serve on the council.
- There was a first reading of the Mtn. Lake Park Public Ethics Law. The second reading will be at the meeting to be held Aug. 25.
- The L St. playground is complete and representatives from POS will inspect it this week.
- Wendell Beitzel of the Garrett Sanitary District reported that the Trout Run treatment plant is functioning well. He said that flows are down since the sewer lines were upgraded. He discussed some repairs that will be undertaken. He thanked the town for paying into a reserve fund that would cover costs in an emergency situation.
- There was discussion of the Dog Ordinance and the need to make people more aware of it. Dogs are being permitted to run unrestrained within town limits.
- Future upgrades to the playground on Alleghany Dr. were considered.
- Council members have started reviewing loitering ordinances used by other municipalities. They will later consider whether such an ordinance would be appropriate for MLP.
- A new roof will be put on the "old ticket house."
- John Nelson will be invited to the next meeting to help the council address the problem of "junk" cars in town.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 25.

Gortner Church Sets Celebration For Centennial

Members of the Gortner Union Church will celebrate its 100th anniversary this month. The event is scheduled for August 16, starting with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. The church service at 10:30 a.m. will be followed by a covered-dish dinner, with an afternoon program to begin at 1:30 p.m.

The church in Gortner was built at the end of the 19th century as a result of the combined efforts of members of five Christian denominations: Mennonite, German Baptist (now Church of the Brethren), United Brethren, Lutheran, and Methodist. Constructed on land donated by David J. Slabauch, the meeting house was completed in 1898 and dedicated on October 16 of that year.

Various changes have been made to the building in the course of its 100-year history. Originally facing Mason Street, the front was changed to its current position in 1937. In 1987, remodeling added classroom, library, kitchen, and bathroom space.

Of the original denominations of the Gortner church, only the Brethren and Mennonites continue to meet there. Organized under two separate constitutions and boards of directors, they shared worship space and offerings. In 1997 a new constitution was adopted by the Gortner Union Church, forming one congregation with affiliations to the West Marva District of the Church of the Brethren and the Allegheny conference of the Mennonite Church.

The church has been served by pastors in a "shared" capacity. Michael Fike and Charles Teets both served as pastors to Gortner as well as other churches. In 1996 Steven Sauder became pastor at Gortner.

The Ladies Aid group was organized in the 1930s and continues to meet monthly on the first and third Tuesdays. The Bible school, organized in 1934 by M.B. Miller and S.G. Shetler, served the entire community, at times enrolling over 200 people.

Historical "firsts" in the church included the first revival, which was held from Oct. 25 through Nov. 4, 1898. Such meetings are still held at the church each fall. The first funeral service was conducted by J.G. Bittinger for Luretta M. Slabaugh in November 1898.

The first wedding was held at the church in July of 1950, uniting Yvonne Henshaw and William E. Slabaugh, Akron, Ohio, who was the great-grandson of church benefactor David J. Slabauch, who had donated the land.

The spokesman for the congregation reflected on the 100-year history of Gortner Union Church. "To God be the Glory for what He has done in the first hundred years at Gortner," he stated, adding the hope that continued faithful service will result in blessings.

CELEBRATES 100 YEARS - Gortner Union Church will celebrate its 100th birthday on Sunday. Built by members of five different congregations, the church remains today as the meeting place shared by members of two faiths. The anniversary event will be marked by a covered dish dinner and a program following Sunday school and morning services. Gortner is located just south of Oakland.

Serving Food Safely Topic Of Seminar

A four-hour seminar on how to serve food safely will be held Wednesday, Aug. 26, from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Participants will hear qualified instructors explain why food safety is a growing problem and what people in the business of serving food to groups can do about it. "Practicing hygiene, temperature control, and understanding the HACCP system enables food preparers to serve food safely, without guessing and without worrying," stated a course spokesperson.

For more information, persons may contact Irmgard R. Kosciehiak, Extension educator, Family & Consumer Science, at the Garrett County Extension Office, 1916 Maryland Hwy., Suite A, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550; 301-334-6964 or 301-334-6960.

Clutch Play Earns Oakland Pen-Mar Playoff Title; Hagerstown Ahead

The Oakland Oaks triumphed over defending Pen-Mar League kings Fairmont in a hard-fought championship series that went the distance last weekend. The final scores of the three games, 11-10, 6-5, and 8-6, were about as close as they could be, and the winning runs in both of Oakland's victories came in the bottom of the final inning.

"All three games were hotly contested," Oakland head coach Terry Helbig commented. "A major factor in our success was the great job that coaches George Brady and John Helmick did with pitching changes and strategy throughout the series."

The tournament victory gave Oakland the league title in both regular season and post-season play, the first time the Oaks, three-time regular season kings and four-time playoff champs, have taken both crowns in the same year. Oakland now advances in state competition by traveling east to take on the Hagerstown Braves, kings of the Blue Ridge League, in a single-game matchup on Saturday at Hagerstown Community College.

This past weekend's series opener at Fairmont, while a harbinger of things to come as the game ended with the teams separated by a single run, was not as close as the final score indicated. Complete-game Oakland pitcher Kent Taylor turned in a fine performance, totaling 12 strikeouts, but was harnessed with four unearned runs as his teammates committed six fielding errors behind him.

Both Taylor and his Fairmont counterpart, Jacob Lowther, got off to rocky starts as each pitcher gave up a pair of runs in the first inning. Oakland added a run in the top of the second inning before Fairmont unleashed a seven-run attack on Taylor in the bottom of the inning.

Not about to throw in the towel, the Oaks rebounded by racking up a two-run third inning and a five-run sixth inning. Taylor showed his mettle by settling down and holding Fairmont scoreless until the bottom of the sixth inning, when Heath King belted a two-run homer to give the hosts a one run lead that they held for the remainder of the contest.

Fairmont's Greg Vandetta and Rocky Mazza each doubled and singled for Fairmont, and Mazza drove home two runs. Todd Stevens added two singles.

Ernie Galusky belted a home run and a double for Oakland as he totaled four RBI. Matt Lupis punched out three singles and sent one run home, Alan Sebold had two RBI as he doubled and singled, and Ryan Folk singled twice.

Down but not defeated, the Oaks returned to their home field at Garrett Community College the next day knowing exactly what was at stake — they had to win to tie the series and force a deciding game — and with the chips down they produced. The all-around team effort was exemplified by the heroics, which were delivered by Bobby Fritz, who came off the bench to deliver a game winning pinch-hit in the bottom of the final inning.

"After we lost on Saturday we felt that we were still in good shape," Helbig said. "Our guys are confident without being cocky. They know what it takes to win."

After Oakland opened with two runs in the first inning, which Fairmont answered with a single run in the second, the Oaks' Justin Foutz and the visitors' Andy Jeffers dueled on the mound, each shutting down the scoring in the third inning before both teams scored three runs in the fourth. Fairmont added a run in the fifth to knot the score at 5-5.

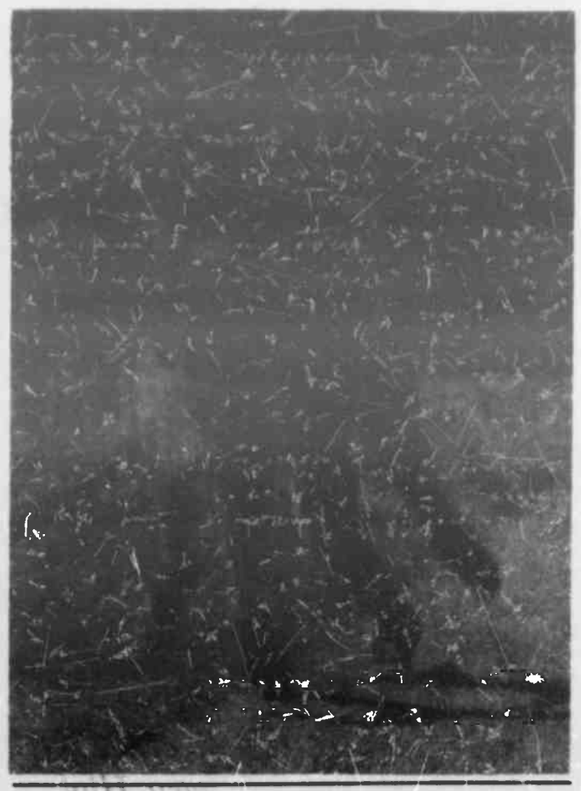
Howie Lewis came to the mound in the sixth inning to relieve Foutz, who had put in a fine pitching performance on the day despite three errors by the defense. Lewis held Fairmont scoreless in the sixth and seventh innings, and Oakland came to the plate in the bottom of the seventh with the score still tied and the stage set for a nail-biting finish.

Sebold led off the bottom of the seventh with a single. Next up was Fitzwater, who was hit by a pitch. Sebold stole third, and Fitzwater stole second on the very next pitch. Matt Lupis then walked, and a ground ball followed which resulted in Sebold being forced out at the plate. Fitzwater moved to third, and Fritz was called from the bench to punch his game-winning RBI single through a drawn-up Fairmont infield.

Standouts for that contest were Joey DiSimone, who tripled and singled and drove in a run, Galusky and Fritz each produced RBI singles, and Aaron Taylor and Alan Sebold each singled twice. Lewis took the win. Stevens doubled and singled for Fairmont, Mike Viani singled twice, and Greg Vandetta and Jason Sleeth both hit RBI singles. Jeffers took the loss in a complete-game pitching effort.

With the teams tied at a game apiece, the third game of the series got under way that same afternoon. Fairmont opened the scoring in the first inning with three runs, two of which came on a Heath King homer off starter Lewis. The visitors had mounted a 5-0 lead by the third inning when Oakland roared back with six runs in the bottom of the third to go up 6-5.

Fairmont tied the score in the top of the seventh. In the bottom of that inning, with one out, the Oaks' Joey DiSimone was hit by a pitch and was then sent around the horn to score when Ryan Folk belted an RBI triple. With the score tied and the winning run perched in scoring position on third base, Galusky lofted a sacrifice fly to left field and Folk scampered home to ice the game and take the series.



"The final two come-from-behind wins were typical of our play all year long," said Helbig. "We had overcome deficits all year long. Our core players, especially the Northern and Southern High graduates, have been playing together as a unit since their American Legion League days. When you play for a long time on the same team you get an idea of what it takes to succeed, having done it with the same guys before."

Fitzwater, who had relieved starter Lewis on the mound in the second inning, and Fairmont complete-game pitcher Stevens dueled until game's end, with Fitzwater striking out nine batters over the final six innings of play.

For the Oaks' offense, Galusky drove home two runs on a pair of singles, Fitzwater singled twice for one RBI, Ryan Folk tripled and sent home a run, Matt

OAKS TAKE PEN-MAR CROWN - The Oakland Oaks won the Pen-Mar League championship after defeating Fairmont. The hotly contested series contained a barn-burner finish to each contest. In game one, the Oaks nine overcame a seven-run deficit, only to eventually lose by a run; they rebounded to win game two in the bottom of the seventh inning; and finally triumphed for good in game three by overcoming a five-run deficit. Some of the players who contributed to the all-around team effort are shown here in action from game two of the three-game series. Above, Howie Lewis fires a pitch during his relief work in game two, in which he took the victory, as Oaks' shortstop Jeremy Fitzwater, at left, awaits the result. At right, Oaks' baserunner Alan Sebold is intentionally caught in the "pick" half of a "pick and draw" play, in which a runner on first works to draw a pickoff throw from the pitcher, while a runner on third breaks for home after taking a long lead. While this particular pick and draw attempt in game two proved unsuccessful, a subsequent attempt in game three garnered the Oaks a run. Below, clean-up batter Fitzwater belts out a base hit. The likely Pen-Mar batting champ (final statistics are still being compiled) went 2-for-5 over the course of Oakland's two clutch wins on Sunday, and struck out nine Fairmont batters in six innings of relief work to earn the win and the championship for Oakland in the third and final game. Pirates Draft GCC Starting Pitcher Johnston

Garrett Community College starting pitcher Michael Johnston was selected in the 20th round by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the June '98 draft. He represents the 18th player at GCC to be drafted by a major league baseball organization.

With only one year of high school experience, Johnston posted a 2-2 record with a 1.36 ERA during his freshman season for the Lakers. The 6'2", left-handed pitcher was clocked by several scouts with a 90-plus mile-per-hour fastball.

Johnston is playing for the Pirates in the Gulf Coast League, Rookie Classification. Although he is currently 0-2, he has recorded an impressive ERA of 1.57. The Gulf Coast League Pirates are based at the Pirate City Complex in Bradenton, Fla.

"After not playing his last three years of high school baseball, he made up for his lack of experience and progressed nicely," commented GCC head coach Ed Wildesen. "Mike is a typical example of a student-athlete who enrolled at Garrett to improve his skills and to take advantage of contacts the baseball program has developed over the years to either be drafted or continue at a four-year institution."

Johnston is the son of Bert and Susan Johnston of Colwyn, Pa.

Christian Men's Softball League Results Noted

There were four doubleheader sweeps and three double forfeits recorded this past week in the Garrett County Christian Men's Softball League. Two of those sweeps were by Cherry Glade Mennonite, while Glade Mennonite and Pleasant View Baptist each earned one.

Cherry Glade took two games from Bethel United Methodist, 15-11 and 13-11, behind the pitching of Beryl Moser in both contests. Then, with Ben Maust on the mound, Cherry Glade topped Cornerstone Assembly of God, 21-5 and 15-14. In that twinbill, Terry Beal hit two home runs and Kevin Miller had one for Cherry Glade, while Carl Durst and Rick Durst each hit one for Cornerstone.

Glade Mennonite's double victory was also over Cornerstone, 23-6 and 21-5, with Lynn Brenneman and Rick Brenneman the respective winning pitchers. Cody Brenneman and Terry Brenneman "kept it in the family" by each hitting a home run for Glade.

Pleasant View's pair of wins also came at the expense of Bethel UM, 7-4 and 12-4, with Poke Winters earning both victories on the mound and aiding his own cause with a home run. Mike Miller also hit a round-tripper for Pleasant View, which moved into a tie for second place in the league with the victories.

Glade picked up a pair of wins on a double forfeit by Crellin Assembly of God, Oakland Church of the Nazarene was awarded two by Cornerstone, and Bethel UM gained two forfeit victories from St. Mark's Lutheran.

Current standings in the league are: Crellin United Methodist, 20-4; Maranatha and Pleasant View, 21-5; Glade, 17-9; Maple Glen, 15-9; Mt. View, 16-10; Cherry Glade, 13-11; Nazarene, 13-13; Bethel, 11-15; Oak Park and Crellin AG, 10-16; Cornerstone, 9-17; and St. Mark's, 2-22.

Cross Country Program At SHS Slates Practices

The running Rams of Southern High School kick off cross country practice this Saturday, Aug. 15, at 3:30 p.m. at Broadford Lake Park. Practice will be conducted at that time and location each day thereafter, with the exception of Sundays, until school begins on Aug. 31.

All boys and girls interested in participating in the SHS cross country program are encouraged to join the practice sessions. For further information interested persons may call coach Louis Newcomb at 301-334-2711, or coach Carl Booth at 304-693-7891.

Girls' Soccer Practice Set At Southern High

Practice for the first girls' soccer team in the history of Southern High School will get under way this Saturday, Aug. 15, according to Nan Gangler, head coach. The session will be from 10:30 to 12:30 on the school practice field and is open to all girls who will be in grades 9 through 12 this fall.

All girls reporting to the practice must have obtained physical exams that clear them for participation. Those who missed the free physical session and make-up must obtain their own physicals.

The assistant coach for the girls' program at Southern is Ron Petrella.

Oaks Champs

Lupis had a pair of doubles and a pair of RBI, and Jimmy Pamepinto singled to knock in a run.

Oakland, which finished its Pen-Mar competition with a final record of 24-9, will continue post-season play at Hagerstown this weekend. The Oaks take on the Hagerstown Braves, Blue Ridge League champions, at 2 p.m. this Saturday for a nine-inning single game matchup on the Hagerstown Community College diamond.

"We have our work cut out for us against Hagerstown," Helbig stated. "We'll have to rely on our experience, and our strengths, which include a very strong hitting lineup and aggressive baserunning. Our pitching has been a strong point all year as well. We make mistakes defensively, which is indicative of only playing on the weekends."

The winner of the Oaks-Braves contest will advance to compete in the state semi-pro finals, a four-team tourney in which the top teams from the western, eastern, northern, and southern portions of the state will be represented. The entire tournament will take place on Saturday, Aug. 22, in Salisbury.

Regardless of the outcome of future contests this month, the Oaks will wear the Pen-Mar crown for the next 12 months, which comes especially sweet for the team's and the league's long-time supporters, said Helbig. "Oakland has been in the Pen-Mar League since 1973, and the league itself marked its 50th consecutive year of operation this season. The league was down to three teams, Oakland, Cumberland, and Hyndman, at the end of the 1994 season, and it looked like the league could fold.

"Through the efforts of league president and statistician John Culp, a Garrett County resident, an aggressive effort of press releases about the league was targeted at newspapers published within a 100-mile radius of this region. The effort brought in four new teams, and the league was revitalized," Helbig said. "The competition now is really top-notch."

WINS LEAGUE TITLE - An Oakland Little League team sponsored by McDonald's Restaurant not only captured the 1998 league championship, but also finished the season with a perfect 22-0 record. McDonald's earned the opportunity to play in the championship game by crushing Lions, 11-0, and Knights of Pythias, 11-1. Their opponent in the title game was State Farm, which had defeated American Trust and Glotfelty's, 5-4. McDonald's then easily disposed of State Farm in the best-of-three championship series, 10-0 and 13-2. Pictured in the front row above, from left, are: Joey Traasler, Anthony Daniels, Chad Remley, Billy Whitacre, Brian Crosco, and Ryan DeWitt. In the back, same order, are: Coach Brad Reams, Chris Miller, Brad Reese, Coach Paul Reese, Jason Weeks, Billy Reams, Chris Hoff, Corey Treasler, and manager Steve Reese.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

WOMEN'S AND LASER INVITATIONAL REGATTAS SAILED UNDER IDEAL CONDITIONS

By Dan Muss

Last Saturday morning did not look promising; it was raining lightly, there looked to be some fog on the water, and there was not too much wind. But as the sailboats headed out to the start, the clouds broke, the sun came out, and there was a fine breeze blowing.

The Lasers sailed a five-race regatta while the Women in Flying Scots sailed three races. There was only one Laser fleet while the women sailed in two; the A Fleet was for women only in the boat and the B Fleet required only a woman at the helm.

There was one Women's B Fleet boat, with Tina Stauffenberger at the helm and with Sue Case crewing. The interesting thing about this team was that I do not believe Tina has ever skippered in a race before, so that racing in a regatta with good wind and puffs up to 15 knots shows courage and capability.

Another new team out this past weekend was Sally Ericsson with her husband, Tom Garwin, crewing. This team would probably have finished third in the B Fleet, but they were disqualified in the race on Sunday because they took on a third crew. Our local rules prohibit changing the number of crew members during a regatta... but welcome, Sally and Tom!

Last week I was talking about running a race on Deep Creek Lake and I promised to finish the discussion of shortening the race course after the race has started. We used to sound two horns, fly the shorten course flag, and drop a mark or shorten it or put in the finish line between two marks. We would send the patrol boat around to let all the racing sailboats know of the change with a loud-hailer. In the new rules, adopted by the U.S. Sailing Association two years ago, we cannot eliminate marks and the patrol boat must inform the racers of the change at the last regular mark. In addition, there is a dichotomy between the new rules and our mark designation system. We number our marks, starting and finishing points by the geographical location of the point, so that by bringing the finish line in closer to the last rounding mark we have violated the indicated finish designation. We must now find a way to modify our local rules to to come into some kind of

Honors Bestowed After Terra Alta LL Tournament

The 9 and 10-year old all-star Little League baseball tournament was held in Terra Alta recently, and several local athletes received individual honors for outstanding play.

Southern Garrett's Shane Weaver helped lead his team to the tourney championship and took the Tournament MVP award in the process. His teammate Chris Care won the Batting Title award for an outstanding hitting performance. Nick DeWitt's fine defensive work for Oakland Hometown Market snagged him the Golden Glove award.

Champion Southern Garrett was sponsored by both Automotive Machine and Mettiki Coal Company.

Fan Appreciation Day For Redskins Moved To Tuesday

Fan Appreciation Day for the Washington Redskins has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 18, at Frostburg State University, home of the 'Skins' summer training camp. The day was originally slated for Tuesday of this week, but had to be rescheduled. All are invited to participate in the event, which will get under way at 3 p.m. in FSU's Bobcat Stadium.

NEW HOME FOR AN ACE - Plaza Home Sales of Grantsville is a major sponsor of the second annual Railey Realty Charity Golf Classic, which will be played at the Wisp Resort next Monday. A hole-in-one on hole #16 by any participant will earn that player a new home from Plaza Home Sales. See story for tournament details. In the photo above, from left, are: Terry Boggs of Railey Realty, tournament chairman; Mike Schroyer, owner of Plaza Home Sales, presenting the keys to a new home to Sue Case of Railey Realty; and Kevin Lillar, also of Railey Realty and a member of the tournament committee.

Railey Charity Golf Classic Set For Monday

The second annual Railey Realty Charity Golf Classic, which will benefit the Garrett Community College Scholarship Foundation and the Northern and Southern Garrett rescue squads, will be held Monday, Aug. 17, at the Wisp Resort in McHenry. The tourney will get under way with a shotgun start at 9 a.m.

Format for the event will be a four-player scramble, with the field being divided into two flights. Prizes will be awarded to flight winners and runners-up. Participants will also have the opportunity to win prizes on each hole, including hole-in-one prizes of a new home from Plaza Home Sales of Grantsville, a new Buick automobile from Team One in Oakland, and a personal water craft from Bill's Marine Sesvice, Deep Creek Lake.

Participants will also receive a tournament gift package, lunch on the course, be guests at a post-tourney reception sponsored by First United Bank & Trust, and receive dinner. Persons may enter the event by telephoning Terry Boggs, tournament director, at Railey Realty (301-387-2000).

Day Of Hope Tourney Among Festival Events

The second annual Day of Hope Golf Tournament, the proceeds of which are used for research of prostate cancer, will be among the official events of the Autumn Glory Festival this year, according to an announcement by the Western Maryland Prostate Cancer Research Group. The tourney is slated for October 8-9.

Activities will commence with an invitational Pro Shootout at the Oakland Golf Club course on Thursday, Oct. 8. The Pro-Am Format Tournament will begin Friday, Oct. 9, at the Golf Club at Wisp in McHenry.

Major sponsorship commitments have been made by a number of last year's tournament participants, including Westvaco Corp., Mettiki Coal Corp., Sisler Lumber Co., First United Bank & Trust, and Railey Realty. The inaugural tourney last year raised $16,000 for medical research at Johns Hopkins Hospital, the National Prostate Cancer Coalition, and to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the establishment of an outreach program to area men to heighten awareness of this disease. Tournament organizers this year have set a goal of $25,000 via tournament sponsorships and silent auction donations.

For more information on how to register for the tournament and/or becoming a tourney sponsor, persons may contact the Golf Club at Wisp at 301-387-4911, ext. 2134.

Southern High Cheerleaders Win Bid To Nationals

The Southern High School varsity cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleaders Association Camp held at the University of Charleston in Charleston, W.Va., last week and was the only squad at the camp to be awarded a bid to compete at the National Cheerleading Championships. This honor is awarded to teams exemplifying the best technical skill and cheerleading technique. The bid is extended to teams to compete at the NCA National Cheerleading Championship in Dallas, Texas, or one of the NCA Spirit Classics in Myrtle Beach, S.C., Chicago, Ill., or Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif. The NCA Championships are the world's largest cheerleading events, bringing over 12,000 of the nation's best cheerleaders together for the nation's most exciting cheerleading competitions.

While participating in the four-day camp, the Southern girls were the recipients of many other honors, including the Spirit Award, which is awarded by vote of the entire camp and gives to the squad that best exemplifies cheerleading and adds the most spirit to the camp all week. Southern was also the only team to receive a spirit stick at the conclusion of every day at camp. The spirit sticks are presented to the squads showing the most sincere spirit and enthusiasm for each day in attendance, while taking into account attitude during classes, promptness, cooperation, relationships with other squads, leadership, etc.

The Champion Chant Trophy was won by the Ram squad on the final day when all teams competed with a chant they learned during the week. Technical skills, as well as the ability to lead the crowd, are judged to select the winner. The squad was also presented with the Herkie T.E.A.M. Award, given to the group that shows the team work throughout the week. Along with several superior ribbons, the Ram cheerleaders were selected as a top team finalist and received a Stuat Smart Certificate.

"The girls worked really hard in the sun with 95°F+ temperatures that did not break even in the evenings. It is unbelievable that they were able to stay so focused and energized. They are true athletes and deserve every honor bestowed on them," said coach Amy Nemith. "We left Oakland with a group of girls with cheerleading skills and we returned home as one awesome team."

Individually, six cheerleaders were nominated to compete for the All-American Cheerleading Team. Selected by the NCA instructors, those individuals displayed superior technique in one or more of the following areas: jumps, tumbling, stunting, crowd skills and motion technique, leadership, and dance. Those nominated were Andi Bender, Toni Sullivan, Heather Hanline, Emily Nemith, Bethany Savage, and Marlana Beitzel.

The All-Americans Award is the most prestigious individual award in cheerleading today. Participants vying for All-American status were judged on motion technique, jumps, tumbling, spirit and enthusiasm, voice projection, and overall crowd appeal. Selected as All-Americans from the Southern squad were Marlana Beitzel, Andi Bender, Heather Hanline, and Emily Nemith. These individuals are eligible to perform at various NCA special events, including the televised Aloha Bowl in Hawaii and the Outback Bowl in Florida.

The Southern cheerleaders are coached by Wendy Craver, Amy Nemith, and Diane Arnett. The cheerleaders are hopeful that Southern fans support them in upcoming fund-raising efforts so that they may compete at Nationals.

A GIANT WALL of warm Broadford Lake water is created by McHenry resident and Deep Creek Lake Water Sports Club member Dale Carpenter during this past weekend's slalom tournament. Carpenter placed second in the men's 34 mile-per-hour slalom event by successfully negotiating 55.5 buoys. See story for complete results of the event, which drew competitors from as far away as Michigan.

Area Speedway Review

Interstate 79 Speedway

Park Tours and Central Cab presented racing at Interstate 79 Speedway on Friday evening as six drivers visited Victory Lane. Late Model drivers were introduced to the crowd as they stepped off the bus. The Dwarf cars ran a $300-to-win special with John Cogar Sr. the big winner. Other feature winners included Tim Hitt, Jerry Haseleu, Shawn Davis, Doug Thompson, and Tom Simpson.

Nothing is more fitting for a race sponsor than to have the car which they sponsor win the Late Model feature. Park Tours/Central Cab are the sponsors on the side of Nolan Dalton's #D2. Dalton has two cars and decided to have Tim Hitt drive one while he drove the other. Hitt went out and won the heat race and the feature event, never being challenged throughout the evening. Butch McGill chased Hitt during the 25-lap feature but had to settle for a second place finish. Robbie Scott was third followed by Scott Miles, Mark Myers, Duke Pratt, Frank Wilson, Nolan Dalton, Doug Horton, and L.C. Powers. Heats were taken by Hitt and McGill.

Eighteen Dwarf cars started the special event with a red flag coming out for Dave Full who barrel rolled several times but was uninjured. John Cogar Sr. was the winner followed by Terry Hall, Robert Stackpole, Randy Triplett, and Greg Shingleton. M.T. Hall and Terry Hall were heat winners.

Jerry Haseleu led the first 17 circuits of the Semi-Late feature when he and second place Duane Morefor Street Stocks will all be held on Labor Day weekend. Watch for all the info on these races in the next few weeks.

Elkins-Kerens Speedway

This week at the Elkins-Kerens Speedway was the Armstrong Classic in honor of long-time race car owner and sponsor R.H. "Dick" Armstrong.

The night started off with qualifications for the Late Models with local favorite Chuck Harper quickest at 16.218 sec. The four-car dash was then won by Tim Hitt, in one of Nolan Dalton's cars, over Robbie Scott, David Groves and Chuck. The heats were won by Gary Dalton and Mike Hawkins.

Tim Hitt from the pole jumped into an immediate lead and led all 40 laps for the win over Robbie Scott, David Groves, Denny Chamberlain (from 9th) and Gary Dalton. First timers in the pits were Frank Wilson and Mike Benedum. Doug Horton was also back but this time was in Tim Leggett's car which had been driven by Terry McKisic.

In Semi-Lates, Kevin Hamrick from 4th starting spot took the lead on lap two and led the final 19 laps for his second win of the year. Points leader Jerry Haseleu was second followed by Steve Wilmoth, Ken Gould, and Tim Senic. Heats went to Wilmoth and Haseleu.

The Modified feature is big news as Shawn Davis did not win. He was involved in contact with Brent Trimble on lap eight while going for the lead. A flat tire sent him to the pits and a DNF. On the restart land came in contact and Haseleu spun. At 1-79, there is a "gentleman's agreement" and Moreland admitted to touching Haseleu giving the four-time winner his spot back with Moreland going to the tail. Haseleu went on to win ahead of Rick Strickler, Tim Senic, Steve Wilmoth, and Kevin Wolfe. Scott Chenoweth and Carl Sullivan won heats.

Notching his fifth win of '98 was UMP Modified driver, Shawn Davis. Shawn waited until the final laps to take the lead from Vic Vandergrift who came home in second. Louie Krushansky, Cliff Cochran, and Mike Lewis rounded out the top five. Vandergrift and Brent Trimble were heat winners.

In the Pure Stock division, it was Doug Thompson showing the way over Jeff Kesling, Jay Martin, Gary Tonkery, and James Lipscomb. Martin and Kesling also picked up heat wins.

Tom Simpson, subbing for his injured brother, showed that he too could win in the 4-Cylinder class. Chasing Simpson were Hayward Baker, Jeff Pennington, Sonny Crayton, and William Robinson. Crayton and Simpson were heat winners.

DCL Club Hosts Annual Slalom Ski Tournament

Water skiers from as far away as New York and Michigan, and as young as 5 years of age, participated in the annual slalom tournament, hosted by the Deep Creek Lake Water Sports Club, held on the surface of Broadford Lake.

Conditions in the morning hours were ideal, before a light wind picked up in the afternoon, which had some negative effects on skier performance. Tom Smith of Venetia, Pa., navigated a tournament-high 57 buoys in the men's 34 miles-per-hour competition, with Dale Carpenter of McHenry a close second with 55.5 buoys. Jim Powers of Morgantown, W.Va., and Jim Smith of Duncansville, Pa., were tied for third with 50.5.

Andi Goldberg of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Steve Hammond of Bemus Point, N.Y., tied for first place in the 36 mph division with 40 buoys each, while Todd Gibson of Oakland placed second with 38 buoys and his brother Beau was third with 30.5.

Brad Dugan, Mt. Airy, won the boys' division title with 14.5 buoys, followed by Jack Iacaboni, Export, Pa., with 3.5, Aaron Milliken, Greensburg, Pa., with 3, and Willie Platt, Pittsburgh, with 2.

Winning the girls' division was Ashley Platt, Greensburg, Pa., with 8 buoys, followed by Samantha Stilley, Charlestown, W.Va., with 6.

Club officials noted their appreciation to the staff of Broadford Park, Bill's Marina, Jim and Tracy Powers, and all of the volunteers for helping make the tournament a success.

Miller, Murphy Record Outlaw Racing Victories

Local cart racers Jason Miller and Jeremy Murphy each recorded victories Friday evening at the Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa.

Miller, after winning both of his heat races in the gas and oil class, took the lead at the start of the feature race in that division and never relinquished it, while Murphy, who finished second in both of his heats, also placed second in the feature.

In the alcohol class, Cody Hardesty took an early lead and Murphy worked his way to second place. Murphy seized the lead on lap seven and held off Hardesty, who closed to within 12 inches of Murphy at the finish line, but could get no closer.

The races were qualifiers for this Friday night's 50-lap race at the Outlaw Speedway. Garrett County racers earning starting positions were Murphy, Miller, and Hardesty.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

As September approaches, preparation for hunting season is on the minds of many Garrett County outdoorsmen. And, getting ready is a good bit of the fun. This year may be the year to buy that tree stand and if it is, here are some tips from Ray McIntyre, noted bow hunter and president of Warren and Sweat, tree stand manufacturers.

There are two keys to successful and enjoyable tree-stand hunting. First is placement of the stand to optimize chances of seeing game. The second is choosing the tree stand that best suits a hunter's special needs.

Ray said that often the inexperienced tree-stand hunter makes the purchasing decision based on cost alone. When this happens a fixed position stand is the inevitable choice. And, if the hunter is physically fit and doesn't mind working harder, this is OK. But if the hunter is uneasy about heights or finds it difficult to climb trees in a conventional fashion, this probably isn't the best choice. A climbing stand may be a better choice simply because they tend to be more comfortable, roomy, and easier to use. Vertical step tree stands tend to be extremely stable after installation and make good, low maintenance stands.

Ray added that tree stands work because deer tend not to scan the trees in search of enemies. Most natural predator attacks come from ground level. However, deer can become "tree savvy," and, when this happens, getting a higher position can be an advantage. He also said to choose a tree stand sight where the rising or setting sun will be at your back. Not only will the light patterns make it easier to spot a buck, but the deer's vision will be inhibited when it looks in your direction. It also provides a few extra minutes of evening visibility. Also, set up your tree stand in an area where there are branches, vines, and other foliage to break up your outline. Regarding human scent, Ray says that the greatest enemy of the hunter is ground scent. It can stay around for days, alerting every deer that comes across it. A tree-stand strategy allowing you to hunt in a fresh location every day will greatly improve the chances of taking a trophy buck.

Because of scent, it is a fact that you will probably see the most and biggest deer the first time you hunt a location. Most serious trophy hunters won't sit in the same location for more than one day. Not only does this minimize scent, but keeps them from being "patterned" by the buck they are after.

One last tip: A dominant buck is sure to return to his scrape shortly after a rain to put it back in order.

CD-ROM HUNTING GAME TEACHES HUNTER SAFETY

Hunters and other outdoorsmen can learn hunting and shooting techniques, safety, ethics, and GPS navigation on their home computer with The Hunting Game, a CD-ROM learning adventure from Magellan Systems. The game is an interactive adventure into the hunting and shooting world providing a hands-on approach to hunter education in a manner that's entertaining.

The object of the game is the same as in real lite—bring home the trophy. To accomplish that, it is necessary to follow the rules and be prepared. With unique styles and personalities, "hunting partners" provide tips and other valuable information. The Hunting Game offers five pos-sible hunts (elk, mule deer, turkey, waterfowl, and whitetail deer) and 60 different hunting locations. Actual out-door photography and videotape footage is blended with 3-D computer animation to create "realistic" hunting rang-es. Designed for Windows 95 and DOS Systems with CD-ROM drives, The Hunting Game sells for $39.99 at soft-ware outlets.

CASH FOR BASS

Irwin Jacobs, chairman of Operation Bass, announced the creation of a $3.5 million bass tournament that will pay a minimum of $400,000 to the winner and another possible $600,000 in sponsor incentives. Operation Bass will conduct the tournament and won't announce where the tourney will be held until right before the event. The field will be limited to 400 anglers. And there is a catch. To qualify, you have to own a Ranger bass boat and it must have been purchased new from an authorized Ranger dealer. As we hear more about this, we will pass information along.

Friendsville Bow Hunter Featured In Nat'l. Magazine

The October/November issue of Bowhunter anagazine salutes bowhunting newcomers in "Never Too Young or Old," a special section highlighting four stories of successful introduction to the bow and arrow.

"Success At Last" features Friendsville bowman Emil Bruner, and readers will learn the secret of how Bruner took his first deer, the first deer taken by a member of his family in over 60 years. This October/November issue of Bowhunter magazine will go on sale August 25 in supermarkets, bookstores, and outdoor shops nationwide.

For over 25 years, Bowhunter has provided in-depth, technical advice for hunting and shooting, as well as interviews, humor, nostalgia, and adventure stories. It also focuses on hunters' rights, safety issues, and the respectful treatment of wildlife.

Friday night through August at 1-79 Speedway. Coming Friday and Saturday, September, 4 and 5, will be "an old tradition continuing at a new location." The Little Hillbilly 50/Mark Balzano Memorial for STARS Late Models along with the 9th annual Outhouse 40 for steel block Late Models, the 8th Backyard 30 for UMP Mods, and the sixth Moonshine 20 points leader Dave Defibaugh took the lead and led the final lape to win over Trimble, Vic Vandergrift, Jerry Teter and Cliff Cochran. Heats went to Davis and Trimble.

Jeff Pennington increased his 4-Cylinder points lead over Tom Simpson with his seventh win of the season. Simpson was second with Sonny Creighton, William Robinson, and Eddie "Sisler third through fifth. Heats went to Pennington and Terry Conrad.

The Pure Stock feature started with first timer Jeff Kesling, by virtue of his first heat win, leading the field to the green. Outside polesitter Mike Simpson jumped out to the lead and led the first three lape until fourth starting Kevin Keene passed and led the final 12 laps for his first win of the year. Kevin was followed across the line by Dave Riggs, John Maxwell, Shane Quattro, and Mark "Meatball" Spicer. Heats went to Kesling, Simpson, and Riggs.

This Saturday is regular racing with gates opening at 5 p.m. and racing at 7 p.m.

State Record Among Catches In Deep Creek

The winners of the Garrett County Fishing Contest sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce for the week ending August 9 included a state record for bluegill.

Eight-year-oid Sarah Brenneman of Oakland reeled in a 13-inch bluegill from the Sky Valley area of Deep Creek Lake that weighed 3 pounds, 7 ounces to shatter the previous state bluegill record, set in 1986, by 7 ounces. (See photo on front page.)

Other weekly winners were:

Yellow perch, 1 lb. 4 ozs., 13½ inches, caught by Michael Hollman, Eldersburg.

Smallmouth bass, 1 lb. 13 ozs., 16 inches, caught by Emily Cullather, Rockville.

Brown trout, 1 lb. 15 ozs., 17½ inches, caught by Donna Burke, Damascus.

Largemouth bass, 5 lbs. 1 oz., 21 inches, caught by Rick Shephard, Fairmont, W.Va.

Chain pickerel, 2 lbs. 2 ozs., 21½ inches, caught by Garrett DeVore, Frostburg.

Walleye, 6 lbs. 12 ozs., 26½ inches, caught by Rodney Lipscomb, Grantsville.

Weekly winners are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers must bring their catches to Johnny's Bait House, Rt. 219, south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

Drill-less Dentistry

New drill-less technology gently sprays away decay

YANT KOCH McLUCKIE

Dental Health Group

301-334-2225

There is a new dental instrument out called the KCP. Is it really a painless replacement for the drill? The term "painless" is probably an overestatement. However, the KCP™ Kinetic Cavity Preparation system can often be used without anesthesia. And though it doesn't replace the drill completely, it does provide an alternative way to prepare many teeth for fillings. It is especially beneficial in the treatment of children and in the care of patients whose medical conditions restrict the use of anesthesia.

How does it work?

Minute particles, almost too small to be seen with the naked eye, are carried to the tooth by a stream of air, gently and precisely spraying away decay. Think of it as a microscopically precise miniature sandblaster. There is little or no vibration and no whining sound.

Is it safe?

Absolutely. The particles used are alpha alumina, a pure, biocompatible food grade substance long used in medicine and food. Only a tiny amount is actually used in each procedure and most of it is removed by an evacuation system. Laboratory tests show that patients would have to undergo about 28 typical 20-30 second KCP procedures in order to inhale enough alpha alumina to equal the weight of one grain of table salt.

Is every patient treated with the KCP?

No. The drill is still needed to prepare teeth for crowns, remove silver-colored fillings and perform a number of other important procedures. And the KCP system is not used to treat soft tissue such as the gums. When the procedure does call for the KCP, it may be used in combination with other instruments such as the drill or the dental laser.

How can I learn more about the KCP?

If you call our office at 301-334-2225, we'll be happy to answer your questions.

Keylock

Eric Bowser, of 2108 Legeer Road, Grantsville, has opened Keylock professional locksmithing services. Bowser operates a mobile unit, and offers 24-hour emergency service. Among his other services are key origination and duplication, lock sales and installation, security product sales and installation, masterkey systems, access control systems, electronic locks (stand alone systems), key control systems, safe sales (special orders), security consultant, automotive commercial and residential locksmithing services, high security locks, as well as professional drill bit sharpening.

Bowser holds diplomas from Foley Belsaw Institute, but is mostly self taught. The locksmith believes that honesty and the desire to give his customers the respect and service they deserve at reasonable prices are most important. He will special order products his customers need, and research a customer's situation to come up with an innovative security solution.

In the future, Bowser hopes to expand to a walk-in shop and hire at least three employees and include safe and security container service and repair and possibly CCTV and alarm installation among his services.

For fast or emergency service, Keylock can be reached by calling 301-245-8888 or 301-245-4409.

County To Benefit From Funds For "Welfare To Work"

Garrett County will benefit from federal Welfare to Work funds to be funneled into the region through the Western Maryland Consortium. The total of federal funds allocated to Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties is $633,142.

The U.S. Department of Labor recently awarded $14.9 million in federal funds to support Welfare to Work programs administered by the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation's (DLLR) Division of Employment and Training.

"These funds will enable us to further help the hardest-to-employ welfare recipients to get the skills, work experience and resources they need to find and maintain good jobs," said John P. O'Connor, Acting Secretary of DLLR. "We have helped thousands of Marylanders gain access to training programs, educational opportunities and employment experiences through the programs we provide on a daily basis in our local offices across the State," he stated.

Maryland's $14.9 million grant is a part of a total $2.2 billion for the 50 states over a two-year period that will fund local programs to help long-term welfare recipients enter the world of work. One of seven states announced by President Bill Clinton and U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) Secretary Alexis M. Herman, Maryland's grant will help residents to overcome obstacles that would prevent them from keeping a job, such as affordable child care and a lack of transportation.

Maryland submitted a state plan to the U.S. DOL which defined how the funds would be distributed and developed. DLLR and local agencies will provide comprehensive and high caliber employment activities, workforce development services, and training programs. Since Welfare to Work has impacted the entire workforce, Maryland's one stop Career Centers will help to provide many of the services to customers.

Employers in the state who support the programs by hiring and training individuals will be able to access tax credit programs.

In addition to the $14.9 million, a Maryland partnership will generate another $7.4 million to enhance the grant. The partnership is comprised of state and lo-cal government, service delivery areas, aud private industry councils.

The success of the partnership's endeavors will be measured by achieving successful placements in unsubsidized employment; by maintaining employment after 30, 90, and 180 days; by increasing wage earnings; by continuing employment related training activities; by achieving a high level of employer satisfaction; and by tracking cost per participant.

DLLR's Division of Employment Training will administer the funds statewide. For more information about the grant and training programs provided by DLLR, persons may call 410-767-2800.

Parent Forum Slated At GCC

The Garrett County Child Care Administration will hold a parent forum on Thursday, Aug. 20, 7 p.m. at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Parents and expectant parents who are interested in learning how to locate and choose quality child care are invited to attend.

For more information, persons may call Dolores Harmon at 301-791-4585.

Concert Two, Aug. 15

Gran Duo for Violin and Doublebass, Bottesinni (Friedman and Rick Ostrovsky); String Quartet No. 2 in D Major, Borodin; Piano Trio in a minor, Op. 50, Tchaikovsky.

Concert Three, Aug. 21

The Four Seasons, Op. 8, No. 1-4, Vivaldi (Friedman, violin; Jesse Levine, guest conductor); "Ruhe sanft, mein holdes Leben," from Zaide; and "Non mi dir bel idol mio, from Don Giovanni" — both Mozart (Kaori Sato, soprano); Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Op. 36, Beethoven.

Concert Four, Aug. 22

Concerto for Viola in G Major, Telemann (Levine, viola); Concerto for Violin, Cello, and Piano in C Major, Op. 56, Beethoven; Meditation and Finale, Corwell (Neal Corwell, euphonium; Levine, guest conductor); Symphony No. 1 in D Major, "Classical," Op. 25, Prokofiev.

The Symphony at Deep Creek is sponsored by Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty and the Sincell Publishing Company Inc., as well as by Friends of the Symphony. All GLAF programs are funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and the Garrett County Arts Council.

Because the Garrett County Agriculture Fair is currently underway, persons should be aware of possible traffic congestion this Friday and Saturday on Rt. 219 and Mosser Road. Those coming from the southern part of the county might wish to travel Rt. 495 to Rock Lodge Road to Mosser. Those traveling from the north might wish to take a left onto Bumble Bee Road off Rt. 219 near Keller Road, and travel to the college grounds from the northeast.

Persons who do plan to take the regular route should allow for possible delays.

WOW HELPS A FRIEND - Doug Gallca, Avilton, was seriously injured in a hunting accident last December. The Northern Middle School student has spent many months since then in physical therapy and in doctors' offices. Woodmen of World Ranger Unit 128, of which Doug is a member, decided to help the young man with some of the expenses incurred as a result of his injuries. Lindsay Wilhelm, president of Unit 128, was pictured as she presented a check to Doug.

FAIRNESS ELECT IT!

Fairness is not an abstract concept. It's not something that springs into being by itself. It's not even something that results from good intentions. It has to be worked at. It takes honesty and courage and a lot of hard learning and skill. Fairness is doing the right thing for the child in a custody case, making the correct decision in a complex civil case and handling criminal cases in a manner that can withstand an appeal that might result in injustice. Fairness is treating everyone as equal before the law regardless of social standing, wealth or political power. Fairness is honesty. It is directly proportional to competence. Fairness is the first casualty of sloppy justice. I pledge fairness from the Garrett County Circuit Court bench. If you would like to know more, call me or visit my mobile campaign headquarters at the fair.

China's Mine Pollution Critical; Area Reclamation Sites Visited

by Mary Shacell McEwen

After 600 years of mining in China, and with virtually no reclamation efforts, the pollution caused by all types of mining has become a critical problem in that country. The officials there decided to look for help, and they found their way to Garrett County two weeks ago to view the state-of-the-art reclamation projects in progress on the mountaintop and in neighboring West Virginia.

The group was led to various mining and reclamation sites by Jerry Duckett, the manager of technical services for Buffalo Coal. Duckett is well-rehearsed in this sort of thing, as he gave tours to a group of Indonesians in June, and a team from Africa is coming this month. All of these visitors are interested in how well the land can be reclaimed after mining takes place.

"In China, we are working hard to create reclamation laws," said Liang Feng Shu, senior engineer and deputy director of China's mining and geology society. His words were translated for Duckett by Peter Cheng Wei of San Jose, Calif. "China is not doing anything at all with abandoned mines. We are only now looking at active projects," he said.

Shu is head of all mining operations in the Asian country — not just coal, but all surface and underground activity. He said that the water quality of the land is on the decline, and that he and his colleagues are highly concerned about spreading pollution.

"We believe polluting other water sources is the worst," he said. Duckett said the United States works to make sure that clean water will be abundant for future generations, but Shu said his government is worried about people living now. "Our problem is very serious," he said.

Shu was recently appointed to China's Provincial Congress, filling an influential position in that country's government. The 20 people traveling with him to Garrett County are also influential leaders, all in charge of workers numbering anywhere from 300 to several thousand. Also along for the tour was Dr. Richard O. Miller, international projects director for the U.S. Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, and John Kairsey, representing the Bureau of Mines.

The entourage first traveled to the Thomas, W.Va., wetlands, where Buffalo Coal is working to strip out a deep mine. A stream, Pendleton Run, had apparently fallen into the mine about 15 years ago. The stream had been a feeder to the Blackwater Falls river, and its absence was noticeable, Duckett said. The company then was awarded the first "404 permit" in the country, which allowed them to mine a wetland. They proceeded to dig a new channel for the stream, putting it back on track, and then initiated the deep mine work now in progress.

He explained that the area mining process involves basically a "slicing" technique: The land is sliced, the coal is removed, and the land is put back. The area where the Chinese visitors stood was alive with Canada geese and other waterfowl that have "tripled in number," Duckett said, since the wetlands had been replaced. What began as a 22-acre wetland will eventually be spread across about 30 acres. The ground was sparse at the place of the discussion, but trees and water sites surrounded the scene.

"We have nothing like this," Shu said. He reported that in his province alone, about one million miners produce 340 million tons of coal each year, added to the country's yearly production of 1.4 billion tons. The fuel is exported to 20 countries, he said.

The guests had numerous questions as to how such a project is funded, and Duckett tried to explain the complex payment/fee system. The United States government requires reclamation, so the landowning company (in this case, Western Pennsylvania of W.Va.) is responsible for reclamation if the land is mined. The mining company is Buffalo Coal's, so that company must abide by the requirements set by both Western Pocahontas as owner, and by the government. Various payment percentages, taxes, and fees were also discussed, although the translation process became laborad. The subject was difficult for the visitors to understand, and the differences between a communistic governed people and those of a capitalist nation created somewhat of a communication stumbling block.

The guests stood for some time as Duckett answered their many queries. A jovial atmosphere than led to a long picture-taking session, with the Americans present being politely requested to pose in numerous photos with the guests.

The next stop was in Wilson, an area in the southern tip of Garrett County, where Duckett led the group atop what he said is "affectionately called the 'bug bed.'" The area was once the location of a coal tipple, approximately 30 years ago, and the land was barren, Duckett said.

"Nothing grew. Everything was brown and burned out," he told them. Now the location is green, covered with grasses and bushes, and tall cattails. Two Frostburg State University professors, Dr. William Vail and Dr. Robert Kirby, patented a method to clean the water, and this process has been in effect for the past five years with significant positive results.

Duckett explained that the coal tipple and the activity around it had caused contamination of the water, filling it with iron pyrite, which, combined with the air, creates acid mine drainage. The water was full of manganese and iron, making it undrinkable and no good for any household use. He said the company channeled the bad water into one location and created a small wetland, 10 meters wide and three meters deep. The wetland was covered with gravel, with open plastic tubes placed in three locations. Microbes, the "bugs," were fed into the tube. They react to the water in a way that dissipates the manganese and iron, bringing the water from an acid/alkaline level of 2ph (high acidity) to 7ph, which Duckett said is nearly drinkable water.

The microbes were introduced to the water only once. They have worked continuously for five years, with three to 15 gallons of water going through the bed every minute.

"The bugs are on the job, 24 and seven," Duckett said. "They never stop working." The cost of creating the bug bed was about $45,000, and no further costs have been incurred. He said a worker checks on the bed from time to time, but no other manpower has been needed. He reported that the bed is very safe, and has remained undisturbed by violent rains and frigid winters.

"This bed saves us anywhere from $15,000 to $18,000 annually," Duckett told the guests, who appeared to be impressed by the project. It is one of only four similar beds in the country.

The assembly then moved on to the Mettiki Mine, where they were met by George Tichnell, the general manager of the mine; James Hinebaugh, the county's economic development office director; David Moe, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce; and Mike Dean of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Hinebaugh and Moe handed out pins, pens, and vacation guides to the Chinese officials, and welcomed them to the area.

Duckett told the visitors about Mettiki's unique water quality system, in which the water used for the coal mining process is purified and used to raise trout. Dean, a manager with DNR, then accompanied the officials out on the floating walkways where 43,000 trout can be viewed. The fish are organized by size, from five-inch youngsters to full-grown 3-year-olds. None is sold on the market, Dean said. They are instead released in the spring months into local rivers, solely for fishing.

Dean said the water is perfect for raising trout because the temperature stays constant all year long. This is a result of the purification process at the mine. Because trout are sensitive to temperature and water quality, the mine officials can know that the purification process is working well as long as the fish thrive.

After the Mettiki visit, the Chinese officials boarded their vans again and headed to Morgantown, W.Va. They went back to their home a few days later, toting volumes of information and lots of fish to be developed. The country's government is depending on them to now create and establish mine reclamation laws. They will take home what they learned in the Maryland and West Virginia mountains, and will help create, on the other side of the world, a better place.

STANDING ON THE "BUG BED" — The visiting Chinese officials learned a different definition of a bed bug when they toured various local mine reclamation sites two weeks ago. Duckett, pictured seventh from the left, led the guests on a three-legged journey and explained in detail, through a Chinese-English translator, how Western Maryland and West Virginia have stayed on the cutting edge of land reclamation. The group is pictured at the Wilson microbe wetland bed, known as a "bug bed," where acid mine drainage is being treated through a pyrolusite process patented by two Frostburg biologists. See story.

AN EASY CATCH — Chinese biologists and mining engineers, all leaders of thousands in their own country, were shown up close the benefits of the mine water purification process at the Mettiki coal mine. Mike Dean, pictured with the net, is a manager with the Department of Natural Resources, and he told the guests how the water is cleaned and the trout are raised in the purified product. About 43,000 trout can be observed from the floating walkway, and the larger ones nearly hop out of the water at the sight of a possible feeding source. They are raised solely for the stocking of Garrett County streams and rivers, Dean said.

SNAKE EYES

Rated R - Running time: 1:38

In his first film outing since Mission: Impossible (1996), writer-director Brian DePalma has crafted a suspenseful, thrilling drama in Snake Eyes, and with cast members like Nicholas Cage and Gary Sinise, it would be hard to fail. DePalma's trademark style is obvious throughout, with his innovative camera angles and regular use of slow motion, not to mention a complex story (adapted for the screen by David Koepp) that keeps us guessing.

Rick Santoro (Cage) is the hotshot of Atlantic City. At least he thinks he is. He's a plainclothes cop who knows every important person in town, especially the bookies. He's a dedicated gambler, and tonight he's psyched up because his favorite boxer, heavyweight champ Lincoln Tyler (Stan Shaw) is fighting at his favorite casino. And to make the evening even better, his best friend, Major Kevin Dunne (Sinise), is there too. Dunne is a decorated veteran who now works in the government's higher echelons, and he's on hand to protect the U.S. secretary of defense, who is also watching the fight.

But Rick's fight night goes from bad to worse. First he watches in horror as Tyler goes down for the count, and then a shot rings out and the secretary is killed while Dunne is up in the stands questioning a suspicious character. Soon the killer is down and the arena is evacuated. Rick takes charge, but the more he investigates, and remembers, the stranger everything seems. Through a fascinating series of flashbacks shown through the eyes of several different witnesses, we learn the many strange aspects of the incident: A beautiful woman in a blonde wig is shot and then disappears. An old drunk in the front row appears to have a tiny receiver in his ear. And the champ, supposedly knocked out, seems wide awake during the shooting. Though the assassin is reported to be a lunatic from the Middle East who acted alone, Rick senses a conspiracy.

Telling much more would give away some of the more interesting elements of the mystery, but let's just say that as the story unfolds and we think we're figuring it out, we only become more confused.

The only flaw is in the ending. When the complex plot is finally resolved, there is a sense of sloppiness to the story. Things don't fit together quite as neatly as they could, and should, but this doesn't take away from the film's qualities in the first two thirds. The final denouement is clever and true to Rick's character.

Snake Eyes is a fun film, very entertaining in the first half hour, not quite as good in the last fifteen minutes, but generally well worth seeing. Cage and Sinise both give fine performances, as does Carla Gugino as the mystery victim and Shaw as the beleaguered champ. DePalma, a director who chooses his projects carefully, has scored again. ★★★★

HALLOWEEN H20: TWENTY YEARS LATER

Jamie Lee Curtis made her film debut in John Carpenter's "classic" slasher film, Halloween (1978), and also appeared in the first sequel, Halloween II (1981). The second film took up right where the first one left off; in fact, it was just a continuation of that same Hallowean night in '78. Curtis played Laurie Strode, a 17-year-old babysitter caught in the path of homicidal maniac Michael Myers, who had spent 15 years in an asylum after butchering his big sister. In Halloween II we found out that Laurie was actually his little sister, and he was planning to give her the same treatment. Talk about sibling rivalry.

The subsequent sequels, through Halloween 6 (1995) did not feature Curtis, and are generally thought of as being sub-par continuations of Michael's story. He would lumber around in his featureless mask, and since he always attacked on Halloween night, would usually go unnoticed by everyone but his victims. It should be noted that Michael has been killed over and over again in numerous ways, but he has an irritating habit of not staying dead.

So now we're up to the present. It's 20 years later, Laurie (Curtis) has faked her own death, changed her name to Keri Tate, married, had a son, divorced, and become headmistress of a private school in northern California. Her son John (Josh Hartnatt), who is a student at the school, has recently celebrated his 17th birthday. The entire student body leaves on its annual fall trip to Yosamite, but John stays behind, preferring to spend Hallowaen making out with his girlfriend Molly (Michelle Williams). So there is almost no one at the school except John, Molly, Keri, her boyfriend Will (Adam Arkin), who is the school counselor, and Ronny (LL Cool J), the security guard. And that's when that pesky Michael shows up.

Slasher movies are definitely not what they used to be. Back when I was a teenager, they were almost like porno movies gone bad. Teenagers were usually having sex when they were attacked by the local psycho, and one almost always saw a pair of 18-year-old breasts being split in twain by a well-placed butcher knife. But, alas, those days are over. In the politically correct '90s, the sex and gore are kept to a minimum. Boooooring.

To tell the truth, I never cared much for even the first two Halloween movies, and though this film certainly has better acting, it is still a bland story. The plot of this new incarnation, by Robert Zappia and Matt Greenberg, is just barely more interesting than Carpenter's story of 1978. Director Stave Miner, who has several TV series and a couple of Friday The 13th movies to his credit, stuck to the same old premise of a Frankenstein-like Michael (played wordlessly by stuntman Chris Durand) swaggering around, killing and not dying. But Curtis's character shows a little more depth, and certainly more wrinkles, having lived for 20 years with her tarrible memories recurring every time pumpkin season arrives.

The use of "jump" music is way overdone in this film, with a powerful chord every time someone starts to open a door. People are always appearing out of nowhere, and Kari seems to have as much ability to rise from the dead as Michael. Maybe it runs in the family. Nevertheless, if you're a Halloween fan, you're probably over 30, and this film will suit you--you need your sleep. ★★★

Puzzley Run Folk Days Set At Bietschehof

Puzzley Run Folk Days, a three-day event celebrating Appalachian heritage, is scheduled for Aug. 21-23 at Puzzley Run Folklife Center, located at Bietschehof Farm, Grantsville.

Re-creating aspects of the mountain farm life in the mid-1800s, the Puzzley Run festival will offer music, food, animals, games, and home and artisan crafts. Life in the 19th century will be depicted by members of Will's Mountain Renegade Living History Club Inc., a group of re-enactors from the Cumberland area who will allow visitors to Puzzley Run to peruse their camp sites and listen to their tales and adventures.

Music by Harping for Harmony's John Lozier will offer entertainment and education to his listeners. Lozier, whose group is headquartered in Morgantown, W.Va., will encourage "hands-on" experience for would-be harp players and harp builders. Blue grass and gospel music will also be performed throughout the festival weekend.

Hayrides and pony rides are on the agenda for the young and the less young. And everyone is invited to meet and greet the ancient and unusual breeds of farm animals at the petting zoo. There will also be children's games based on traditional pastimes. Entertainment for adults will also be offered in the form of firearms contests of skill.

Pioneer crafts will be demonstrated by artisans who will be making goat milk soap, candles, tin items, and marbled paper. The artisans will also offer their crafts for sale.

Snacks, refreshments, and homebaked goods will be available each day. The cost of admission will be $4 for adults, $1 for children ages 6-12, and there will be no charge for children under 6.

Puzzley Run Folklife Center, a nonprofit organization, is located at Bietschehof Farm on Hetrick Road, off Zehner Road, which intersects with Route 40 west of Grantsville. For information, persons may call 301-895-3742.

Letters

accident quite a bit over the weekend. I thought about the times that I have fallen asleep at the wheel and how my reasons for doing so were quite different from this particular accident. What precipitated this accident was that this young man had just gotten off from his second job. He had put in a full shift at one job, gotten off at midnight, and then gone to his second job to work until the early hours of the morning. Like other Garrett Countians, this young man finds himself having to work two jobs in order to earn a living wage. As I thought about the numbers of people that are in similar situations all across America, I was struck with the enormity of such a condition.

As a nation, how have we found ourselves providing jobs that don't afford workers with wages sufficient to furnish them with their basic necessities? Those of us fortunate to have employment that affords us this luxury, can we imagine what it might be like to wear that many more hats in order to cover ourselves on a monthly basis? Why is it that we have failed to recognize this growing trend in reduced wages and reduced hours of employment?

This is an election year, locally and nationally. As we ponder all of the promises being made by individuals hoping to secure our votes, let us stop and consider what kind of work these persons are offering our communities. As we anticipate yet another fast-food, convenience store, let us recall that some of the employees in this establishment might be adding that new job to an already existing job. The time these individuals will spend doing two jobs is time away from their families, possibly their school-age children who might need their attention in order to improve their reading skills. Big conglomerate chains that are just itching to gain a foothold in Garrett County will not only drive the small independent stores out of business, they too will not provide living wages or full-time work for their employees. In addition, they will not provide any new work; they will simply replace existing minimum wage careers.

To those individuals who find themselves having to manage two, and sometimes three, jobs, I take my hat off to you. I sympathize with your dilemma and urge you to speak out on behalf of yourselves and others in similar situations. Raise your concerns to these individuals seeking your ballot. And please, drive safely home to your families.

Peace,
Gloria Salazar

ELECT JON THAYER

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

REPUBLICAN DISTRICT ONE

"Looking To The Future"

Auth. Philip Rodeheaver, Treasurer

THE COMMITTEE TO ELECT

ROBERT E. WATSON

JUDGE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY

P O BOX 390 OAKLAND, MD. 21550

Committee Treasurer Dave Burdock (l) and Chairman Terry Helbig (r) display a Watson campaign sign. The signs are available at Bob's office at 300 E. Alder Street, Oakland, or at his mobile campaign headquarters at the Fair directly across from the Lions Club pavilion.

COMMITTEE FORMED TO SUPPORT BOB WATSON

A group of citizens from all areas of Garrett County has formed an independently financed bi-partisan Campaign Committee to support the candidacy of Robert E. Watson for Judge of the Circuit Court.

The Committee to Elect Robert E. Watson (CAREW) is Chaired by Terry Helbig, President of Gonder Insurance Agency. A former member of the Oakland Town Council, Helbig is secretary of the Penn Mar Baseball League and manages the Oakland team and is involved in many community activities, as is the Committee's Treasurer David A. Burdock, a member of the Kitzmiller Lions Club, a former member of the Hospital Board and Owner of Burdock's Funeral Home of Kitzmiller.

The committee was registered in Annapolis on July 8, 1998. Its earliest members include Jim Evans of Oakland; Brian and Rebecca Brenneman of Grantsville; Harold Upole of Mtn. Lake Park; Kurt and Marilyn Glotfelty of the Kempton area; Bruce Opel of Long Stretch; Asa McCain of Oakland; John Hinebaugh of Sang Run; Charles Tressler of Loch Lynn; Marshall and Cindy Stacy of Swanton; Paula Redinger of Oakland; Bill and Kathy Paugh of Kitzmiller; Lewi Marks of Mtn. Lake Park; Ed and Elaine Bateman of the Fingerboard Road area; Kenny Reah of Grantsville; Gary and Helen Mayfield of Swanton; Al Dillsworth of Shady Dell; Arlene Murray of Swanton; Bonnie Evans of Oakland; Alvin and Marge Lee of Kurt's Korner; Ron Doerr of Accident; Velma Lille of Gorman; Mac MacNichol of Red House; James and Wilma Wilburn of Grantsville; Howard Bailie of Deep Creek Lake; Mike and Helen Stephens of Oakland; Frank Farano of Deep Creek Lake, and Elaine Paugh of Oakland. The membership is now more than 100 and growing.

"The response to this effort has been amazing," said Terry Helbig Monday. "I have never actively endorsed a candidate before and I would not do this for anybody but Bob Watson. But I am familiar with his honesty, legal skills and knowledge and know how he has helped the Town of Oakland through many crises, and I have a lot of respect for him. I think he would make a very good Circuit Court Judge."

Helbig called for anyone who supports Bob Watson to join the committee, inviting them to call him, Dave Burdock or Rita Watson. "Of course, Bob is always available to answer any questions about himself or explain his candidacy. You can call him anytime at 301-334-2344 or 301-387-4786." Helbig also noted that Watson has his own campaign separate from the activities of the committee and that the committee is entirely financed without any contribution from Watson.

"I have never done anything like this before either," said Dave Burdock. "But, I have known Bob for years and was impressed with what he has done for the county. I have known his wife Rita, who is from Shallmar, almost her whole life and I can say that they are happily married and have a wholesome family life. I am very confident. Almost everyone I have spoken to has positive things to say about Bob."

JOIN THE TEAM

Just fill out the coupon below and mail it to us at P.O. Box 390, Oakland, Maryland 21550. We are planning an active campaign and if you would like to help financially we would very much appreciate that as well. Yard signs are available at Bob's office. And thanks.

Dear Terry and Dave,
I would like to add my name to the committee and endorse Bob Watson.

• BLOOD BROTHERS PERFORMED - The area premiere of the international award-winning musical Blood Brothers by Will Russell is entering its final performance week at the Cumberland Theatre. It is the story of twins separated at birth, raised in differing circumstances, and facing an intertwined fate. Performances are scheduled Wednesday through Sunday through August 23. For reservations, persons may call 301-759-4980. The Cumberland Theatre is located at 101-103 North Johnson Street. The theater's next presentation will be Neil Simon's Barefoot in the Park.

Lisa Goodfellow Named Top Sales Associate, '98-99

Lisa Goodfellow, Deep Creek Lake, has been named by the Garrett County Board of Realtors for the second consecutive year as the Distinguished Sales Associate for 1998-99. This achievement is received as a nomination from associate real estate agents through the Garrett County Board of Realtors. Mrs. Goodfellow will be representing the Garrett Board of Realtors as the Distinguished Sales Associate for Garrett County in the Maryland Association of Realtors Convention, to be held in Ocean City this September 9-12.

Goodfellow is currently serving her 12th year in the real estate profession, associated with A&A Realty/Long & Foster since November 1997, formerly known as A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens since 1988.

She graduated with a bachelor of science degree in nursing and worked as a surgical nurse at St. Bernardine's Hospital in San Bernardino, Calif. After transferring to western Maryland, she worked at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland. She transitioned to real estate in 1986.

Recognitions from Long & Foster for the Maryland/DC/PA/DE region include: the 1997 Deep Creek Outstanding Service Award, selection as one of the Top Five Transfer Agents, the Top Fifteen Producers by Units Award, achieving her membership in the L&F's Chairman's Club, and the Realty Alliance National Sales Award in ranking among the top 2% of all residential sales professionals within Realty Alliance. Her past accomplishments included being a member of Better Homes & Gardens' Presidents and Medallion clubs since 1988, and she has been recognized by the Multi-Million Dollar Club, as well as the Summit Club.

Goodfellow is a member of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, the Maryland Association of Realtors, and the National Association of Realtors, and she carries the GRI designation (Graduate of Realtors Institute). She is currently pursuing an associate broker's license.

She and her husband Michael reside at Deep Creek Lake with their son Karlo, who will be attending Virginia Tech University this fall. Michael is the broker of Goodfellow Real Estate Services in Deep Creek Lake and Goodfellow Agency in Frostburg.

"Loving Memories"

Your gentle face and patient smile, with sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart, that loved us well and true. Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.

You are not forgotten, loved one, nor will you ever be; as long as life and memory last, we will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore; as time goes by we miss you more.

Your loving smile, your gentle face; no one can fill your vacant place.

Margraff Seeks Re-Election To Orphans' Court

Wilmer W. Margraff has announced his re-election candidacy for judge of the orphans' court.

Having held the office for 23 years (18 years as chief judge, appointed by the Governor of Maryland), Margraff feels he has filled this position to the fullest and can continue to do so. A lifetime resident of Garrett County, he was raised on a 200-acre farm in Accident. Some of his past accomplishments include: working for the U.S. Government Re-settlement Administration as foreman, a working welder for Baltimore shipyards, a self-employed timber and sawmill businessman (32 years), owner and operator of a Garrett County school bus (60 years to date), one of the founding fathers of the Accident Volunteer Fire Company (14 years as president), an active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church (where he served as councilman), and Accident town councilman (4 terms).

Keeping current with Maryland Codes required for the office, Margraff said his experience, honesty, common sense decision making, and consistency in the job have made him an effective judge and a worthy re-election candidate. "If re-elected, I will serve Garrett County to the best of my potential, as I have done in the past years," the candidate said. "Your vote is greatly appreciated." Remember: Experience and Knowledge make for a job well done. Honesty assures it is done correctly.

Authority, Linda Margraff, treasurer

Benefit Yard Sale Slated By Alpha Alpha

• Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International is planning a yard sale to support its scholarship program and community projects. Delta Kappa Gamma is the largest organization of women educators in the world.

• The sale will be held five miles north of Oakland along U.S. Route 219 at the yellow and brown cinder block building across the highway from the Dental Health Group offices. Sale day is Saturday, Sept. 5, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sold will be special-use clothing (hunting, fishing, skiing, etc.), children's clothing in excellent condition, toys, children's furniture, small appliances, antiques, crafts, homemade baked goods, and many other items.

The chair, Jeanne Whitehair, and her committee (Dr. Amy Harman, Pat Foley, Linda Buckel, and Joanne Whetzel, and others), request the support of the community for this activity. For more information, persons may contact Jeanne Whitehair at 304-735-5145.

Southern High Open House Set For August 27

An open house has been scheduled at Southern High School for incoming ninth grade students and students in other grades who are new to the school. The event will be held Thursday, Aug. 27, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Following a brief orientation in the cafeteria, students will be given an opportunity to locate their various classrooms, meet with some of their teachers, and try out their locker combination locks.

"This will be a great opportunity for students and their parents to become acquainted with the school and our staff, and to learn about high school expectations," stated Lynn Bell, principal.

Victory Gardens Sprout In County

AmeriCorps members at the Garrett County Health Department are well into another Victory Garden season. In its fourth year, the Victory Garden program has served over 900 Garrett County residents.

The gardens are provided to families or groups of five or more who do not have either the financial or physical resources to plant a garden. AmeriCorps members assist program participants with tiling, planting, and maintaining the gardens. The ultimate goal is to increase the participants' consumption of fresh produce at a lower cost during the garden season, and to teach the participants the skills necessary to sustain their gardens, an AmeriCorps spokesman explained.

This year there are 22 Victory Gardens around the county, serving over 300 residents, including children, adults, senior citizens, and physically challenged citizens. Some of the gardens are at meeting places and group homes, including nursing homes, youth centers, senior centers, and homes for developmentally disabled adults.

"The garden gives my clients a new outlook on life. They can see things growing daily and need to put forth time and effort so they will continue to grow," said a supervisor at one of the group homes. Another participant said, "This has really been a learning experience for me. I appreciate all the hard work that has been done for us, and it will be a great benefit to our family."

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW? - It may be growing with a little help from AmeriCorps members. Each year AmeriCorps workers at the Garrett County Health Department help county residents get the ground tilled and seeds planted for family Victory Gardens. In the photo above is AmeriCorps worker Steve Folk as he helped Shirley Fike get her plants in the soil. Below is a photo of Connell Chaney admiring the fine growth of his crops.

Volunteers play a big part in this program, making it possible for AmeriCorps to provide better service to larger numbers of people. This year approximately 1,300 county students raised plants for the gardens. "Classrooms were transformed into mini-greenhouses to benefit the Victory Garden project," the group spokesman said.

Student volunteers helped AmeriCorps members plant the gardens. Participants included students from Grantsville, Broad Ford, Dennett Road, and Crellin elementary schools, Bloomington School, Swan Meadow, Oakland Head Start, and the VoAg and Special Education classes at Southern High School.

AmeriCorps also received financial and technical assistance from groups and individuals in the county. Among those helping were Jim Simms of the Garrett County Extension Office, Pleasant Valley Greenhouse, Appalachian Crossroads, Grantsville Senior Center, the Mountain Laurel Garden Club, Truesdale Senior Home, and Emmanuel Miller.

"We really appreciated everyone's help. We could not have done the job without it," the spokesman concluded.

AmeriCorps is a national service program that provides thousands of Americans of all ages and backgrounds with education awards in exchange for a year or two of community service. For more information about AmeriCorps or the Victory Garden project, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-8122.

Farming In Maryland.....

Grantsville Ag Service To Hold Meeting

"Southern States: Let's Grow Together," the theme of this year's Grantsville Ag Service annual membership meeting, reflects the regional co-op's "continuing dedication to improving farm inputs and services," said Carroll Gilbert, the cooperative's director of member relations.

Election of local board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee (FHAC) members will be important features of the annual membership meeting to be held Tuesday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m., in the Grantsville fire hall, Grantsville.

Board nominees are Jeff McClintock, Charles McKensie, Reed Miner and Charles Powell.

The FHAC slate will consist of appointments to be announced at the meeting.

Nominees for delegates to District E election meeting later in the year will be taken from the floor.

A taped report from Wayne A. Boutwell, Southern States' president and chief executive officer, will discuss the co-op's supply and marketing operations for the last fiscal year.

Local operating statements and services provided to the agricultural community will be discussed. Local FHAC and board members completing terms will be recognized.

Southern States Cooperative, headquartered in Richmond, Va., operates in six states. The cooperative processes or manufactures and distributes feed, seeds, fertilizers, petroleum products and a wide range of farm supplies and lawn and garden products in West Virginia, North Carolina, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Kentucky. It has grain marketing facilities in five of these states. The cooperative's membership totaled about 195,000.

many activities taking place, and that she is looking forward to entering the State Farm Queen Contest and hopes to do a good job of representing Garrett County at the Maryland State Fair.

Jennifer's largest outdoor responsibility on the farm is caring for her 4-H project animals. Caring for her fair animals includes feeding, bathing, grooming, and vaccinating them. She also helps keep stalls cleaned and cleans the other areas of the barns.

One of her other major outdoor responsibilities is planting and caring for the family garden, which is shared with two families. Gardening is one of Jennifer's favorite hobbies, and this summer she planted around 100 tomato plants, green peppers, hot peppers, pumpkins, broccoli, cauliflower, zucchini, cucumbers and cabbage. Other outdoor responsibilities include mowing grass, caring for flower beds, and general yard work.

Jennifer's home responsibilities are cleaning, doing laundry, babysitting her cousins, canning, baking, and cooking. Her two favorite household chores happen to be her mother's least favorite, so she does a lot of cooking and baking. She often makes dinner and loves to bake pies and desserts.

A 1997 Southern High School graduate, Jennifer just completed her first year at the University of Maryland at College Park this past spring. This fall she will enter her second year as an animal science/pre-veterinarian major.

Jennifer's agricultural activities are a very important part of her life. She is a 12-year member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, where she has held many offices including secretary, reporter, junior leader, vice president, and president. For the past 11 years she has exhibited animals at the Garrett County Fair. She has shown market lambs, breeding sheep, market hogs, veal, and steers.

She is also a member and past president of the Oakland FFA Chapter. She has served as a youth member of the Garrett County Livestock Association, representing both 4-H and FFA youth. She is also a member of the University of Maryland's collegiate 4-H program, animal husbandry club, and pre veterinarian club.

Her school activities during high school included FFA, marching band, and National Honor Society. She was drum major of the marching band for two years and secretary/treasurer of the National Honor Society.

Her school activities at the University of Maryland are all closely related to her major. The animal husbandry club has one major responsibility, organizing Spring Ag Day. This past year she helped the club in planning and then working on Ag Day. As a member of the club she was able to show a steer and hog. All the exhibitors at Ag Day were given a month to work with their animals, most of which had never had human contact, and then show them on Ag Day.

The pre-veterinarian club is one that helps students prepare for veterinarian school. The club also helps at the Wye Angus Farm, vaccinating and cleaning calves for the farm's annual feeder calf sale.

Her collegiate 4-H activities are much like regular 4-H activities. The collegiate 4-H club is involved in mostly community service activities and planning Ag Day. The club attends 4-H meetings around the D.C. and Baltimore areas to assist those clubs with leadership programs and community service.

She also attends Deer Park United Methodist Church, where she serves as a substitute pianist.

Her hobbies include playing the piano, sewing, reading, and gardening. Her future plans include seven more years of college to become a doctor of veterinary medicine. She then hopes to return to Garrett County, or a very similar rural area, and open her own large animal practice.

The first runner-up was Diana Dawn Mayfield, the 16-year-old daughter of Hugh (Butch) and Debra Mayfield. She lives with her family on a nine-acre farm on Fingerboard Road near Oakland. Her family also owns and operates a 415-acre farm in Preston County, W.Va.

The smaller farm is where Diana raises her market steer and hog. As an FFA project Diana has 190 chickens that are used for both egg production and meat. She is also growing 125 strawberry plants for an FFA project. On the larger farm, Diana owns and maintains a small herd of Hereford/Angus cattle. She also owns two quarter horses and two mules. She is presently raising the mules to train as a pulling team.

Diana has many responsibilities on the farm. She helps at haymaking time by raking, baling, loading and unloading hay. She helps feed and care for both the cattle and horses on the farm. She also helps tend the family garden as well as maintain a garden of her own.

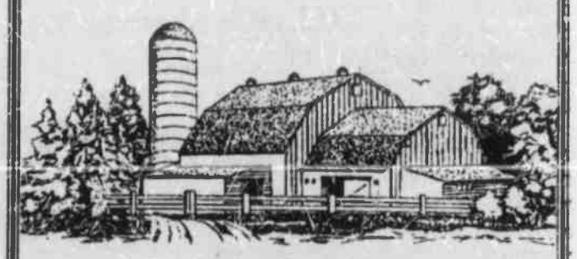
Diana will be a junior this coming school year at Southern High School, where she is taking college prep courses. Her future plans, after finishing high school, are to attend college to become a veterinarian. She hopes to become a farm animal veterinarian and return to the local community.

Also competing in the contest were Amanda Hinebaugh, the 17-year-old daughter of Nancy and Rodney Hinebaugh of Oakland; Susan Mayfield, the 17-year-old daughter of Hugh and Debra Mayfield of Oakland; and Allison Hamilton, the 16-year-old daughter of Richard and Cathy Hamilton of Swanton.

Judges this year were Jack Miltenberger, Allegany County Farm Bureau; Jennifer Thorn, Extension educator/marketing director; and Wendy Walker, 1986 Allegany County Farm Queen. Scoring for the contest is broken down into four divisions: 25 percent on farm responsibility, 25 percent on public speaking, 25 percent on the contestant's knowledge of Farm Bureau, and 25 percent on appearance, friendliness and personality.

April Enlow, 1997 Garrett County Farm Queen, gave her farewell address, thanking Farm Bureau and the public for making her year so special.

The contestants were introduced by 1996 Garrett County Farm Queen Leah Broadwater, and interviews were conducted by Rebecca DeBerry, former Garrett County Farm Queen and Garrett County Farm Bureau public relations director.



Representing Garrett County Farm Bureau, Clark Kolb welcomed those attending the contest, and John Butler from the Maryland Farm Bureau office stressed the importance of the contest, and stated that this year, Garrett County had the largest contest in the state with five contestants.

Garrett County has had a Farm Queen since the fair started 42 years ago and for 10 years prior.

Public Invited To Field Day At NRCS Plant Center

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Maryland is holding a field day for the public and employees on Wed., Aug. 19, from 1 to 5 p.m., at its National Plant Materials Center in Beltsville. Visitors will learn about NRCS and how the Plant Materials Center identifies plant species and plant technology that can be used to protect soil, water and air quality, create wetlands and wildlife habitat, and improve pasture and forest lands.

This is the first field day held at the center to inform landowners and gardeners about how the center and NRCS can assist them in protecting and improving natural resources. A self-guided tour of facilities and operations is available throughout the afternoon, and staff will be available to answer questions. Stops on the tour will include native cool-season and warm-season grass research, backyard conservation plantings, native tree, shrub, and wildflower production, and wetland plant research. Demonstrations will include farm equipment operation and greenhouse production techniques. A slide show about native plants will be offered from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The field day will also feature exhibits on backyard and urban conservation practices, volunteer achievements and opportunities, and other ways in which landowners can take action to protect natural resources.

The field day is free, open to the public, and will be held rain or shine.

The Plant Materials Center is one of a network of 26 centers operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture across the nation. Each center is dedicated to finding vegetative solutions to specific conservation needs within its regional area. The center in Beltsville is currently researching native species for natural area revegetation, improving water quality, and enhancing wildlife habitat.

Information about the field day is available by calling 301-504-8175 or through the center's Internet homepage at http://-PlantMaterials.nrcs.usda.-gov.90/PMC/MDPMC/-describe.html.

Directions to the center, located in the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center, are: from the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, take the Beltsville/Powder Mill Road exit and proceed east on Powder Mill Road. Proceed 400 yards and turn right on Soil Conservation Road. Travel one mile and turn right on Beaver Dam Road westbound. The center is 300 yards on the left.

NRCS is USDA's lead conservation agency. NRCS employees work hand-in-hand with local farmers and landowners on voluntary conservation programs designed to preserve natural resources on private lands and help landowners and communities take a comprehensive approach in conservation planning.

NO-TILL DRILL PURCHASED BY GSCD - In July at the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts (MASCD) meeting at Rocky Gap, Paul Edwards, Western Maryland Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) treasurer, presented a check to the Garratt Soil Conservation District (GSCD) to help with the purchase of a new John Deere 1560 no-till drill. The drill will be available for Garrett County farmers to rent. Brooks Hamilton, GSCD treasurer, accepted the grant on behalf of the Garrett District. With grant writing assistance from the Western Maryland RC&D Council, the Garrett SCD obtained the funds from the Chesapeake Bay Trust. More information about the GSCD no-till drill rental program will be provided to county farmers when the drill arrives. Pictured above, from left to right, accepting the grant are: Craig Hartsock, president, Western Maryland RC&D Council; George Bishoff, chairman, GSCD; Hamilton; Edwards; and David Thomas, vice chairman, GSCD.

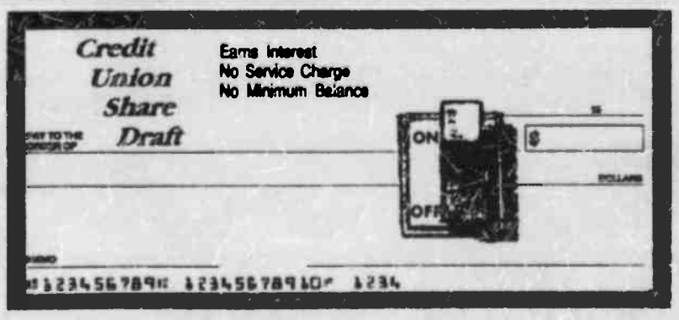
Precipitation Reported By Ag Statistics Service

The Maryland Ag Statistics Service reported that Garrett County received one inch of rain in the month of July, the most received by any area in the state. This amount, however, is actually 0.2 of an inch below the normal amount received this time of year in Garrett County. The accumulated precipitation over the normal amount in Garrett County since January 1 is 7.8 inches.

Although no other counties received as much rain this past month, many have received more precipitation above normal since the first of the year. Allegany has received 8.4 inches over normal, Frederick has received 9.7 inches over normal; Prince George's has received 8.6 inches over normal; Charles has received 9.8 inches over normal; Calvert has received 8.9 inches over normal; and St. Mary's has received 8.0 inches over normal. Despite this abundance of precipitation early in the year, many counties are facing very dry conditions as August continues.

The condition of Maryland's farm crops this past week follow: corn 6% very poor, 15% poor, 30% fair, 43% good, and 6% excellent; soybeans 13% very poor, 43% poor, 23% fair, 19% good, and 2% excellent; sorghum 3% very poor, 18% poor, 60% fair, 16% good, and 3% excellent; pasture 16% very poor, 24% poor, 37% fair, 23% good, and 0% excellent; apples 0% very poor, 0% poor, 15% fair, 73% good, and 12% excellent; and peaches 0% very poor, 0% poor, 4% fair, 80% good, and 16% excellent.

Farm Production Expenditures Up In United States



Farm production expenditures totaled $181.1 billion in 1997, up 3.5% from the 1996 total of $175.0 billion. The largest contributors to the increase were: livestock purchases, up 10.9%; seeds and plants, up 8.1%; tractors and self-propelled farm machinery, up 8.0%; and labor, up 7.0%.

The largest two expenditure categories were feed, which accounted for 13.9% of the U.S. total production expenses, and farm services, which accounted for 13.4% of the total. The farm services category includes expense items such as custom work, utilities, marketing charges, veterinary services, transportation costs, and miscellaneous business expenses.

The average expenditures per U.S. farm in 1997 were $88,216, compared to $84,977, as revised for 1996. On the average, U.S. farm operations in 1997 spent $12,276 on feed; $11,794 on farm services; $8,997 on rent; $8,915 on labor; and $6,917 on livestock and poultry purchases. Revised estimates for 1996 indicated that U.S. farms spent an average of $12,240 on feed; $11,414 on farm services; $8,889 on rent; $8,306 on labor; and $6,217 for livestock and poultry purchases.

The Farm Production Region contributing most to the total 1997 U.S. farm production expenditures was the Corn Belt, with expenses of $33.4 billion, 18.5% of the U.S. total. Expenditures in the Corn Belt were down 1% from the 1996 level of $33.8 billion. For total expenditures, the Corn Belt was followed by the Pacific Region at $29.8 billion; Northern Plains, $22.4 billion, Lake States, $19.1 billion; and the Southern Plains at $15.8 billion.

Bill Shockey, Preston Co. Ag Agent

Japanese beetles were first discovered in a New Jersey nursery in 1916. They were probably imported from Japan in a soil ball from an imported plant. They now cover all of the Northeast and parts of the South and Midwest. According to the American Rose Society, summer rainfall is the main climatic influence on year-to-year changes in beetle numbers. Rainfall in June, July and August in most parts of the East is about 12 inches. When it is below 8 inches of rain during these months, there is a high mortality of eggs and beetles are less abundant the following year.

Beetles are attracted to over 300 plants and feed from late June to early October, with peak infestation during July. The life cycle of the Japanese beetle is two years. The female lives about 45 days and in the late summer lays 40 to 60 eggs under grass roots in lawns. The grubs hatch in 10 to 12 days, feed on grass roots until cold weather, then move down in the soil to avoid freezing. In the spring they move up again and feed on grass roots until pupation in late May. The 3/4 to 1 inch grubs are grayish white with brown heads and are usually found in a curved position.

The grub stage is the probably the time for the easiest and most effective control. Lawns may be treated for grubs in the spring or fall using chemical controls such as diazinon or biological controls such as milky spore. The adults can be sprayed with broad-based insecticides such as Sevin, but other, beneficial insects will also be killed.

Chicken & Egg Production For June Reported

Laying flocks in Maryland produced 73 million eggs during June 1998, of which 66 million were table eggs and 7 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 72.2%. The average number of layers on hand during June 1998 was 3,368,000. On July 1, 1998, 4.0% of the layers in Maryland were being molted and 25.5% of all layers had been through a molt.

Egg production in the United States totaled 6.42 billion during June 1998, up 2% from 6.28 billion produced during June 1997. Production included 5.40 billion table eggs and 1.02 billion hatching-type eggs. Hatching eggs included 960 million from broiler-type flocks and 59 million from egg-type flocks. The total number of layers during June 1998 averaged 305 million, up 3% from the average for June 1997. June egg production per layer was 21.7 eggs, compared to 21.4 a year earlier. On July 1, 1998, 4.0% of the layers in the U.S. were being molted and 21.6% had been through a molt.

Egg-type chicks hatched during June totaled 39.2 million, up 6% from June 1997. Additional egg-type hatching eggs in incubators on July 1 totaled 32.6 million, up 8% from the previous year. Pullets hatched and intended for future placement in domestic egg-type hatchery supply flocks totaled 360,000 during June 1998, up 42% from the 254,000 replacements hatched in June 1997. The June 1998 hatch of broiler-type chicks, at 719 million, was up 2% from June of the previous year. There were 609 million broiler-type eggs in incubators on July 1, 1998, up 3% from July 1, 1997. Leading breeders intend to place 6.90 million broiler-type pullet chicks in domestic broiler-type hatchery supply flocks from chicks hatched during June 1998, up 15% compared to a year ago.

Maryland Milk Production For Quarter Reported

Maryland dairy operators produced 348 million pounds of milk during the April-June quarter, up 2.4% from the same quarter a year earlier. The number of milk cows was unchanged from a year earlier so yield per cow accounted for the production increase.

U.S. milk production in the 20 major states totaled 12.1 billion pounds during June 1998. The number of cows was 7.75 million during June, 12,000 below June 1997 but up 3,000 from May 1998.

Entertainment Spending Record High In State

Marylanders spent an all-time record of $622 million on taxable entertainment during fiscal year 1998, about 10.5% more than during the previous fiscal year, according to State Comptroller Robert L. Swann. Fiscal year 1998 ended June 30, 1998.

All major taxable entertainment categories showed increases in spending. "Entertainment spending is an indicator of how people are spending their disposable income. One result of the long-running economic expansion is that consumers have satisfied the pent-up demand for many goods and increasingly use their disposable income for things like travel and entertainment," Swann said. The comptroller noted that local governments received a total of $48,747,942 for fiscal year 1998 from the admissions and amusement tax, about 12.15% more than the $43,468,168 they received the previous year.

Garrett County's allocation was $348,530, about $75,000 more than for the previous fiscal year ($272,853).

Marylanders spent more than $175 million on athletic events in fiscal year 1998, a 23% increase over fiscal year 1997, reflecting successful major and minor league baseball seasons and the presence of two National Football League teams in Maryland. Statewide spending for movies in fiscal year 1998 increased by 4.6% over the same period of the previous year to more than $96.3 million, reflecting the success of Titanic and other blockbuster movies. Spending for live theater and concerts also increased by more than 25%, to $18.6 million.

Golfers took advantage of the mild weather throughout the year and spent almost $76 million on golf greens fees and cart rentals in fiscal year 1998, a 24% increase over fiscal year 1997. Spending at driving ranges and miniature golf courses increased by 14.8%, to $12.9 million.

Marylanders spent about $55.5 million on coin-operated amusement devices in fiscal year 1998, up by 10.6%. Spending at amusement parks in fiscal year 1998 also increased by about 26.2% over the same period of the previous year, to more than $15.4 million. Marylanders spent $15.4 million for boat rentals, rides, and excursions in fiscal year 1998, up by 7.5%. Water sports enthusiasts spent more than $6 million for skating and skate shoe rentals, up 36.3% from fiscal year 1997.

During fiscal year 1998, the Maryland Stadium Authority received $8,594,690 as its share of admissions and amusement tax receipts. It receives 80% of admissions and amusement tax attributable to events at major league stadiums in Baltimore to defray construction costs.

While fiscal year 1998 ended on June 30, final admissions and amusement tax figures were not available until last week. Businesses had until July 21 to remit admissions and amusement taxes they collected for the month of June.

The State Comptroller's Office collects the admissions and amusement tax at rates set by local county, city, or town officials and returns the money to local governments each quarter.

The comptroller's office recently sent checks totaling $14,259,657 to Maryland's counties and cities and towns as their share of the admissions and amusement tax revenue collected for the fourth quarter of fiscal year 1998. That distribution was 31.4% more than the $10,849,148 the subdivisions received for the final quarter of fiscal year 1997.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust from BYARD S. BEITZEL, also known as Byard Stanley Beltzel, and KATIE J. BEITZEL, also known as Katie Jane Beltzel, husband and wife, dated March 5, 1993, and recorded March 5, 1993, in Liber No. 600, folio 408, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said deed of trust, I hereby give notice that I will, on in the Rotunda of the Courthouse, in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

Monday, August 17, 1998
At the hour of 11:00 a.m.

ALL that tract, piece, parcel or subdivision of lands and premises, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12 of Garrett County, Maryland, and is more particularly described as follows:

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12, Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING at a stake lying South 67 degrees 45 minutes East from an ancient planted stone marked C & J; running thence South 37 degrees 15 minutes West 167.7 feet to a stake; thence South 47 degrees 00 minutes East 837 feet to a stake at the edge of the Bittinger-Rock Lodge Road Right-of-Way; thence with said Right-of-Way, North 47 degrees 53 minutes East 503 feet to a stake on Boundary Line, thence with said Boundary Line, North 67 degrees 45 minutes West 961 feet to the beginning, containing 6.8 acres, more or less.

BEING the same as conveyed by Byard Stanley Beltzel to Byard Stanley Beltzel and Katie Jane Beltzel, husband and wife, by deed dated October 27, 1972, and recorded in Liber No. 330, folio 473, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by a ranch style home with basement and two barns.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, liens, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cashier's or certified check of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($5,000.00) shall be paid at the time and place of sale, except no deposit shall be required of the note holder, its successors or assigns, balance in cash at settlement, except that if the note holder, its successors and assigns, is the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the deed of trust debt, which shall be twenty (20) days after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, Maryland, unless said period is extended by the Trustee, her successors or assigns, for good cause shown, time being of the essence. The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants and encumbrances of record. In the event that the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, the property shall be re-sold at purchaser's risk and expense. Taxes, water, rent, and all other municipal liens and charges, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis shall be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, agricultural transfer tax, if any, document preparation and title insurance and/or examination shall be borne by purchaser. If the Trustee is unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Trustee or the noteholder. The property will be sold in an "AS IS" condition without either express or implied warranty or representation, including, but not limited to, the description, fitness for a particular purpose, use, physical condition, access, habitability, zoning, subdivision, environmental condition, merchantability, compliance with building codes or other laws, ordinances or regulations, or other similar matters. The Trustee, her attorneys and/or the noteholder, shall not be liable individually or otherwise for any matters relating to this sale and/or the property.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Pursuant to a Court Order entered on July 20, 1996, in the case of Parks v. Moreland, Civil Action No. 96-C-3, the undersigned were appointed as Special Commissioners to sell at public sale a tract of real estate and improvements located just south of Mt. Storm, Union District, West Virginia, containing 106 acres, more or less.

The property fronts on West Virginia State Route 42 less than ¼ mile south of Mt. Storm, West Virginia. It consists of open fields and approximately 65 acres of timber and woodland. Whitetail deer, turkey and other small game are abundant. The property is 4 miles from Vepco Lake and 30 miles from Canaan Valley, West Virginia.

There is a three-bedroom home on the real estate with a half basement and semi-finished attic. The residence has an approximate living area of 1,124 square feet and is heated with electric. Also, there is an old chicken house that is no longer used but is believed to contain about 5,000 board feet of wormy chestnut lumber.

The sale will take place on Saturday, August 22, 1998 at 12:00 noon at the house on the property near Mt. Storm, West Virginia.

TERMS

The property will be sold "as is" and in gross, not by the acre, to the highest bidder subject to confirmation by the Grant County Circuit Court. The purchaser will deposit 10% of the sales price with the Special Commissioners on the date of sale and the balance within 30 days or whenever the sale is confirmed by the Court, whichever is later. The Seller will pay the costs of deed stamps and the costs to prepare the deed. The 1998 real estate taxes will be pro-rated on a fiscal year basis to the date of closing. By law, the Special Commissioners will deliver a special warranty deed to the purchaser. All announcements on the day of sale will take precedence over written material.

Persons interested in viewing the property can contact the undersigned or Icky Hyre at (304) 693-7800.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County
State Discharge Permit 96-DP-2177, NPDES Permit MD0060950:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 has applied for renewal of its permit to discharge an average of 8,500 gallons per day (gpd) of treated domestic wastewater from the Gorman Wastewater Treatment Plant, located on Stayer Road, Gorman, Maryland 21550 to North Branch Potomac River.

A tentative determination has been made by the Department to reissue the permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD5, 30 mg/l monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 30mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean, fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. Dechlorination is required to reduce the total residual chlorine to a non-detectable level. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting will be required.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by August 26, 1998. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Stephen Luckman and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by August 26, 1998 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before September 8, 1998. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Merk Jacobs at 410-631-4492 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Jacobs at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.22 per page.

The Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park hereby gives notice that it will hold public hearings on Resolution No. 98-2, pursuant to Article 23A, Volume I of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1996, Replacement Volume, as amended, that the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park adopted on the 11th day of August, 1998, an Amendment to Section 26-54 of its municipal charter, said section being titled "Authority to Employ Personnel."

A fair summary of the Resolution is as follows:

The Amendment deleted the language "Providing no member of the Council be employed by the Town" and provided that no member of Town Government may conduct or contract any business with the Town of Mtn. Lake Park, Unless in accordance with the Town's newly adopted ordinance governing said matters or the ethics thereof, to the effect that the newly adopted Section 26-54 is proposed to read as follows after its effective date:

26-54 Authority to employ personnel

The Town shall have the power to employ such officers and employees as it deems necessary to execute the powers and duties provided by this Charter or other State law and to operate the Town government provided that no elected member of the Town government shall conduct or contract for any business with the Town except as may be provided in any ordinance adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park dealing with the same or with the ethics thereof.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park for the adoption of resolutions, and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled public hearing of said Resolution.

The full text of Ordinance 98-2 is available at Town Hall Monday through Friday during business hours.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County
State Discharge Permit 96-DP-2176, NPDES Permit MD0060950:

Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 has applied for renewal of its permit to discharge an average of 40,000 gallons per day (gpd) of treated domestic wastewater from the Kitzmiller Wastewater Treatment Plant, located on East Main Street, Kitzmiller, Maryland 21538 to North Branch Potomac River.

A tentative determination has been made by the Department to reissue the permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD5, 30 mg/l monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean, fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. Dechlorination is required to reduce the total residual chlorine to a non-detectable level. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting will be required.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by August 26, 1998. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Stephen Luckman and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by August 26, 1998 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before September 8, 1998. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mark Jacobs at 410-631-4492 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Jacobs at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.22 per page.

Domestic Assault Conviction Nets Oakland Man Jail

An Oakland man will spend the next month in jail as a result of a conviction for an assault which occurred during a domestic altercation. The sentence was handed down by Judge Ralph M. Burnett in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Thomas Willard Friend, 42, pleaded guilty to second-degree assault and was handed a 90-day sentence, all but 30 days of which was suspended, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to pay $100 restitution to Dove Center (the county's domestic violence and sexual assault center). He had been arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last month after allegedly striking a woman at his residence, reportedly drawing blood from her face and nose.

In other district court news, Richard Scott Sisk, 21, Manassas, Va., appeared for a sentencing hearing which stemmed from a second-degree assault conviction. The judge handed Sisk a 30-day sentence, suspending all but 48 hours. Sisk was also placed on six months of unsupervised probation and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. He had been arrested by the sheriff's office in February after participating in an altercation with sheriff's deputies and Maryland state troopers at the Comfort Inn in McHenry, during which he allegedly assaulted a deputy.

William Reed Wilt Sr., 35, Grantsville, was sentenced following a conviction for second-degree assault, and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence and placed on six months of supervised probation. He had been arrested by state troopers in April for allegedly striking a pair of juveniles in a reported attempt to enforce discipline.

Colleen Renee Ellifritz, 29, Eglon, W.Va., pleaded guilty to misdemeanor theft and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $50, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service. She had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in June for allegedly shoplifting from Browning's Foodland.

David Allen Ridenour, 35, Terra Alta, W.Va., was found in violation of probation that had resulted from felony theft and malicious destruction convictions. His probation was revoked, and the original incarceration time was reimposed with all but one year suspended.

Olie Oscar Sponaugle, 68, Cumberland, was found in violation of probation that had stemmed from a second-degree assault conviction. His probation was revoked, and a 46-day sentence was reimposed.

Timothy Bryan Ringler, 19, West Salisbury, Pa., and Michael Matthew Tressler, 18, Springs, Pa., each received a probation before judgment (PBJ) ruling after they both pleaded guilty to marijuana possession. The men were fined $155 each, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. Ringler and Tressler had been arrested together in March by state troopers checking on a party at a Friendsville residence. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia faced by each defendant was not prosecuted by the State Attorney's Office.

Paul Howard Lefkowitz, 27, Oakland, was handed a stet ruling during a hearing on a malicious destruction of property charge. A condition of the stet is that he pay $317 in restitution and perform 20 hours of community service. Lefkowitz had been arrested in February by the Oakland Police Department for breaking the window of a girlfriend's car during a domestic dispute.

Several defendants were exonerated of their charges after entering not guilty pleas.

Shawn Michael Blackwell, 22, Jeffrey Alan Koton, 20, and Jason Daniel Mallon, 19, all of Oakland, were deemed not guilty of second-degree assault charges each had faced. A fellow inmate had accused the trio of beating him while they were incarcerated at the Garrett County jail in January. An additional charge of first-degree assault faced by each defendant was not prosecuted.

Lash Rock Larue "Junior" Lloyd Jr., 20, Oakland, was deemed not guilty of a second-degree assault charge stemming from his arrest in June by sheriff's deputies following an alleged altercation with several other men.

Jerome Usher, 42, Coal Center, Pa., was deemed not guilty of second-degree assault stemming from his July arrest by state troopers for an alleged domestic altercation.

Not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia was Brian Eugene Deem, 30, Oakland.

DWI Hearings

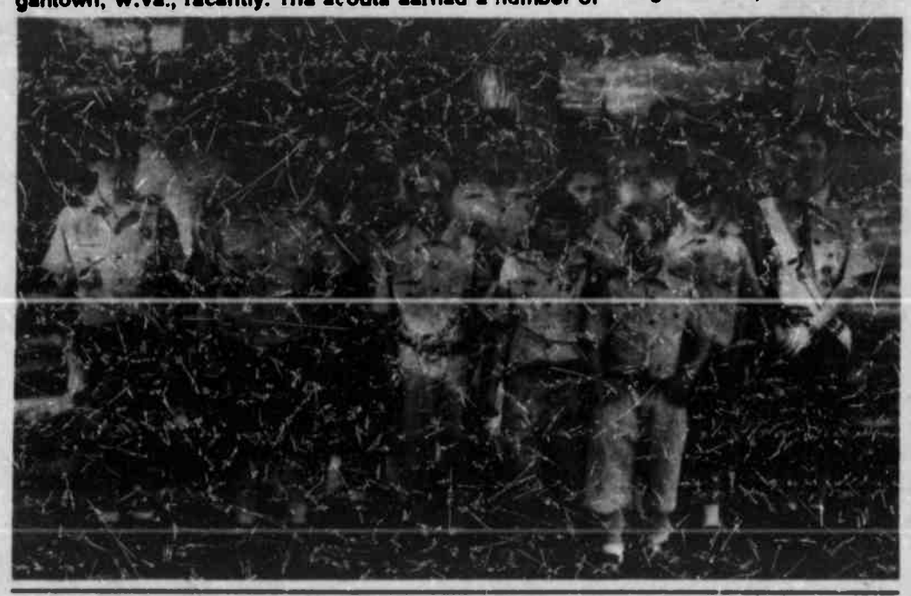
Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) rulings were handed down from the bench recently.

James William Shoemaker Sr., 38, Accident, pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $200, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Donald Eugene Davis, 44, Westernport, pleaded guilty to DUI and was placed on one year of unsupervised probation and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Todd Allen Whitacre, 29, Kitzmiller, was found in violation of DWI probation; his probation was continued and the original incarceration time was reimposed, with all but eight days suspended.

Randy Stephen Weeks, 42, Oakland, was found in violation of DWI probation; his probation was continued and a 96-hour sentence was reimposed.



Harrison Floyd Rounds, 35, Accident, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Theodore Luanderson Wakefield, 41, Oakland, was granted a DWI sentence revision to reflect a PBJ.

Saturday Hours Announced For MLP Post Office

Oakland Postmaster Ken Perrin announced this week that the window at the Mountain Lake Park branch will be open on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. beginning this Saturday, Aug. 15.

"I have never understood why the window at this very busy branch was not open on Saturdays, and I just received approval to offer this extension of service," Perrin said. "I am hopeful that it will ease the burden on those who work during the week and cannot conduct their postal business during our weekday office hours."

The window is presently open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The lobby is open 24 hours per day, every day, for the public to be able to get mail from their post office boxes and drop off letters to be mailed.

Help For Crime Victims Offered In Grantsville

Help for crime victims and members of their families is offered in Grantsville at the town office. On Friday, Aug. 14, 1-4 p.m., representatives from the Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Resource Center, Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., Garrett County Department of Social Services, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Parole and Probation, and the State's Attorney's Office will be available to meet with residents.

These representatives will answer questions and provide information concerning services and assistance for victims of crime and/or family violence. Information about the Grantsville Neighborhood Crime Watch will also be given to interested residents.

FIRST UNITED SUPPORTS GCMH - First United Bank & Trust, Oakland, demonstrated its support of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation recently by making its annual contribution and thereby maintaining membership in the foundation's George W. Loar Circle. The financial institution joined the circle five years ago. "We wanted to contribute to the hospital, and the formation of the George W. Loar Circle made it convenient for us to make our annual gifts. We strongly encourage other organizations and businesses to join, because a primary need of any community is good medical care," said Phil Frantz, vice president and director of operations. Frantz is pictured above presenting a check to Kathy Grasser, executive director of the GCMH Foundation. The late George Loar, for whom the circle is named, provided the seed money in the late 1940s for the founding of the hospital.

Jennings ELCA Women Convene

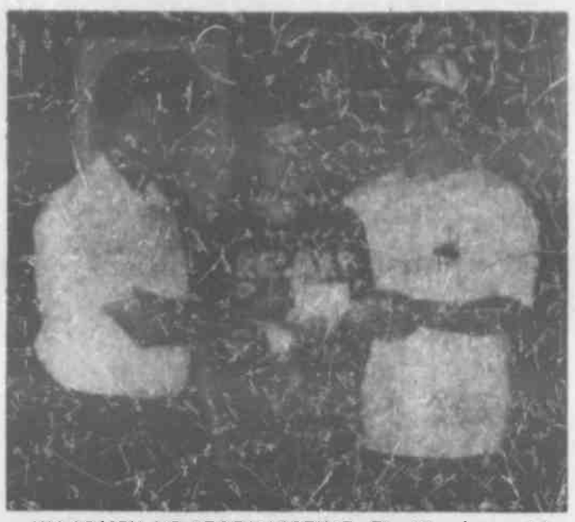
Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on August 7.

Leota Baker led a discussion of the study, "A Tale of Two Conversions," which focused on the conversion of Simon, the magician, and the Ethiopian eunuch, and on the differing attitudes and sincerity of the two persons. The principal emphasis was that conversion is ongoing, and more specifically baptism is a day-to-day process of strengthening one's faith and learning to live that faith.

Devotions closed with reading the hymn, "O Holy Spirit, Enter In," in unison.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

The newsletter from the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation was received. Excerpts were read concerning the reservation's needs within the church, parsonage repair, generosity of the congregational members, and gratitude for their new pastor's leadership.



Tribute to the memory of Verla E. Durst was made through a gift offering for specific ministries. This offering will be forwarded to Women of the ELCA-Churchwide, designated for the crisis program, Children at Risk.

A package of sweaters was sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Box Elder, Mont., for their clothing give-away on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation.

Presentation of altar flowers for the church was made on August 9 in memory of The Rev. James M. Allen, as a tribute of gratitude for his ministry in the Bittinger Lutheran Parish.

Zion Women of the ELCA will sponsor the annual washcloth shower for the Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa. Donations should be in by September 1, and may be left at the church until that time.

A gift offering was received from Ethel Hetrick, a former member of Zion's unit.

WOODMEN AID STORM VICTIMS - The Woodmen of the World Disaster Relief Committee has responded to the needs of WOW members whose homes were either destroyed or damaged by tornadoes in July by presenting monetary contributions to those families. Above, Kenneth Smith, field representative from Lodge 8, Cumberland, presents a check to Margaret and Travis Beltzel, who lost their home. The Beltzels are members of Grantsville WOW Lodge 41. Below, field representative Edward Lytle of Lodge 41 makes a similar presentation to Carolyn and Bruce Canoe, whose Grantsville area farm was seriously damaged. The WOW Disaster Relief Committee includes Jillian Guthrie, jurisdictional president; Burton and Edward Lytle, field force; Darlene Jenkins, Lodge 8; Mary Frantz, Lodge 45; Janie Pope, Lodge 41; and Rick Schultz, fraternal coordinator from Hagerstown.

"Godwin's rotation to a new duty station exemplifies the worldwide assignability of marines and sailors," stated a Navy spokesperson. "This flexibility allows our naval forces to protect U.S. national interests around the world while providing a visible deterrence for regional conflicts."

The 1982 graduate of Southern High School joined the Navy in February 1988.

Bloodmobile To Visit; Accident Gives 34 Units

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Oakland Elks Lodge, 100 Elk Street, on Friday, Aug. 21, from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. All blood types are needed, according to the ARC, which states that the blood supply for the Johnstown Region remains "critically low."

To donate blood, persons must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Such persons may donate every 56 days.

A bloodmobile visited Zion Lutheran Church in Accident Monday and collected 34 units of blood, as 41 donors or potential donors presented themselves.

Reaching gallon levels of giving were: Jim Fratz, one gallon; Troy Fike, two gallons; and Harold L. Maust, nine gallons. First-time donors were Jim Spiker, Jennifer Sivits, and Russ Sivits.

Local volunteers who assisted with the visit were Lisa Bonar, Earl Haenftling, Mildred Haenftling, Linda Oester, Helen Harman, and Arlene Georg. The local coordinator for the visit is Pastor Wilfred Karsten.

The next bloodmobile visit scheduled for Zion Lutheran Church will be January 29, 1999.

NMS YEARBOOK STAFF HONORED - The Northern Middle School Polaris yearbook staff earned the Sweepstakes award for the second year in a row at the Taylor Publishing Company yearbook seminar, held last week at Seven Springs Mountain Resort in Pennsylvania. Seventy-five students from 17 schools attended the seminar, with NMS being the only middle school represented. Students were instructed in copywriting, theme development, page layout, fund-raising, photography, and coverage. Each school created a mock yearbook, which was judged the final evening. The award earned by the NMS staff is presented for excellence in copywriting, layout, theme development, and enthusiasm. The staff is pictured above. Seated, from left, are: Melissa Patterson, Jodi Fratz, Heather Lander, and Jackie Branneman. Standing, same order, are: advisor Darren Wilburn, Jamie Livengood, Landon Southerly, Derek Buckal, Shane Yoder, Megan Zimmerman, and advisor Nancy Frank.

AGENTS COMPLETE PROGRAM - These agents from the Deep Creek Lake and Oakland Long and Foster real estate offices recently completed the intensive Floyd Wickman course, considered to be one of the most difficult training programs available to real estate agents today. Students must meet strict standards of conduct, results, and accountability while completing an 11-week program presented by master sales trainer V. Romano. The course focuses on skill development, time management, and various techniques to help sellers and buyers get results in today's real estate market. Pictured in the front row, from left, are: Janet Bernard, Lisa Gaither, Cindy Sanders, and Sharon Hamilton. In the back row are: Robert Squibb, Larry Nealine, Rod Hamilton, and Paul Rosaen, who was the recipient of an award from his peers for the most effort placed in using the course techniques. Also completing the course, but not present for the photo, was Jerry McGinnis.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Swanson

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel Jr. and daughter Cathryn were Saturday overnight guests of Ralph and Ethel Buckel. Cathryn was moving to Columbus, Ohio, where she will start work on her master's degree at Ohio State University.

Thursday luncheon guests of Beulah Moon were WO1 James Moon, Ft. Rucker, Ala., and friend Hywn Joo, South Korea.

Jay Moon and family, Finzel, spent two weeks at the Moon cottage on Harvey's Peninsula. On Sunday, the Moon clan gathered for a picnic to celebrate (or mourn) the loss of a huge old beech tree where the boys had carved their initials and built a tree house which they enjoyed for many years. But, life goes on!

A recent dinner guest of Beulah Moon was John Moon from Baltimore.

After spending an extended time in Germany, Royce Reese and his wife (the former Carolyn Brenneman) and their children returned state-side. They paid a visit to their family and friends in the mountains.

The Robert Bowser family from Arizona spent last week in Garrett County. Those who came were Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Karol George, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Workman and children from Hereford, Ariz., Paul Bowser from Tucson, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Cardora and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Cardora and son from Monroville, Ind., Mary Karren, Jerome, Idaho, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Staton, Lima, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Berganeidei, Phoenix, and Jean Camper and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Opel, Canton, Ohio. They spent the week visiting Mary Frye, Doris and Jessica Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin George, and Loretta Opel. They also visited friends they knew before moving to Arizona. They attended the Bowser reunion on Sunday.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Deurick and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Kerns and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Reese and children, and Cecil Brant, Accident.

Visiting Ken and Harriet Buckel this weekend were their daughter, Bonnie McElroy, and their granddaughter Tracey, who told them about her trip to England and Scotland in July. She spent a week touring London, Oxford, Stratford-On-Avon, Edinburgh, and York. As Tracey says, "It was the experience of a lifetime. I feel lucky to have seen another country and to have had a taste of the British lifestyle." She traveled with a group of students from South Carroll High School. Tracey also spent time with a friend's family, boating on Deep Creek Lake.

FAMILY REUNION

On Sunday, Aug. 9, was the reunion of the descendants of Sam and Bettie Jenkins Brenneman. About 50 relatives attended at the Bittinger fire hall from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. They feasted on a bountiful covered dish picnic. Those Brennemans really know how to cook and bake. If their reunion was not enough, they were able to pop over to the Opel reunion. For many years the Opels and Brennemans held their reunions the same day, but now the date and location have been changed.

Helen Englar, Westminster, was in Bittinger to spend a few days with her brother, Dale Glotfelty, and her son, Cortney Englar, Accident, and her many nieces, nephews, and grandnieces and grand-nephews. Helen and Cortney attended their favorite event at the Garrett County Fair on Sunday night, the horse pulling contest. Helen has many fond memories as a girl when her dad, Orval Glotfelty, had draft horses on the farm. One of my favorite paintings is a ghostly scene with loaded wagons. It is my fictional version of what hay-making in the old days was like. Just yesterday, I sent a small version of it out to the Fair. I am trying to recover from our trip to Ocean City with my in-laws, Al and Ruthe Sussman, Silver Spring. A week's experience of 90° temperatures, crowds, heavy traffic, and staying in a high-rise building was not my idea of fun, especially when one morning at 8 a.m. the fire alarm went off. It was horrible trying to get down four flights of stairs with everyone pushing and shoving. What a nightmare!

Claire, Caitlin, and Meredith had a great time in the ocean. Even Lloyd did some kayaking with my former student, Eric Rice, from Oakland who now operates an outdoor adventure business in Ocean City. Last year we took his canoes on a trip on a flat river, which was a nice easy peaceful afternoon for the family. But Lloyd loves the heavy surf and waves of the ocean and he and his friend, Walter Haydel, who is an experienced white-water paddler, had a ball getting smashed by the big waves.

They were about run over by heavy traffic of a fleet of jet skis, the big ship, the Ocean City Belle, and the presence of a shark breeding grounds, on their route with their kayaks. Walter's daughter Jamie was happy to play with her good buddies, Claire, Caitlin, and Meredith.

My three girls had a joyous reunion with their old friends from Garrett County, Chad and Daniell Fousek. Since their parents moved to the ocean area where Linda started a new career as an RN, it was wonderful to see our old friends again. Even though we are apart for a long time, when we do get together it seems just like old times. The rest time was beach time for Lloyd and his three little puppies. I stayed busy with painting seascapes, reading, and freezing in the air-conditioned condo. We caught up with Rodney and Marci and their kids, who were in town for the MACo conference.

The Glotfelty family dined with a cousin Gene Walsh, who is running for comptroller against the former Governor Shaeffer. It looks like an uphill battle for Gene. But Shaeffer has made a lot of enemies, especially on the Eastern Shore, which he called "Maryland's Outhouse" or something similar. Gene has frequently visited in Garrett County, so we can think of him as a native son. He has good experience for the job. He is an accountant and a lawyer. His mother, Marian Walsh, was a first cousin of my father, Bob Glotfelty. Marian is a daughter of Lucy Glotfelty Wiley.

Since I got back from Ocean City I have worked hard on some posters for my mother's Judge of the Orphans' Court campaign. Naturally, you know my mother is Ruth DiPaolo.

And now into fair week. Truly a crazy time for the family since this is the first year we have ventured into a new livestock show. I am completely ignorant about the drill as a hog exhibitor. I was an old hand with the horse, dairy, and beef barns standard procedures. This morning we got together the girls' entries. Most of their items needed to be matted and assigned to their respective class. It is nerve-racking for me. But our entries are finally in place, which include the pigs. They will make their judging appearance in the show ring and then for the big event of the 4-H Market Livestock Sale on Saturday evening. The girls are hoping for a good price for their pigs to help save for their future college educations. But it is tough to watch many 4-H'ers cry their eyes out when he or she must sell their beloved animals. A 4-H animal has a great life. They are petted and pampered and loved by their owners. This is the good life!

BITTINGER PICNIC, YARD SALE

Don't forget about the Bittinger Picnic this Saturday at the Bittinger fire hall. Those good barbecued dinners will be available with lots of fun too. Also the youth of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will have their yard sale in the church's parking lot. Plan to attend and get some great bargains.

Autumn Glory Fest Brochure Now Available

A brochure containing information about Garrett County's 31st Annual Autumn Glory Festival, slated for October 8-11 in downtown Oakland and the surrounding area, is now available.

Highlights of the festival include an Oktoberfest Celebration and firemen's events; the "Official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle championships; the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade; a Sport Card, Comic Book, and Memorabilia Show; crafts and antique shows and sales; bluegrass, gospel, and bagpipe concerts; Western Maryland Tournament of Bands; tall-tale story festival; a ski and snowboard swap; and more. New events this year will include a Day of Hope Pro-Am Golf Tournament, a classic car show, and the end-of-season Garrett Lakes Arts Festival concert.

Ms. Rice-Jewell Becomes Bride Of Mr. Long In June Ceremony

Dixie L. Rice-Jewell and Gary W. Long Jr. were united in marriage on June 20, 1998. The double-ring ceremony took place at Second Baptist Church, Cumberland, with Rev. Sherill Dillon officiating. The orgauist was Lucy Yutzy, with vocals by Jimmy Yutzy.

The bride is the daughter of Alice Rice, Cumberland, and the late Quentin M. Rice. The groom is the son of Kathy Long, Oakland, and Gary Long Sr., Accident, and the grandson of Eva Long, Oakland.

The bride was given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her son, Michael Jewell. The maid of honor was the bride's daughter, Alicia Jewell. Bridesmaid was Denise Rapp.

Best man was Ed Long, uncle of the groom. Also serving as a groomsman was Michael Jewell. Others participating with the wedding were Robin Hupp and Veronica Schaidt. Assisting with the aisle runner were Nathan and Nicholas Rapp. Video coverage was provided by Ed Rapp.

Participating in the lighting of the unity candles were the bride's and groom's mothers. The songs chosen by the bride and groom were "I Finally Found Someone," and "Because You Love Me."

A reception was held at the Cumberland Eagles lodge hall. Music was provided by the band Spectra. Debbie Dutnivan baked the cake and provided catering. The photograpber was Randy Adama, Fort Ashby, W.Va.

Assisting family and friends with decorating was Missy Martz of Wedding Works, Frostburg, who also assisted with the reception details, as well as the serving of the food. Also serving food was Stephanie Hupp. Cutting the cake was Robin Hupp, and registering the guests was conducted by Veronica Schaidt. Flowers were provided by the Flower Gardea, LaVale, and the archway and wedding accessoriea were provided by American Rental, Cumberland. Tammy at Plaza Crafts, LaVale, created beautiful decorationa for the wedding. The bartender was Steve College.

The bride wore a white lace wedding dress, and the groom wore a black tuxedo. The wedding color scheme was hunter green, burgundy, black, and white.

The bride was honored with a bridal shower given by some of her co-workers and coordinated by Lynn Riley. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother, Kathy Long, and groom's uncle, Ed Long.

The bride attended Fort Hill High School and Allegany College of Maryland. She is currently employed by Allegany College of Maryland. The groom attended Southern High School, Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W.Va., and Frostburg State University, where he received his bachelor's degree in criminal justice. He is employed by the Cumberland Police Department.

The couple honeymooned in Las Vegas, Nev.

Miss Hauser And Mr. Calhoun Exchange Vows In Aug. 1 Event

Michael J. Calhoun and Christy L. Hauser were united in holy matrimony Aug. 1, 1998, at the Laurel Run Church of God, Friendsville. Rev. Robert Travis, pastor of the Terra Alta Assembly of God, performed the ceremony, with Rev. Phillip Geoghan and Rev. Joseph Goudy offering prayers.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ron Hauser, the bride wore a floor-length sweetheart gown of white satin, trimmed in baby pearls with a long satin bow and train. Matron of honor Lisa Calhoun, sister-in-law of the groom, wore a long teal crocheted lace gown. The flower girl was the groom's niece, Ashely Calhoun, age 6, who wore a white lace dress with teal and mauve flowers in her hair.

The best man was Donald Calhoun Jr., brother of the groom, and the ring bearer was Aaron Calhoun, age 3, nephew of the groom.

The three-tiered white wedding cake with teal and mauve roses had a teal fountaia and heart-shaped cakes on each side. It was served by aunts of the bride Michelle Hauser and Dorothy Sweitzer. The cake was made by Christy Thomas of Friendsville.

The groom is a 1996 graduate of Northern High School and is employed as a crew trainer at the Deep Creek Lake McDonald's. He is the son of Donald and Joyce Calhoun, Oakland. His maternal grandparents are Rev. Joseph and Louise Goudy, New Martinsville, W.Va., and his paternal grandparents are Chauncey and Thehna Sisler, Friendsville.

The bride is a 1998 graduate of Southern High School and is employed as a cashier at Food Lion in Oakland. She is the daughter of John and Carolyn Hauser, Crellin. Her maternal grandparents are Rev. Gene Friend, Loch Lynn, and the late Rev. Iris Friend, and her paternal grandparents are Edgar and Erma Hauser, Red House.

The couple had a brief honeymoon at New Martinsville and now reside in Oakland.

Miss Thomas To Wed Mr. Checchia

Summer Youth Work Program Concludes Year

This year's Summer Youth Employment and Training Program (SYETP) recently concluded another successful summer of employment and training for 124 young people in Garrett County.

The program's staff acknowledged youth for outstanding program participation at their worksites, according to the program's coordinator, Elmer "Butch" Redinger, who commented that the youth "displayed exceptional work habits and contributed greatly to the overall effectiveness of the agency that worked with them."

Redinger also had high praise for the adults who make the program possible. "The SYETP has some exceptional on-site supervisors. Each year, the SYETP staff selects one worksite supervisor [who] they feel has done an exceptional job, not only for this year, but one who has helped our program over a number of years," Redinger commented.

"The Supervisor of Excellence award was given to Terry Garlitz, New Germany State Park maintenance chief," said assistant SYETP coordinator Doug Oxford. "Garlitz has accepted youth from the Bittinger/Grantsville area over a number of years. New Germany has been our largest area of employment on the northern end of the county."

Oxford and Redinger also recognized the contribution of Jim Bartholomew, manager of the Oakland Pizza Hut, who donated six pizza certificates that were given to six outstanding youth workers: Chad Lipscomb, Northern Complex; Brandon Kitzmiller, Oakland office of the Sanitary District; Patrick Schrock, state roads crew; Melissa Hauser, Community Action administrative office; and Crystal Colmer, New Germany State Park.

"Congratulations also go out to the other outstanding participants at the various job sites throughout the county," Redinger said. "Many outstanding and worthwhile projects were completed, and the various supervisors and worksite directors were pleased with the jobs completed this year."

Approximately 90 percent of the youth who began with the SYETP at the beginning of July successfully saw it through to its completion at the end of the first week of August. The program had to be shortened by one week because all youth who were qualified to work were offered a job, and with each participant receiving the minimum wage of $5.15 per hour, the funding for Garrett County was depleted sooner than the program operators had planned.

Loch Lynn Church Of God Schedules Revival Service

Evangelists Robert and Jan Teel, pictured above, will be ministering in a one-time revival service at the Loch Lynn Church of God beginning at 6 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 16.

Robert Teel was born in Ada, Okla., and was raised in southern California. He was a gymnastics national champion in the rings event in his youth, and many experts believed he was destined to win an Olympic goal medal for the United States; however, abuse of drugs and alcohol ended his hopes for Olympic competition. Teel's recovery, which he credits "to the power of Jesus Christ," began in 1972, and for the past 23 years he has been in full-time ministry.

Jan Teel was born in Oklahoma City, Okla., grew up in various locations in Oklahoma and Arkansas as the daughter of a preacher, and says she "felt the call of God on [my] life at a very young age." She is an accomplished musician and singer, and has released her first recording, "Jesus, You're Everything to Me."

The public is invited to attend this special service. For further information interested persons may call the office of the Loch Lynn Church of God at 301-334-1237.

During the election, Claud Hartsell and John Allman of Eglon were elected to serve on the local board, and Sheila Strawser and Jean Winters were elected to the FHAC. The report from the FHAC activities was given by Lois Strawser, chairman of the committee. The meeting concluded with the awarding of door prizes.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dorotha and Fred Forman of Amboy celebrated their June 16 wedding anniversary belatedly with an Aug. 5 outing. They traveled to Parkersburg and Blennerhasset Island, eating breakfast at Clarksburg Shoney's and dining in the evening at Cracker Barrell in Fairmont.

Lorraine Fike of Bridgewater, Va. and her children, Judy Riley of Luray, Va., Melvin Fike of Moorefield, and Michael Fike of Morgantown met at the Brookside Church of the Brethren on Friday for a time to be together. They were joined by some members of their families.

Jon, Karin, and Derek Davidson of San Miguel, N.M., were Friday visitors with Claude and Jean Winters, Eglon. Mrs. Davidson is the daughter of Karl Gustafson, a Preston County native, and cousin of Mrs. Winters.

Children of the late Paul and Lela (Parks) Roth and their families met Saturday and Sunday at Blackwater State Park for their annual reunion. Darrell and Robert Roth of Morgantown, Doyle and Roland "Sam" Roth of Ohio, Norma Lantz of South Carolina and Marlene Taylor of California were the children present. Also, Lois Powell's husband Joe and the family of the late Dale Roth, along with many from the families of those children, were present.

Guests this weekend with Mary Jane and Lorain Hanline were Shirley and Harold Doolittle of Ohio, Mrs. Hanline's sister.

Claude and Jean Winters were accompanied by their daughter, Linda Lewis, on a Sunday trip to Clarksburg to attend the 101st birthday observance for Mrs. Goldie Summerville at the First United Methodist Church there. Mrs. Summerville is in reasonably good health and resides in Nutter Fort, where she and her daughter, JoAnn Winters, have adjoining homes. Also present were her grandchildren, Gary and Ruth Winters of Lake Floyd, and Carol and Joe Julian and Kristina Norton of Alpharetta, Ga., along with the great-grandchildren, Lauren, Amy, and Michael Julian.

Paul Stemple lost the end of his thumb in an accident last Monday and was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He returned Tuesday to his home at Aurora.

Barbara Hauser, Clara Spaid, Doris Arnold, and Ellen Harsh attended a Leaders of Learning Conference for school personnel held in Charleston, August 3-5.

The Horse Shoe Run Farm Women's Circle met at Cynthia Bachtel's new home on Aug. 5 and surprised her with a pound shower. There were 16 members and five guests present for games and fun.

The first reunion of the Twila and Mark Bachtel family was held on Saturday, Aug. 8, at the former Bachtel home, with 61 family members and three guests from California, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

There were 107 in attendance at the Bachtel reunion held Sunday, Aug. 9, at Farmers' Wildlife Park. Door prizes were awarded and there were games for children. Barbara Flynn retained her position as president.

Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel's 50th wedding anniversary was Sunday, Aug. 9, and that evening, members of their family, 50 of them for the 50th anniversary, gathered at their home for homemade ice cream and cake. The family gathered from seven states.

Those who attended National Youth Conference at Fort Collins, Colo., from the Brookside Church of the Brethren were Rhett Beckman, Valerie Wiles, Jessica Shaffer, and Anthony Hillery. Connie Nicklow and Shirley Lipscomb served as advisors.

Courtney Fint Named Forest Fest Princess

Courtney Purgitt Fint, 19, of Aurora will appear as a princess in the 62nd annual Mountain State Forest Festival. The daughter of Joseph W. and Stacy S. Fint received her appointment to the royal court from Dr. E. Clifton Hyre, president of the Mountain State Forest Festival Association.

Fint, a 1997 graduate of Preston High School, served as class president in her junior and senior years. She is a member of the National Honor Society, and she participated in Teen Institute, track, the speech team, and show choir. A National Merit Scholarship finalist, she received the Hardesty Math Award and the Top of the Mountain Award.

Now a sophomore at West Virginia University, Fint is a Presidential Scholar and member of the honors program. She serves as president of Helvetia, the sophomore honorary, and is active in Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity.

An 11-year member of the Aurora Pioneers 4-H Club, the princess is also active in collegiate 4-H. She traveled to Russia in 1997 as a delegate in the 4-H exchange. As a volunteer camping assistant, she works in 4-H camps throughout the state.

Fint's interests include piano and musical theater. She is pursuing a degree in mechanical engineering at WVU.

"I would like to earn a master's degree in architecture at Carnegie-Mellon University," said Fint. "My dream is to be an 'imagineer' for Disney."

Country Fest And Auction Fun For All

by Linda Maast

The fourth annual Country Fest and Auction will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry on Saturday, Aug. 22. This one-day event, which runs from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., is sponsored by the Dry Run Mennonite Church and provides an interesting mix of demonstrations, exhibits, Gospel music, activities, and specialty foods. There is no charge for admission or parking.

The day begins at 8 a.m. with hotcakes and sausage or sausage gravy over biscuits. You'll also want to try one of Leona's fresh, warm raised doughnuts with your morning coffee (and maybe take home a dozen for tomorrow's coffee!).

Exhibits also open at 8 a.m. The spacious, attractive crafts area features Amish-made pine wood crafts and accessories. Children and adults alike enjoy browsing in the Art, Gift, and Card Shoppe for gift ideas. If reading is of interest to you, allow ample time for the "Choice Books" book stand with hundreds of wholesome reading titles, most at discounted prices.

Along with the homemade goodies at the baked goods stand, you will find homemade jellies, jams, noodles, and Beachy's applebutter. Be sure to try the whole wheat breads made from freshly ground wheat and containing no white flour, or a loaf of the white bread if you prefer.

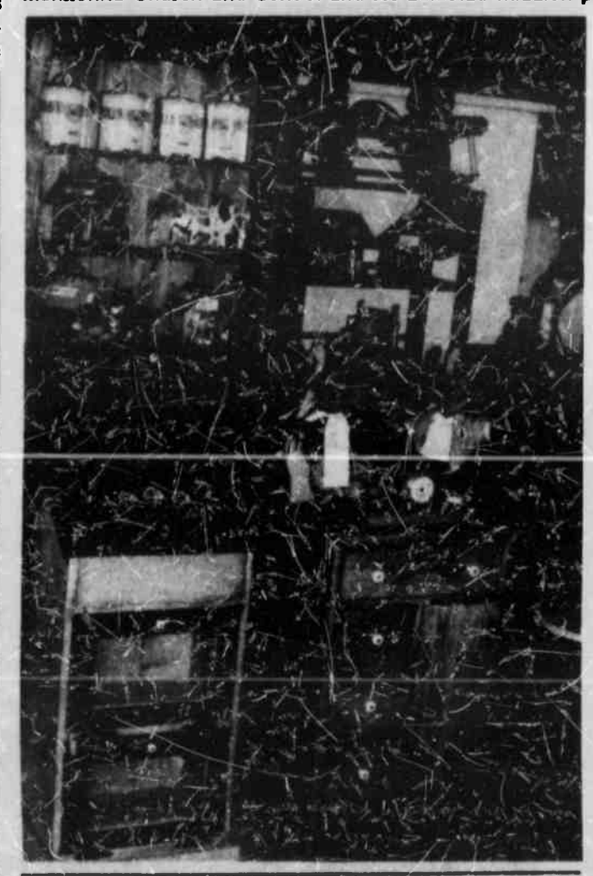
Throughout the day various demonstrations will include hammermill grain grinding, apple cider pressing, homemade ice cream freezing, and quilting. You can watch the cow get milked, and the cream separated and churned into butter.

Ever wished for a ride in a buggy? Adults and children alike enjoy the horse and buggy rides as well as the hay rides. Another highlight for children is the "Barrels of Fun" ride—a train of 50-gallon barrels converted into "cars" and pulled by an "engine" garden tractor. There are also pony rides, a live animal petting zoo, and a series of wholesome children's videos shown throughout the day. A new feature this year is the children's pedal tractor pull.

Food booths offer fresh hand-rolled soft pretzels, funnel cakes, homemade ice cream, chicken BBQ, a lunch stand, and cotton candy.

The lively and spirited auction begins at 10:30 a.m. All new Amish-made oak and pine furniture, dinner bells, oriental rugs, baskets, and collectibles, including current and retired Beanies, will be auctioned.

In-home dinner meal tickets are also auctioned off. Families from the sponsoring church offer to prepare and serve a meal in their own homes on a mutually agreed upon date. You pick the type of meal and number of tickets you wish to purchase.



At 1 p.m. the excitement mounts as the quilt auction begins, and one by one these carefully stitched pieces of art are sold to the highest bidder. These machine-pieced, handquilted, full-sized quilts, wall quilts, tree skirts, table runners, and Amish dolls will be on display from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. before being moved to the auction.

One thing which makes this festival unique is that there are no vendors and nothing is sold on consignment. All proceeds are for the building fund of the sponsoring church and for designated missions projects.

For more information on the Country Fest and Auction interested persons may call 301-895-3268 or 301-746-8429.

THE COUNTRY FEST AND AUCTION is slated for Saturday, Aug. 22, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. The event, the fourth annual of its kind, will feature numerous exhibits, activities, refreshments, and demonstrations, and is highlighted by an auction of furniture, rugs, crafts, Beanie Babies, meal tickets, and handcrafted quilts. Lorraine Bender, shown above, will be rolling her soft pretzels, perfected with her secret recipe, that will be available for sale. Below is a selection of Amish-made oak and pine furniture that will be auctioned off. There is no admission charge for the event, and all proceeds are designated for the expansion and building programs of the Dry Run Mennonite Church and School and for selected mission projects.

Candidates Are Reminded Of Monday Deadline

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County reminds candidates that the deadline to submit their Voters Guide materials to the league is this coming Monday, Aug. 17. Each candidate has been asked to submit a background profile (in 50 words or less) and a statement (in 75 words or less) as to why he or she would be the best person for the job. This information should be submitted to the league at LWVGC, P.O. Box 115, Oakland.

The Voters Guide will be published in the Thursday, Sept. 10, issue of The Republican newspaper. This guide will contain information on all candidates running for local, state, and national offices. Voters are urged to save this guide for reference in both the primary and general elections.

Voters are reminded that August 17 is the deadline for submitting questions to be considered for the two forums, slated for Sunday, Aug. 30, and Sunday, Sept. 13, at Garrett Community College. The first forum will cover the races for circuit court judge, sheriff, state senator, and state delegate. The second forum will feature the candidates for the board of education and county commissioner races. Questions may be submitted to the league at the above address or to Virginia Grove, league president, at 301-334-8259 or ggrove@gcnet.net.

August 17 is also the deadline to register to vote in the Primary Election. "The league urges those who haven't yet registered to do so by next Monday," said a league spokesperson. "Then come to the forums, read the Voters Guide, and cast your votes at the polls. Each additional vote can make a true difference, especially in such a sparsely populated area as Garrett County. Your vote represents your voice in your government."

SHARING THE HONOR - Zachary Trautwein and Nail Buckal shared the honor of earning the Grantsville Elementary School math award. The two students each scored 99.9% in math. In the photo left to right are Zachary, son of Chuck and Pam Trautwein, Grantsville; math teacher Tonya Hostetler; and Nail, son on Randy and Pam Buckal, Bittinger. Both boys were second grade students when they won the award for the second year in a row.

RE-ELECT WAYNE WILT

for Garrett County Commissioner

District One

Fire Departments & Rescue Squads

Wilt supports our fire depatments and rescue squads. Their members are well trained for all emergencies. They are well respected and professional in every way. Many examples of their heroism and expertise can be given. Two recent disasters are classic examples of the type of people that we all depend on every day: The tornadoes in Friendsville, Accident, Finzel, Frostburg and Salisbury, PA., and the accidental fire that destroyed the G-P Garage in Grantsville. Wilt gives thanks to all who gave their volunteer services to the committees on these occasions and the many other times they have been called upon.

4-H Club News

COUNTRY KIDS

by Sarah Rexroad

The July meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was held on Harvey's farm. A picnic was held after farm tours were completed.

The meeting was started with Bobby Barnard reporting on the club camping trip, Arthur Pysell on District Spring Show, and Ashley Tuck on weigh-in and tagging.

The club decided on a float for the fair parade, and a planning meeting was scheduled.

The club's August meeting will be held at the fair on Friday with a picnic.

Earn GCC Foundation Scholarships

JAMIE BECKMAN

LAURA MILLER

Two 1996 graduates of Northern High School have recently been awarded scholarships by the Garrett Community College Foundation to continue their education, according to Bretta Reinhard, advancement officer.

Jamie Beckman, daughter of Jimmy and Mary Beckman, Swanton, plans to be a medical laboratory technician when she completes her college education. She has received the Civic Club of Oakland Patience W. Grant Memorial Scholarship and the GCC General Scholarship.

In high school Beckman was treasurer of FHA for three years, a teacher assistant, and a member of the Math Assistance Club in her senior year. She lists readmg as her hobby and is a member of the Lakeside Assembly of God Church and the Holy Fire Youth Group.

Laura Miller, daughter of Francis and Ruth Miller, Accident, is undecided about her future career but lists computer engineer, landscape architect, or a business-related career as possibilities. She has received the Hazel Fratz Wright Scholarship and the GCC General Scholarship.

In high school Miller was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students, and was a member of the Honor Roll and the National Honor Society, the School Improvement Team, and the Engineering and the Calculus clubs. Her hobbies are reading, walking, and playing the piano. She is a member of the Bethesda Church of the Brethren Youth Group, the Bittinger 4-H Club, and was past president of the GCC Math Club.

Inservice Set For Substitutes

In preparation for the new school year, the Garrett County Board of Education will hold a required inservice for new substitutes. The half-day session, scheduled to be held at Garrett Community College, Room 306, August 18, beginning at 8:30 a.m., is one of five requirements for individuals who wish to have their names added to the list of those who will serve as substitute teachers.

The primary requirement for inclusion on the list is a four-year college degree. Additional requirements are a criminal background check, a pre-employment drug test, and a tuberculoss test

Interested persons who possess the initial qualifications are invited to attend the inservice session, which will focus on board of education policies and classroom management techniques.

"These substitutes provide a very valuable service for the board of education. Having a sufficieut list of qualified individuals enables instruction to contiuuc on a daily basis — even on those occasions when it is necessary for the teacher to be absent from the class room," said Henrietta Lease, coordinator of the substitute pools.

Behavior support teacher Maggie Hockman aad coordinator of staff development Pam Neal will join Lease in conducting the ia-service session.

Perhaps the occupants of these rocking chairs have gone for a swim in the surf or a stroll on the sand on this hot August day. No doubt, however, they will soon return to the comfortable spot on the porch where the sands cannot scorch their feet, nor the sun burn their skin.

No matter what the season, we need a place of comfort...a place of solace...a refuge from the pressures of everyday.

Enter God's house knowing that you find a place of comfort and relief. In Isaiah 25:4-5, we are assured that God is our "Shade from the heat"...and Isaiah praises God as he further proclaims "thou dost subdue the noise of the aliens as heat by the shade of a cloud."

Seek your solace in the shadow of the protective love of our Almighty Father. Worship Him this week. You will find comfort in His House.

R

YOU MUST BE SICK?

Your body has the ability to fight off disease. At the first symptom of an inviting infection, the body manufactures its own antibody for relief.

Unfortunately, if your body has not sufficient energy and strength, the battle can be lost. That is why it pays to visit your physician regularly for a check-up. He can prescribe medication, when needed, to make your body strong enough to fight sickness.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WATCH YOUR MOUTH!
August 16, 1998

Background Scriptures:
Proverbs 11:12,13; 12:18; 13:3; 15:1,2,23. 23, 28; 16:24; 17:27; 21:23; 26:21,28
Devotional Reading:
James 3:1-12

When I was about ten years old, I spent a lot of my lazy days of summer at the town playground where there was a lot of organized activity, including a baseball team that played in a township playground league. I was a bit too young to be on the team, but I took pride in its accomplishments.

One day, a few of the older boys were talking about a game that was scheduled to be played that evening. Joining in the camaraderie, I asked, "Do you think we will win?" I'll never forget one older boy who turned to look at me with an Olympian sneer and said: "Where do you get this 'we' stuff?" I realized then that he was telling me I did not belong. It was a painful experience that I have never completely forgotten. I have long since forgiven him, whoever he was.

I don't know who first said, "Sticks and stones may break my bones, but names will never hurt me." It was a good enough rhyme, I suppose, but as one more precept. I have known so many people who have been very hurt by careless or mean words. Someone once said to me, "Well, sticks and stones can hurt us physically, while words can only hurt our feelings." But even that is erroneous: spoken or written words can sometimes cause physical pain, too, because feelings are often transformed into physical symptoms.

EMBELLISH THE TRUTH

If we want to be followers of Christ, we had better watch our mouths! It is easier said than done (so am I—indeed). One man told me he had always found it possible to keep the Ten Commandments, except "Thou shalt not bear false witness..." "I don't mean to be," he told me, "but when I'm talking about my neighbor I find it hard not to embellish the truth, in any favor."

Sprinkled throughout the Book of Proverbs is a rich instrument of warnings about the danger of not controlling what comes out of our mouths.

"He who belittles his neighbor lacks sense... He who goes about as a talebearer reveals secrets..." (11:12)

"There is one whose rash words are like sword thrusts..." (12:18)

"He who opens wide his lips comes to ruin." (13:3)

"A harsh word stirs up anger... the mouths of fools pour out folly." (15:1,2)

"As charcoal to hot embers and wood to fire, so is a quarrelsome man for kindling strife." (26:21)

"A lying tongue hates its victims, and a flattering mouth works ruin." (26:28)

FROM MIND TO MOUTH

Deriding others, spreading falsities, speaking rash words, uttering harsh judgments, quarreling, lying, flattering—these are all ways in which we cause others pain by the words that come from our mouths. The source of these evil words, of course, is not the mouth but the mind and spirit. Our mouths only reflect what is inside us.

The mouth, however, can be used for good as well as for evil. Proverbs is just as explicit in cataloguing these. Instead of belittling, a man of understanding remains "silent" and "he who is trustworthy in spirit keeps a thing hidden" (11:12,13). While he who speaks rashly injures, "the tongue of the wise men brings healing" (12:18). While the man who does not restrain his tongue brings ruin upon himself, "He who guards his mouth preserves his life" (13:3). Harsh words stir up anger, but "A soft answers turns away wrath" and "the tongue of the wise dispenses knowledge" (15:1,2). "He who restrains his words has knowledge, and he who has a cool spirit is a man of understanding" (17:27). "He who keeps his mouth and his tongue keeps himself out of trouble" (21:23).

By way long carefully what we say, we help and heal others instead of hurting them. With soft, peaceful words we can dissipate anger and hostility. We can save others from sin and share knowledge. And, if we do, our own lives will be blessed as well.

GCC Foundation Meeting Notes Successful Year

The annual meeting of the Garrett Community College Foundation was held recently, and was marked by the election of officers of the GCCF board of directors and by a review of the year's activity, according to advancement officer Bretta Reinhard.

Ann M. Smith was re-elected president of the board for a third two-year term, while William G. Weissgerber Jr. will serve as vice president, Jeffrey S. McCauley was elected treasurer, and Phyllis K. Vitez was elected secretary. Smith honored retiring board member Susan W. Case, saying, "Sue Case was certainly a key person in the critical start-up phase of the Foundation. She chaired the Scholarship Committee for many years . . . , [and] provided effective leadership to this important function. Sue will be missed personally and professionally," said Smith.

Another highlight of the meeting was a review of the number of generous donations received by the GCCF over the past year. Garrett County native Edward B. Hinebaugh donated $10,000 to establish an endowed scholarship, and the Foundation intends to make an annual award of the Edward and Hazel Hinebaugh Scholarship in perpetuity. The board also noted the additional contributions of Oakland resident Ann Dilgard towards the principal of the endowed scholarship she had previously established at the college.

The GCC Foundation was also selected to be the recipient of memorial donations by two families this year. The late Fred Clark Carroll and the late Lucille Browning Grant were honored by these charitable contributions.

Saluting these and the other donations received by the Foundation this past year, Smith commented "The GCC Foundation sincerely appreciates the generosity of individuals, organizations, and businesses throughout the past year."

The GCC Foundation awards competitive merit and need scholarships to individuals to pursue higher education at GCC. The Foundation is responsible for nearly $35,000 of scholarship support for the 1998-99 academic year at GCC. The Foundation also supported the acquisition of hardbound volumes for the library, provided scholarships for women athletes, and contributed to the co-curriculum program in the past year. "Garrett Community College is a significant community resource," emphasized Weissgerber. "We ask you to kindly remember and generously support the GCCF."

The assets of the GCC Foundation were managed by the trust department of the First United Bank and Trust, and Rodeheaver and Association audited the Foundation for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Person interested in further information about the GCCF may call 301-387-3100.

New Horizons Now Accepting New Applicants

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College is now accepting new program participants for the 1999 funding year. New Horizons is the center for single parents, displaced homemakers, and single pregnant women, and is designed to help program participants access training so that they will have the necessary job skills to make them self-sufficient.

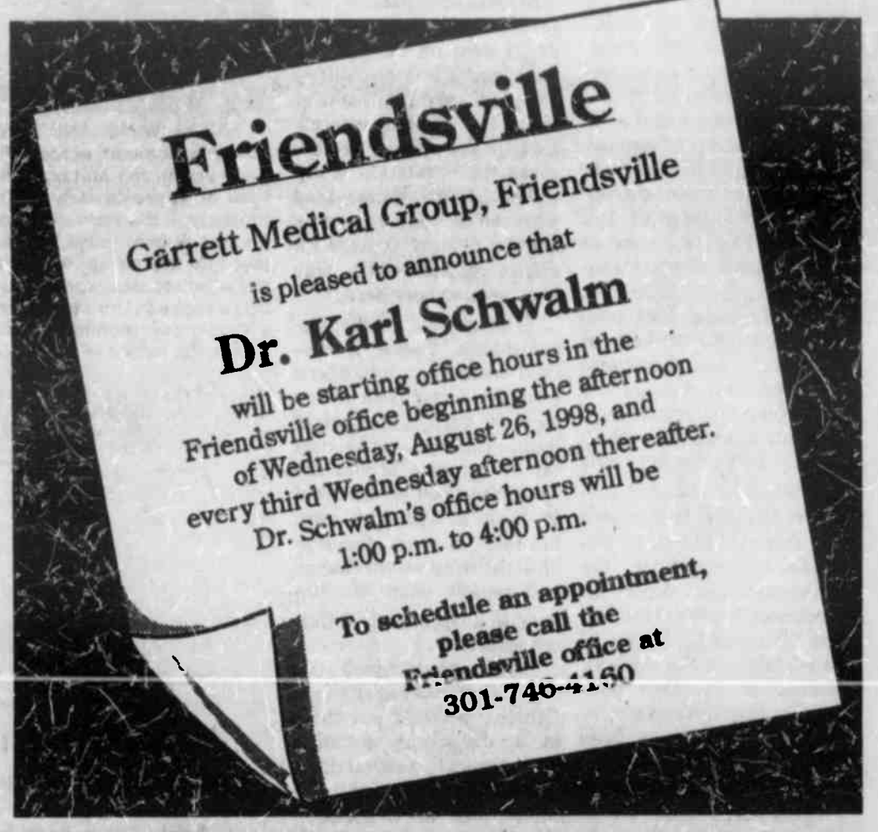
Those eligible for the program include: single parents who are unmarried or legally separated from a spouse with sole or joint custody of a minor child or children or are currently pregnant; displaced homemakers who are adults with diminished job skills, who have lost their primary source of income through divorce, death, or disability of a spouse, and who are unemployed or underemployed; and homemakers who lack marketable job skills because they have been caring for their family and home without salary.

New Horizons can offer program participants the following services: counseling and support, which includes career exploration, goal setting, and action plan; Career Planning, a five-week, 10-session class of self-evaluation and career exploration tuition assistance for credit and non-credit vocational classes at GCC; child care and/or transportation assistance while attending training; and referrals to community agencies for additional services.

New Horizons can help program participants to: obtain a Graduation Equivalency Diploma (GED); explore and develop vocational interests and expand job options; identify work needs, motivation, and marketable skills; investigate and evaluate occupations, training programs, and sources of financial aid to attend college; and review employment options.

For information about the program or to determine eligibility, persons may call 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3102 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90% of the total budget for New Horizons, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10% of the total budget for New Horizons.



Democratic Club Picnic Scheduled

The Garrett County Democratic Club invites all local Democrats to attend its 1998 picnic on Friday, Aug. 21, starting at 5:30 p.m. at the Lions Club pavilion at the fairgrounds in McHenry. The keynote speaker will be Secretary of State of Maryland John Willis.

Democratic candidates for local and regional offices will be present and will speak briefly. Dave "Junior" Martin, the club president, will be the master of ceremonies. The menu will include beef, chicken, and Italian sausage, prepared by chef Larry Roby, and various homemade accompaniments (baked beans, corn, potatoes, green beans, applesauce, cole slaw, and desserts) prepared by club members. Dinner will be served starting at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets must be purchased in advance and are $12 each and are available from Joan Raynovich at 301-334-3434.

ATTENTION ALL MEMBERS, FORMER MEMBERS & HONORARY MEMBERS OF SOUTHERN GARRETT COUNTY RESCUE SQUAD

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad is planning a 25th Anniversary Celebration, and we would like to invite all former regular and honorary members. Many of these people have lost contact with our organization, and we need help finding them. If anyone has any information that can help us locate the following people, please contact us at 301-334-1379 and leave a message. Thank you for your help!

Local DNR Ranger Travels To Florida To Help Fight Wildfires

This summer's unusual weather patterns have been responsible for a variety of climate-related problems around the nation, but few situations were as widespread and as damaging as the Florida wildfires. Burning from May until July, the wildfires claimed over 500,000 acres of Florida's forestland, and drew firefighters and support personnel from across the nation to do battle with the blazes.

Among those who responded to the call for assistance was Louise Upole, a Department of Natural Resources forest ranger who works out of DNR's district office at Mt. Nebo.

The Garrett County native, who graduated with a degree in forestry and wildlife from Garrett Community College and lives in Oakland with her husband Donald, spent a total of five weeks in Florida as one of approximately 60 Marylanders who lent assistance. From Memorial Day until July 15, Upole worked for at least 12 and sometimes as many as 17½ hours a day, with only three days off to come home for a short respite between her duty stations.

Upole's first assignment put her behind the dispatcher's console in the communications center at base camp for the "Holiday" fire, 30 miles southwest of Tallahassee in the western reaches of Florida's panhandle. For 15 consecutive days she worked as head dispatcher, coordinating over 150 firefighters and support personnel at a time who were battling the Holiday fire, so named because it started on Memorial Day. That fire claimed over 24,000 acres of the Appalachicola National Forest, an area over six times the surface area of Deep Creek Lake.

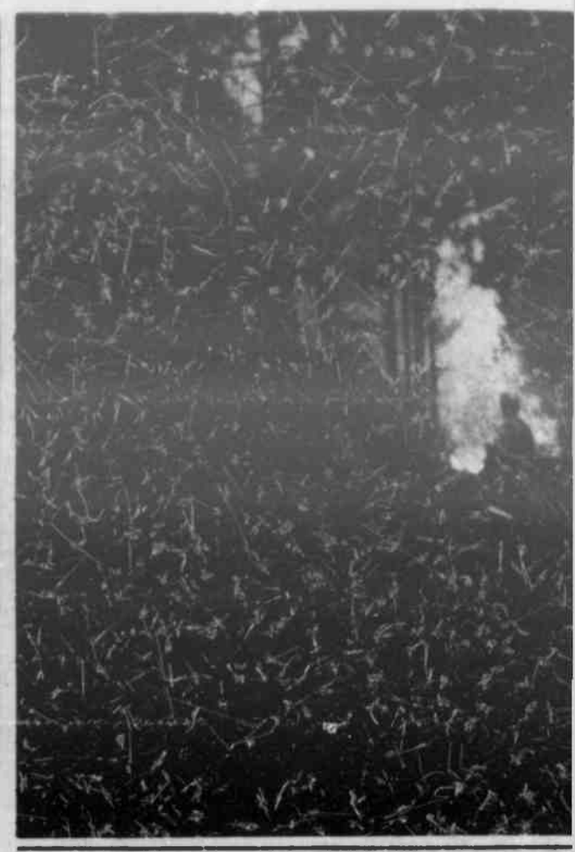
"Our communications center was in a doublewide trailer, where we worked, ate, and slept," said Upole. "Coordinating an aerial tanker, four helicopters, four 18-wheel water tenders, a dozen engines, and supervisors, medical units, and other personnel on one radio frequency would get a little crazy at times. We would eat at the dispatcher's console, grabbing bites when we could between the radio and telephone traffic."

Luckily, the Holiday fire burned in an area not populated by humans, and the wildlife that call the area home had ample time to escape. Still, the blaze earned the grudging respect of Upole and her counterparts. "That was an especially dangerous fire," she commented. "I went on the fire line once, and it was very different than anything I've ever seen. The climate was extremely hot all day, and because the vegetation is different down there than what we're used to here in Garrett County, it made for a different kind of fire than you could expect here.

"The ground in the Appalachicola Forest is covered with vines, which run from the forest floor to the tops of very tall, straight trees. The fire would start on the ground in the dry vines, then run up the trees to burn in the tree tops, heading in one direction until the wind would change and rapidly whip the fire back in a completely different direction.

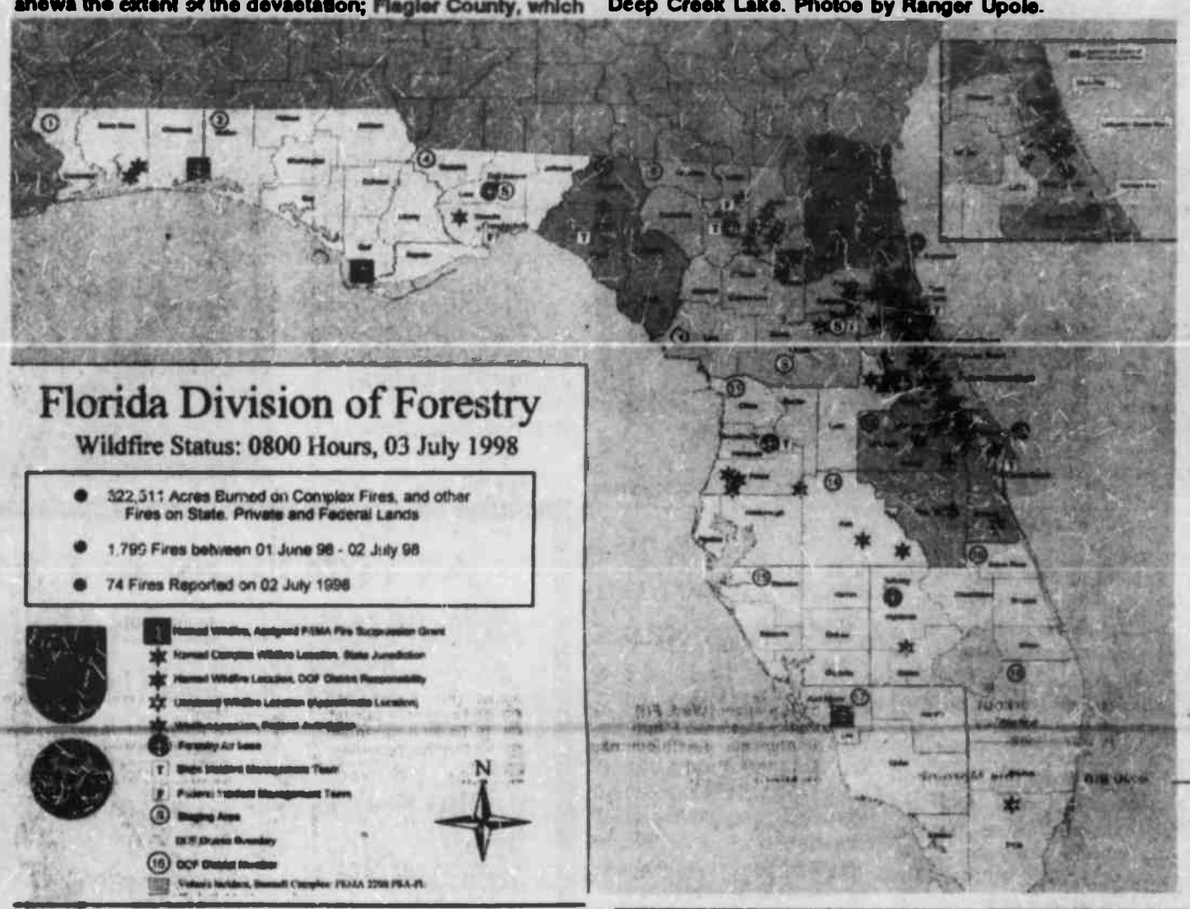
"With that going on above the heads of the firefighters, it could put them in a dangerous situation rather quickly. Several times during our operations different units had to abandon the hose and immediately take to their vehicles to get away," Upole recalled.

"Another problem area comes into play when an intense, large-scale fire creates its own weather. The heat build-up will cause heat to rise thousands of feet into the air, and come into contact with the clouds, making the clouds slow down, bunch up, and drop rain and lightning." While any rain at all was welcomed, Upole said that heat-related rain's positive effects were negated by the lighting that accompanied such quick showers. "One time lightning struck very close to the helipad," she said, "and that was scary."



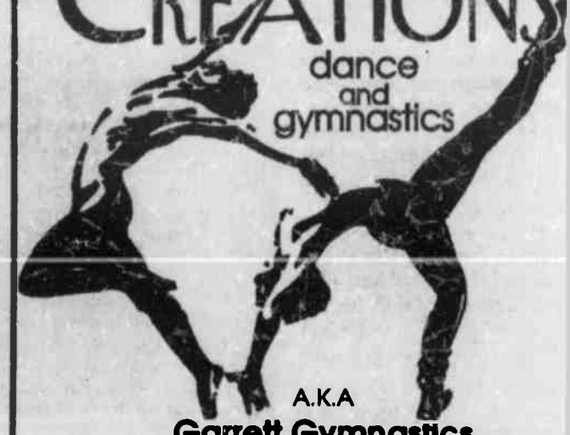
The Holiday fire was contained by the second week of July, and after a short trip home, "long enough to do the laundry and pack up again," Upole returned to Florida to work as a member of a crew who coordinated the demobilization of all firefighting units in the state.

"Six of us were responsible for making sure everyone got home OK," she said, "taking care of airline, train, bus arrangements for thousands of people. Forty-five states, the U.S. Forest Service, the National Guard, the Red Cross, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and the Florida Division of Forestry had sent firefighters and support personnel over the course of the situation, and we had to get them home when it was over."



After 21 days in the demobilization unit, it was time for Upole herself to pack up and head for home. She is now back on duty in the more familiar environs of Garrett County, but ready and willing to go wherever, whenever, she and her co-workers are asked to go lend a hand.

"It was quite an experience," the 18-year DNR veteran said. "It was very tiring, of course, but very rewarding. Everyone there was very enthusiastic and ready to help out, and everywhere you went people said how much they appreciated what we were doing. I'd do it again in a heartbeat."



EARTH, WIND, AND FIRE made for a volatile combination this summer across Florida, as wildfires fed by dry trees and brush and propelled by swirling winds burned a total of approximately 1,000 square miles of landscape throughout the state. (For comparison, Garrett County covers 664 square miles.) Above, smoke billows hundreds of feet into the air above the Appalachicola National Forest while bulldozers work feverishly to create a fire break. A blaze rages in the photo at right under the watchful eye of a firefighter monitoring the situation. The map below shows the extent of the devastation; Flagler County, which drew national attention when a county-wide evacuation was ordered by emergency officials, lies on the northeastern coast between Jacksonville and Daytona. DNR ranger and Garrett County native Louise Upole spent a total of five weeks assisting the firefighting efforts, including 15 days as head dispatcher for the fire in the Appalachicola Forest, which is marked on this map by the westernmost "star inside a box" in the state's panhandle. That fire burned over 24,000 acres of forest from Memorial Day through July 12, an area over six times the surface area of Deep Creek Lake. Photos by Ranger Upole.

COVER STORY

Whole new ball game for Monday nights

By Mark Costello
©TVData Features Syndicate

Boomer Esiason

It is first and 10 for ABC's Monday Night Football. The TV sports fixture is starting anew.

After ABC signed a hefty new contract with the National Football League in January ($550 million a year through 2005), the network started tinkering with it's No. 1-rated program. Check out all the X's and O's when MNF begins its 29th season on Monday, Aug. 17, with a preseason matchup between the Dallas Cowboys and New England Patriots in Mexico City.

ABC's most groundbreaking move was the hiring of Lesley Visser. She will be the first female member of MNF's broadcast team, reporting from the sidelines.

Visser is used to being first. She was the first female reporter to cover the World Series, the first female NFL beat writer (when she covered the Patriots for The Boston Globe) and the first female sideline reporter at the Super Bowl.

And please don't mention Visser in the same breath with Phyllis George, the former Miss America who co-hosted The NFL Today on CBS for eight seasons in the '70s. George was a personality, albeit a pioneer, while Visser is a seasoned and passionate sports reporter.

"Lesley is one of the hardest-working and best-connected television journalists covering the NFL," says Steve Anderson, an ABC vice president.

To accommodate her dedication to football, Visser even scheduled her wedding to fellow sportscaster Dick Stockton in the off-week before the Super Bowl in 1983.

"Now Dick goes in the MNF spouse program – on-site shopping and aerobics," ABC spokesman Mark Mandel quips.

Another famous spouse, Frank Gifford, will host the brand-new MNF pregame show after 27 years in the broadcast booth.

"Frank requested this so he can spend more time with his family," Mandel says.

Speculation remains as to whether Gifford, who has been heavily criticized in recent years for his work on MNF, truly wants to spend more time with Kathie Lee or was demoted and allowed to save face.

Gifford's replacement in the booth is Boomer Esiason. The former Cincinnati Bengals quarterback will join MNF holdovers Al Michaels and Dan Dierdorf.

The Bengals were hoping Esiason would return this season after he replaced Jeff Blake and went 4-1 as a starter last season. But MNF's offer was too good to pass up.

Esiason will punch the clock at an earlier time than Gifford ever did because Monday Night Football games are moving to 8:15 p.m. Eastern time from the 9 p.m. time slot they have held since the show's inception in 1970. The pregame show airs 15 minutes before the game.

This is good news for employers who have had to put up with bleary-eyed, coffee-swilling workers on Tuesday mornings, especially after overtime games.

ABC's Eastern affiliates should be happy, as the games might actually end around 11 p.m., meaning the local stations can air their newscasts to a larger audience.

The push to increase viewership on local and network levels is why MNF has two new franchise "players" and a bedtime-friendlier time slot. Now all ABC wants is a big ratings win.

TRIVIA

TV-PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels

John Leguizamo

Q: What was the name of the short-lived variety show on Fox starring John Leguizamo? I think it was called Mad House or something like that. –Steve W., Beaumont, Texas.

A: Leguizamo headed the high-energy cast of House of Buggin', which aired in early 1995.

Q: We have not seen or heard of Jeff Smith (The Frugal Gourmet) for some time. What has become of him? –C.J. Travis via e-mail.

A: Smith, a 59-year-old ordained Methodist minister, reached an out-of-court settlement on July 1 with seven men who accused him of sexually molesting them when they were teen-agers.

Terms of the settlement, which did not include any admission of guilt from Smith, include an undisclosed sum to be paid to the men, who have dropped their lawsuits in return.

No criminal charges ever were filed against Smith, because the statute of limitations had run out since the time of the alleged incidents. It remains to be seen whether "The Frug," as Smith calls himself, will be able to revive his career.

Q: Is Jodi Benson, the voice of Ariel in Disney's The Little Mermaid, married to Robby Benson? Has she done any other voices for Disney? –Paula Jones, Dunmore, Pa.

A: No, Robby Benson is married to singer Karla DeVito, whom he met when the two starred on Broadway in The Pirates of Penzance.

Jodi Benson provided the voice of Weebo in the recent Disney hit Flubber.

Q: In The Pretender, Andrea Parker plays a character named Andrea Parker. Is there any special reason for such an usual situation? –Camille Minichino, San Leandro, Calif.

A: Actually, her character's name is Miss Parker, a fairly common name (the first name has never been revealed). And it's sheer coincidence.

Q: I enjoyed 'N Sync's Disney Channel concert. How old are the members of the group? –Jessie via e-mail.

A: Chris Kirkpatrick is the eldest at 26, while lead singer Justin Timberlake, 17, is the youngest. Falling in between are Joshua "J.C." Chasez, 22; Joey Fantone Jr., 21, and Lance Bass, 19.

DANGER! DANGER, TAYLOR MICHAELS!: My recent response that Bob May provided the voice of the robot on Lost in Space did not compute with many of the show's fans, who quickly pointed out that while May was the actor inside the robot suit, the voice was provided by veteran announcer Dick Tufeld. Thanks to all who wrote.

IN FOCUS

Mr. Bill, the imperiled (and frequently flattened) character of Saturday Night Live fame, makes his debut on the Fox Family Channel Monday, Aug. 17, as host of Ohh, Noooo!!! Mr. Bill Presents.

Now a star living in Los Angeles, the only clay member of the Not Ready for Prime Time Players presents sketch comedy from around the world.

Look for appearances by Gumby (now at his Malibu, Calif., home) and Las Vegas singer Wayne Newton.

Insley Enters Race For D-I Commissioner

David C. Insley has formally anuounced that he will be seeking the elected position of Garrett County commissioner in District I. The primary election for this and several other county and state posts will be held on September 15.

Insley was born and reared in Maryland and has been a resident of Garrett County since June of 1979. During that time, Insley has made his living in the private sector and is currently self-employed. He is owner and broker of a real estate referral company and is a partner in two other businesses, which include a property management company and a hot tub business.

Insley's statement about his candidacy is as follows:

"I have chosen to run because I am passionate about seeing this county reach its full potential in the years ahead. I firmly believe that if elected I can make a difference in solving the challenges we are now facing, defining the goals we need to set to expand our economy, and then working toward achieving those goals. It is a pledge I have made to myself, my family, and to the people of Garrett County.

"With so many choices in the commissioners' race, it is imperative that the candidates running for office address the core issues we are facing now. That way the voters can make an informed decision at the polls this September on who will best represent them and act on their behalves once elected.

"Most of these issues are tied together, and making a wrong decision on one will significantly affect the others. They include jobs, roads, education, health choices, real estate values, community spirit, government services, public safety, and business opportunities. These are all interwoven into the fabric of our economy, and wrong decisions in any one of these areas will dramatically impact the others."

Insley has a diversified background, having held jobs and pursued occupations over the past several years in various trades, both as employee and professional. These include construction laborer; sound man for a movie company that produced commercials, documentaries and training films; carpenter for a building construction company; an operator at a stationary manufacturer; lead mechanic on the Washington, D.C., subway; welder and shop foreman for a metal fabrication plant; machinist; bartender; waiter; real estate agent; property manager; and business owner.

"I have always worked in the private sector and have made a living for myself either as an employee or by being a self-employed business owner. I have never depended upon the government to provide for my livelihood and, if elected, I will continue to derive income from my businesses. I feel this diversity qualifies me as a candidate of the people with a better understanding of the challenges that we face in dealing with our government and the obstacles that we sometimes face when it comes to job growth," Insley said.

"Besides the economy, the county is facing many other challenges today. Most importantly is the sale of Deep Creek Lake. We must make no mistake about it — this is the economic engine of our county from which we all derive benefits in the form of tax revenues, sale of supplies, maintenance and construction services, restaurants, trade, real estate sales, development opportunities, guide services, recreational outlets, etc. We must assure that the ownership, control, and profits it generates will continue to do so by being properly managed.

"During my years in real estate as a property manager, I learned that a critical element of any signed contract was simply this — the contract is only as good as the person who signs it. It is the same way with our government — it is only as good as the people who are elected and the voters who support, participate, and oversee its operation. If elected, I believe that I can fulfill that requirement.

"Since filing for office, I have had the opportunity to meet all of the candidates in my election district. I have found them to be good, civic-minded, family orientated people who are involved in various activities and projects for the betterment of the community. I believe I have those same qualities. Therefore, the decision that will be facing voters on September 15 isn't about the caliber of the candidate, but the issues, goals, and plans we each have for the county's future. We need to vote not only for the candidate, but for the issues and the solutions for our families' futures in Garrett County."

Insley lives in Mountain Lake Park with his wife Victoria and two daughters Tori and Trista. He has named Kathleen M. Skipper as his treasurer.

Douglas Railey Seeking Seat Of Commissioner

Douglas R. Railey of Oakland has announced that he is seeking the position of Garrett County commissioner as a Republican candidate in the third district. Railey, 47, has been employed locally in the insurance and financial services business for the past 25 years and is married to Barbara J. Lucas. He is also the parent of a 10-year-old son.

Railey cited a number of reasons for seeking the office of Garrett County commissioner, the number one being job creation. "I received a phone call from a friend of mine in Pittsburgh in March of 1994. He had just heard on the radio that Bausch & Lomb had announced the closing of several manufacturing facilities, they mentioned Oakland by name. I phoned the county commissioners' office and they assured me that 'all was well' and that the plant was 'here to stay.' I suggested that they confront the plant manager with this information and get to the bottom of it before it was too late. They did absolutely nothing, and over 600 jobs slipped silently away, including my wife's job of 22 years. It was an unnecessary loss of jobs due to a lack of vision.

Railey said he feels that proper resources and efforts have not been directed towards replacing these jobs, but have instead been directed towards "half-baked attempts at covering up one scandal after the other and using funds that should have gone to job creation and education to unsuccessfully defend individuals who were ultimately convicted of felony crimes."

Railey suggests that the commissioners' office has had its priorities "out of order" and that "the proof of this is obvious."

Railey said he is convinced that it is possible to bring goodpaying jobs with benefits to the citizens of Garrett County. "We live in an area that is blessed with a natural beauty and quality of life that is seldom found elsewhere in America today," he said. We also have great people who are ready, willing and able to work if given the opportunity. The folks at Bausch & Lomb performed technical work that is only done at a few other places in the world today. We have many skilled and able workers in the county and they deserve their chance at the great American Dream of home-ownership and having the things that they need in order to live a comfortable life and to provide for their families. I also wonder why we allow a situation that forces our young people to have to move to less desirable areas away from home in order to earn a livable wage with benefits?

"My son is 10 years old. I want him to be able to live in the county and raise his family. Leaving the area should be an option for young people, not a necessity. We are losing our brightest and best students to other areas of the country. They should be able to remain here and contribute to our local economy as workers, teachers, and business leaders."

Railey also believes that Garrett County is well-poised for what is being called the "Digital Age" of computers, computer software, and telecommunications. "For once, Garrett County is on an even footing with much of the rest of the country when it comes to the potential opportunity that is being presented in the field of computers, software, and telecommunications," he said. While we still desperately need manufacturing jobs in the county, we need to launch a major initiative that will attract these types of firms to Garrett County. The Garrett Rural Information Cooperative at Garrett Community College was a stroke of genius that is heading us in this direction by making available much of what is needed from a technical standpoint in order to attract these firms into the county. These are the types of clean, high-tech jobs that we want to have in the county. They are environmentally friendly, good-paying and always have decent benefits. There is tremendous opportunity in these fields for our young people, plus we have an excellent school system in place that could train young and old alike for these jobs."

Railey is presently working on a project that will bring together local and nationally prominent business leaders in an effort to bring jobs into the county. "Having spent 25 years in the insurance and financial services business, I have met and made friends with many business people from all walks of life and from all parts of the country who own homes here in Garrett County," he said. "They love the area, they love the people, and they want to make a contribution to the county. They are willing to devote their time and effort at no expense to help the people of Garrett County. Many of these individuals are nationally prominent in their fields of business. They have backgrounds in manufacturing, computers, product distribution, science, medicine, healthcare, and a number of other skilled professions. They want to get together and develop a plan that will attract business to Garrett County. I believe this is the type of strategy that will ultimately bear fruit in the form of decent jobs."

Railey's other reasons for seeking the office include making county government "open, honest, and accountable" to the people. "We need to redefine the role of county government and make certain that county services are delivered efficiently and effectively with a minimal expense to the taxpayer. We also need to be sure that all functions of county government operate openly and honestly under a strict code of ethical conduct. We need to have the best employees and we need to make certain that they are adequately compensated for their work. We also need to have the jobs of county employees clearly defined so that they may go about their work without outside interference or hassle. Some departments of county government are so irretrievably demoralized under the current administration, that they find it almost impossible to perform the simplest job without fear of confrontation or criticism. If elected, I plan to sit down with the departments and get to the bottom of these problems. All departments of county government have a responsibility to the citizens of the county to perform the best possible job at a reasonable cost to the taxpayer," he said.

Another major concern cited by Railey is education. "The bottom line is that we have a great school system here in Garrett County. We have an abundance of devoted teachers who have the best interest of the student at heart. We have schools that are safe and clean. The folks who are entrusted with educating our youth need our financial and spiritual support. Educators and parents need to work together in order to produce quality students. I will support and work with the school system to see that we are properly funded and that the educational system is delivering a quality service at a cost to the taxpayer that is worth the money spent."

Railey plans to announce other positions on issues as the campaign progresses. He encourages everyone who is interested in good government to get involved and support the candidate of their choice.

Alexanders Meet At Accident Park

Accident Community Park hosted members and friends of the Alexander family on Saturday, July 26. Twenty-five family members and two friends attended, and five of the eight families were represented.

Another reunion was scheduled for Saturday, July 31, 1999.

Youth Ministry Visits Children At Salem Trust

The youth group from Cumberland's Central Assembly of God paid a ministry visit recently to Salem Children's Home, located near Grantsville.

Members of the youth group ministered to staff and residents in song, drama, and fellowship. The group's presentation set Gospel themes in terms of contemporary situations that may be faced by today's youth.

Following the presentation, Salem youth and Assembly of God youth played field games and socialized. "It was impressive to see so many youth committed to giving of themselves and demonstrating excellence in what they were doing," said Louise Richards, executive director of Salem Children's Trust.

The youth ministry event was a prelude to further missionary ventures by the group, which is led by Pastor Todd Marple.

Salem Children's Trust provides residential care and Christian ministry to abused children.

Westvaco Slates Annual Dinner

The 47th annual retirement dinner for all retired employees of Westvaco's Luke mill will be held Wednesday, Aug. 19, on the lawn of the company's training center in Piedmont, W.Va., according to an announcement by Roger A. Dandridge, vice president and mill manager. A social hour will start at 4:30 p.m., with dinner at 5:30 p.m.

There are currently more than 800 Luke mill retirees eligible to attend the dinner. Nearly 500 retirees are expected to attend the annual function, along with Westvaco officials and union officers.

The dinner will be held in a 6,000-square-foot tent erected on the training center lawn. Dandridge will speak briefly at the dinner, bringing retirees up to date on Luke mill activities during the past year. George Martin, production manager, will be master of ceremonies.

Antiques

Is it a dressing table, a lamp stand, a sewing stand or a bedside stand?

All those names are used to describe the useful small table with drawers popular in the late 18th and 19th centuries. Such tables have a rectangular top about 16 to 22 inches to a side. A table could have one, two or three drawers. The legs were made in the prevailing style, from thin-reeded Sheraton to heavy-square Empire.

Today many people have a night-stand next to their beds to hold such items as a lamp, books, clock, handkerchief and perhaps a telephone. In earlier times, the table was needed primarily to hold a lamp or a hand-held candle or night light that had led the way up dark stairs.

Most of the antique stands were made of attractively grained woods, often maple, satinwood, cherry, birch or mahogany crotchwood.

Q. I found a 1-gallon stoneware jug that's labeled "Radium Water from the Mendenhall Betal Baths, Clarensara, Okla., Cures Rheumatism, Stomach Trouble, Bosses and Other Ailments." Was radium really in the water?

A. No. Radium – isolated by the Curies in 1898 – was not in the artesian mineral waters discovered in Claremore in 1903. But a few years later, traces of radon, the radioactive gas produced from the breakdown of radium, were discovered in European hot springs that were thought to cure physical ailments. Claremore's entrepreneurs and civic leaders marketed their spring waters as "Radium Water," and sold it in glass bottles and stoneware jugs.

Some wily turn-of-the-century quacks did put small amounts of radium in their "medicines," and patients who took too much developed anemia and even bone cancer. The dangers of radium were known by the 1930s.

Home Tips

OLD MATERIAL – I had made my daughter's wedding dress. It was beautiful and was made of pana de soie with lots of Alencon lace, beads and sequins. I sealed it in a plastic bag and put it in the attic.

After about 25 years, I looked at it and it was brown all over. I put denture tablets (about 90) in the bathtub with three or four inches of water and put the dress in overnight. Then I hung it up and turned the water hose on it and rinsed it. I then let it drip dry.

It came out as pretty as it was when it was new. Jurene H., Chesnee, S.C.

REUSABLE JARS – I read with interest the use for plastic lid covers. Well, I have a good use for them, which I've done for years.

I want to keep old jars and reuse them. However, the hard cardboard on the inside of the lids gets messy and falls apart when you wash the jars and lids. I cut out an insert from plastic and put it in to replace the cardboard. It works well. Margaret M., Niagara Falls, N.Y.

A & E Network Biography®

PRINCESS DIANA: A LOOK BACK

She was the most famous woman in the world when Diana, Princess of Wales, died last year at 36. One of the world's most pampered women, Diana was mourned by millions, who related to her empathy and saw her as a symbol of hope for the downtrodden.

Though divorced from Charles and stripped of the title "Royal Highness," she was just beginning to fulfill her destiny as what Tony Blair called "the people's princess." She was focusing on a few favorite causes. And she was ensuring that Prince William would be the first Windsor ascending the throne to really know his subjects.

Diana, Biography magazine's September cover, was the third daughter to a disappointed viscount seeking an heir. (Three years later, the son came.) Diana's younger, fun-loving mother left her older, staid husband, a match echoed years later in Diana and Charles' union. With her two older sisters in boarding school, Diana mothered her younger brother as they shuttled between their parents.

At 8, Diana was sent to boarding school, where she excelled at socializing and swimming but not at academics. Her father became earl, acquiring the family's ancestral home and a cross new wife. Upon graduation, Diana joined London's smart set. She received royal invitations, impressing the prince with her empathic reaction to Lord Mountbatten's assassination.

At first, Diana was madly in love with Charles, but the chilly Windsor atmosphere brought on depression and powerful needs. Charles, unable to deal with these, turned to his old flame. Diana engaged in her own dalliances. The discord became public and ugly, until Queen Elizabeth allowed them to divorce.

Whether Diana would have found happiness with Dodi Al Fayed will never be known. However, the true legacy of the "people's princess" may be that she educated Prince William, who will hopefully become a "people's king."

TWO CONCERTS REMAIN — The Symphony at Deep Creek classical music series is in full swing, with two orchestral concerts remaining. World-renowned musicians have gathered here on the mountaintop, combining their talents to produce exceptional music sure to please. Jesse Levine, renowned violist and professor at Yale University, is pictured as he conducts the symphony through a rehearsal of a piece featuring the eminent Erick Friedman, violin, Arkady Orlovsky, cello, and Michel Bourdoncle, piano. The concerts are slated for Friday and Saturday nights (Aug. 21 and 22) at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. The concerts are a production of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF), and tickets can be obtained from the GLAF office by calling 301-387-3082. They can also be purchased at the door. The Four Seasons, a well-known Vivaldi collection, will be performed Friday night. That concert will also feature the vocal talents of soprano Kaori Sato. Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D Major will round out the program. On Saturday, Levine will be featured in Telemann's Concerto for Viola in G Major, and Beethoven's Concerto for Violin, Cello, and Piano in C Major will be presented. Meditation and Finale, a piece composed by Neal Corwell for the 1984 Symphony at Deep Creek will be played, and the program's finale will be Symphony No. 1 in D Major, "Classical," by Prokofiev.

Commissioners Urge DNR To Discuss Lake

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners this week sent a letter to John R. Griffin, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), urging him to keep communication open and viable in regard to the sale of Deep Creek Lake. The commissioners and the Garrett County/Deep Creek Lake Advisory Committee are apparently concerned that negotiations are continuing without local input, contrary to original plans.

The DNR has reportedly scheduled a Sept. 2 meeting with its advisory and review committee to discuss the chartering of a local lake management group, but the commissioners have apparently not been included in the process. In the letter to Griffin, they reminded him that the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), signed on June 2, states that the closing of the transaction will take place as soon as some conditions are met, including the approval of the board of commissioners.

The commissioners did take part in a meeting on June 18, at which Assistant Secretary Jim Dunmyre said he understood the commissioners' concern about communication and involvement and apparently said an "early negotiating session" would be scheduled. This session has yet to occur, even though the commissioners offered to travel to Annapolis for such a gathering.

THEY BEAT THE ODDS — Two girls from the Swan Meadow School certainly beat the odds by winning not just one, but two spots in the 1999 Fair Housing Calendar, a production of the Maryland Association of Realtors. Their posters, both following the theme of fair housing for all people, were among numerous entries in this year's contest. Only 12 were selected statewide, and to have two from Swan Meadow School was a remarkable achievement, as attested by Earl George, broker-president of Four Seasons Real Estate Inc. He was also the coordinator of the local competition. The local board of realtors was so pleased with the girls that it then funded a trip to Annapolis for the entire school population. The group went to the state capital in April and were given the opportunity to meet many state officials, including Governor Parris Glendening. The picture below, taken during the trip, has since been enlarged and framed. It was presented to the Garrett County commissioners last week, as shown above. In the photo above, front, are the two winners, Kristin McCasky and Lori Petersheim. Behind them are Commissioners Wayne Johnson, Wayne Wilt (chairman), and Gary Fratz. See story.

Deep Creek POA To Meet, State Reps Expected

The Property Owners' Association (POA) of Deep Creek Lake will hold a meeting of its membership on Saturday, Aug. 22, at 8:30 a.m. in Room 305 of the Continuing Education building of Garrett Community College. According to the POA vice president, Roger W. Titus, this is to be a "very important meeting" giving the latest information on the status of the sale of Deep Creek Lake.

For the first time in the history of the POA, the secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources has accepted an invitation to attend a meeting. Secretary John R. Griffin is scheduled to attend and is expected to provide first-hand information on the status of negotiations. Other state and local officials, as well as representatives of GPU Energy (the current owner of the lake), have been invited to attend and answer questions.

In addition to Griffin, others preparing to attend include Delegate George Edwards, County Commissioners Gary Fratz and Wayne Johnson, and Paul Durham, manager of the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area.

Other agenda items for the meeting include an election of directors and some words of remembrance for the late Gerald Polansky, former president of the POA, who died on July 1.

The POA has a membership of approximately 1,000 property owners in the vicinity of the lake. For many years, the organization has acted on behalf of the interests of its members with all issues relating to Deep Creek.

For more information, persons may contact Titus at 1-800-966-9877, ext. 5656.

Work Of Two Swan Meadow Pupils To Be Included In State Calendar

Not one, but two of 12 posters to be included in the Maryland Association of Realtors Fair Housing 1999 calendar were created by two local youngsters from Swan Meadow School in Gortner. The finished calendar is the culmination of a statewide contest held earlier this year, which was open to all state students, kindergarten through eighth grade. Swan Meadow was the only Garrett County school to take part in the competition, and, remarkably, Lori Petersheim and Kristin McCasky, both of whom are entering eighth grade this year, both won a spot in the calendar.

"We were thrilled to get the news that the girls had won," said Earl George, broker-president of Four Seasons Real Estate Inc., who coordinated the local contest. In response to the achievement, the Garrett County Board of Realtors decided to reward the entire school and funded a trip in April for the nearly 70 students and chaperones to Annapolis, where Kristin and Lori were honored by Governor Parris Glendening.

"They met the governor and his wife, and it just so happened that Comptroller Louis Goldstein was there, too, handing out his famous gold coins," George said. "They behaved, and I think they had a wonderful time."

The trip included a brief tour of the capital city and a walk to the Naval Academy, where the Swan Meadow youngsters watched the cadets performing drills. On the way home, the chartered bus stopped in Frederick and lunch was provided to all the children, courtesy of the Garrett realtor board.

A photo was taken of the two winners as they met with the governor, and this picture has since been enlarged and framed. It was presented to the Garrett County commissioners last week, and the officials praised the girls on their accomplishment.

George said the local posters submitted are judged by the local board, and up to three winners of that judging are sent on to the state board of realtors. This board then selects the final 12. The theme for the posters was "fair housing for all people."

The calendar is being printed now, he said, and should be available in the near future. Lori is the daughter of Fred and Amelia Petersheim, and Kristin's parents are Greg and Laura McCasky.

George noted that the Garrett County Board of Realtors collected donations for this competition and trip from the following businesses and individuals:

Grant Approved For Friendsville Senior Center

Money to build a senior center has been awarded to Friendsville through a Maryland Community Development Block Grant in the amount of $215,000. Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle opened the town meeting Tuesday night by reading aloud the letter he had received from Gov. Parris Glendening stating that a grant agreement would be prepared and sent for signature.

The town has been in quest of a site and funding for a center for senior activities. Local residents who have worked on behalf of the project for five or six years were on hand for the announcement. Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action, and Del. George Edwards also attended the meeting.

Schlosnagle thanked Edwards for writing a letter to state officials on behalf of the town residents, and supporting and affirming the need for a senior facility. He also thanked Yoder for writing and submitting grant applications on behalf of the residents. Praise also went to seniors for their unfailing efforts. "Duane, the seniors, Del. Edwards — everyone was working together on this. That's what got it done," he said.

Bus Passes, Permits To Be Available

Each year the Garrett County Board of Education approves permitting a number of students not regularly on a bus route to ride school busses for special purposes.

School bus capacity, which will be calculated during the month of September, will determine the number of spaces that will be available this year for student ridership other than transport between school and home. Once seating capacity is assessed, additional bus passes and permission slips will be available.

The director of pupil transportation for the board of education has issued a statement concerning Board Policy 855.41, regulating school bus transportation.

"Each school will be allocated an appropriate number of seats based upon the total number of available seats on each bus, but under no circumstances will this exceed the rated capacity of the school bus," this notice stated.

Permission to ride a school bus other than to and from school may be granted based on consideration of the following criteria: babysitting needs, curricular needs, and hardship. The approval for transportation may be in the form of the permission slip or

Yough Landowners Irritated By DNR's Proposed 100-Foot Buffer

Local landowners of property along the "wild and scenic" portion of the Youghiogheny River met with the Garrett County commissioners Tuesday to express their concern and irritation over a suggested regulation by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The state agency, in what representatives have clarified as a "language clean-up" effort, are proposing that a 100-foot buffer along about 17 miles of the river be designated as protected land — not to be timbered or farmed. This is in addition to a number of conservation regulations already in place along the buffer zones.

"A 100-foot buffer simply constitutes a 'taking,'" said Phil Frantz on Tuesday. Frantz owns land along the river. He and several other spokespersons at the meeting asserted that the new proposal is out of line. John Nelson, director of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, told the commissioners that the DNR has explained to him that they wish to be more specific in the guidelines, which currently do state that the buffer will be protected but do not state a specific footage. The landowners contend that the zone designations, of which there are three, already regulate the land so that timbering and farming are restricted anyway.

Delegate George Edwards was at the meeting and agreed with the landowners, stating that the 100-foot suggestion "must have some history to it" and suggested that Nelson and the commissioners look into the issue.

"They can't really touch the land as it is anyway," Edwards said. "It doesn't Fair Livestock Sale Nets Record $126,547 For 4-H/FFA Members

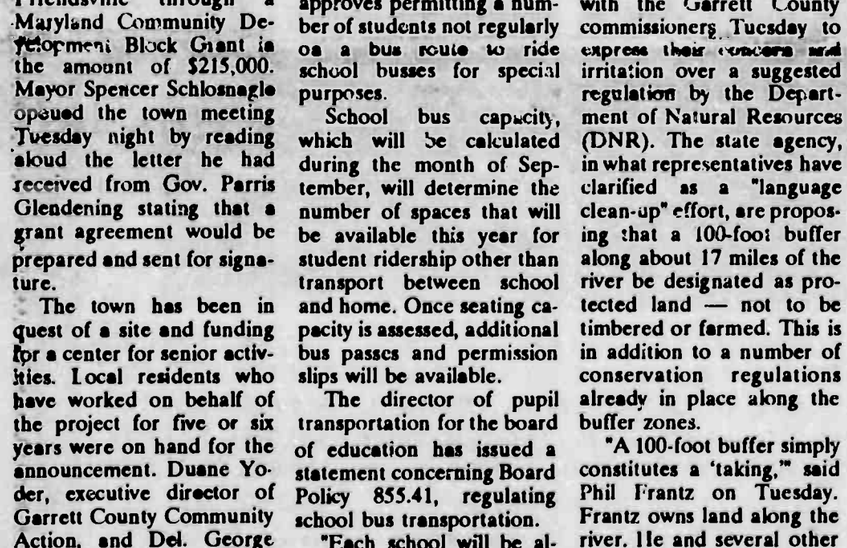
The 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale sponsored by the Garrett County Livestock Association was held Saturday, Aug. 15, at the Garrett County Fair. A record grand total of $126,547.50 was set with the selling of 190 market hogs, lambs, beef, the champion and reserve champion market goat, pen of three rabbits, and a pen of two meat birds. A lively crowd of bidders purchased 73 hogs for an average of $1.79 per pound and a total of $28,848.50. An average price of $2.39 and a total of $16,269.95 was paid for 63 market lambs, and the 54 market steers brought $1.30 per pound average, or a total of $80,395.05.

Included in the sale this year were the champion and reserve champion market goats for a total of $339, a pen of three rabbits for $240, and a pen of two meat birds for $455.



The Grand Champion Market Hog was owned and sold by Shane DeWitt, son of Kris and Connie DeWitt. His 241-lb. hog was purchased by Yoder's Meat Packers for $3 a pound. The Reserve Grand Champion Hog was purchased by Ringer Oil of Oakland and Pennsylvania for $2.30 per pound. The 231-lb. hog was owned and sold by Daniel Skipper, son of Timothy and Cheryl Skipper.

Nathan Glass, son of Mark and Suzanne Glass, was the owner of the Grand Champion Market Lamb. His 108-lb. lamb was purchased by Browning's Foodland for $6 per pound. The Reserve Grand Champion Lamb was sold by Jolene Brenneman, daughter of Ron and Beth Brenneman for $4 per pound. Her 125-lb. lamb was purchased by Dr. Ron Williams of Williams Chiropractic Clinic.

Zachory Savage, son of Gregg and Rhonda Savage, was the owner of the Grand Champion Baby Beef. The 1,230-lb. steer was purchased by the Mettiki Coal Corporation for $4.50 per pound and was donated to Hospice of Garrett County. The Reserve Grand Champion steer was owned and sold by Arthur Pysell, son of Darvin and Louise Pysell. His 1,090-lb. steer was purchased by Phenix Technologies Inc. for $2.55 per pound and was donated to Phenix employees.

The Grand Champion Market Goat was owned and sold by Allison Hamilton, daughter of Richard and Cathy Hamilton. The 56-lb. goat was purchased by Yoder's Meat Packers DILIGENCE REWARDED - The five- or six-year campaign waged by senior citizens of Friendsville and the mayor and council members finally paid off. Funding has been approved for construction of a senior center in Friendsville. A group of seniors and others who were instrumental in accomplishing this goal were on hand to cheer the announcement of the grant during the town meeting this week. In the photo left to right in the front are senior activists Helen Vitez, Mildred Friend, and Gladys Bentley. In the back row are council president Jesse Whittemore, Del. George Edwards, Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle, senior activist Chauncey Friend, and Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.

THE GRAND CHAMPION 4-H/FFA BABY BEEF at the 1998 Garrett County Fair was purchased by Mettiki Coal Corporation, Oakland, for $4.50 per pound. The beef was donated to Hospice of Garrett County. The 1,230-lb. steer was shown and sold by Zachory Savage, son of Gregg and Rhonda Savage, Oakland. Zachory is a member of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club. Back-To-School Booster Clinics Noted By GCHD

August is "back-to-school" month, and for many parents this means taking their children for pre-school "boosters." These injections are needed to complete the immunization processes that should begin during infancy, and are required prior to entering school. The Garrett County Health Department will offer walk-in clinics for children in need of immunizations to enter school or to update records.

Offices of the health department will provide vaccination sites according to the following schedule. The clinics at the Oakland office, GW Plaza, Mtn. Lake Park, will be August 24 and September 21 from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. The clinics at the Grantsville office, in the Grantsville Plaza, will be August 26 and September 23 from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Along with the established battery of immunizatious, health professionals now recommend that children receive the hepatitis B vaccine as well as the vaccines for chicken pox. Both of these will be required for entrance into kindergarten in the year 2000, a health department spokesman said.

Nearly one million American children under the age of 2 are unprotected against the life-threatening yet, preventable childhood diseases because they are not fully immuaized according to Ed Dressman, interim health officer at the Garrett County Health Department.

As an added incentive, the health department will be joining McDonald's Restauraat for an educational promotion, "Immunize for Healthy Lives," to increase public awareness. They will provide band-aids and coupons for a free treat to children who receive immiunizations during August and September.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-8111 or 301-895-3111.

THIS WON'T HURT A MUCH, but it will help a lot. Immunizations prevent disease and are required for children entering school. To help get youngsters protected and prepared for school the Garrett County Health Department is offering clinics in two county locations. McDonald's Restaurant is adding support to the effort to keep kids healthy. In the photo Vanessa Overholt, 10, Grantsville, watches as Lois Ford, RN, gives a hepatitis B vaccination. The band-aid on Vanessa's right arm marks the spot of her chicken pox vaccination. See story for clinic locations, dates, and times.

Full Week Of Activities Is Slated At OTT

Oaklaud's Our Town Theatre has listed a busy schedule for the week of August 23-30, according to Jane Avery, artistic director. Auditions, play readings, and "coffee house" evenings are all on the slate.

Auditions for Camping with Henry and Tom will be held on Sunday, Aug. 23. The play is in two acts and will be presented during the first weekend of October. According to Avery, the cast calls for four mature men. Three of the parts are leads and the fourth is a supporting role.

Written by Mark St. Germain, the play involves a camping trip taken by Warren G. Harding, Henry Ford, and Thomas Edison in western Maryland in the 1920s. Avery noted that the rehearsal period will be intense, but because the cast size is so small, the schedule will be fairly flexible.

Auditions are slated at the theatre at 1-4 and 5-7 p.m. After auditions, there will be a play reading of Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman.

"Audience members are invited to participate in the reading," noted Avery, "but they might choose to sit back in one of our comfortable chairs and just listen." The play reading will begin at 7 p.m., and the entry fee is a donation.

OTT will host its first teen coffee house on Monday, Aug. 24, 7-11 p.m. Guitarist Michael Hale Cooper will perform, and the theatre plans to feature play readings, debates, improvisations, and poetry readings as well. The cover price will be $2 per person, and refreshments will be sold separately.

Pianist Muriel Franc will be the featured artist at the theatre's first adult coffee house, scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 26, 7-11 p.m. The cover charge will be $2 per person. A short play reading, as well as other entertainments, are also to be part of the program.

The final play reading for the summer will be on Sunday, Aug. 30, at 7 p.m. The Wind of a Thousand Tales will be read, a production which will delight both children and adults, Avery said.

For more information about OTT, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

MLP Man Given Jail Term For Juvenile Assault

A Mtn. Lake Park man was given six months in jail stemming from an earlier conviction for assaulting a juvenile during a sentencing hearing in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Ronald Wayne Moore Jr., 31, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree assault, was handed a oue-year sentence, six months of which were suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett. In April, Moore had allegedly used his finger to poke a juvenile hard enough to leave a pair of visible bruises on his chest and ribs, according to the charging statement of the arresting Garrett County sheriff's deputy. Moore had allegedly been angry with the juvenile for watching his television.

In other district court news, James Harold Weeks Jr., 37, Oakland, pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and was handed a 30-day sentence by visiting judge Timothy J. Finan. The judge handed Weeks another 30-day concurrent sentence, fined him $500, and placed him on 18 months of supervised probation for an additional conviction on an associated charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI).

The charges stemmed from Weeks's May arrest by Maryland state troopers after he had allegedly taken the car of an acquaintance who had denied his request to use it, fearing he was intoxicated and may pose a danger behind the wheel. Weeks reportedly took the car anyway and subsequently wrecked it on Swanton Hill Road.

Patrick Shanelle Bruce, 27, Keyser, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $40, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. Bruce had been arrested in April by state troopers who had initially stopped him for speeding on Interstate 68 at the Casselman River bridge, and a computer check revealed that he was wanted by the Frederick City Police Department, and was driving on a suspended Ohio driver's license. A search incident to his arrest on those charges uncovered a small bag of marijuana in his jacket pocket.

Chad William Campbell, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to a second-degree assault charge stemming from his June arrest by state troopers for allegedly grabbing his girlfriend during a domestic dispute and leaving scratch marks on her arm. He was handed a PBJ and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

David Edington, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was found to be in violation of probation stemming from an earlier malicious destruction of property conviction. His probation was revoked and a 30-day sentence was reimposed.

James Robert Collins, 28, and Tonya Lynn Warnick, 26, both of Swanton, faced charges in separate court hearings last week stemming from a July domestic altercation between the two of them. A second-degree assault charge faced by Collins and charges of disorderly conduct and obstructing and hindering an officer in the lawful performance of his duty faced by Warnick were each placed on the stet docket.

According to the charging statement filed by the arresting sheriff's deputy, Warnick claimed that Collins had allegedly struck her during the course of an argument at their residence. While the deputy was arresting Collins based on this charge, Warnick reportedly interfered with the arrest by trying to pull Collins away from the deputy as he was being handcuffed and attempting to grab her written statement out of the deputy's hands. She was then arrested as well.

A charge of misdemeanor theft faced by Timothy Allen Kitzmiller, 20, Grantsville, was not prosecuted by the Office of the State's Attorney.

Several sentence revisions were granted in district court last week. A felony theft conviction of Joseph Michael Murray Sr., 33, Oakland was revised to reflect a PBJ. A conviction for driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest handed to Justin Scott Burns, 26, Terra Alta, W.Va., was revised to reflect a PBJ. A conviction on a malicious destruction of property charge faced by Jerry Edward Weimer, 21, Frostburg, Garrett County, was revised to reflect a PBJ.

Enrollment Fair For Head Start Program Slated

A Head Start Enrollment Fair for eligible 3- and 4-year-olds will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 25, and Wednesday, Aug. 26, at the Garrett County Community Action Counittee building located at 104 East Center Street in Oakland.

Children who will be 3 years of age prior to Dec. 31, 1998, may qualify for enrollment in Head Start, said Mary Beckman, director of the Head Start program. Parents who have children who are 4 years of age are encouraged to call the program at 301-334-9431, toll-free at 888-877-8403, or stop by the Center Street location or any Head Start site in the county to see if their child is eligible.

Parents who are not able to attend the Enrollment Fair are encouraged to call a Family Service Specialist between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. any weekday to schedule an appointment at their convenience.

Head Start in Garrett County is a child-centered program operating out of 10 centers and three home-based programs. Child-assisted transportation for the center-based programs is provided by the Garrett Transit System.

In Loving Memory of
BARRY E. BEACHY

It is just a cluster of memories,
Sprayed with a million tears.
Wishing God could have spared you
For many, many more years.

We often sit and think of you,
And think of how you died.
To think you could not say goodbye,
Before you closed your eyes

Sometimes its hard to understand
Why some things have to be
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.

So looking back in tenderness
Along the path we trod,
We cherish the years we had with you
And leave the rest to God.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.

A million times we've needed you
A million times we've cried
If love alone could have saved you,
You never would have died.

In life we loved you dearly.
In death we love you still.
In our hearts you hold a place
No one can ever fill.

Tamburitzans To Dance Onto GLAF Stage Aug. 29

"Dazzle, energy, and color in motion" are phrases used to describe the performances of the Duquesne University Tamburitzans, a company of 36 singers and dancers who will take the Garrett Community College stage on Aug. 29 at 8 p.m. The show is a Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) offering, and is being sponsored by the Mettiki Coal Company.

The folk artists are full-time students at Duquesne who are dedicated to preserving the East European culture. The group takes its name from a stringed instrument many of the members play — a tamburitza. Formed in 1937, the group has toured throughout Europe, Canada, the former Soviet Union, and the United States.

Each tamburitzan is selected for his or her musical talent and commitment to education. Most of the performers are American-born, though they come from several different states and sing in up to a dozen different languages. They receive scholarships to continue their education while performing.

During each show, the performers don hundreds of authentic costumes, many directly from the country of origin and others replicated after extensive research. The songs and dances are rooted in folk culture and the tradition of the peasant villages and towns of the Balkan countries.

Through music and dance, the young artists portray the joy of a wedding, the sorrow of a funeral, pride in a plentiful harvest, or the secretive flirtations of a couple falling in love.

Tickets for the performance are $8 for adults and $4 for youth 18 and younger. They can be purchased at the GLAF box office, located within GCC. The phone number there is 301-387-3082.

All GLAF events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council.

TAMBURITZANS TO DAZZLE GLAF AUDIENCES — The Duquesne University Tamburitzans, a company of 36 singers and dancers, will present a colorful, musical performance on the Garrett Community College stage on Aug. 29 at 8 p.m. The show is a Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) offering, and is being sponsored by the Mettiki Coal Company. The folk artists are full-time students at Duquesne who are dedicated to preserving the East European culture. Formed in 1937, the group has toured throughout Europe, Canada, the former Soviet Union, and the United States as good-will embassadors. During each show, the performers show off hundreds of authentic costumes as they dance and sing in the style and tradition of the peasant villages and towns of the Balkan countries. Tickets for the performance are $8 for adults and $4 for youth 18 and younger. They can be obtained by calling the GLAF box office at 301-387-3082. All GLAF events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Sept. 30 has been set as the date for a final approval package which is supposed to include the commissioners' endorsement of all plans. In light of the emerging deadline, the fiscal authority ended the letter with an earnest request for a meeting within two weeks.

Restoring, Replacing, Repairing; Getting Schools Ready To Open

During the summer vacation work has been under way to upgrade a number of school buildings. The tasks involved repairing the old, replacing with new, constructing, and finally preparing for the return of students, teachers, and staff.

Some of the work was made possible through the state's Aging School Program. Last year the Garrett County Board of Education received a grant of $35,000 from the ASP fund and this year the amount awarded was $85,000, explained Mike Sines, supervisor of maintenance/operations for the school system.

The board chose to use some of this money to replace the carpeting at Broad Ford Elementary and the booster pump at Northern Middle School, Sines noted. "The funds have been a blessing. We never could have done these two projects without them," he said.

The pump at Northern Middle was 20 years old and the system was seriously in need of an upgrade, he reported. But the cost of the pump — something over $20,000 — would have precluded the replacement at this time.

Through the regular budget channels, funding would not have been available to re-carpet Broad Ford Elementary, but the ASP money allowed this improvement. Painting in the school added another refreshing touch, Sines noted. "Anyone walking into Broad Ford will notice the difference. I think the building looks very good," he said.

Among the other projects accomplished was the restoration of the roof on the Grantsville Elementary School. The old one had been in place for about 20 years. Systemic funding, through which the state provides 70% and the local government matches with 30%, paid for the roofing work.

Restoring the roof on the Grantsville school saved the school board about 50% over what it would have cost to replace it, Sines explained. The price tag on the work came in at about $150,000 compared to an expense of over $300,000 that would have been incurred by putting on a whole new roof. "We were able to restore a 20-year-old roof and to extend its useful life by another 20 years," he noted.

The Crellin Head Start Center building project is on schedule and should be ready to open when school opens, Sines reported.

The Swan Meadow School renovation, accomplished by volunteers, is a "special story" exemplifying concern and involvement of community members, he said. The work resulted in a major change and upgrade to the structure. Special ceremonies will take place in the near future to mark the completion of the project.

Volunteerism in Garrett County has provided opportunities for expansion and enhancement of the schools, Sines said. The playground at Yough Glades Elementary benefited from this type of volunteer effort. Mark Arnold of Arnold Brothers Construction donated the excavation and grading work he did for the playground. Sines's maintenance staff mulched and seeded the area prepared by Arnold.

The long-awaited connecting corridor at Southern High School only had to receive approval by the fire ntarshal to be ready for use, Sines reported earlier this week.

With classes scheduled to start August 31 skeleton crews remain in each school to clean, shine, and polish in anticipation of returning students.

Thank You!

The Family of Trevor Moats would like to take this opportunity to thank the many churches that prayed for Trevor, our family and friends for their constant prayers, support and love, and most of all to God for answering the prayers of everyone. We would also like to thank Dr. Coughlin for his quick response to Trevor's condition, Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh and Ruby Memorial in Morgantown. Trevor is now home and getting along well. We greatly appreciate knowing that you are still praying for us. David & Sherri (Tasker) Moats

"Big Brother" Tactics...

A couple of issues have emerged this week that at least resemble that all-too-familiar tune of state officials deciding what's best for Garrett County without really caring about or taking into consideration the desires of our own residents, who will be most affected by those decisions. One involves the Youghiogheny River, and the other, the proposed purchase of Deep Creek Lake by the state.

Property owners along the wild-and-scenic-designated portion of the Yough learned this week that the Department of Natural Resources has proposed creation of a 100-foot buffer strip along each side of the river which would prohibit logging and agricultural use of that privately owned land. The property in question is already highly regulated by the state, and the owners have demonstrated outstanding cooperation with those regulations over the 24 years since they were imposed. One can confirm this by taking a ride in a whitewater raft or going on a fishing outing in that beautiful area. This proposal is hardly an appropriate reward to these owners for their superior caretaking of the land. We agree with Del. George Edwards' assessment that this new regulation would be tantamount to an outright seizure of private property by the state. Likewise, we support the Garrett County commissioners' letter to the DNR indicating their disapproval of this proposal.

The proposal for the state to purchase Deep Creek Lake from the current owner, GPU, was announced over two months ago, with the assurance from the state that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners would be intimately involved in working out the details of the purchase agreement. To date, this has really not been the case, and a September 30 deadline to have the sales agreement finalized is just six weeks away. Prior to the sale of the lake, the Garrett County commissioners must, according to state law, give their approval to the terms of that sale. They were also told by the DNR back in June that there would be "an early negotiating session" scheduled. They are still waiting for that "early" session, so they fired off another letter to the DNR this week expressing their concerns.

It is still a little early for our commissioners to panic on this issue, but we share their concern about the possibility of their being handed a copy of the agreement on Sept. 29 and asked by the state to sign it by the next morning. This would be nothing short of a railroad job.

Unfortunately this type of behavior is often typical of a huge governmental bureaucracy, such as the DNR, when it deals with small-town folk. "Big brother," under the guise of doing what is in our best interest, simply does what it wants with total disregard for the desires, and the intelligence, of the local residents.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It pleased me that Rep. Roscoe Bartlett did not betray our trust in him by admitting he made a mistake while casting his vote to fund NEA. "Punching the wrong button" is getting to be common practice for law-makers, some accidentally with apology like Rep. Bartlett's, others intentionally without admission like Pres. Clinton's.

All forms of art have "gone to hell" (including my favorite — music). Limits must be set, using common sense as the guideline, for freedom of expression without some standard is pure anarchy as to what is decent and acceptable.

For the NEA to use public money to pay artists from Hell that portray and depict Jesus Christ as a heroin addict "shooting up," or urinated on in the mouth, or as a child abuser behind a church altar is a gross abuse of freedom of expression, a defamation of the Christian religion, blasphemous to the Nth degree to the Savior of the world, and also unlawful because it violates the laws of separation between church and state. Any voter that supports or votes for politicians that fund such degenerates becomes a willing and guilty participant of filth. Vote against all who approve of public funding for the NEA (Mr. Bartlett excepted).

Bob Groves

To the Editor:

Roscoe Bartlett's recent expression of "dismay" at his own vote to fully fund the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) raises more questions than his capacity to cast the "right" vote on controversial issues before the public.

In last week's letter to The Republican, Mr. Bartlett offered several criticisms of the NEA which warrant comment.

First, our Congressman suggested that the federal government has been funding American arts for more than 30 years in violation of constitutional authority. Thirty years would seem to have been ample time to have tested this hypothesis in federal court. The fact that no such judicial challenge has succeeded in all this time casts serious doubt on the validity of this argument. Nevertheless, as Mr. Bartlett often demonstrates, the Constitution always provides a convenient platform from which to justify the delivery of inflammatory rhetoric.

Mr. Bartlett's second criticism which warrants comment is this: "Consistently, the NEA championed the worst excesses of multiculturalism and political correctness by subsidizing art that demeaned the values of ordinary American citizens" and "wasted taxpayer dollars on the promotion of what many describe as offensive, indecent, and pornographic art." Our representative should be aware that throughout human history and from the time of the first drawings on the walls of caves, obscenity and indecency — like beauty — resides primarily in the eye of the beholder.

How has the NEA wasted taxpayer dollars and demeaned the values of the citizens of western Maryland? Thirty years ago, the arts in Garrett County were presented primarily through local church and school programs. Outside of these venues, the average family here had very limited access to cultural enrichment opportunities and almost no direct access to the performing and visual arts of the outside world.

In 1965, Congress authorized the establishment of the NEA to help broaden public access to the arts and to foster the excellence, diversity, and vitality of the arts throughout the United States. In accordance with its public mandate, the NEA promoted and helped fund the organization and operation of arts councils in every state in the union, including Maryland. State arts councils, in turn, supported community arts initiatives and the establishment of local arts councils to foster the integration of the arts within the social fabrics of communities such as Garrett County.

Ellen Sauerbrey, Republican candidate for governor, has applauded the work of Maryland arts organizations which have benefited from this effort, "large part because they have been as wise and prudent as they have been creative." Indeed, Ms. Sauerbrey has announced that she will make "every effort" as governor "to fund up to ten percent" of the budgets of arts organizations in our state. The record of the incumbent governor, Parris Glendening, in support of Maryland arts organizations, speaks for itself.

Currently, the arts in Garrett County are flourishing through the efforts of nonprofit organizations such as the Garrett County Arts Council, the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, the Garrett Choral Society, Our Town Theatre, the Chamber of Commerce, the Accident Cultural and Historical Society, Hammers and Strings, Pipes & Drums, GOBA, Garrett Community College, and many others.

All these organizations, including the public they serve, share a debt of gratitude to Congress and six successive presidents of both political parties for authorizing initial and subsequent of the NEA on behalf of the American people. The public funding these organizations count on to support viable operations is currently endorsed through bipartisan support at all levels of government — federal, state, and local. The reason is self-evident — the arts serve the public interest; the arts are good for us.

This is not to suggest that the NEA has never made mistakes. All federal agencies have. No sane public servant would advocate complete abolishment of the federal government because of conveniently cited agency errors, however. Just as conservative Congressional colleagues would be foolhardy to call for Mr. Bartlett's resignation from office because of his "botched" vote on the NEA, the American public would be well advised not to toss out the arts baby with the bath water of politically motivated and reactionary rhetoric.

Sincerely,
Steve Schlosnagle

Many thanks to you and Peggy Santamaria for the coverage on Mettle Workers. Our goal is to provide men with alternatives to violent behavior in an effort to break the cycle of family violence. I applaud your willingness to address these issues in The Republican.

I want to advise your readers that there is a wealth of local information at their fingertips via the Internet on the Family Violence Coalition's web-page. Readers may find this page at www.gcnet.net/fvc

To the Editor:

On Saturday, August 15, Southern High School Class of 1953 had its 45th reunion. The occasion was held at Pleasant Valley Community Center. The Amish of that community prepared the meal, for which I express my sincere thanks. It was delicious!

It was nice to see my classmates again. Everyone had a very good time. Again, I express my thanks for this wonderful occasion and a special thanks to the committee for working so hard to make it a success.

Sincerely,
Bill DeWitt

To the Editor:

Concerning your editorial of August 13, 1998, I have two points to make.

First, I appreciate your interest and concern of the inconsistencies in compensation (which some have been in force for many years) to the various boards and committees who serve the citizens of Garrett County. This is a matter that needs to be examined by the commissioners or a committee to study compensations being given to the various boards and committees. This task could be done after the election and recommendations made to the commissioners for their consideration.

Second, I was very much concerned about your statement that I was politically threatened and changed my mind. This questioned my honesty, integrity, and my reputation as a very civic-minded person. As long as you have known me, and worked with me on many boards and committees, I felt you should have known I would not succumb to any type of a threat.

Had you given me the courtesy of a phone call to ask if this had occurred, all this may have been avoided.

Sincerely,
Wayne R. Johnson
County Commissioner

To the Editor:

The following information is now publicized for the first time.

A year ago, Garrett County Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE) surveyed the readers of this publication, asking if the county wanted the north-south international trade corridor, Continental One, built here. The question was asked in a display ad, which readers could cut out and mail to CARE, voting either for or against the road. (No provision was made for undecided.)

The results were one hundred sixty (160) votes against the road. About forty (40) voted for the road. This equals 80% opposed to the corridor. Because the opposition was so overwhelming, and several (less than five) votes were misplaced, exact numbers never were determined.

However, at the public information meeting last fall, sponsored by CARE, the public was given a second chance to vote. The results were remarkably similar to our newspaper survey. Eighty-one (81) percent opposed the road, 9% supported it, and 11% were undecided.

I would like to point out that G.C./CARE Inc., has been the only entity to attempt to measure or define the entire public's wishes on this matter. We took these steps because we did not want to oppose the highway if the majority of the county wanted it.

Because this is an election year, we are providing this information for consideration by political candidates.

Anyone with questions or comments may call me toll-free at 301-999-4171.

To the Editor:

I just wanted to take this opportunity to clear up a few rumors and myths about the Oakland bypass.

The first and most important is about Martha DeBerry. Folks, despite the rumor that is floating around, I have it firsthand from Martha that she does not now support the bypass and never has. She actually appeared to be astonished that anyone would even suggest that.

The second is that most of the members of GOBA support the bypass. The decision to support the concept was made in an executive meeting and as near as we can tell from our informal survey, the opposite is true.

The third is that I as an outsider, i.e., not native born, have some insidious reasons for opposing the bypass. Somehow, the rumor goes, I stand to gain something if it is not built. The first part of this rumor of course is absolutely untrue, but I must admit that I do, in fact, have something to gain if it isn't built. I will have the satisfaction of knowing that I did my small part to help common sense prevail on this issue. I happen to love this county as much as any native born person, and I believe that it is my right and duty to do whatever I can to prevent these kinds of things from happening.

It is interesting to me that someone is floating these rumors, it tells me that they are worried that the truth is now finally emerging on this issue. It tells me that this is a desperate attempt to convince the populace to support something that is just plain wrong. Perhaps they know that as more facts come out, people will see the truth.

I know that there will always be a few who buy into this rumor nonsense, but most people are too smart for that. Still, you gotta watch 'em folks; hard to say what they'll try next.

I am currently an inmate at the Garrett County jail. After reading the article, at the least, I was stunned by the lack of cooperation and surprised by the statement of Sheriff Sanders.

Before I continue I would like to stress I was once where you are now, a citizen. I did something wrong and now I have to pay the price. That is unfortunately the story with most

SHAKY DEMOCRACY IN UKRAINE

When I left home, the '98 campaign season was fully under way. Incumbents and challengers alike were posturing themselves for local, statewide, and national offices. This great American ritual has become so hum-drum that less than 50% of eligible voters participate in our elections.

In Ukraine, democracy is a new idea. Until a few years ago there was only one candidate for each position, and that candidate had been chosen by the communist party for his or her loyalty to the totalitarian regime in Moscow.

Not only was it treason to propose democratic reforms, but many Ukrainians were sent to Siberian work camps for promoting the idea of a Ukrainian nation.

Throughout the period of Soviet repression and Russian domination, there was a bright shining light for freedom and democracy in Ukraine. That light was the Catholic Church. The Soviet official policy was that there were no Catholics in Ukraine, and therefore they needed no churches or seminaries or monasteries.

The Soviet Union was, of course, an atheistic state, but the only kind of Christian that was partially tolerated was a Russian Orthodox Christian. So the Russian Orthodox Church colluded with the communists in the destruction of Ukrainian culture and, very specifically, in the elimination of the Ukrainian Catholic Church.

So the Catholic Church went underground. The blessing for Ukrainian Catholics was that their area of strength was in western Ukraine, which did not come under Soviet control until after World War II. The Soviets arrested the Catholic hierarchy in a wholesale fashion. The grim joke was that there were more Catholic bishops and priests in Siberian prison camps than there were in Ukraine.

During glasnost (the opening of Soviet society initiated by Gorbachev) in the late '80s and then after independence in '91, the Ukrainian Catholic Church came above ground, not only as a force to restore the Church which had existed, but also to build a democracy which had never existed before.

After seven years of this heroic attempt at democracy, the Ukrainian people are exhausted. The average income is $1,000 a year. Even in the most modern cities they have trouble keeping water running through the pipes, alternating hot and cold and going without water at all through the night. When the necessities of life are achieved only by heroic struggle, it is hard to maintain focus on a vision of democracy, a thing of which they have no experience.

The society rapidly becomes atomized. Each day, social, economic, and political incoherence threatens the integrity of the nation.

The most frightening thing I heard while in Ukraine came from one of the best, perhaps the best, student at our summer school. "What this country needs," he said, "is a second Hitler." He was expressing the sentiment which he had heard from others all too often.

This remark was all the more amazing because Hitler attempted to exterminate the Ukrainians, first because they were Slavs (and therefore—according to his racist philosophy—unfit to live) and second, because he wanted the rich farmland of Ukraine for German settlers.

The short of it is this: The second largest nation in Europe is fertile ground for a Saddam Hussein-like leader. This threatens the vital interests of the United States. The problems about which we have heard daily for several years now from Serbia, Kosovo, Bosnia, and Croatia will look like a Sunday School picnic compared to what we would experience if a mad-man gets control of the reins in Ukraine.

At present the window of opportunity in Ukraine is open to democracy, human rights, and free enterprise. Will we Americans avail ourselves of that open window? Will we shift our attention from our own problems—most of which are results of our affluence—in order to take definite, positive, and persistent steps in support of those working for democracy and Christianity in Ukraine? The destiny not only of that nation, but of every free nation in the world, may hang in the balance.

Driver Cited In Loch Lynn Tractor-Trailer Accident

A Mtn. Lake Park man who was driving a tractor-trailer rig that struck a second tractor-trailer rig in Loch Lynn this past weekend received a $1,000 fine levied by Maryland Department of Transportation inspectors who discovered that he was operating his 1973 Peterbuilt with multiple brake system violations.

Floyd James Knox Jr., 36, was traveling northbound on Paull Street with a full load of lumber when he attempted to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Paull Street, and Shenandoah and Third avenues shortly after 3 p.m. on Sunday. He told Garrett County sheriff's deputies that as he tried to stop his Peterbuilt's brakes failed and that he was forced to turn left up Shenandoah Avenue in order to avoid oncoming traffic off Paull Street.

After coming to a stop on Shenandoah Avenue, Knox's rig drifted backwards into the intersection and struck the trailer of a 1988 Peterbuilt rig operated by a Grantsville resident that was traversing the same intersection southbound. Knox's rig then jack-knifed on the northbound shoulder of Paull Street, with minor damage to his trailer, while the Grantsville driver's trailer suffered more extensive damage.

Knox's tractor-trailer was towed by Fitzwater towing for storage until the DOT inspectors could check it. In addition to the $1,020 fine, Knox was issued a citation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for operating an unsafe motor vehicle, and his Peterbuilt was placed out of service.

Big Savage Mtn. Scene Of Alcohol, Drug Violations

One adult and six juveniles were issued alcohol and drug-related citations by Maryland Natural Resources Police in the St. John's Rock area of Big Savage Mountain, located just south of Finzel.

NRP issued a $300 citation to Justin Lee Adams, 20, hometown not available, for being a minor under the age of 21 and in possession of an intoxicating beverage. Each of the juveniles, five from Frostburg and one from Cumberland, were cited for the same offense, and one was also charged with possessing a controlled dangerous substance and CDS paraphernalia. The juveniles were subsequently released to their parents.

Another incident of minors possessing alcohol resulted in the arrest of a Bruceton Mills man in Friendsville earlier this month. On Aug. 5 Garrett County sheriff's deputies apprehended four individuals sitting in a pickup truck at the intersection of Maple Street and Church Lane. Each of the subjects was drinking beer, and one of them was seated atop a cooler full of the canned beverage in the bed of the pickup.

William Shane Young, 24, who was seated in the truck's cab, was arrested and charged with three counts of furnishing alcohol to a minor, as each of the other three individuals was under the age of 21. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

The three minors were each cited for underage possession of alcohol.

Campaign Finance Report Released By David Thomas

The Committee For David Thomas released its interim 1998 Campaign Fund Report to The Republican this week in response to rumors surrounding the financing of his campaign to unseat District I senator John Hafer.

The committee organized to support Thomas's September 15 primary challenge of Hafer reported total income to date of $28,395 and a balance of $10,332. Of the total, $18,045 came from individual and business contributors. Ticket purchases totaled $5,800, while $250 was received from federal committees and $300 was received from PAC sources.

"I am quite pleased with the support we have received to date," Thomas said. "As a challenger, it is necessary to mount an aggressive effort and I am thankful for both the amount and the sources of support for my campaign. I feel that the current process of campaign financing is fair and appropriate and that it should be conducted in the open air.

"I have heard from a number of sources that unfortunate rumors are being spread which suggest that my campaign is being financed by House Speaker Cas Taylor and numerous unrelated special interests. This report should categorically demonstrate that these rumors, created with the clear intent to undermine my candidacy, are false," he said.

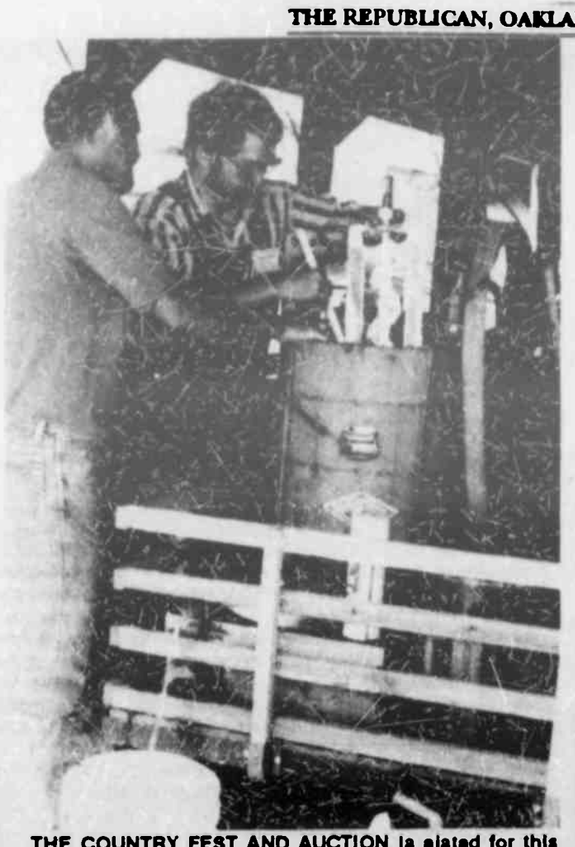
"Some have attributed these statements to my opponent. I would hope that Senator Hafer is not the source of this misleading information and I hope he accepts the spirit of my disclosure and makes a similar, timely, disclosure of his own campaign finances to the local media," Thomas added.

Thomas indicated that the bulk of his support to date has come from Garrett County, residents and businesses, and he anticipates much of the remaining projected income to come from what he described as a growing Allegany County base of support.

GCSO Seeks Leads In Yamaha Four-Wheeler Theft

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating the theft of a four-wheeler from residence in the 16000 block of Bittinger Road south of Grantsville that occurred between the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 11, and 11:30 a.m. the next morning.

The dark green 1984 Yamaha Timberwolf four-wheeler has a gun rack mounted on the front handlebars and both front and back racks as well. The vehicle's model number is YFB250FWFC, and it is valued at $4,000.



Persons who may be able to provide information concerning this theft are encouraged to call the sheriff's office at 301-334-1911.

In other sheriff's news, a bicycle was taken from a residence in the 1500 block of Wheeling Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park on July 26. The blue and purple Mongoose Motivator freestyle bike, with a serial number of ACLGE08547, is valued at $168.

The glass was broken out of the front door window of Highland Engineering, located on South Second Street in Oakland, between Aug. 7-8. The damage was estimated at $200.

A gray boat cover was taken from a dock at a Hidden Valley Drive residence in the Sky Valley area. The theft is believed to have occurred in early July, and the cover, which fits a 20-foot boat, is valued at $170.

THE COUNTRY FEST AND AUCTION is slated for this Saturday, Aug. 22, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. The event, the fourth annual of its kind, will feature numerous exhibits, activities, refreshments, and demonstrations, and will be highlighted by an auction of furniture, rugs, crafts, Beanie Babies, meal tickets, and handcrafted quilts. A special treat for the August heat will be the homemade ice cream that will be available, and shown above from a past Country Fest are Darrin Orendorf, left, and Bernard Orendorf preparing a new batch in the tractor-powered ice cream maker. There is no admission charge for the day-long event, and all proceeds are designated for the expansion and building programs of the Dry Run Mennonite Church and School and for selected mission projects.

Grantsville Wins Maryland Historic Trust Funding

The town of Grantsville has been selected to receive a $1,000 grant from The Preservation Maryland/ Maryland Historic Trust Fund. The purpose of the fund is to meet significant historic preservation needs of tangible cultural resources, not likely to be met through existing grant and loan programs.

The money will be used to provide signage for historic Grantsville sites, including such major transportation routes as Nemacolin's Path, Braddock's Trail, the National Road, and U.S. Route 40. "These routes not only influenced the development of Grantsville, but also the development of the entire nation," a spokesman for the trust stated.

The application to Preservation Maryland, made by the mayor and council of Grantsville, had been initiated by the Greater Grantsville Business Association.

Each year Preservation Maryland identifies priority areas for funding. Heritage tourism development, organization development for local preservation organizations, and legal services engaged to protect endangered historic resources have been chosen as priority funding areas through June 1999. The maximum grant is $5,000 and the next deadline for application is October 1.

For more information persons may call 410-685-2886 or e-mail PM@PreserveMd.org.

Dr. G. Benjamin Meets With County Health Officials

The Garrett County commissioners met on August 13 with Dr. Georges C. Benjamin, deputy secretary for public health services, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, who briefed the three on plans to visit the Garrett County Health Department. Dr. Benjamin, senior state health officials, and Edward Dressman, interim health officer for the Garrett County Health Department, conducted sessions with health department employees to discuss health care reform initiatives that affect local health care delivery services.

"This is a partnership between the state and local government officials that will result in significant improvements in health care management, and will direct care delivery services," said Dr. Benjamin. "I am pleased by the support we have received from the county commissioners to improve management resources and improve health outcomes throughout the region."

The morning site visits included meetings with local health department staff to support their efforts and improve the efficiency of operations.

"We are excited about this newly solidified relationship between health department staff and local government officials to make our health care system more responsive to the needs of the citizens in the western Maryland region," said Dressman. "In view of past fiscal and employee personnel problems, this effort on behalf of the state is applauded and appreciated," said commissioner chairman Wayne Wilt. "All county and state officials need to continue to work together in a cooperative direction."

The Garrett County Health Department is responsible for the coordination and management of health care delivery services for several thousand people in the area. Services include prenatal care, childhood immunizations, visiting nurses, and home health care, as well as information and referral services to local social services agencies.

One more year has gone

One more year has gone
One more year of pain
There are times I wonder
If we will ever be whole again.

Then of course I know we won't
Pan of us died with you
How can we be complete
Without your smile shining through?

No more to hear your footsteps
Your hand upon the door
To touch your face and feel your love
That's gone forever more.

God bless you and keep you
Ever in His care
Til we are there with you
With no more pain to bear.

Re-elect
WAYNE WILT
Republican for
COMMISSIONER
District One

BRIDGES

During Wilt's tenure as County Commissioner, he voted to construct a new Glendale Bridge, which was opened to traffic in June, 1997. This two lane bridge replaced a one lane bridge that was built in the 1920s.

Wilt also voted to construct four other bridges: The River Road Bridge near Grantsville; a new Humberson Bridge near Friendsville; a new bridge on Sang Run Road; and a new Kyle Bridge on Savage River Road.

Other bridges and many miles of county roads are scheduled to be completed this year.

Vote for Wayne Wilt.
He is the

Issue and Point
3) COOPERATION BUT SEPARATION
It is very essential to maintain good relations with all other law enforcement and related agencies, including state police. But I feel that we must have our state and local agencies separate. Each has its responsibility and duties to citizens it serves. The sheriff's department should not become an early retirement center for those who take an early retirement from the state police, putting a double tax burden on its citizens.

KENNETH D. ROY

Kenneth Dyhre Roy, 72, Parsons, W.Va., died Sunday, Aug. 16, 1998, at the Davis (W.Va.) Memorial Hospital.

Born Oct. 21, 1925, in Benbush, W.Va., he was a son of the late Ernest Boatman and Clara Cathleen (Vance) Roy. He was also preceded in death by one son, Kenneth Wayne Roy I.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Alice (Grow) Roy, whom he married May 26, 1947, at Red House; one son, Kenneth Wayne Roy II, Valley Head, W.Va.; five brothers, Carl W. Roy, Camp Springs, Dale Roy, Romulus, Mich., Charles A. Roy, Arlington, Va., and Delmas O. Roy and Lewis K. Roy, both of Livonia, Mich.; one sister, Maxine Myers, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and one granddaughter.

He was a 1942 graduate of Thomas (W.Va.) High School. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict. He served as a recruiter career counselor, and was the recipient of the Bronze Star. He retired in 1971 after 25 years of service with the Army. He then worked with Employment Security for 17 years, retiring in 1988.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church, Parsons, and the Waynesburg (Pa.) Lodge 153 F.&A.M.

Friends were received at the Barb Funeral Home, Parsons, where a service was conducted Wednesday, Aug. 19, with the Rev. Steven Rhodes officiating. Interment was in the Rose Hill Cemetery, Thomas, where members of the H.W. Daniels Post 29 American Legion, Elkins, W.Va., presented the American flag, and Pythagoras Lodge 128 A.F.&A.M. conducted masonic graveside rites.

The family suggests memorials take the form of contributions to the First United Methodist Church of Parsons, or the American Cancer Society.

REV. MAMIE V. WILT

The Rev. Mamie V. Wilt, 65, Swanton, died Thursday, Aug. 13, 1998, at the home of her daughter, Barbara Heilig, in Swanton.

Born April 17, 1933, in Swanton, she was a daughter of the late James and Edith (Brant) Bowman. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Lawrence E. Wilt Sr., in 1978.

Margraff Seeks Re-Election To Orphans' Court

Wilmer W. Margraff has announced his re-election candidacy for judge of the orphans' court.

Having held the office for 23 years (18 years as chief judge, appointed by the Governor of Maryland), Margraff feels he has filled this position to the fullest and can continue to do so. A lifetime resident of Garrett County, he was raised on a 200-acre farm in Accident. Some of his past accomplishments include: working for the U.S. Government Re-settlement Administration as foreman, a working welder for Baltimore shipyards, a self-employed timber and sawmill businessman (32 years), owner and operator of a Garrett County school bus (60 years to date), one of the founding fathers of the Accident Volunteer Fire Company (14 years as president), an active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church (where he served as councilman), and Accident town councilman (4 terms).

Keeping current with Maryland Codes required for the office, Margraff said his experience, honesty, common sense decision making, and consistency in the job have made him an effective judge and a worthy re-election candidate. "If re-elected, I will serve Garrett County to the best of my potential, as I have done in the past years," the candidate said. "Your vote is greatly appreciated." Remember: Experience and Knowledge make for a job well done. Honesty assures it is done correctly.

Circuit Court Judge

JUSTICE AND THE ADVERSARIAL SYSTEM

Our American System of Justice is an adversarial system based on the English Common Law. The theory behind it is that each person is entitled to have his or her day in court and to have an attorney to assist in presenting the case. The attorneys are substitutes for the "champions" of Mediaeval times who were appointed to represent their principals in "trial bycombat." The attorneys of today still engage in a form of combat. It is their job to represent their clients to the best of their abilities within the rules of ethics. The idea is that if each attorney does so, the cases will be fully presented and the Judge will be able to sort out the truth and do justice.

Winston Churchill once said, after hearing a diatribe on the evils of representative government, that Democracy is the worst of all possible systems of government except for all other systems. The same can be said for the adversarial system of justice. You can find many things to criticize in it, but compared to all other systems, including the British, our American system still provides the closest thing to justice yet devised by man, despite the political changes the Supreme Court has made in our law.

Of course, the system works properly, only if each of the participants does his or her job competently. And the better the Judge, the better the system works.

For 20 years, it has been my job to do surrogate combat as an attorney for clients. I have done that to the best of my ability. If you have been on the losing side in one of my cases, or have been unpleasantly cross-examined, please consider what I have said here. If elected to the Circuit Court bench, I pledge to do my very best, as I did as an attorney, to achieve justice in every case which comes before me. I believe that a Judge should be firm, should maintain proper court room decorum, should be courteous to all the participants in the trial and above all should be fair and impartial.

If you would like to discuss this more, please call me.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

CONVENTION

Linda Buckel, Lottie Brenneman, Ferne Beachy, and Barbara Flinn of Oakland attended the Eleventh Synodical Convention of the W.Va./Western Maryland Synodical Women's Organization of the Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America at Bishop Hodges Pastoral Center, Huttonsville, W.Va., August 7-8. The theme of the Convention was "Let Heaven and Nature Sing." Fifty-four women and guests were in attendance.

BIRTHDAY

Birthday wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh this week. She will be 85 on August 17 and he will be 91 on August 23. Cards may be sent to them at 15925 Bittinger Road, Grantsville.

DEATH

Bittinger and Garrett County lost one its great ladies this week. Martha Glotfelty died at her home on Wednesday, Aug. 12. Funeral services were held on Sunday at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. The Rev. William Connelly, Red House, officiated at the service. Martha was Emmanuel's church organist for many years and was the first and only Garrett County woman to serve in the state legislature. We will certainly miss Martha.

PERSONALS

Helen Englar, Westminster, visited family, attended the fair, the Bittinger Picnic, and her Aunt Martha's funeral. Others relatives attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blank, Westminster, Rhea Hetrick, Salisbury, Pa., and Maxine Broadwater, Grantsville.

Kenneth Buckel had a heart catheterization at Memorial Hospital recently. However and happily, Ken seems to be out and doing fine now, but must follow the doctor's orders.

Visiting her family recently was Bonnie McElroy, Mt. Airy. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buckel, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Buckel, Karla and Derek, along with Bonnie, celebrated Bonnie's forthcoming 26th wedding anniversary at Hen House.

JoEllen Graham, St. Albans, W.Va. recently visited her Buckel relatives in the area.

Ann McLister and Paul visited the Southerlys on Monday. Ann and her family spent last week with her mother, Margaret Hershberger Wagner, and they all had an exciting week at the fair.

Cheryl and Taylor Glotfelty recently spent several days in Atlanta, Ga., attending a Lutheran Church Missouri Synod Youth Gathering, along with 30,000 other youth, plus chaperones.

Spending some time vacationing in Myrtle Beach, S.C., last week were Jeff, Sheli, and Ashlin Gray, Hanover; Lisa, Adam, and Amanda Platter, Smithsburg; Karmen Carey, Frostburg; Norma, Shawn, and Shayla Rodeheaver, Friendsville; and Tom, Cheryl, Tim, and Donna Glotfelty.

Lillian Reckner, McHenry, and Ida Reckner attended the combined 1908-1952 Oakland High School Class Reunion, held at the Elks Lodge in Oakland, Saturday evening.

Sheli (Bittinger) Gray and daughter Ashlin, Hanover, spent last week with relatives in the area, and were Friday lunch and supper guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty, where other guests were William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa.

Leo and Marion Reckner, Jamestown, Pa., spent last week with Ida Reckner. Other Sunday dinner guests were Karl and Cathy DeBoeser, Kara and Marc; and Michaele Puliti, all of Allentown, Pa.

FAIR RECORD

I'm not sure, but I strongly suspect Bittinger set a world record price for a pair of broiler chickens. Margaret Hershberger-Wagner, owner of Hershberger Insurance Agency in Grantsville, won the bid of $360 for the chickens. The broilers were raised and shown by Elliot Glotfelty, and they won Reserve Champion at the Garrett County Fair. Margaret is unsure at this point whether she will eat them or keep them for pets. Margaret's daughter Ann McLister, is contemplating taking them down to Frederick and creating a home for them in their barn.

While the swine show was being held, a trivia contest about previous fairs was conducted. One question that was asked was "Who was the 1951 Farm Queen?" Carol Bass got the correct answer: Margaret Brenneman Hershberger. Carol was in the stands to watch her nieces show their market hogs, along with Margaret's daughter Ann and her children from Frederick.

One night last week, Ann's oldest daughter, Natalie, camped out with the Sussman girls in our front lawn. They were looking for falling stars from the big meteor shower. The bright light of the three-quarter moon obscured the shower show.

Also viewing the Perseid meteor shower was Mike Englar, Westminster, at his brother Courtney's farm in The Cove. Some results, no show. Most years if conditions are favorable you might see 10 or more in one hour. Maybe next year.

Vicki Teeta Talliaferro earned her money (if 4-H leaders were to get paid, which they don't). On Saturday evening she helped Claire and Caitlin Sussman get through the trauma of selling their beloved 4-H pigs as market animals. Vicki speaks from experience, as one of my biggest memories from the fair was watching Vicki sell her baby beefs. She was so heartbroken, cried a river of tears, but she did it again the next year. She told the Sussman girls, "You will get through this."

Vicki can also be very proud of her 4-H'ers from the Bittinger 4-H Club. They were busy with their animals and other exhibits, and the club won the Grand Champion 4-H booth. We will look forward to taking the booth to the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

The Bittinger's booth theme was "Win Big with 4-H," featuring a big 4-H Monopoly board with chance cards. Some read "You win Grand Champion at Fair with your cow, collect $250," or "You win blue ribbon on your record book, collect $50," etc. The booth committee included Robbie, Blakely, Darryl, and Elliot Glotfelty, Matthew and Scott Bass, Claire and Caitlin Sussman, Charlie Smith Hockman, and all assisted by Marci Glotfelty, Maggie Hockman, and, of course, Vicki.

YARD SALE

The Emmanuel Lutheran Church Youth Group's Yard Sale for the benefit of the Building Fund was a big success. They had loads of donated sale items and had many shoppers. The sale was in conjunction with the Bittinger Picnic and there was also a good turnout for the picnic, which featured the famous chicken dinners and a variety of other good food. Entertainment was provided and enjoyed by all.

Susan Schfrees, Rockville, who was the former Susan Mazar, daughter of Phyllis Beachy Mazer, and her family visited with her aunt Sally Poholsky and family recently. She stopped by at Joan Sussman's, and also took in the fair and the Bittinger Picnic.

Now that the fair and picnic are over, it is time for the kids to try to get in all the good stuff they want to do before summer is over and school begins. Cindy and Bill Kolbe, Cmdy Stanton, and principal Sandy Nesline are already back to work in preparation for the new school year. GCC professor Kevin Dodge is also back into the start of classes soon. Vacation time is over, now to good times at school.

Locally Made Ice Cream Earns National Honor

Bill Meagher, the ice cream maker at Lakeside Creamery, Deep Creek Lake, announced this week that his vanilla ice cream, sold daily at Lakeside Creamery, was awarded a Red Ribbon Award of Excellence by the prestigious National Ice Cream Retailers Association in a recent taste test conducted in Chicago.

A panel of judges from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Department of Food Sciencea, examined his vanilla ice cream for flavor, body, texture, purity, and color, and rated Lakeside Creamery's vanilla among the best in the country.

Meagher has licensed his award winning vanilla ice cream recipe to the Appalachian Old Fashioned Ice Cream manufacturer, which is also "Made in Maryland With Pride." Appalachian Old Fashioned Ice Cream is available in fine restaurants and stores in the Western Maryland area.

Police Recover Stolen Property

A motorcycle stolen in Clearville, Pa., on August 3 was recovered August 11 by Maryland State Police, according to a report filed at the McHenry barrack.

The officer said that when he responded to an address in Frostburg (G.C.) at 10:57 p.m., a stolen 1991 Yamaha 250 dirt bike was recovered. The suspect Nathan J. Bridges, 19, Frostburg, admitted to being in possession of the bike and knowing that it was stolen, police reported.

Bridges was taken to the Garrett County Jail pending a bond hearing.

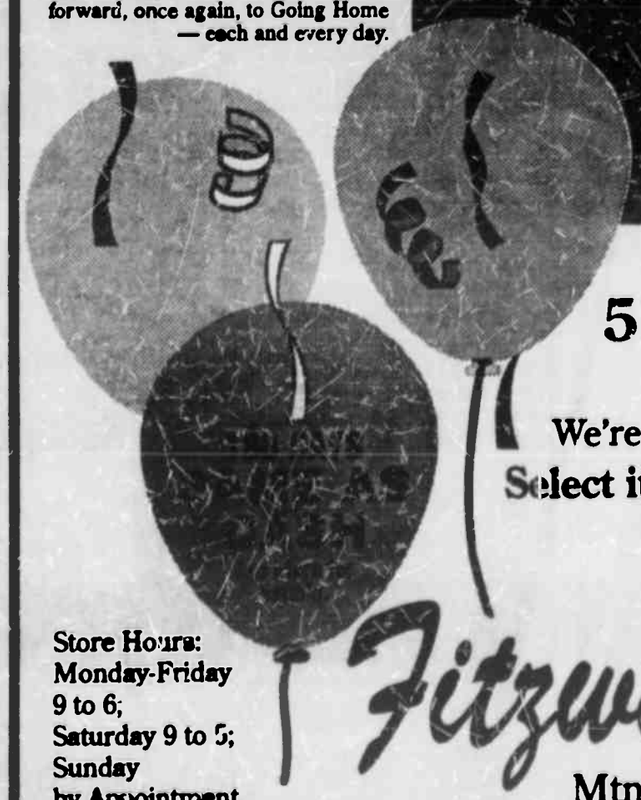
Fitzwater Furniture introduces you to



Going Home™

How often have you fondly recalled moments from your youth, wishing you could somehow reach back and recapture them? Perhaps it was the cozy warmth of your grandmother's home, smelling faintly of lilace and fresh linens. The sense of security provided by wraparound porches and heavy oak furniture. Or the simple sense of priority placed on daily living — predictable routine and a safe, stable environment. All, sadly, you may feel, are now in the past.

But if these memories are still important to you, if the values they represent still shape the person you think you are, why not recreate them today for your own family?

We invite you to let your imagination rekindle the warmth and security of earlier times, to look forward, once again, to Going Home — each and every day.

MOUNTAINEER 4-H

Bringing their project exhibits for grading, the members of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club along with parents, enjoyed an evening at the Farmers' Wildlife Park on Aug. 10.

Opening devotions were conducted by the executive committee. Reports of the summer activities included: Mark Bachtel on wildlife judging; Tom Teets on OMC; Shawn Rembold on forestry judging; Grant Harsh on livestock judging; Craig Rembold on younger camp; Chris Mullenax on older camp; and Ashley Bachtel on horticulture judging.

Melinda Teets distributed new patient card lists to the club members.

Those present were Adam and Mark Bachtel, Ashley and Matthew Bachtel, Dana Feather, Grant and Maria Harsh, Chris and Josh Mullenax, Craig and Shawn Rembold, Rebecca and Sarah Snyder, Bridgette and Leslie Strawser, Lindsey and Tom Teets, and Melinda and Tracy Teets.

Gene and Francis Evans were guest speakers. They told about their classic cars, their interest both in restoring and showing them in the two car clubs to which they belong, and the value of such a hobby as a family experience.

The Mountaineers will meet Sept. 14 at 6:30 p.m., at the Eglon Memorial Building. They will then go to the farm home of Bruce, Mary, Melinda, and Tracy Teets.

EGLON HOMEMAKERS

The Eglon Homemakers met Aug. 11 at the home of Ruth Teets, with the hostess providing devotions on friendship. She used two poems, "Life's Garden" and "Friendship's Road," taken from Ideals magazine, and

TERRA ALTA PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Summer Reading Program, "Crawl Into A Good Book," concluded last Friday with a pizza party at the library for all participants. Attending were Sara Chrouzis, highest reader, with 35 books read and reported on; Kayla Ely, winner of the coloring contest for the oldest group; Jason Kelly, winner of the coloring contest for the younger group; and Tiffany Duckworth, McKella Duckworth, Heather Ely, K.C. Elliott, Kris Elliott, and Justin Kelly.

Games were played by all. The girls defeated the boys three out of five with the paper plate game. Kayla Ely and Kris Elliott were the winners of the egg toss game, and Jason Kelly won a prize for collecting the most clothespins from the other participants. Each student attending earned an extra prize for answering questions concerning the program itself.

Others who completed the program were Stephanie Kisner, Ashley Miller, Mandy Manning, and Amber Manning. Participating were Michelle Wotring, Danni Metheny, Lydia DeLauder, Sarah Martin, Stacy Sypolt, and Kayla Metheny. The program ran for eight weeks, with a requirement of 20 books read and reported on. This included children in grades third through ninth.

Story Hour is held each Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the library. The public is invited to attend and bring children. Volunteers are appreciated for reading to the children and/or preparing a craft afterwards.

Wednesday afternoon movies/filmstrips will begin again on Sept. 9, with To Grandmother's House We Go (89 minutes). Sept. 16's movie will be How The West Was Fun (93 minutes), and on Sept. 23, It Takes Two (101 minutes). On Sept. 30, The Little Mermaid (83 minutes) will be shown. These movies will all begin at 3 p.m. The public is welcome.

Patrons recently donating books or magazines have been: Mr. Oasmaa, Jeannie McGinnis, Gilbert Lewis, Margarete Sypolt, Barb McCartney, Patty Pennington, Mr. Chaney, Mrs. Squires, Betty Shaffer, and Lori Himelrick. The library has also received many new audio cassette books from Cathy Nardi, Lori Derst, and Sally Boone.

BOMBERS TO VISIT MORGANTOWN - A restored B-17 World War II bomber known as the Flying Fortress, pictured above flying over Liberty Island and the Statue of Liberty in New York City, along with a similarly restored B-24 "Liberator" bomber will fly into the Morgantown airport this Friday at about 3 p.m. for a three-day display. Garrett County resident Irving Day, who is a member of the American Ex-Prisoners of War, was instrumental in the restoration efforts and promotion of these aircraft. Day said that persons are invited to tour the warplanes, and there are usually veterans on hand to answer questions and share war stories with interested spectators. He said that the restored bombers do much to honor veterans "who suffered much through their incarceration without guilt, their imprisonment without crime, for just doing their duty." He added, "The psychological scars are real, even though unseen, and the efforts of the Veterans Administration and American Ex-Prisoners of War do much to alleviate the pain and suffering which persist, barely dimmed even by 50 years." The bombers will remain at Hart Field in Morgantown from Friday until 2 p.m. Sunday, when they will depart for Dubois, Pa. For more information about the Morgantown visit, persons may telephone Chuck Keener at 304-291-7461.

Mt. Top Cruisers Slate Car Show

Mt. Top Cruisers Car Club has announced its first car show, to be held at Mt. Grove VFD's 17th annual Potato Festival.

The event will be held near Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., on Saturday, Sept. 12, with car registration from 9 a.m. until noon. The registration fee is $6 and a visible fire extinguisher is required. Dash plaques will be given to the first 75 cars to register.

The car show will feature 13 classes, with three trophies to be awarded in each class, in addition to a Best of Show award.

The team of judges will begin judging at 12:30 p.m., and will consider cleanliness and workmanship. Trophies will be presented at 3:30 p.m. at the stage area.

Spectator admission for the car show is $1, and children under age 12 will be admitted without charge. There will be live entertainment, auctions, raffles, and food provided by the Mt. Grove VFD.

The car show will be held rain or shine at the Mt. Grove fire hall, Route 219, 15 miles south of Oakland, or six miles north of Thomas. Everyone is invited to attend.

Rebekahs Hold Friendship Day

The Blackwater Rebekah Lodge 274 hosted a Friendship Day party recently at the lodge hall in Davis.

Rebekah Lodge members from the Blackwater, Liberty, and Lillian lodges were in attendance for the covered dish buffet. West Virginia State Assembly president Barbara Zimmerman, past president Charlotte Zimmerman, and district deputy Andrea Hedrick took their places as the guests of honor, along with Mable Gross of Davis.

Davis mayor Gaylon Hill, and Jo-Ann Hill and Mr. Gould, Davis, were also guests of the Blackwater Lodge.

Gross provided a round of piano playing. Those present participated in a sing-along of old tunes, and also sang to Helen Paine, past district deputy of the Blackwater Lodge, who was celebrating a birthday.

Members of Liberty Lodge 95 performed a skit suggesting that fewer muscles are required to smile than to frown.

The party was held to celebrate friendship in Rebekahs and to help promote the lodge and its nonprofit, charitable activities.

Make Your Vote Count - Vote Bob Watson

Judge: A government official elected to hear and decide cases in a law court. A person chosen to settle a dispute or decide a contest. A person qualified to form an opinion. Sole Judge of Truth. (Alexander Pope).

Law: The body of rules recognized by a state or a community as binding to its members.

Justice: Being just; fairness; rightness; correctness; The exercise of power and authority to maintain what is right and just. Just conduct; Fair dealing.

When I review all of the above definitions and descriptions of our judicial system, one man comes to mind. That man is Bob Watson, attorney for Circuit Court Judge.

I have known Bob for many years as a friend and as an attorney. I can say without a doubt that he embodies what justice should mean in Garrett County. When he is elected Judge of the Circuit Court I am sure that he will be fair and just and that he will lead Garrett County into the 21st Century with dignity and pride.

I urge each of you to get out and vote. This is your opportunity to voice your opinion and that opinion will affect the entire county. Make your vote count and count for an honest and hard working individual, Bob Watson.

AURORA/EGLON

concluded with a prayer poem.

A thank-you note from the Aurora PTO was read. Plans were made to create a booklet containing the history, projects, some activities, former members of the club, and to have an open house on Oct. 6 to celebrate the club's 50th year in existence.

The meeting concluded with two humorous readings and refreshments. Attending were Rebecca Teets, Avenell Parsons, Sandra and Beth Hauser, Mary Rembold, Linda Lewis, and Jean Winters.

TRIBULATION HOUSE MEETING

There will be a Tribulation House meeting on Sunday, Aug. 23, at 7 p.m. All those involved last year, or interested in being a part of the presentation this year, should attend the meeting at the Horse Shoe Run Maple Grove Assembly of God Church. For more information, persons may call Pastor Dave Parker at 735-5007.

BREAK-THE-RECORD SUNDAY

At the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church, Aug. 30 is being designated as Break the Record Sunday. Services will begin at 10:30 a.m. Dr. Rhoden, the district superintendent, will be a special guest. The church is located in the Accident community of the Horse Shoe Run area.

There will be a special gift for each in attendance. Pastor Dave Parker will have a special demonstration, and there will be many other surprises. Everyone should bring a friend to help break the record. Pastor Parker welcomes all and will be glad to provide further information. His number is 735-5007.

EAST PRESTON CLASS OF '83

There was a disappointing turnout for the East Preston High School Class of 1983 at their August 15 reunion held at Alpine Lake Lodge. Attending the dinner were Greg and Liz Harvey, Morgantown; Rocky and Lynn Metheny of Virginia; Leonard and Tammy Parsons, Aurora; Jim and Jessie Hart, Terra Alta; Willie and Arlene Lantz, Oakland; John and Kathy Hamperian, Charleston; Melissa Cramer, Kingwood; Brian and Paula Ridenour, Albright, and Alan and Patti Wilt, Eglon.

The alumni held a picnic Sunday, Aug. 16, at Cathedral State Park and attending were Willie and Arlene Lantz and sons, Jim and Jessie Hart and boys, John and Kathy Hamperian and son, Leonard and Tammy Parsons and son, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pifer and son of Virginia, Laura Frazee and children, Terra Alta, Melissa Cramer and daughters, Greg and Liz Harvey and daughter, Alan and Patti Wilt, Danny and Bonnie Kempher and son, Terra Alta, and Brian and Paula Ridenour and daughters.

AURORA CLASS OF 1938 MEETS — The Aurora High School class of 1938 met for its 60th class reunion recently. The Union Ambulance building was the site for the gathering of nine of the surviving 14 classmates. The original class count was 28. Two teachers also attended the event. Seated are teachers Joanie (DeBerry) Wolfe, left, and Freda (Simpson) Denison. In the first row standing, left to right, are Mildred (Schrock) Myer, Maria (Abernathy) Martin, Creola (Fike) Jones, Viola (Fike) Gordon, Virginia (Long) Mason, and Mildred (Bolyard) Kraft. In the back, same order, are Ella Teets, Flora (Harsh) Weaver, and Homer Myers.

AURORA GRADS CELEBRATE 60th

The Aurora High School class of 1938 met Saturday, Aug. 15, at the Union Ambulance squad hall in Aurora for a dinner and reunion. Favors in the form of wooden yearbooks were provided by the Union Ambulance Squad. Ellis Teets made door prizes: an apple box, won by Freda Denison, and a school desk, won by Homer Myers.

Attending were Creola (Fike) and Stanley Jones of Booneboro, Md., Viola (Fike) Gordon, Opopka, Fla.; Mildred Schrock Meyer, Oakland, Marie Abernathy Martin, Aurora; Ellis and Marie Teets, Horse Shoe Run; Homer and Marguerite Myers, Aurora; Mildred (Bolyard) and Raymond Kraft, Thornton; Virginia Long Mason and her sister, Libby Long Piccolo, of Letonia, Ohio; Flora Harsh Weaver of Palmyra, Pa., and her son Ed; and Bernice Christman Didio, Kingwood.

Two teachers were also present: Jean DeBerry Wolfe of Sun City, Fla., and Freda Simpson Denison, Lady Lake, Fla., who was accompanied by her daughter, Barbara Steyer, Oakland.

PERSONAL MENTION

A reunion of the children of Dayton Teets was held Sunday at the home of Lois and Tom Adams, Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strawser of Rowlesburg and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heckert of Romney were Sunday visitors with Bessie and Barbara Heckert, Eglon.

Preston County Retired School Personnel met at Tunnelton on Aug. 11. David and Wilma Mae Teets, Martha Bolyard, Lewis and Hazel Durst, and Lois Strawser were among those present.

At the Crossroads School reunion held on Sunday, Aug. 16, Mary Ruth Ball was elected president, Jack Cassidy the vice president, and Grace Bachtel the secretary/treasurer. It is planned to hold a reunion again next year on the third Sunday in August at the same place, the Farmers' Wildlife Park. There were about 25 attending.

A Bland family reunion was held Sunday afternoon at the Amboy United Methodist Church pavilion with about 35 present, most from the local families.

At the annual Gnegy reunion on the Dale and Mary Jane Gnegy Farm, Sunday, Aug. 16, it was voted to continue having it on the third Sunday in August, a conflicting date for many. About 70 attended.

Julie and Grayson Baker of Virginia Beach, Va., returned Julie's sister, Sara Lewis, home last Wednesday after visiting at Manassas, Va., with her uncle and aunt, Carl and Nancy Winters, and Clay. She and Grayson spent a week visiting her parents, Tom and Linda Lewis, Eglon, and other area relatives, and returned to Virginia Beach Wednesday. Emily Lewis of South Charleston was also a weekend visitor at home.

Visiting with Lewis and Hazel Durst this weekend were Harold and Helen Winters of Columbus, Ohio.

Bill and Joyce Dixon of Amboy celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday evening with an open house, and with a Sunday family barbecue. Joyce's brothers, Junior, Norman, and Bill Edeburn came for the occasion.

Ruth and Roscoe Teets celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a Saturday dinner for their immediate family: Bruce, Mary, Melinda, and Tracy Teets, Eglon; Brad and Robin Teets, Stroudsburg, Pa.; and Jesse and Elsie Harsh, Mary's parents.

The children and grandchildren and families of Nelson and Carrie (Lantz) Harsh met Sunday at the Maple Spring Church for a reunion. Visiting for the occasion were Merril and Leatrice Flory of Dayton, Ohio, who were guests of Robert and Carolyn and Artenis Harsh at Eglon.

David and Wilma Mae Teets of Horse Shoe Run spent several days last week in northwestern Pennsylvania exploring museums, seeing interesting places and riding on old trains, one over a bridge 301 feet in height. They were in the area of Titusville and Franklin.

Eldean Poling of Stemple Ridge spent the past two weeks in Ohio visiting her daughters, Gloria Harsh at Barberton, and Darlene and Charlie Boyett and family at Wadsworth. She has two new great-granddaughters, Andrea Eileen, who was born July 1 to Steve and April Hunt, and Aubrey Christine, who was born July 26 to Chuck and Nicole Boyett. She was taken to the home of her son and family, Roger, Pia, and Jason Harsh, in Parkersburg, by her husband Claud Poling. They were met there by their daughter Gloria.

Claud Poling's daughter, Julie Hahn, and her daughter Amber of Charles Town, were recent visitors with her father and stepmother.

Four of the six children of Harold Harsh treated him to a birthday dinner at Goody's on Saturday evening. Mr. Harsh, Arlene Lantz, Jean and Herb Starr, Linda and Dan Liston, Lyle and Mary Ann Harsh, and Claud and Eldean Poling met therr for his celebration.

Herb and Jean Starr of Stemple Ridge were visitors with their daughter and son-in-law, Ginny and Al Casto, and with Mr. Starr's mother, Annie Starr, all of Akron, Ohio.

Kathleen Radcliff, the one remaining sister of Harold Harsh, is currently hospitalized in an Akron hospital.

Attributing a key role to older residents, Schlosnagle underscored the impact of their work. "I thank the seniors for putting a fire under all of us. Finally it is official. It is coming to fruition. Yea, it's going to happen," he said.

Yoder, having acknowledged the work of the mayor and council and the "strong role" played by Edwards, commended the seniors. "We can't underestimate the importance of the group here in making this happen," he emphasized.

When the senior group traveled to Crownsville to address representatives on the block grant approval committee, among them was Chauncey Friend, a 94-year-old retired school teacher. Yoder spoke of his youthful impressions of Friend as a teacher and of his response to this former teacher's presentation to state officials. "As a teacher Mr. Friend was an intimidating presence. But when he spoke in Crownsville, he had me close to tears," Yoder described.

Friend had explained to the state officials that people his age are alone and they get depressed and that it really helps if they can be among other older citizens who respect their pace of life.

Another spokesperson for the seniors, Mildred Friend, had emphasized the need for a place to learn, teach, and pursue activities such as quilting with a group. When questioned about quilting by one of the state officials, she assured the official that she would teach him to quilt.

Edwards also took the opportunity to recognize the importance of the proactive role assumed by the Friendsville seniors. He thanked each of them for their zeal in pursuing the matter. He, too, reflected on memories of Chauncey Friend as a teacher. "I think we were all afraid of Mr. Friend," he said, smiling at the elderly gentleman.

The grant will be used to construct an addition on the Friendsville Head Start building to be used for congregate senior meals and activities for seniors and members of the community.

Hagerstown's Late Outburst Brings Close To Oaks' Championship Year

A fine season drew to a close this past Saturday for the Oakland Oaks, 1998 Pen-Mar League regular season and post-season champions, as the Hagerstown Braves dropped the Garrett County team 9-1 at Hagerstown Community College. The Braves, kings of the Blue Ridge League, advance to Saturday's Maryland semi-pro finals at Salisbury as one of a field of four teams vying for the state crown.

The lopsided final score does not indicate the pitched battle between the Oaks and their hosts, as only a single run separated the two teams until the bottom of the seventh inning. Starting pitcher Kent Taylor held the Braves to two runs over the first six innings, one run coming in the lead-off stanza and another in the third inning. Oakland's lone run came in the fifth inning, driven home on a sacrifice fly by Joey DiSimone.

The score stood at 2-1 when a four-run Hagerstown outburst in the seventh began to put some distance between the competitors, and a three-run inning for the Braves in the eighth put the game out of reach. Matt Fritz came on in relief in the final inning.

In addition to DiSimone's sacrifice fly, the Oaks' offense was paced by a Matt Lupis triple, a double by Ernie Galusky, and a single by Aaron Taylor; however, these three hits totaled Oakland's batting production off a complete-game winning pitcher David Crawford. The Braves' 11-hit production was led by two area college players, Frostburg State University's Pat Sweeney and Davis and Elkins University's Ronnie Palmer, each of whom doubled and singled to drive in two runs apiece. Nate Reeser added an RI double, and Mike Martin punched out 2 singles and drove home one run.

The Oaks finished their season with an overall 24-10 mark. "We had a fine year," head coach Terry Helbig commented. "A key to our success has been the teamwork between the Oaks and other local baseball program. We've received support and utilized players from the Garrett County American Legion team, Northern and Southern high schools, Garrett Community College, FSU, D&E, and Potomac State College. Everyone benefits when the local programs work together: the players, the teams, and especially the fans. We have a quality of baseball here in Garrett County that few counties can match."

Helbig had high praise for the resurgence of the Pen-Mar League as well. "This has been the best year for the league since I've been involved," he said. "We're very well balanced, and I'd say we're just a couple of years away from being on a level field with the powerhouse teams of the Blue Ridge and Fayette County, Pa., leagues.

The Pen-Mar League hopes to expand to eight teams and go to wooden bats next year also," Helbig added. "The wooden bats would give us a lot of notoriety in the region, and would hopefully get additional players and teams to think about joining the league."

Local baseball fans can also look forward to the 1999 postseason with anticipation, for the game between the top Maryland teams from the Pen-Mar and Blue Ridge leagues will be played at GCC; then to cap the year the state semi-pro four-team finals will be played on the Lakers' diamond shortly thereafter.

GCC's Rulli To Continue Play At Greensboro

Denny Rulli, a two-year starter for Garrett Community College's baseball team, has signed a letter of intent to continue his academic and athletic career at University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Greensboro, an NCAA Division I institution, won the Southern Conference Title last year and posted a 40-18 overall record.

During Rulli's tenure at Garrett, he compiled impressive hitting and pitching statistics. His freshman season batting average was .413, and at mid season had a batting average as high as .518, which ranked him in the top 10 of the NJCAA national poll. The following season his role primarily became that of designated hitter/pitcher. He had a 4-0 pitching record with an impressive 2.27 ERA. In addition he batted .299 for the season. As a right-handed pitcher/designated hitter, he received honors of 1998 First-Team All-Region XX.

"I can't say enough about Denny," commented GCC baseball coach Ed Wildesen. "He was the most level-headed player I've ever coached at Garrett. He never lost his composure or cool. He never became unnerved by an umpire's call or the aggressive play by the opposition."

According to UNC-Greensboro's sports information department, Rulli is expected to hit in the middle of the lineup, play first base, and pitch as needed.

Rulli is the son of Nick and Luann Rulli of Canfield, Ohio.

Christian Men's Softball League Playoffs Slated

Playoffs are slated to get under way this week in the Garrett County Christian Men's Softball League, as final regular-season contests were played this past week, as well as some tie-breakers to determine final league standings and playoff seeds.

In the final regular match-ups, Crellin United Methodist swept a double-header from Maple Glen Mennonite, 13-12 and 19-3, with Farren Hershman being the winning pitcher in both contests. Julius Bolyard hit a pair of homers for Crellin, while Roger Bowman, Bill Ashby, Donnie Horner, Scott Ashby, and Hershman each hit one. Dave Kennel hit two home runs and Dwaine Overbold had one for Maple Glen.

St. Mark's Lutheran forfeited a pair of games to Cherry Glade Mennonite.

In tie-breaker action, Maranatha Assembly of God defeated Pleasant View Baptist, 25-11, to determine second place, Cherry Glade Mennonite topped Maple Glen, 35-21, to determine the sixth-place team, and Oak Park Church of the Brethren out-scored Crellin Assembly of God, 57-49, to determine the 10th-place team.

Besides playoff action this week, the league is planning to hold a home-run derby on Friday, Aug. 28 (time to be announced), to raise money for the Jeff Roszell Memorial Scholarship Fund. More details of this event will be released next week.

Football League Seeking Players

The Northern Youth Football League welcomes 6- and 7-year-old participants, boys and girls, who are interested in playing football this fall. Interested parents may call Todd Metz at 301-746-6444 for further information.

Yale Women's X-Country Team To Train Locally

Garrett County's hilly trails will be providing a training ground for the Yale University women's cross country team next week before the team returns to New Haven, Conn., to open its 1998 season. The team members will cool off and raise funds for their activities at the same time as they hold a carwash at Markwood's Citgo in Oakland on Friday, Aug. 28.

In a preseason tradition for the running Bulldogs, each August the team travels to the home of one of its upperclassmen to begin training. This year the lady harriers will be staying at the Deep Creek Lake residence of senior Shannon Duff, who will be leading her teammates in training runs in area state and local parks.

Duff and her fellow runners are in contention for an Ivy League cross country title this year, as they took last year's East Coast Athletic Conference Division I championship.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

SPORTSMANSHIP
By Dan Muss

On Saturday I had a rare chance to have John Meredith, our local sailboat racing champion, crew for me. John has spent this entire summer crewing for anyone who wants help with their racing technique. In most cases when John is aboard, the boat does well. I did not do that well, but I learned lots of neat little tricks from him and it was fun being with him.

We, here at Deep Creek Lake, award a Sportsman of the Year Trophy; I intend to nominate John this fall. We have some fine sailing sportsmen here; a couple of years back Harry Carpenter won the national award sponsored by the U.S. Sailing Association, our parent organization. Harry is the CEO of Flying Scot Inc., Deep Lark.

One of the last things John Meredith said to me as we unrigged my boat was to clean the bottom of the boat. He was right on; we haven't cleaned it since the boat was launched in the spring. How do you clean the bottom? It's not as hard as one might think.

In the days of sailing ships of the 18th and 19th century, the boats were built of wood, but, in most cases, the bottom was lined with copper sheet that was intended to slow down the accumulation of sea critters that attach themselves to whatever is in the water. We do something similar today, but we use an anti-fouling paint which is, I believe, a copper compound and discourages the water life—discourages, that is; it does not stop them so one still has to clean the bottom.

How do we clean the bottom? We use essentially the same method they used back then. It's called "careening." In the old days they would drag the ship up onto a beach and pull it over on its side, scrape one side, and then repeat the process for the other side. We do not have to beach the Flying Scot; we unload all the loose stuff onto the dock, and, using the halyards, pull the boat over on its side. The Scot rides so high in the water that most of us just guide the boat over to the shore using the now horizontal mast and wash the bottom while a mate holds the mast down.

Cavity Vaccine Just Around the Corner?

British Scientists say they have developed a vaccine that could eliminate tooth decay. Initial short term studies have been completed and show promise in reducing and eliminating the bacteria in the mouth that cause cavities.

The vaccine is a plant-based substance that is painted on the teeth. The vaccine will most likely be placed on the teeth once or twice every year at a patient's normal cleaning appointment.

Long term studies have begun, and the company is hoping to have the vaccine available to dental patients in 2001 or 2002.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT I

GET OUT AND VOTE
MARYLAND'S PRIMARY ELECTION
SEPTEMBER 15, 1998

For the last 31 years I have been a dedicated and actively involved teacher and I intend to continue in my chosen profession until you, the voters of Garrett County, decide whether I will be your next county commissioner from District 1.

If you do decide to bestow that trust upon me, I will retire from my teaching position before I assume the duties of commissioner.

I will devote just as much time and intensity to my new role as I have to my role as a teacher.

Let my commitment to my students speak for itself.

Be assured, your concerns will be my concerns.

SHS Cheerleaders To Host Clinic For Area Youth

The award-winning Southern High School cheerleaders will host a cheerleading clinic beginning Monday, Aug. 24, and continuing through Friday, Aug. 28, from 9 a.m. to noon each day in the SHS cafeteria. The clinic will be taught by cheerleaders from the Rams' cheerleading squad.

The cheerleading clinic is open to all youth from the ages of 5 through 17, according to Amy Nemith, Rams' cheerleading coach, who emphasized that participants do not have to currently be cheerleaders. Topics covered will include motion technique, jumps, dance, beginner's stunts, voice projection, attitude, and spirit. Daily awards will be given, and a pizza party and overall awards presentation will close the clinic at noon on Friday.

Clinic registration will be held on Saturday, Aug. 22, from 9 to 11 a.m. in the SHS cafeteria. The funds raised by the $35 per person clinic fee will go towards covering fund a trip to Dallas, Texas, by the SHS cheerleading squad trip to compete December's National Cheerleading Championship competition. For further information interested persons may call Nemith at 301-334-9786.

Weekly winners are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers must enter their catches at Johnny's Bait House, Route 219, south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

GC Youth Compete In Five-State Elks-Sponsored Tourney

The Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 recently sponsored four area youths who participated in the Elks Area II Tournament of Champions, which drew entrants from five states and Washington, D.C., to the Seven Springs Mountain Resort in Champion, Pa., recently.

Justin Stevens and Josh Stevens competed in the junior division tennis tournament, while Bryson Paugh and Kane Wengerd played in the 36 hole golf tournament, with Wengerd taking second-place honors in a close finish. The annual event included competition in golf, tennis, and bowling.

The local participants represented our community well in all respects," commented Elks spokesman Lin Gonder, "and each spoke highly of the well-organized event." Elks officers from around the country were in attendance, including three past Grand Exalted Rulers.

The Oakland Elks Lodge plans to continue to support area athletes in similar events in the future," Gonder added.

ELKS TOURNEY STANDOUT - Kane Wengerd, shown above, finished a close second in the overall golf event of the Elks Area II Tournament of Champions held recently at the Seven Springs Mountain Resort in Champion, Pa. He was runner-up in a field of competitors from five states and Washington, D.C., and finished first in the Maryland, Delaware, and D.C. section. Wengerd received plaques and trophies for both accomplishments, and his efforts will be featured in upcoming Elks publications. He is the son of Craig and Linda Wengerd of Oakland.

Two Injured In Single-Vehicle Mishap On I-68

A single-vehicle accident on Interstate 68 last Friday resulted in injuries to two passengers, Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that Ruth Ann Starnes, York, Pa., was traveling westbound on I-68 at 2:35 a.m., west of the 10-mile marker, when her vehicle ran off the edge of the roadway.

As she brought the vehicle back onto the roadway, Starnes allegedly lost control, allowing the vehicle to skid across the westbound lanes of the interstate and off the roadway into a guardrail.

Two of Starnes's four passengers were transported to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment. No charges were filed in the incident.

Signal Broken

Police reported that Kenneth T. McConnell Jr., 48, Swanton, was northbound on Route 219 Monday at 9:15 a.m. and slowed to make a right turn. His right turn signal was not working at the time, the report stated.

Michael E. Knecht, 32, Boynton, Pa., tried to pass on the right shoulder, and his vehicle was struck by McCounell's vehicle as it turned.

McConnell, who was charged by police in the incident, was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad. He was treated and released.

Fails To Yield

Larry T. House, 25, Grantsville, was charged with failure to yield the right of way Saturday around 2 p.m., when he drove into the path of a vehicle on Route 40, driven by Dora J. Wilson, 80, Confluence, Pa. Northern Rescue Squad and Grantsville VFD responded to the scene. Three patients were transported to Meyersdale Hospital, Pa.

DWI

The following arrests for driving while intoxicated were reported: Charles G. Fink, 23, Oakland, Aug. 15 and Shannon M. Price, 27, Westernport, Aug. 18.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park

"The Dalton Gang" from Morgantown, W.Va., rolled into town and embarked the competition as Nolan Dalton picked up his first Late Model feature win of the season at Roaring Knob Raceway Park Sunday afternoon. Other winners were Louie Krushansky, E-Mods; Lonnie Hoffman, Modified Stocks; and Ed Kemp, Pure Stocks.

Dalton's Late Model machine, powered by a "spec motor," opened some eyes as he maneuvered around the Markleysburg oval in convincing form. Starting eighth in the field he methodically worked his way through the traffic, and had just passed Mel Minnick Jr. for the lead when the caution waved for the first time on lap eight.

Dalton went on unchallenged until a caution for third-running Darras Deneen slowed the pace and allowed the field to bunch up again. Initial Late Model feature winner Jim Kutas got by Scott Brode for second with three to go and made a last ditch effort to pass Dalton on the final lap. Kutas settled for a close second, Brode held on for third, Minnick was fourth, and Jeff Thomas rounded out the top five.

Louie Krushansky from Morgantown, W.Va., jumped into the Sonny Stutler-owned J3 E-Mod and led from start to finish for his first win of the year at the Knob.

Both looking to repeat, McKeesport, Pa.'s Lonnie Hoffman and Keith Friedline out of Somerset, Pa., put on a heated battle for the top spot in the Modified Stock feature. The pair stayed glued to each other lap after lap, and at the checker it was Hoffman over Friedline to win for the second time this year at Roaring Knob.

Likewise, the Pure Stocks had Ed Kemp out of Confluence, Pa., and Carnegie, Pa.'s Al Atallah also looking for repeat wins at the Knob.

Regular four division racing continues at Roaring Knob Raceway Park next Sunday, Aug. 23, and coming up on Sunday, Aug. 30, will be the "Pedal to the Metal 20" Pure Stock special along with the Late Models, Caney Valley Sport shop & Marine E-Mods, and the Stone House Restaurant Modified Stocks. Racing both weeks begins promptly at 5 p.m. Gates open at 3 p.m. Beginning Sunday, Sept. 6, the starting time for the remainder of the 98 season is being moved up to 2 p.m., and the gates will open at noon.

make sense that they have suddenly come up with this number."

Don Sebold, a landowner and member of the Youghiogheny Advisory Board, said he would "challenge anyone" to drive past his land or any of his neighbors' and see if they could find that it is not being preserved.

"We bought land here because we love it — not because we want to destroy it," Sebold said.

Rusty Thomas, also an advisory board member, said he felt the regulations in place are more than sufficient.

"If the DNR would just get up here and enforce the regs already in place, they wouldn't need this 100 feet," he said. Thomas also raised the concern that the state might want to pursue the commercialization of fly fishing.

"I don't mind people fly fishing — I love to see a granddad and some kids out there in nature, enjoying themselves. But I don't want the state to start bringing tours and tours of people on my land where I won't even have any say about it," he said.

In response to the local concerns, the commissioners voted to oppose the DNR's proposition and sent a letter Tuesday to the DNR office to that effect. The letter states that DNR has been involved in activities along the Yough for 24 years and no major problems have occurred, and therefore there is no need for any new regulation.

"IS THAT YOU, BUBBA?" - That may have been the question on David Reama's mind as he was fighting with this 6-lb. 6-oz. striped bass on Saturday. After hooking the leviathan on a shiner, Reame pulled it out of Broadford Lake a half-hour later with a little help from his dad, Tommy; later his mom, Melissa, cooked it up in filleta for the hungry boy and his family. The 11-year-old Oakland Sang Run Road resident will have a real fish tale to tell his buddies in the fifth grade at Dennett Road Elementary School this fall.

Letters

of the people in here. Decent people make mistakes and have to pay for them. That may not apply to all, but I know it applies to most.

The main concern in the article was the conditions of the jail and improving conditions for the staff and inmates. Instead of worrying about overcrowded conditions, which I have not seen in the four months I have been here, it would seem they would worry about fixing what is here. Let me give you a list of some of the inmates' grievances.

Windows that have ledges with crud caked on their seals for at least the last 20 years, a ventilation system that hasn't been cleaned for at least the same amount of time, paint peeling from walls and floors, no outside recreation, a ping pong table for inside recreation, nothing else, a library of dilapidated books that are never switched out, and nothing to do and lots of time to do it.

Please don't misunderstand me, the staff here really do care and are the most professional people I have ever met. Many of them, such as Sheriff Sanders, Warden Rumer, Officer Michaels, Officer Feather, and Officer Moyer are constantly asking us how we're feeling and if we are doing all right. Plus, we have several people who volunteer their time to come in to help us in schooling and religious matters, such as Tom Glotfelty and several others.

In conclusion, I would like to say that maybe Sheriff Sanders and Warden Rumer are the two who should be leading committees concerning the needs of the jail. It wouldn't hurt to appoint inmate committees out of trustees or people who they know will be here for a year or more for serious input concerning the inmates' needs. Maybe the people out there need to become involved with the issue. You never know, maybe someday you or someone you love will make a wrong decision that will end up with you or them in here.

I seriously doubt if this letter will be printed because I am an inmate, but even if it isn't, at least I have reached one person.

Respectfully,
Bobby D. Tichnell
Garrett County Jail

To the Editor:

What does it take, what must happen, before those, in a position of power wise up to the danger (now growing each year) at the intersection of 219, Mosser-Bumble Bee roads, and Deep Creek Drive extension in McHenry? At one time, all of the so-called "action" was on the other side of Deep Creek Lake in what is referred to as Thayerville. Not any longer. Here in McHenry, we have the fairgrounds, two marinas or boat rentals, a fast food restaurant, two convenience stores, the post office, three gas stations, three real estate offices, a car wash, a new supermarket plaza, Funland, McHenry Plaza, and the "new" information and Chamber of Commerce building (just to name a few). There are several other businesses, and the state police barracks is not far away.

Yet the other side of the Deep Creek Lake bridge has a 45 miles per hour speed limit while this aforementioned intersection has a 50 miles per hour limit. Don't the highway departments of both the county and the state understand that 50 reads "go faster" to some yahoos? Cars and trucks travel 60 and 70 miles per hour at this four-way juncture.

What is even worse, many motorists use the wide and smooth shoulders and turn off lanes as an "illegal" passing lane! They cross the solid white line. With all this, nary a sheriff's deputy or state police officer in sight to stop these accident prone drivers and give out tickets.

No signs are posted saying: "Slow...dangerous intersection...40 miles per hour." No arrows and words are painted, in these shoulders, at this intersection, saying: "No passing...right turn only!"

Whose child (or grandchild) must be seriously injured or killed before something is done to reduce the danger? There have already been several vehicular accidents since this intersection became Garrett County's "Los Angeles Freeway." When I talk to county officials, they say, "Talk to the state!" When I talk to the state, they say, "Talk to the county." What is it with these "office pencil pushers?" Don't they ever leave their air-conditioned offices? Am I missing something? Why don't they talk to each other?

Recently, I saw a road crew and told the supervisor about four corner potholes at this intersection. They had gravel put in the biggest hole...not "hot" or "cold" patch. Now the pothole is back, but there is gravel that causes skidding on 219.

I don't think anyone living (or vacationing) in Garrett County wants to get that dreaded phone call telling them that a loved one just died at this monster of an intersection. However, if something is not done soon to correct this abomination that is exactly what will happen!

By the way, you Monday through Friday, or "nine to fivers," start doing your surveys here from noon Friday to after 3 p.m. Sunday. People can die on weekends, too, you know! That's when the "yahoos" come to town.

To the Editor:

To begin with, I am a member of G.C./CARE, a director, in fact. I joined G.C./CARE not to thwart industry from coming to Garrett County, not to beggar the youth of our area, not to deny the advance of time nor to deny folks a one shot opportunity at their portion of a hundred million dollar construction bonanza, but rather because there is absolutely zero evidence, by that I mean no evidence whatever, that destroying our pastoral area with roads better suited for suburban areas shall produce a single high paying job.

There are literally hundreds of miles of high speed four lane roads between New York and Florida where the only change produced by the bisecting four lane is higher taxes and less timely maintenance on pre-existing local roads. Advocates who claim new roads bring jobs have not produced a single valid comparison. Does anyone besides me believe that having 10% of the nation's population within one hour has anything to do with economic growth around Hagerstown and Frederick? These sorts of comparisons are preposterous.

Garrett County is three hours from a population center. The proper comparisons for this area are rural Virginia, rural Pennsylvania, rural New York, rural North Carolina, not suburban Maryland. In the valid comparison areas, economic development is helter skelter, often without apparent rhyme or reason, and there is no place in Garrett County far enough off 1-68 to discourage any business that is serious about locating in this area based on what I have seen in valid comparison areas.

It is a little bit exasperating to be accused of wanting to hold the county back when the nearest areas with east and west roads intersecting north south roads are either experiencing slow growth or dying before our eyes. Morgantown isn't setting any growth records and Cumberland is dying, the result of fifty years of twisted government in Allegany County. I challenge any person to produce valid evidence we can fare better than our neighbors with a highway that is likely to be closed part of each winter.

In re the Oakland bypass issue, there seems to be confusion about the need for and the desirability of building one. This issue is tangential to the Intercontinental One (I-1) issue m that if bypasses are built around Oakland and Accident, I-1 shall ahnost certainly take a western route through Garrett County (when and if it is built) since the cost effective path becomes connecting the bypasses.

Clearly the last intrusive path is no bypass at all, so simply eliminate parking on Third and Fourth Streets, and have each street be one way, and do the same after widening Oak Street to Rt. 219 South. There is probably as much traffic from the east, Route 135, as there is from Route 219, and a bypass is going to have no effect whatever on that traffic. More accidents have occurred in Thayerville this summer than have occurred at Third and Oak (the BIG trouble spot) in the last three years. Think about it.

In closing, let me be clear that no one wants good jobs here more than I do, including those being paid to produce such jobs and those promoting hope in the form of new highways. There are no panaceas for rural America except competent local government. Find that, and you find hope, growth, and opportunity. Elections are just ahead; you owe it to your families and your friends to find out where the candidates stand, and vote your conscience. An informed, active electorate is in control of its representatives. Maybe it's time we had open, responsive government here.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch

ARC Beanie Baby™ Raffle Results Are Announced

The American Red Cross has announced the winners of its recent Ty Beanie Baby™ raffle. More than 3,000 chances were sold for the five prizes, according to a chapter spokesperson. The names were drawn on the last night of the Garrett County Fair.

The first prize, a basket of 15 retired and "hard-to-find" beanies, was won by Ronda Staggs, Keyser, W.Va. The second prize, a basket of 33 current beanies, went to Chuck Charpiat, Accident. Third, fourth, and fifth place prizes were the Peace, Valentino, and Curley bears, respectively. They were won by Letha Hanlin and Mike Virts, both of Oakland, and Ann McKeown, Fort Ashby, W.Va.

Bill Crawford, executive director of the three-county chapter, reported that the campaign was "extremely successful," and he extended gratitude to the area businesses who helped in the effort. Reminisce Antique Mall in McHenry displayed the prizes and also conducted a separate drawing, and about 45 other area businesses contributed to the campaign.

Among the businesses selling tickets were Accident Amoco, Bodyworks, the Book Mark'et, and Flowers by Webers, all in Garrett County, and the Gift Buggy, McCoole, W.Va.; Linda's Hallmark, Keyser, W.Va.; and the Book Center, Cumberland.

All proceeds from the fund-raising event will go to support the local American Red Cross chapter's services in Garrett, Allegany, and Mineral (W.Va.) counties.

Grantsville Man Back In Jail For Probation Offense

A Grantsville man who pleaded guilty to the charge of probation violation is back in jail for three months, according to a report from Garrett County Circuit Court records. A prison term for Jame Allen Stanton, 24, was reimposed by Judge James Sherbin during proceedings last week.

Stanton was originally convicted in 1996 of charges of assault and reckless driving. At that time, Judge Fred Thayer sentenced him to three years, with 30 months suspended. He also ordered the defendant to be on probation for three years.

The result of a random drug test apparently led to the probation charge against Stanton, who reportedly tested positive for marijuana use. At the time of the probation charge, the defendant was also apparently several months behind in restitution payments.

Sherbin accepted Stanton's guilty plea and reimposed the 30 months, suspending all but three months, to be served in the local jail.

FAIRNESS ELECT IT!

Fairness is not an abstract concept. It's not something that springs into being by itself. It's not even something that results from good intentions. It has to be worked at. It takes honesty and courage and a lot of hard learning and skill. Fairness is doing the right thing for the child in a custody case, making the correct decision in a complex civil case and handling criminal cases in a manner that can withstand an appeal that might result in injustice. Fairness is treating everyone as equal before the law regardless of social standing, wealth or political power. Fairness is honesty. It is directly proportional to competence. Fairness is the first casualty of sloppy justice. I pledge fairness from the Garrett County Circuit Court bench.

Abuse Of The Elderly: A Lesser Known Form Of Family Violence

Editor's Note: This article is the second in a series on violent or abusive treatment of people within the family unit, and efforts being made in Garrett County to prevent this violence through education.

by Peggy Santamaria

"Don't ever underestimate the violence, neglect, and abuse perpetrated on these people..."

In the circle of family violence, abuse of elderly family members is less talked about and perhaps less widely known about than other forms of domestic abuse.

The elderly, a group which is increasing as a percentage of the population, easily become targets of abusive treatment or neglect, according to June Heselbach, RN, an advocate of rights of older citizens. As a nurse-educator dealing specifically with the geriatric population, Heselbach has served as a consultant to the state and on the governor's task force to investigate elder abuse. She is currently the long-term care manager and the ombudsman for the Area Agency on Aging and a member of the Garrett County Family Violence Coalition.

Several factors contribute to the vulnerability of the elderly, Heselbach explained. Such conditions as dementia, illness, and frailty often render the elderly dependent upon family members or other caregivers who abuse them. "The statistics are staggering," Heselbach commented.

A common form of maltreatment of the elderly is one that is not readily detectable. "One of the most common things I see is emotional abuse of older people. They are humiliated; treated as less than human; not treated with dignity," Heselbach stated. Especially vulnerable to this form of cruelty are those with dementia and Alzheimer's disease.

A person with dementia is not less of a human being because of the illness, though he or she may exhibit confusion. "The person with dementia believes in his or her reality," Heselbach explained. To insult these people and humiliate them because of the confusion that is associated with dementia is a cruelty that the patients feel, she explained.

In place of insults Heselbach encourages giving the patient "a way out with dignity." Pointing out that a person is wrong and confused and acting stupidly is not only hurtful, but useless. The patient with dementia cannot understand and will become frightened by such a confrontation, or defensive and stubborn, she explained.

People with dementia are also frequently victims of sexual abuse, Heselbach noted. "The women with dementia are often sexually abused by a caregiver. If the abuser is someone she is dependent upon for her survival, she may say nothing about it out of fear," she said.

Complaints of abuse by these victims often go unheeded. "If a dementia patient alleges rape, she is usually not considered credible," Heselbach said. In such cases the incidents may not be reported to law enforcement officials and physical examinations not performed. "If the victim is not examined by a physician immediately, it becomes very difficult to prove the rape," she said.

Financial exploitation of the elderly is another frequent form of abuse. Family members may take advantage of an elderly person by taking Social Security checks and not using the money for the necessary care, food, and medications. "The person taking the money may say that it will be used to pay bills, but then not pay them. The elderly person ends up without money for utilities or food," Heselbach related.

Though referred to a financial exploitation, this mistreatment of an elderly person may qualify as theft. The perpetrators may be family members or "helpful" neighbors who offer to run errands or pay bills for the senior citizen. "We see these people here at the agency often. They come in to apply for energy assistance or some other form of support," Heselbach explained.

Physical abuse of older people may range from slapping and pushing to extreme neglect. A bed-ridden person may be left unattended and uncared for for extended periods of time. She described one case she had been involved with in which a woman was left lying in bed unattended by family members until flesh on her buttocks had rotted.

Self-neglect is also a problem among frail elderly living alone. In many instances the people are unable to care for themselves, either because of physical limitations, mental limitations or both. The neglect may extend from lack of personal hygiene to near-starvation. Cases of self-neglect can also degenerate until the person is living amidst garbage and filth.

Steps have been taken by groups and agencies nationwide to reduce incidents of elder abuse through education. "The general public and the medical community must become more informed on this issue," Heselbach stated emphatically.

Medical professionals, realizing previous inadequacies in recognizing symtoms of maltreatment of older patients, have taken initiatives in studying methods of detecting signs of elder abuse, she said.

Heselbach underscored the importance of involvement of the community in preventing elder abuse through education and awareness. There must also be a willingness to become involved and take action when an abusive or neglectful situation is suspected.

"Sometimes people don't want to get involved. In other cases, they don't know whom to contact or what to do," Heselbach said. She noted the agencies that one can contact when elder abuse is suspected and encouraged everyone to become advocates for the elderly. To report concerns of abuse of the elderly, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or (toll free) 1-888-877-8403.

Turney Files In Race For Circuit Court Judgeship

Jack R. Turney, former District Court judge for Garrett County, has announced his candidacy for judge of the Circuit Court.

"I believe the Circuit Court judgeship is the most important position in local government," Turney stated, "because that person is the ultimate authority for resolving civil disputes and providing justice in criminal cases — and nothing substitutes for experience in these critical functions."

A native of Garrett County, Turney was born and raised in Accident where his family had been farmers and blacksmiths for six generations. He finished high school there as president of his class and served in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War, after which he won the Senatorial Scholarship to Western Maryland College in Westminster. While there he was president of his fraternity and the senior class, and was listed in Who's Who Among Colleges and Universities. He graduated with an A.B. degree in education and went on to the George Washington University Law School in Washington, D.C., where he received both L.L.B. and J.D. degrees.

Turney practiced law in Alaska, Salisbury, and Oakland for 24 years. He was appointed to the District Court in 1982, where he said he "benefited from extensive experience sitting in both circuit and district courts.

"On my own time and at my own expense I completed a master's degree program at the National Judicial College in Reno, Nev., and published a thesis titled 'Economic Implications of DWI Sentencing.'"

In recognition of his advanced work in judicial education, Turney served as a member of the Maryland Judicial Institute, the group of senior judges responsible for planning and implementing the annual training program for all the judges in the state. Turney taught at the Judicial College as well as serving as an adjunct professor in business law for five years at Garrett Community College.

Turney has been a businessman, farmer, and logger in addition to having a legal career. He has been a lifetime church member, is the father of four children, and has continued his literary interests which began when he helped pay his way through law school by writing and lecturing on water law.

Turney resides in Oakland.

Hospice Program Set, DiSimone To Be Speaker

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor an educational program on "Wills and Probate of Decedent's Estate" on Thursday, Aug. 27, at the Loch Lynn Church of God. The program will be presented by Joseph DiSimone, Garrett County register of wills, pictured above.

This program is open to all hospice staff and volunteers, as well as the general public. A covered dish dinner will begin at 6 p.m. and the program will start at 7 p.m.

To register, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, 1-800-521-5252 in Grantsville, or TTY at 1-800-735-2258. Registration is free.

HOW STELLA GOT HER GROOVE BACK

Rated R - Running time: 2:05

From the same writing team who gave us Waiting To Exhale (1995) comes How Stella Got Her Groove Back, another sappy romance of a similar tone. Writer/producer Terry McMillan, whose Waiting was her only other project to date, has again enlisted the help of the more accomplished Ron Bass to help turn her novel into a screenplay. Based on her own experience with a Jamaican man half her age, McMillan's self portrait will probably only play to its target audience (African-American women), who might see Stella as a character to emulate: a woman with no real problems.

Stella (Angela Bassett) is a highly placed, 40-year-old stock broker in the San Francisco area. She's a single mother with lots of work, lots of stress, and lots of money, but no time to spend it. She takes a trip to Jamaica with her best friend Delilah (Whoopi Goldberg), where she falls in love with 20-year-old Winston (Taye Diggs) and has great sex for the first time in years. The downside is, now she has to explain it to her sisters. Vanessa (Regina King) and Angela (Suzzanne Douglas). Vanessa, the more brash of the two, really has no problem with her big sister's fling, but Angela, who is more "refined," is horrified. Meanwhile, Winston (Diggs) is struggling between his adolescent tastes and trying to be a grownup for the woman he lovee.

There's only one thing missing from this story, and it's the main ingredient: conflict. Oh, sure, Stella is inexplicably downsized out of her job when she returns from vacation, but this causes almost no difficulty in her wealthy life, and it is offered back to her at a much higher salary after the company comes to its senses. And there is a death thrown in as if to make up for this film's embarrasing lack of meaning, but it is a minor diversion. Some of the film's best acting is done during this digression, however, in the ad-libbed hospital scene between Bassett and Goldberg.

I have no problem with the acting in this film, nor with Jeffrey Jur's cinema, which is full of beautiful shots of tropical sunsets, but the storyline is little more than a sitcom episode drawn out to over two hours in length. It is mostly pith and scenery, and it drags terribly at times. Director Kevin Rodney Sullivan has fashioned a lovely commercial for Jamaica and captured a few nice acting moments. But are we supposed to feel sorry for a fabulously attractive and wealthy woman, who is being followed around by a fabulously attractive man young enough to be her son? A woman whose biggest problem is hearing "cradle robber" from her sister or deciding whether to buy a Beemer this year or another Mercedes?

Please. If you're gonna make a chick flick, fine. But have a little respect for the women you're targeting. They can handle more than pretty pictures and cheap sentimentality. ★★★

THE AVENGERS

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:31

The latest new movie to have its roots in the small screen is Jeremiah S. Chechik's The Avengers, based on the 1960s British TV show. Though this film is basically just a variation on the James Bond theme, the inclusion of a two-person team, one man and one woman, succeeds far bettor in my opinion. Its two stars, Ralph Fiennes and Uma Thurman, rise to the occasion and create an amusingly proper version of the high-impact spy story, while generating just enough sexual tension to keep us interested. Also included are many dazzling special effects and lots of cool spy devices, emulating (or copying, depending upon your viewpoint) the Batman series. And, like Batman, it is clear this vehicle will bring us many sequels in the future.

John Steed (Fiennes) is a high-powered London secret agent, always prepared for action. This is proved by an opening sequence in which he walks down the street and everyone he encounters tries to kill him, including the old lady with the baby carriage. We soon learn that he is merely being tested, and he passes with flying colors. Armed only with his smart derby and his umbrella/sword, he seems ready for anything. Anything, that is, except Dr. Emma Peel.

Mrs. Peel (Thurman) is a knockout, of course. But she is also director of a major corporation, she is fantastically intelligent, and she can match Steed's fencing ability stroke for stroke, as he soon finds out. When the two meet, a sense of mutual distrust sparks their relationship. They are brought together to solve a crime involving Mrs. Peel's invention, a "weather shield" designed to protect the United Kingdom from natural disasters. It seems the shield, which had been operating flawlessly, has been sabotaged. But the puzzling thing is that according to the surveillance tapes, the saboteur appears to be none other than Mrs. Peel herself.

After a little investigation by Steed's superiors, code-named "Mother" (Jim Broadbent) and "Father" (Fiona Shaw), the suspicion arises that the one behind the destruction of the weather shield is diabolical madman Sir August de Wynter (Sean Connery). Steed and Peel are assigned to make a visit to his extensive property to ascertain more information. In so doing, they discover that Wynter has in his employ another Mrs. Peel (either a clone or a robot; we're not quite sure), and she's bad to the bone. Also they find that the madman has invented a machine with which he can control the weather, and intends to take over the world by doing so. Let's just say if his demands are not met, it's going to get rather chilly around here. So now our duo must stop Wynter (to coin a phrase), and Steed must differentiate between Mrs. Peel his partner and Mrs. Peel who's trying to kill him. And be finished in time for tea.

This film may be criticized for not living up to the TV series, but I have only the faintest memories of the show, so I must judge it simply on its own merits. And I have to say that its lead actors are the only element that makes it any different from any other action film. The terribly proper-ness of Steed and Peel are the central theme, and Thurman and Fiennes pull this off nicely. There are a lot of visual treats, including an ingenious scene where Emma is trying to escape from a staircase like the kind in an Escher painting, and a cameo by Patrick Macnee (the original Steed) as an invisible man. But Don MacPherson's script is just another Bond clone, especially villain-wise. Connery is suitebly over-the-top, but it's nothing new. ★★★½

AIR BUD: GOLDEN RECEIVER

Rated G - Running time: 1:30

Cashing in on the success (?) of last year's Air Bud, in which a dog plays basketball better than any of the human characters, Disney has wasted no time in producing its sequel. In this film, the dog switches to football and is just as spectacular. Whether this film is a success or not depends on the viewer's willingness to accept the absurd. If you're a 7-year-old, at whom the film is aimed, you'll probably have no problem with the idea of a dog being able to join a school football team. If you're a cynical old critic like me, you may feel differently.

Air Bud: Golden Receiver is written by the same team as its predecessor. Paul Tamasy and Aaron Mendelsohn, but is helmed by a new director, Richard Martin. Using no actors from its prequel except Kevin Zegers as the young boy character, Josh Framm, the film takes up basically where Air Bud left off. Josh's widowed mother Jackie is now played by Cynthia Stevenson; she is still single, but beginning to date a little. Her latest boyfriend is a vetsrinarian named Patrick (Gregory Harrison), for whom Josh doesn't care much. We are given no good reason for this except the old standard "kid who doesn't like his mom's boyfriend" plot element. Patrick is really a perfectly nice guy, and even Buddy (the dog) likes him.

School is starting and Josh considers going out for his school's football team, the Timberwolves. The coach (Robert Costanzo) notices that he has a pretty good arm and signs him up as backup quarterback. He expects to spend the season warming the bench, but when the starting QB is injured, Josh must step in. That's when he enlists the aid of Buddy, who, it has been discovered, can catch a football as easily as shoot a basketball. Apparently tossing the rules of school sports aside, the coach allows Buddy on the team, and he becomes its star. He has his own little jersey, helmet, and pads, and is unstoppable by any other team.

At the same time as this, we find a Russian couple, played by Perry Anzilotti and Saturday Night Live alum Nora Dunn, who are kidnapping animals for their circus. When they see a TV news story about Bud's exploits at a Knicks game, they decide they must have him, and endeavor to capture him throughout the balance of film. They are finally successful just as the Timberwolves advance to the state finals. With Buddy missing, the team must start the game without him.

The obvious reason for creating Air Bud was the dog's propensity for basketball. A lame idea at best, but mildly entertaining. He would bounce the ball off his nose into the basket, and at the end of that film, there is a notice that no camera tricks were used. Great. But unfortunately, that pooch has gone to the great kennel in the sky. In this film, six different animals are used, and they're not doing anything any dog can't do with a partially deflated football. There are a few stock shots of him jumping in the air and catching the ball, shot from below in slow motion, and lots of footage of him running with the ball in his mouth while kids in uniforms fall like bowling pins. But this is not exactly cinematic magic.

The so-called comic relief provided by the Russian couple is nothing but trite slapstick, using every unfunny trick in the book. Slightly more successful at humor are Tim Conway and Dick Martin, in cameo roles as the announcers at the state finals. But come on. Aren't we just being a little too greedy here? What's more, Air Bud: The Next Generation is scheduled for release in 1999. What'll it be, golf this time? ★★½

KENDRA ALEXANDER

Two recent graduates of Southern High School have been awarded scholarships by the Garrett Community College Foundation, according to Bretta Reinhard, advancement officer.

Kendra Alexander, daughter of Ernest and Catherine Alexander, Mtn. Lake Park, plans a career as a criminal psychologist. She has received the Maryland Municipal League Scholarship.

In high school Alexander was a member of the honor marching band, a soloist with the stage band, section leader of the concert band, a soloist in the chorus, and an all-state nominee in the honor chorus. Her hobbies are rock climbing, spelunking, tennis, soccer, and drama.

Christopher Bittinger, son of Wayne and Marilyn Bittinger, Oakland, will major in wildlife/fisheries at GCC and eventually plans to own his own business. He has received the Bell Atlantic Scholarship.

CHRIS BITTINGER

Bittinger played basketball and baseball in high school, and lists hunting, fishing, woodworking, and landscaping as his hobbies. He has an identical twin who will also be attending college this fall.

Annual Family Weekend Set At Local 4-H Camp

Registration will be accepted uatil next Friday, Aug. 28, for the ninth annual 4-H Family Camp Weekend, slated for the first weekend in October at the Western Maryland 4-H Education Center in Bittinger.

The event welcomes families from all parts of Maryland and neighboring regions, said Education Center director Paul Webster, adding that families can consist of at least one parent or adult and children, and association with 4-H is not necessary.

The weekend's activities will center around family interaction, recreation and fun with other families, with traditional camp activities such as campfires, hiking, nature study, shooting sports, crafts, and group singing among those on the agenda. Camp facilities include cabins, new bath houses with hot showers, a 25-acre lake, archery range, hiking trails, campfire area, a fitness/challenge course, and a new Natural Resources Education Center.

Meals, two nights' lodging, facilities, all activities and basic accident insurance are covered by fees of $35 per person ages 13 or older, and $25 per person ages 8—12. Children under 8 may participate for free. To register or obtain further information, interested persons may call Webster at 301-334-6967 or contact him via E-mail at pw82@umail.umd.edu.

SHS RECEIVES CPR MANNEQUINS - Southern High School recently received a set of "Little Anne" rasuscitation mannaquins used in the teaching of cardiopulmonary reauacitation (CPR) from the Agrieukural Care and Education (ACE) program of Garrett County Momorial Hoapital, Garrett County Health Department, and the Maryland Inatitute for Emergency Medical Servicea Systems. "We are pleased to be able to support programs that will teech CPR to aree etudents," commented Laurel Grant, RN, aducation coordinator for the hospital. Shown from left to right are Walter Donalson, CHE, president and CEO of Garrett County Memorial Hoapital; Grant; and Wilbur Hinsbaugh, an SHS drivar'a education teecher who has taught CPR claeses at the achool for eight yeers. Last year 276 atudents received CPR training through Hinebaugh'a clase. ACE is funded by the Rural Health Outreech Grant awardad by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

4-H Center Sets Team Challenge Camp For Sept.

The 1998 4-H Team Challenge Camp for teens and adult mentors will be held at the Western Maryland 4-H Education Center near Bittinger from Friday, Sept. 25, through Sunday, Sept. 27. The camp is open to participants from throughout Maryland, and association with 4-H is not required.

The theme for the Team Challenge Camp is "Learning the Ropes." The program is geared for teens, ages 13—16, who are interested in learning and understanding their own unique strengths as leaders and team players, said Paul Webster, 4-H Education Center director, as well as for adults who are interested in sharing an adventure and working as a mentor with teens in their home county. Teams of teens and adults from the same county will tackle both high and low ropes challenge courses.

Participation can lead to growth in a number of areas, Webster said, including understanding of oneself and one's own skills and abilities; development of interpersonal and small group communication and leadership skills; practice in team building skills and implementing effective team problem-solving strategies; and experiencing different ways to get along with others.

The cost for the Team Challenge Camp is $75 per person and includes meals, lodging, challenge course activities, and materials. The application deadline is Friday, Sept. 4, and space is limited. For further information or to receive an application, interested persons may call Webster at 301-334-6967 or contact him via E-mail at pw82@umail.umd.edu.

ART ON DISPLAY AT GCC - "The Fab Four," above, and "Jackie O," right, are part of the selection of Karen Wilson's paintings currently on display at the Garrett Community College art gallery. In addition to celebrity portraits, the artist is showing a number of her landscapes, wildlife scenes, and renderings of houses, businesses, and notable local buildings, including the Oakland railroad station. A public reception is slated for this Saturday evening, Aug. 22, from 7 to 9 p.m.

GCC Gallery To Exhibit Paintings Of Karen Wilson

The paintings of local artist Kareu Wilson will be on exhibit at the Bausch and Lomb Gallery of Garrett Community College until Sept. 17, with a reception set for this Saturday, Aug. 22, from 7 to 9 p.m. The public is invited.

Wilson, of Snowy Creek Studios, does portraits, renderings of homes and businesses, and landscapes and wildlife scenes. She works in different mediums, such as oils, acrylic, pen and ink, and charcoal. Her work has been influenced by the realism of Andrew Wyeth, who captured her respect for the almost photographic resemblance his work represented. "If I had a goal to achieve," she said, "it would be to have the viewer wondering if it was a painting or a photograph. That is the truest compliment, in my book."

Of her exhibit, Wilson says, "All one has to do is walk around the gallery, and in doing so they will get a glimpse of my life — the people I hold dear, the scenery that takes my breath away, the fascination of nature and all the beauty God has given us. I can only capture moments in time from a very small piece of the large canvas we all see.

"If I can get but one viewer to not only take a moment longer and enjoy the beauty of the sunset, but in doing so remember to thank God for the gift as well as the time to enjoy it, then my work has served a purpose," Wilson continued. "The idea that years from now, long after I'm gone, a piece of work I created may get handed down in the family, bought at a yard sale, or discovered in an old dusty attic thrills me. It's a legacy that states 'I was here,' it chronicles my life, my loves, and my passions."

The gallery is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and evenings during special events. Persons interested in further information may call GCC art professor Ron Skidmore at 301-387-3024.

SWANTON NEWS

Judy Friend Moore, with daughters Shannon and Keltie, returned to Grande Chache, Canada, after visiting her parents, Hugh and Helen Friend, and her grandmother, Mildred Fitzwater. They have been touring Canada and the USA since July 2 and began the return trip home on Aug. 5.

Hugh and Helen Friend celebrated their 47th wedding anniversary at Herrington Manor State Park on Aug. 3. Family members present were: Judy, Shannon and Keltie Moore, Grand Chache, Canada; Sally Friend, Glenwood Springs, Co.; Terry, Sandy, Lindsay, Amy, and Tony Friend, Evanston, Wyo.; and Gerald and Phyliss Friend and grandchildren Michael and Destiny, and Dave and Mary Wilson, Swanton.

On Wednesday, Aug. 12, Mareva and Orval Teets attended a meeting of Unit #103, National Association Retired and Veteran Railway Employees in LaVale. Leo and Lorena Smith, Deer Park, also attended the meeting.

Ellis and Mary June Harvey, accompanied by Sandy and Ellida Schofield, motored to Hagerstown last Thursday to visit Helen and Wilber Hoopengardner.

On Friday, Caroline and Dan Hutson, Mareva and Orval Teets, and Bea and Mike Rhodes met Encie and Ken Teets of Norfolk, Va., in Friendsville for dinner. The dinner was a celebration of Encie's birthday, who was in the area to attend her high school class reunion.

A family dinner hosted by Linda and John Fleming on Friday evening was attended by Lucinda, Steve, and Amber Davis; Lawre, Randy, Zachary and Hannah Virts, A.J. Fleming and April Tichnell, and two other friends of Amber.

Maxine Ball returned home on Saturday from Frederick, where she had helped care for her grandson, Mike Ball Jr., who recently had surgery.

Sunday dinner guests of Orval and Mareva Teets were: Chris, Rob and Ellen Riley, Mt. Airy, and Linda and John Flenung, Swanton.

Mildred Pasek recently returned to her home in Baltimore after a visit with her sister, Gertrude Annarelli.

A family picnic at Glen Teets Lot, North Glade, last Sunday was attended by Glen, Freda, Chuck, Crystal, Josh and Megan Teets; Dave, Mary Lou, and Tom, Wilson, and Bob and Fannie Rizer.

Mary Friend is a surgical patient in Presbyterian Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Earl Winters is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, as is Vera Wilt.

COMMUNITY ASSN. CENTER

The August meeting was held Monday, Aug. 17, at the center. A donation of $100 will be sent to the Southern Rescue Squad.

Plans for a barbecue dinner to be held September 12 were discussed. Phyliss Friend will be chairperson of this dinner.

The Swanton Community Center will host a covered dish picnic in the New Germany State Park at the small pavilion on Saturday, Aug. 22, at 5 p.m. The center will provide the drinks, plates, cups, and eating utensils. Guests must tell the attendant upon entering the park that they are with the Swanton Community Center to get a discount on admission.

Guests need not be members of the center — the entire Swanton community is welcome. For more information persons may call Glen Custer at 301-387-4339.

CHURCH NEWS

The young adult Sunday School class met for a picnic Sunday at Harvey's Lake Cottage. Those attending were Kendra Sweitzer, Ellida Schofield, Joni Wilson, Vernon Sweitzer, and David and Richard Schofield.

The administrative board will meet Thursday, Aug. 20, at 7 p.m., at the church.

Wanda Maphis and Mareva Teets attended the Burlington United Methodist Family Services Auxiliary meeting last Thursday at the Heritage House in Keyser, W.Va.

On Saturday, Aug. 22, the Brotherhood Breakfast will be held at Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville, beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Sunday School picnic will be held on Sunday, Aug. 23, at the 4-H Center, Bittinger. Guests should bring covered dishes or basket lunches. The service will begin at 10:45 a.m. and the pastor will preach at 11 a.m.

There will be no worship service at the church, but for those who do not attend the picnic, Sunday School will begin at the church at 9:45 a.m. Ted Metcalfe will be the leader. Everyone is welcome.

The Brotherhood Corn Roast will be held at Paradise United Methodist Church on Tuesday, Aug. 25, at 6:30 p.m. Guests should bring salads or desserts. The men will provide hot dogs, corn, drinks, and tableware.

Town Hall

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Tuesday, August 18.

- Mayor Schlosnagle announced the approval of the block grant request for construction of a senior center. See related story.
- Deputy Will Valentine was present to discuss law enforcement concerns, including controlling driving speed in town.
- Painting and repairs continue on the recently acquired maintenance building near the park.
- The Friend Family Association will do some painting and exterior sprucing up of the museum building, which is owned by the town.
- About $20,000 of paving work is now complete. Sidewalk replacement will begin soon.
- The new playground equipment, purchased for about $16,000, will arrive in several weeks.
- A meeting will be held with POS and University of Maryland representatives to discuss designs for the town master plan.
- A letter has been sent to David McMillian, director of Maryland Emergency Management Agency, requesting additional flood controls along Bear Creek.
- Bid specs are being prepared for town basketball courts.
- There will be a zoning hearing on a request for a special exception for Philip Smith to install a sign for candle making and a gift shop in a residential section.
- Correction noted: The number of additional sewer taps approved for the town was 20. The number was incorrectly reported previously in this column.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 1.

GRANTSVILLE

The town meeting was held Monday, Aug. 17.

- Deputy Jeff Green attended the meeting, representing the Sheriff's Office. He reported that continued HotSpot funding is still uncertain.
- There was discussion of the need for and possible location of a community bulletin board. No decision was made. The business association may be contacted for input on this issue.
- The mayor and council have donated $100 to the Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library.
- Work is in progress on the Meadow View storm water management pond.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 7.

GCC Excursion To Holocaust Museum Open To Public

Garrett Community College is sponsoring a bus trip to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C. on Friday, Sept. 11. The excursion is open to the public at a cost of $10 for GCC students, who will receive two co-curricular credits, and $20 for others, said GCC history professor Beth Luers.

Participants will tour the three-floor museum, which presents a comprehensive history of the Holocaust through artifacts, photographs, films, and eyewitness testimonies. They may also view exhibits such as "Remember the Children: Daniel's Story," which recounts the years of the Holocaust from the perspective of a young boy growing up in Nazi Germany; "Joseph Nasay: Images of Internment," a collection of images and drawings that create a visual diary of the experience of the black expatriate artist; and "Hidden History of the Korena Ghetto," which presents historical artifacts, photographs, and film of men and women who survived the ghetto. Other attractions include the Hall of Remembrance, the Wall of Remembrance, the Wexner Learning Center, and the museum shop.

The bus will depart GCC's McHenry campus at 6 a.m. and return at approximately 9 p.m. Interested persons should sign up in the GCC Library between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Tressler Opens Maple Glade Day Services Program

The Maple Glade Adult Day Services program opened last week at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident. Owned and operated by Tressler Lutheran Services of Mechanicsburg, Pa., the center will provide care to the elderly and/or disabled in northern Garrett County.

The program, which will operate Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., is a cooperative effort of Tressler Lutheran Services, the Garrett County Health Department, and Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. The health department provides grant funds from the Medical Care Policy Administration.

Maple Glade is one of two adult day service programs in Garrett County. The other, Mountain Glade Adult Medical Day Care, is located in Oakland. These facilities provide the care and support that enables frail elderly persons to remain in their homes rather than being placed in long-term nursing care facilities.

Among the services available at both day programs are licensed nursing supervision, medication monitoring, assistance with activities of daily living, crafts, outings, social services, and physical, speech, and occupational therapies.

Transportation to and from the Maple Glade center is provided through Community Action's Garrett Transit System. Staffing the program are Jacquie Shirley, RN, program and health director, Lisa Weiner, LPN, assistant program and health director, and Ethel Fazenbaker, program assistant.

A grand opening and dedication will be held in mid-October. Anyone wishing more information may call 301-746-8488.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

Part of the basic concept of freedom in this great country of ours is that we may choose the physician we want to treat us and the pharmacy we want to prepare our prescriptions. This freedom of choice is part of our heritage, and we guard it proudly and jealously.

We don't like to be told we have to get something at a particular place or from a particular person. Our pharmacy is proud to be a part of this community's health team, and we hope you will want to choose us to be your pharmacy.

Hills and Valleys

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Philippians 2:12-30	Philippians 3:1-11	Philippians 3:12-4:1	Philippians 4:2-23	Titus 1:1-16	Titus 2:1-15	Titus 3:1-15

When we speak of the hills and valleys in our lives, we somehow feel more favorable toward the hills than the valleys. Yet, it is in the valleys we learn to climb. As we climb we become strong, and as we reach the hills, we are able to look below and see how far we have come with strength and confidence as our companions.

God is with us in the valleys. In Psalm 23..."Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I shall fear no evil; for Thou art with me..."

Enjoy the hills, but give thanks for the valleys, for it is there our spirits grow. "Give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God." (1 Thessalonians 5:18)

Climb the steps to your local church or synagogue for worship this week. God awaits you there.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

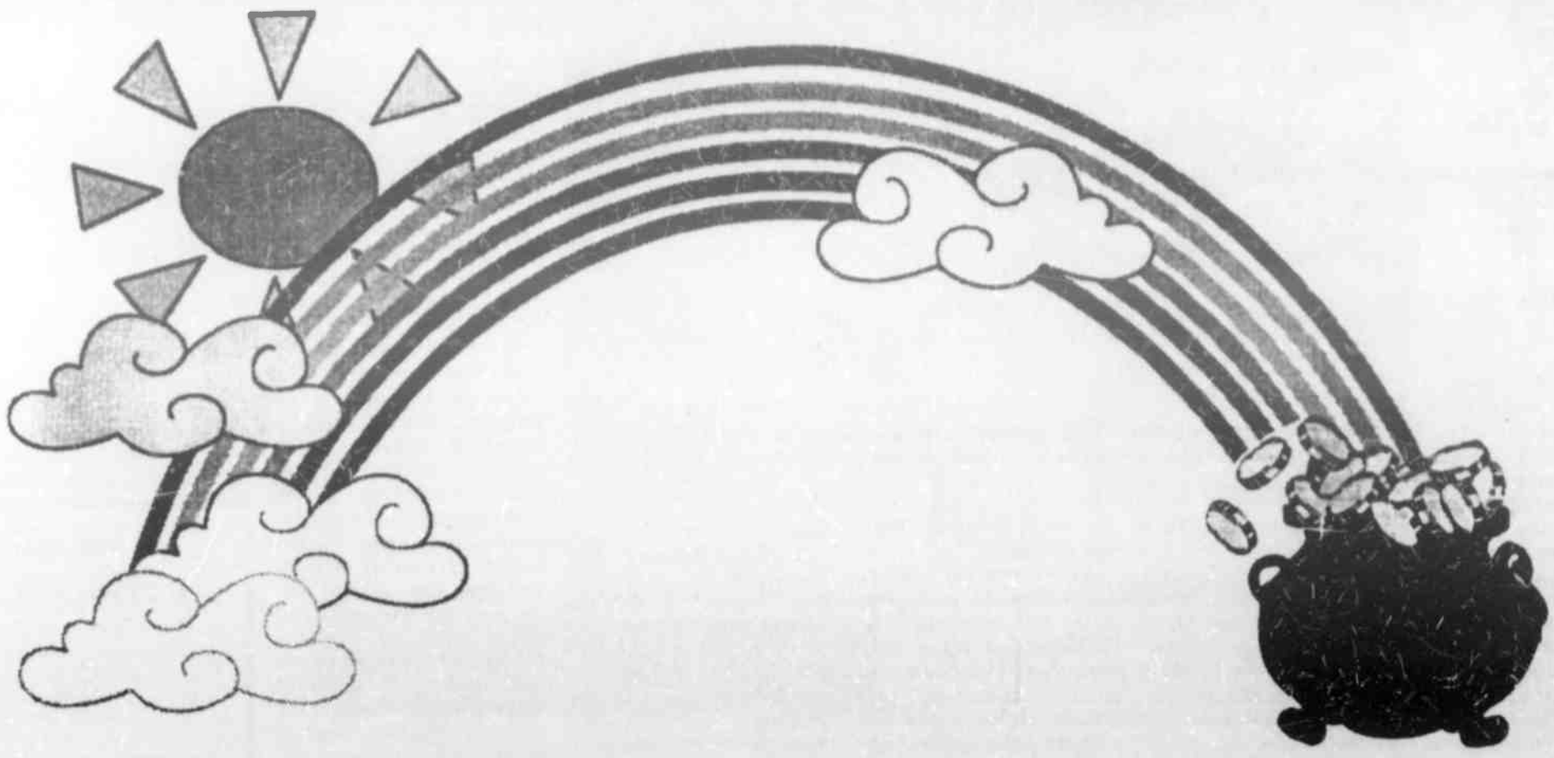
THE CURE FOR ANGER

August 23, 1998

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 12:16; 14:17,29, 15:18; 16:32; 19:11; 22:24,25; 25:28; 27:4; 29:20,22
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 5:21-26

I have known a few people who did not have enough anger for their own good, as well for others. But, mostly, I have known people who have too much. For these people, anger is a poison in their lives that injures both themselves and others. It is a sickness that places us and others under a severe handicap. But it is one that can be cured.

John Hunter, a doctor in 19th century England, had a heart attack that nearly took his life. As a physician, he knew that his emotions could affect his heart and he said, "My life is in the hands of any rascal who chooses to annoy and tease me!" Yet, despite this understanding, he became angry one day and dropped dead from a heart attack. We don't know what it was that angered Dr. Hunter, but I wonder whether it was important enough to die for.



When I lead congregations in a two-day seminar, "Adventure in Healing and Wholeness," I ask participants to write down the three things that anger them most. Then I ask, "Are any of these worth dying for? Are any of these worth poisoning your mind, body and heart, as well as those of others?"

THE WAY WE ARE?

Someone I was counseling admitted he had a terrible temper, but he brushed it off saying, "That's just the way I am!"—as if it were a condition of which he had no control. Plutarch has written: "I learned that anger is not incurable if one wants to cure it." I agree: unless we are seriously mentally ill, we can cure our anger and temper problems.

Our mistake is assuming that feelings are the seat of our anger and feelings seem to be beyond our control. But the seat of anger is not in the feelings, but in the way that we think. Anger is caused, not by what happens to us, but by the way we perceive and interpret what happens to us. Thus, angry thoughts cause angry feelings and it is always possible to change our thinking—if we want to.

Listen to Proverbs: "The vexation of a fool is

Children up to the age of 19 and pregnant women of any age may be eligible for the new Program if they have a family income that is at or below:
$21,700 for a family of two; or $27,300 for a family of three; or $32,900 for a family of four.
If your family earns a little more money than the amount shown here, call the Garrett County Health Department to see if you still may be eligible for the Maryland Children's Health Program.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Fred Warner's German Restaurant

Fred Warner's German Restaurant, Cresaptown, opened its doors in 1928 with a menu offering German as well as American cuisine. Today, after 70 years, owners Fred and Marian Warner say that Warner's is known as one of Maryland's 50 historic restaurants. Fred's father, now deceased, started the business, but Fred Jr. can recall those early days when the streets surrounding the restaurant were unpaved and there were no water or sewage hookups. He also recalls that when he was in the second or third grade, in the early thirties, the restaurant burned at the time of the first Cresaptown fire.

The Warners, who are also celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, are ready to celebrate the restaurant's 70th year in business by continuing the tradition of "tender loving care" in food preparation and customer satisfaction.

Customers can almost hear "Willkommen" as they enter into an atmosphere that expresses comfort and homemade, fresh food. A combination of these amenities has enticed people of all distinction to dine at Warner's. Movie stars, corporate presidents, champion athletes, and a president of the United States, namely President Kennedy, have tasted the food prepared by caring hands.

According to a written history of the restaurant, "It is not the least bit unusual that diners at Warner's have looked up from their meal only to see the likes of Barbara Mandrell or Mary Lou Retton seated across the room. When President Kennedy was in office, although he could not come personally, he sent a helicopter to Warner's to satisfy his craving for their marvelous Bee Sting Cake!"

With frosted mugs, fresh mint in season, anniversary and birthday cards, and sparklers on desserts, an ordinary lunch at Warner's turns into a special dinner.

Pastries, breads, desserts, and soups are all homemade daily, and the restaurant has never lost its reputation for great food. The Warners grind their own flour twice a week at a flour mill Fred Sr. built over 100 years ago in Harmon, W.Va. All the flour used in the restaurant comes from this mill.

Several family recipes can be sampled at Warner's, including the Bee Sting Cake, the flaming Steak Bavarian, and the over-stuffed sandwiches that are meals in themselves. Other specialties include German Knockwurst, Bratwurst, Sauerbraten, Berliner Sauerkraut, Hot German Potato Salad, German Potato Pancakes, and numerous Schnitzel specialties.

Chicken, seafood entrees, baked or fried German ham, and steak dinners (T-bones, porterhouse, delmonico, New York strip, and prime rib) are also available.

The Bavarian Garden is open May through October, weather permitting, featuring a complete menu, including German pizza and Alaskan crab legs. It's a wonderful place to eat and enjoy the entertainment during the seasonal festivals (the month-long Oktoberfest, Maifest, etc.). The gigantic smorgasbord consists of foods from the Warner's private collection of over 700 cookbooks, some dating back to 1865, and as far away as Berlin. The festivals may also include live music, accordion playing, yodeling, championship square dancers, and plenty of good, clean fun. Numerous weddings, celebrations, and pizza and Pepsi parties have also been held there.

This year, during the 70th anniversary, a cookbook, "Traditions and Memories," is available for purchase. The book is chock full of recipes, and the German culture that most individuals would never get close to otherwise.

Adding to the German flair are German imported beers and wines, as well as the usual domestic beers and cocktails.

The restaurant can accommodate 60 people indoors and 60 outdoors in the Bavarian Garden. However, at festival time, it is not unusual to see a long line of customers waiting patiently in line to enjoy the mouth-watering dishes prepared with "tender loving attention to the smallest details," Marian Warner said.

Fred and Marian Warner are not retired and spend their winters in Sarasota, Florida, and their summers in Cresaptown. Their daughter Judy has moved to North Carolina, and the restaurant has been managed for the past four years by Laura Whiteman, who started out as a waitress at Warner's 18 years ago.

FRED WARNER'S GERMAN RESTAURANT is located along Rt. 220 in Cresaptown, and offers a comfortable atmosphere as well as homemade German and American cuisine.

Energy Program Hearing Slated

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. and the Maryland Energy Assistance Program will hold a public hearing on August 27 in the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland. The hearing is scheduled from 10 a.m. to noon.

Vendors and customers of the energy assistance program are encouraged to attend the hearing, which will provide a forum for asking questions and commenting on the program. Information will be given on changes in the program that will take effect this year.

For further information, persons may contact Linda Green, program director, at 301-334-9431, ext. 120, Monday through Friday.

New Dimensions Program Welcomes New Participants

The New Dimensions Displaced Homemaker's Program of Garrett Community College is now accepting program participants for Fiscal Year 1999. New Dimensions is a displaced homemaker program designed to help the homemaker deal with immediate crisis, increase self-confidence, and develop the skills needed to support herself and her family.

To be eligible for the program, one must be a Maryland resident over 30 years of age; must have performed primarily as a homemaker; must have depended for support on the income of a family member and lost that income because of separation, divorce, death, or disability of that family member; must be underemployed, not gainfully employed, or would have difficulty finding employment; and must have depended on AFDC and no longer be eligible for AFDC, or must currently be receiving AFDC and have been receiving AFDC for 24 months or longer.

New Dimensions can offer program participants the following services: individual and career counseling; Career Path class; career development workshops; assistance in obtaining education and training; monthly support groups; and referral to community agencies.

New Dimensions can help program participants obtain a Graduation Equivalency Diploma (GED); explore and develop vocational interests and expand job options; identify work needs, motivation, and marketable skills; investigate and evaluate occupations, training programs, and sources of financial aid to attend college; and review employment options.

New Dimensions can provide the following financial assistance for program participants who are income-eligible: tuition/books, child care/transportation, emergency car repairs, work uniforms, and other emergency expenses.

For information about the program or to determine eligibility, persons may call 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3103 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The project is funded by the Department of Human Resources, Women's Services Program.

COVER STORY

IRA men's fate is put Before Your Eyes

By Cynthia Werthamer
©TVData Features Syndicate

Before Your Eyes: Don't Take My Daddy, the fifth in the series of award-winning Before Your Eyes CBS news specials, presents the stories of three American women who face the difficult choice of raising their children alone in America or leaving their homes and relatives to be with their husbands. The special airs Monday, Aug. 24.

Roma Downey

The women are married to Catholics from Northern Ireland – one a convicted murderer – whom the American government is trying to deport for their Irish Republican Army activities. The contrast between the lives of the men on the two continents is striking and immediate.

The three women "would not live happily ever after," says narrator Roma Downey (Touched by an Angel).

Little Matt Morrison, a 9-year-old picture of all-American boyhood, looks at the camera and explains solemnly that his father, also named Matt, "tried to shoot a Brit, but he missed."

The elder Matt Morrison spent 10 years in Irish prisons after being arrested for attempted murder. He now lives in St. Louis with his wife, Francie, and two children.

His compatriots are Noel Gaynor, who spent 14 years in prison for killing a British police officer in an IRA ambush, and Gabe Megahey, who was caught trying to ship weapons to Northern Ireland from New York. He spent four years in a U.S. federal prison.

Each family tells its story, mostly through the eyes of the wives, of the pain and frustration they feel at what they see as the government's betrayal.

Each wife believes her husband has paid his debt to society and deserves to live a full life with his family. The men believe they did nothing wrong in lashing out in a society they considered to be at war. The Royal British Constabulary in Northern Ireland was a legitimate enemy in their eyes.

"If someone wants to treat you as a second-class citizen, you have the right to resist," Megahey says with conviction. But the camera also zooms in on the faces of the widow of the policeman Gaynor's group killed, and the immigration official who is convinced the deportation law against terrorists is valid and must be upheld.

Nothing the wives do changes the men's fate; that's up to Gerry Adams, the leader of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political wing.

Adams negotiated a political deal for a peace agreement that included no deportations; however, the fate of the three families is left hanging.

Although the camera records the joy and disbelief they experience when the historic Irish peace accord is signed, elation turns to confusion as the families learn they remain in "legal limbo." They are allowed to stay in the United States for now, but their "files remain open," according to the immigration official.

"Given how the story changed over time and the geopolitical cast it gained at the end, I couldn't speculate what happens next," says Mary Murphy, executive producer of the program.

TV-PIPELINE

By Taylor Miehaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q: Our entire family loves Everybody Loves Raymond, especially Patricia Heaton. What can you tell me about her? Are she and the show nominated for Emmys? –Sherry S., Troy, Ala.

A: No, they're not, which is one of the scandals of this year's Emmy nominations. CBS Entertainment President Leslie Moonves singled out the Raymond oversight as his single biggest disappointment among this year's nominations.

Patricia Heaton

My mail indicates that viewers everywhere are finally catching on to this smart, funny show in general and to the delightful Heaton in particular. Born in Bay Village, Ohio, the 39-year-old actress made her Broadway debut in the gospel musical Don't Get God Started. While in Los Angeles with another production, she attracted attention from casting directors and began getting TV and film work.

Raymond is Heaton's fourth series role. Previously she starred with Linda Lavin in the ABC sitcom Room for Two (1992-93), played Gaby Hoffmann's mom in the 1994 NBC flop Someone Like Me, and portrayed brittle Natalie Hollingsworth in Delta Burke's 1995 bomb Women of the House.

Q: Whatever happened to Lee Horsley of Matt Houston? Is he married, and when is his birthday? –S. Breshy, Bridgeport, Conn.

A: Horsley was born May 15, 1955, in scenic Muleshoe, Texas. He is married and the father of four. This fall, he costars with Bo Derek in NBC's Saturday night Hawaiian drama Wind on Water.

Q: Will The Magnificent Seven be back on CBS this fall? –Barb Seelander, Shawano, Wis.

A: No, but it will be back as a CBS midseason replacement.

Q: On the season finale of Millennium, did Catherine really die? –G. Ron Krapf, Waukegan, Ill.

A: Yes. Next season, Frank Black and his daughter (Lance Henriksen, Brittany Tiplady) will relocate to Washington, D.C., where he becomes an FBI consultant. Megan Gallagher (Catherine) will not return. Klea Scott (Brooklyn South) joins the cast as an FBI agent.

Q: What can you tell me about a '50s TV show titled West Point? –Mary Welsh, Carbondale, Pa.

A: Donald May, as Cadet Charles C. Thompson, was the host of this show when it premiered on CBS in October 1956 (he later was dropped). The series, which was produced with the cooperation of several government military groups, dramatized actual incidents from West Point files.

Willis To Speak At Democratic Club Picnic

Maryland's secretary of state, John T. Willis, will be the keynote speaker at the Garrett County Democratic Club's picnic on Friday, Aug. 21.

Appointed and confirmed to be secretary of state in 1995, Willis attended public schools in Maryland, graduating from Westminster High School. His undergraduate degree is from Bucknell University, and his law degree is from Harvard Law School, where he specialized in constitutional law.

Willis served in the U.S. Army from 1968 to 1975 in the Judge Advocate General Corps at Fort Devens, Mass., and Fort Meade, worked as clerk to the Army Court of Military Review, and provided legal services at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

A lawyer in private practice in Westminster and Baltimore for 15 years, Willis is also an author and historian, with publications on the Maryland electorate and state demographics. He has served as adjunct professor in the business and economics department at Western Maryland College.

Active in Democratic politics for many years, Willis was chief of staff to the county executive of Prince George's County from 1990 to 1994. He has served on the Democratic National Committee and as vice chair of the Maryland Democratic Party.

The Garrett County Democratic Club picnic will be held at the Lions Club pavilion at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. Social hour begins at 5:30 p.m. and dinner will be served starting at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $12 and are available from club members. The public is welcome to attend.

Synodical Women's Convention Held In Huttonsville

Several local women attended the WV/WMD Lutheran Synodical Women's Convention held August 7-8 at Bishop Hodges Pastoral Center in Huttonsville, W.Va. Attending from Garrett County were Linda Buckel, Lottie Brenneman, and Ferne Beachy from Emmanuel Lutheran, Bittinger, and Barbara Flinn, St. John's Lutheran, Red House.

The theme was "Let Heaven and Nature Sing." President Marilyn Kreitzinger of Fairmont, W.Va., presided over the convention.

Representing churchwide and serving on the executive board of Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) was Linda Chinnia of Baltimore, who is striving for inclusive programming for all women.

The business meeting consisted of the election of three board members: Norma Bowyer, St. Johanne's, New Milton, W.Va.; Julia Shidler, St. Mark's, Clarksburg; and Janet Winans, St. Timothy, S. Charleston. Delegates to the Triennial Convention set for July 8-11, 1999, in St. Louis, were elected. Also elected were: secretary, Almeda Pittsnogle, Martinsburg; and treasurer, Vickie Tomich, Moundsville.

Martha Leach, president of So. Ohio SWO, surprised the conference with her animated rendition of Noah's wife. She also portrayed Martin Luther's wife, Katie. A presentation was given by Sue Ann Heatherly of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, W.Va. She showed slides taken of several planets, the sun, the Milky Way, Virgo A (another galaxy), and the Orion Nebula (gasses).

Members heard the "blips" made by a pulsar star. "Heatherly's talk helped us appreciate the vastness, wonder, and beauty of our universe," stated a spokesperson.

Devotions were led by Pat Tharp, Gettsyburg seminarian and scholarship recipient, and Pastor Jay Sullivan, Holy Trinity, Elkins. Bishop Ralph W. Dunkin led a worship and communion service.

Service projects included 16 boxes of eyeglasses and "Lutheran Women Today" study books sent to Madagascar. It was voted to put another $1,000 in the Scholarship Fund. Each member brought a stuffed teddy bear to the meeting. A total of 168 bears were collected and sent to Lutheran children at their home in Zelienople, Pa. Each new child is given a bear.

Next year's convention will be held in Wheeling, W.Va.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

THE GREEN PALM RESTAURANT was located at the corner of Oak and Third streets in Oakland, the present site of the Garrett County Employment Office. The structure was razed and replaced by the present brick building which used to house the A&P grocery store and, later, Rolyana furniture store, among other businesses/agencies. The automobiles in the foreground indicate that this photo was taken in the 1930s. It is from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum and is published here courtesy of the society and The Republican. The museum, located at 107 South Second Street in Oakland, is open to the public free of charge (donations accepted) on Monday evenings from 5 to 8 p.m., Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE S.P.

Earns Scholarship To A-B College

Julie Glotfelty has been awarded a merit scholarship to attend Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W.Va.

A 1998 graduate of Southern High School, Julie was a member of the National Honor Society, School Improvement Team, and Student Council, and has received National Merit awards in English, history, biology, math, and student council. She also received the Woodmen of the World award in history.

As an honor graduate, Glotfelty received the Tandy Technology Scholars Award, Presidential Academic Fitness Award, and the Governors Merit Award. She attended Garrett Community College during her senior year as an Early College Advanced Placement Student, receiving a perfect 4.0 GPA. She will major in pre-physical therapy.

Julie is the daughter of Harry and Janet Glotfelty, Oakland.

Tuition Help Available Via New Horizons

The New Horizons Program, a single parent, displaced homemaker, and single pregnant women project sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College, has available for the 1998-99 funding year which ends June 30, 1999, $6,500 tuition assistance money to be used by eligible program participants in pursuing vocational training in both non-credit and credit classes.

Credit and non-credit tuition assistance is a continuing part of the program again this funding year, and the New Horizons staff is ready to make this money available to eligible persons interested in vocational training.

Arrangements have also been made to assist program participants with the purchase of books to be used in taking classes. From $20 to $40 is available per student per class, depending on income.

There is also child care and/or transportation assistance available to Maryland program participants while taking training. Income eligibility will be the determining factor in providing this assistance.

Interested persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays at 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3102, for more information or to schedule an appointment, or they may visit the New Horizons office at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room 302.

The New Horizons program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grants funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is 90 percent of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10 percent of the total budget.

MAKING DONATIONS to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation and the Garrett County Humane Society recently was the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland. Each year the club donates a major portion of its profits from its Autumn Glory Festival antique show to various service and charitable organizations. Above, Jackie Johnson, antique show chairman, hands a check for $375 to Elaine McDonald, president of the hospital foundation. Below, Johnson presents a check for $275 to Nancy Hatbig of the Humane Society to assist that organization's spay and neuter program. The civic club meets the last Tuesday of each month at the Will O' the Wisp restaurant. Women interested in becoming members and/or obtaining more information are welcome to attend a meeting or contact a current member.

Hahn Named To Who's Who

Carrie Hahn has been notified that she was nominated and accepted for Who's Who Among American High School Students, for the second consecutive year. Only five percent of all high school students receive this award and only one half of one percent are honored to received this award two or more years.

Carrie, as a senior at Northern High School this year, will be a member of the Northern High School Chorus and will serve as a staff member of the school newspaper, The Viking. She is a member of Zion Lutheran Church in Accident, where she is president of the youth group, a member of the youth choir, and a member of Zion's Fellowship Group, along with the members of her family.

Carrie volunteers as a member of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society and is past secretary of the Oak-Hill 4-H Club in Accident.

Currently employed at Cherry Glade Child Care Center, Accident, her plans for the future include attending Garrett Community College and then transferring to Frostburg State University to receive a teaching degree in early childhood education.

Carrie is the daughter of Chuck and Ruth Ann Hahn, and the granddaughter of Gurney and Lois Kolb, Accident, and Virginia Hahn, Oakland.

Blood Donations Down In Region; Visit Scheduled

The 66-county American Red Cross Blood Services serving the local area reports that for the first half of August, blood collections have decreased 6% from last year, causing concern among Red Cross officials.

"Over the course of a month, this amounts to over 900 units of blood, well over a day's shipment to our 90 regional hospital customers," said Ted Mazza, manager, blood services, Johnstown Region Red Cross Blood Services. He added that since the region's hospital service area increased over the past year, this decrease is "particularly alarming."

Area residents are invited to donate blood this Friday, Aug. 21, from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., at the Elks Lodge, 100 Elk Street, Oakland.

Although all blood types are needed daily by accident victims, cancer patients, and others, donors with blood types O positive, O negative, and B negative are critically needed at this time.

"We have less than 1½ days' supply of these types, and we should maintain at least three days' supply of all blood types," Mazza said.

To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days. Individuals with specific eligibility questions should contact the Red Cross at 1-800-542-5663.

The regional Red Cross must collect at least 750-800 units of blood each day to meet patient need.

The Johnstown Region directly serves hospitals, patients, and donors in a 66-county area in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia, and also supports blood needs experienced by patients elsewhere in hospitals served through Red Cross Blood Services.

Cornucopia Day Slated, Crafters Being Sought

Grantsville will soon celebrate its third annual Cornucopia Day, set for Saturday, Sept. 12.

Activities featured throughout the town will include merchants' special discounts and sidewalk sales, complimentary refreshments in various Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA) members' locations, a town-wide yard sale, children's activities at Spruce Forest Artisan Village from noon to 3 p.m., and arts and craft vendors with booths.

Craftspersons who would like to set up with their wares during the one-day event should send a non-refundable, reservation space fee of $5, with checks made payable to GGBA, to Trish Morgan, 177 Cassehnan Road, Grantsville, MD 21536. Once the check is received, confirmation calls will be made to the crafters to assign set-up locations. This will be the only fee required from crafters to participate in the event. Crafters must provide their own tables, chairs, and set-up, and should be set up and ready for business by no later than 9 a.m. and remain open until 5 p.m. on Sept. 12.

For more information, persons may call Ms. Morgan weekdays at 301-895-3332.

Antiques

Q. What is Francisware?

A. Francisware is a glassware that was made in the 1880s by Hobbs, Brockunier and Co. of Wheeling, W.Va. It is a clear or frosted hobnail or swirl-pattern glass with an amber-stained rim. Some pieces were pressed; others were mold-blown.

Q. I just found an aluminum ice bucket decorated with penguins. I paid $5 for it at a garage sale. What is it worth?

A. The penguin ice bucket is so often seen that we can identify it from your brief description. It was made by the West Bend Aluminum Co. of West Bend, Wis., from 1941 through the 1950s.

Today the buckets sell at antiques shops for about $20. If yours is in good condition, you made a good buy.

Q. I collect brand plates, brand knives, dough trays and even brand wrappers, stickers, advertisements and give-aways. I just found a pack of Bond Bread trading cards that picture the cowboy "Hoppy" with two guns. Can you tell me about the cards?

A. Hopalong Cassidy, known as "Hoppy," was a character in a series of books first published in 1907. Hollywood discovered the character, and in 1935, the first of 66 movies about him was released.

William Boyd was the first and the most famous of the actors to play Cassidy. Boyd, who also played Cassidy on a 1949 radio show, bought the rights to the movies and edited them into TV segments, which proved so popular that he made 52 new episodes.

Boyd as Hopalong Cassidy, endorsed hundreds of products. They are all collectible.

His face appears on several bread company premiums, including Wonder, Barbara Ann, Butter-Nut and Bond brands. Most of the endorsements date from the 1950s and 1960s.

Home Tips

MAKE IT YOURSELF – Last winter, I needed sweaters for my two dogs, but I couldn't afford the ready-made ones. My son came up with the following really super idea.

Just get some toddler's and baby's sweaters from a thrift shop, cut off the sleeves about two inches from the shoulders, hem, and put a drawstring to the waist to make it fit closer to the body for warmth.

They worked like a charm and are completely washable. I made four "doggy" sweaters for less than $4. If there is a picture or logo on the sweater, simply put it on backwards.

I have had many compliments on Brandy and Snookum's sweaters and they seem to love them. Wanda K., S. Euclid, Ohio

NOISY FRIDGE – A few days ago, our refrigerator started squeaking periodically.

We called a servicaman and my husband said it probably wouldn't make the noise when the servicemen was there. I brought a small portable tape recorder into the kitchen and recorded the squeak.

Sure enough, it was not making the sound when the repairman arrived, so my husband played the tape for him and he laughingly said, "That's wonderful. I know exactly what it is!"

This could work to check out any strange sound in motors. Rita V., South Bend, Ind.

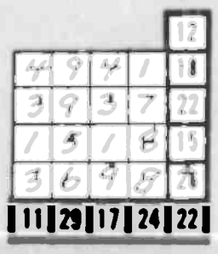
Biography
A & E Network

MATT DAMON: FROM HARVARD TO HOLLYWOOD



Drastic measures and dedication are Matt Damon's stocks-in-trade. For his role as a drug-addicted soldier in "Courage Under Fire," he dropped 40 pounds in three months by jogging 12 miles and eating only egg whites, chicken, vegetables and one plain baked potato daily. And when he and his best friend Ben Affleck wanted to star in a film, they wrote their own.

As chronicled in September's Biography magazine, what happened next is like a celluloid fantasy. They offered the script of "Good Will Hunting" for sale. Miramax snapped up the rights. Robin Williams wanted to play therapist Sean McGuire. Director Gus Van Sant ("Drugstore Cowboy") signed on. The film generated more than $127 million at the box office, garnering nine Oscar nominations including Best Actor for Damon. It won Best Original Screenplay. Just prior, director Francis Ford Coppola, impressed with Damon's work in "Courage Under Fire," cast him as young lawyer Rudy Baylor, the lead in John Grisham's "The Rainmaker." True to form, the Boston native went to Tennessee early to study accents. Spielberg cast him as Private James Ryan in the D-Day saga, "Saving Private Ryan." Among others, he'll star next year in "The Talented Mr. Ripley." He's currently studying opera and learning Italian for the role.

Damon, 27, was only 8 when he began acting in a local children's theater group. By 10, he'd gone professional, meeting fellow child actor Affleck, who would later help him land an agent. He lived with his mom, a college professor, in a communal house in Cambridge and attended an arty and academically challenging high school before going to Harvard. His success eventually caused him to drop out. Whatever happens, Damon is not just a flavor of the month but a talented actor who'll be around for a long time.

AC History Topic Of GC Historical Society Meeting

Area historian and author Al Feldstein, pictured above, will be the featured speaker at the upcoming fund-raiser dinner meeting of the Garrett County Historical Society. The baked steak dinner will be held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on Thursday, Sept. 17, at 6:30 p.m.

This will be Feldstein's third appearance as a featured speaker for the Historical Society. His previous appearances have focused on Garrett County history, and at the request of several historical society members, the upcoming program will present a visual history of Allegany County through slides of old postcards.

The program will depict the historic sites, landmarks, and features of the Cumberland, LaVale, Frostburg, and George's Creek communities, and general countywide scenes. Also included will be a series of views depicting Cumberland's historic floods, the National Road, downtown business scenes, and more.

Feldstein, an award winning amateur historian, has successfully published 25 books, prints, posters, and videotapes since 1980, and has sold over 100,000 copies of his work depicting the history of all three western Maryland Counties — Garrett, Allegany, and Washington. For his efforts in the preservation and promotion of the history and culture of western Maryland, Feldstein has received recognition from the American Association for State and Local History, the Maryland Historical Trust, and the Allegany County Convention and Visitors Bureau. Feldstein recently assisted both the Garrett County Historical Society and the Save Oakland Station Committee in obtaining financial assistance from Preservation Maryland, a state-wide historic preservation group for which he serves as a board member.

Feldstein is employed as a regional planner with the Maryland Office of Planning. He resides in LaVale with his wife Angela and daughters Natasha and Jo-sinda.

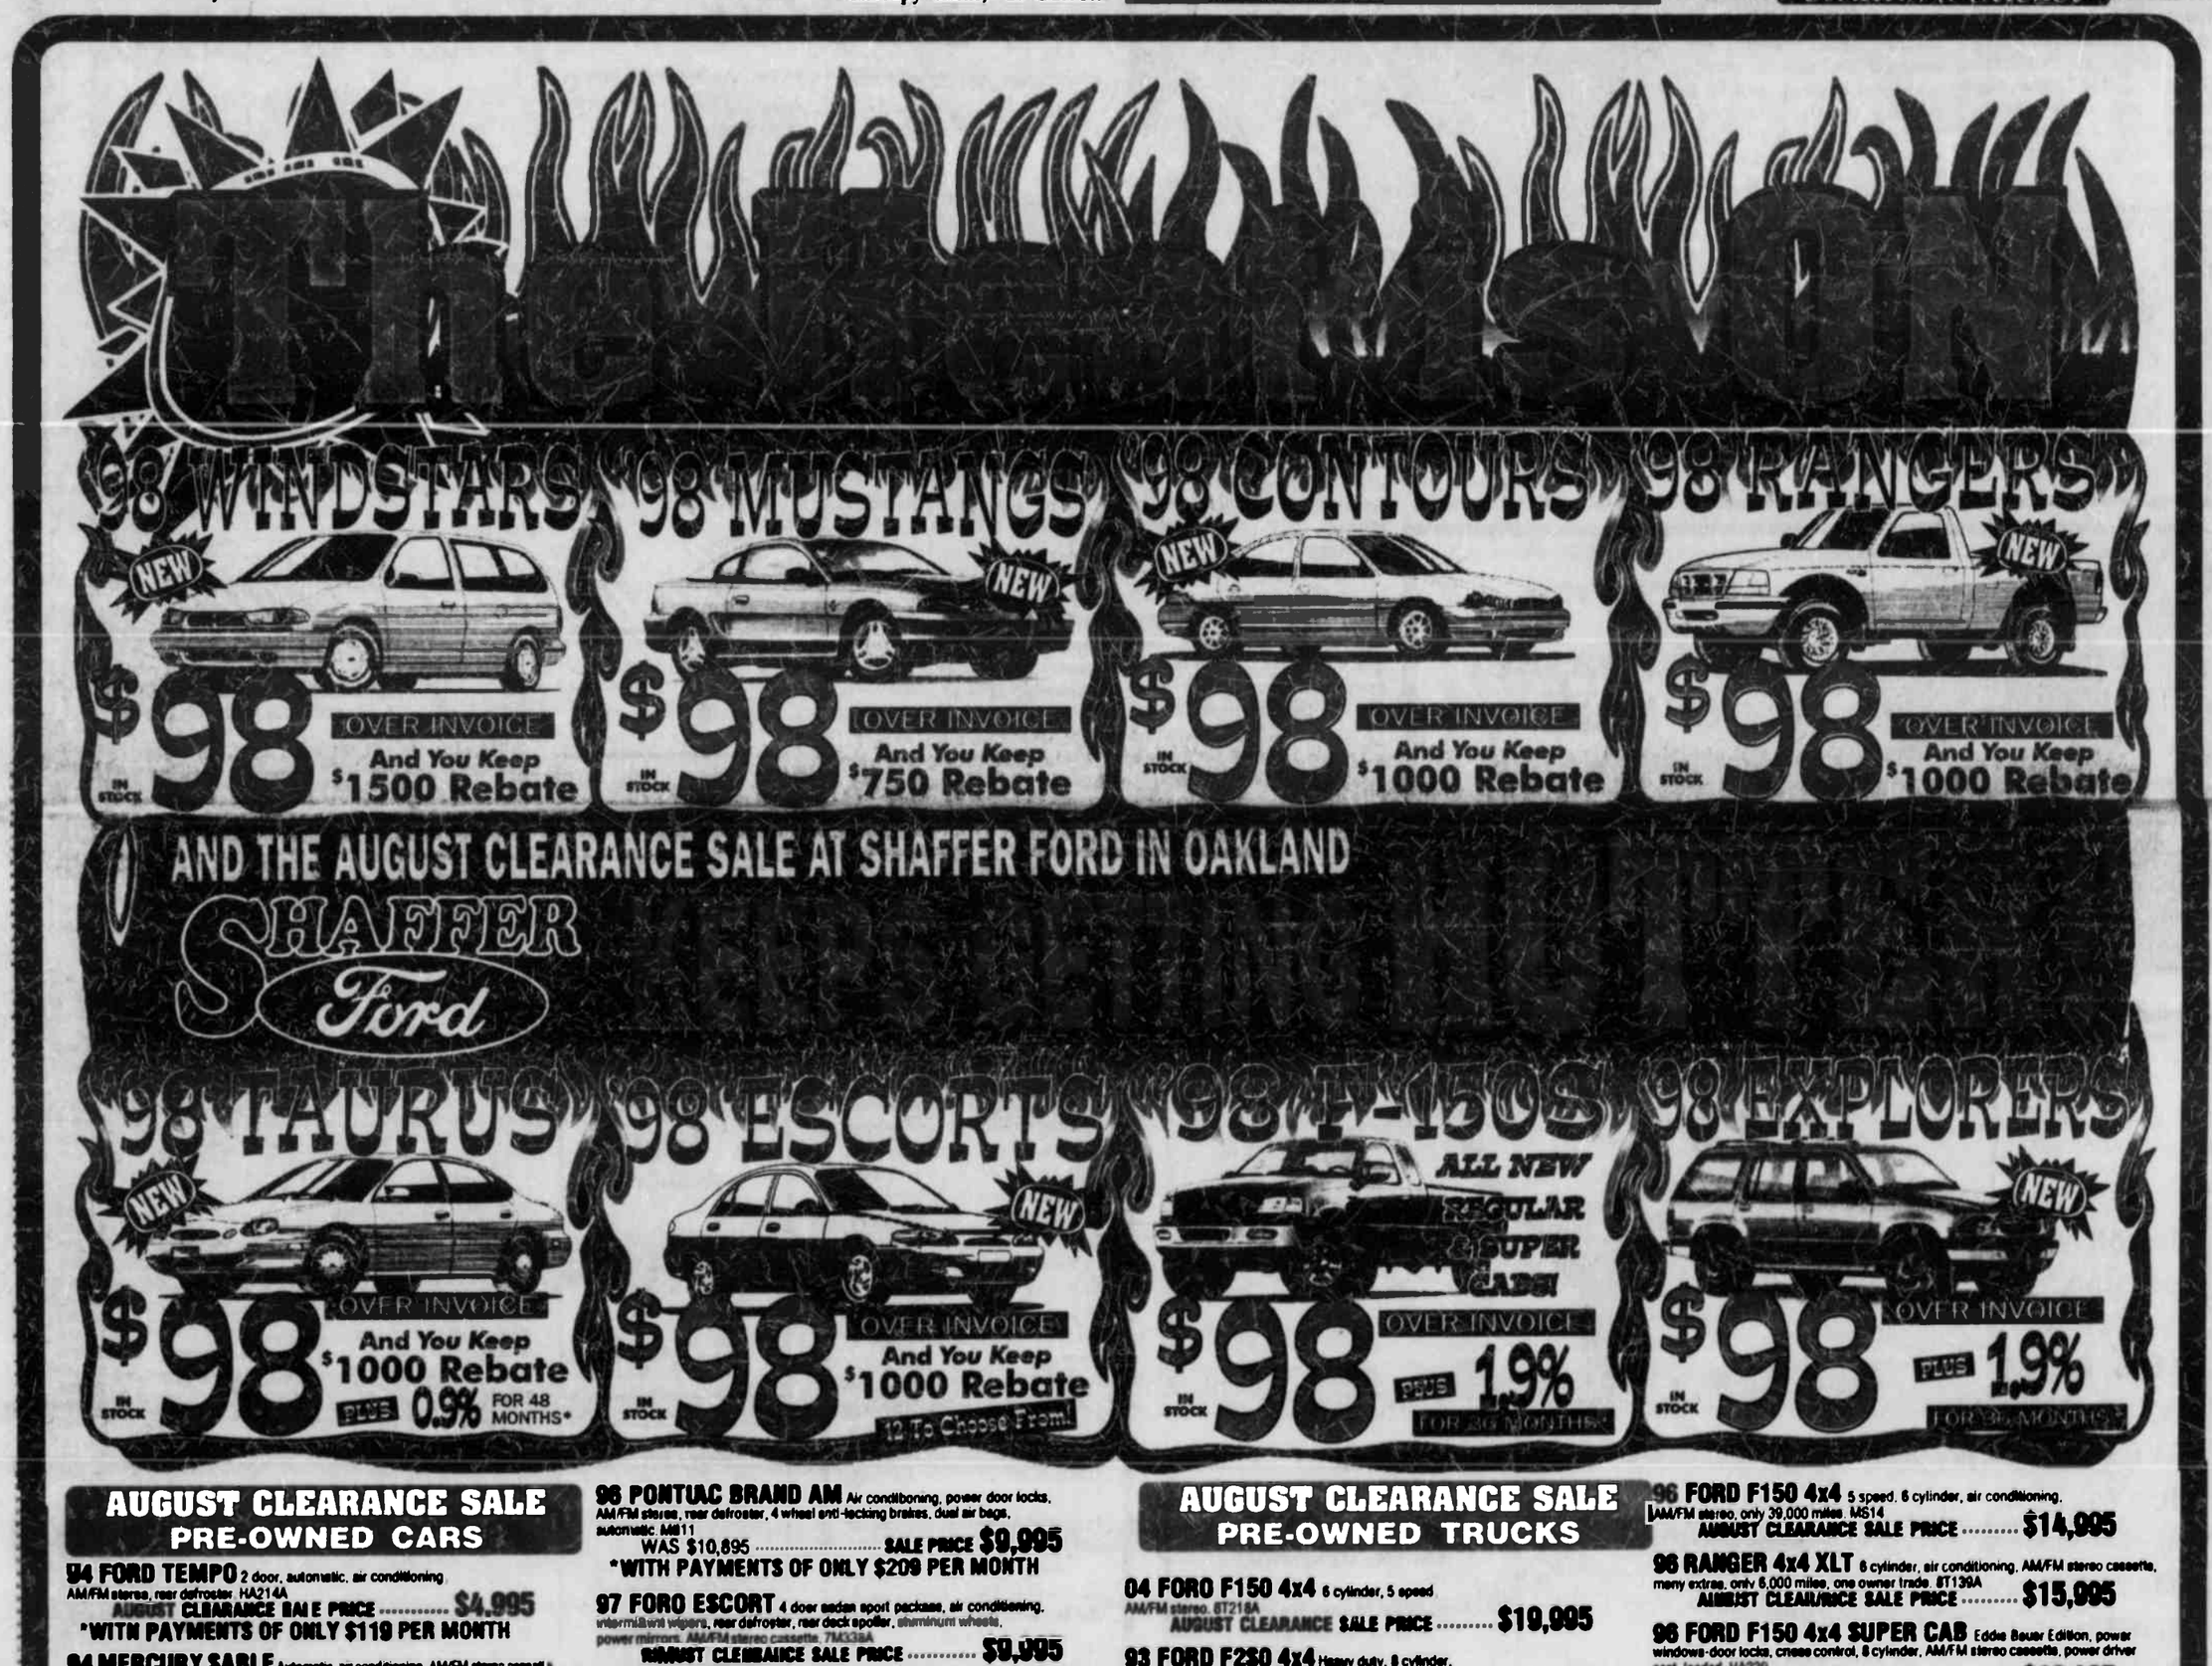
All interested persons are welcome to attend the dinner and Feldstein's presentation. Reservations are $12 per person and may be made at the Historical Society's museum or with Dorothy Cathell, 550 Liberty Street, Oakland, on or before Saturday, Sept. 12. Further information may be obtained by calling 301-334-3226 or 301-334-2180.

Hospice Training Classes Slated

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor volunteer training classes for volunteer caregivers. These classes will begin Thursday, Sept. 3, and will be held each Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. through November 5.

Topics and presenters scheduled are: "Listening Skills" with Pastor Greg Cummings; "Working with the Volunteer Coordinator," Ida Maust; and "Physical Therapy Skills," at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, with Tracy Umstot, PT. Chris Delaney, registered AIDS educator, will teach the class "AIDS Awareness." "Family Dynamics" will be presented by Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, MSW. "Universal Precautions," "Infection Control," "Documentation," "Confidentiality," "Personal Care," "Signs and Symptoms of the Dying Person," and "Spiritual Aspects" will be taught by Molly Lilly, BSN, director of clinical services; and "Hospice in Review" will be presented by Brenda Butscher.

The class will travel to Grantsville to tour the Newman Funeral Home and learn about the skill of funeral arrangements. A program on "Children and Death" will be presented by Willis and Greta Beitzel, and Jane Sealing, director of bereavement, will give a program on "Grief Counseling Skills." Shirley Fitzwater from the First United Bank & Trust will present a program on "Legal and Financial Planning."



Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, stated, "Hospice is extending an invitation to you to become part of the Hospice team and to be a volunteer caregiver. You will find working with the terminally ill and their families to be very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

To register or for more information, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, 800-521-5252 in the Grantsville area, or TTY 800-735-2258.

I just had to say . . .
Thanks to the students, the staff, the parents, and the community of Kitzmiller Elementary School for their support and cooperation over the past four years. I sincerely appreciate your commitment to the children, with the promotion of taking pride in the community in which you live. The river, the mountains, the sounds of laughter + memories to be treasured. Know that I will continue to hold a special place in my heart for each of you.
